Yesterday at George Street.

Yesterday, at the George street Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Crothers, preached at both services. In the morning Mr. Ira Snelgrove, of Toronto, sang the solo in the anthem, and at the offertory Mr. Bert Turner sang "The Children's Home." Mr Turner has been a faithful member of the choir for some time and his departure this week will leave a vacancy in the choir which will not be easily filled. His associates in the choir wish him continued success. At the evening service, Mrs. Callander of Norwood, sang "The King of Love My Shepherd is," by Gounod, and Mr. Snelgrove again sang, his selection being "O Happy Day."

PRESENTATION TO MR. B. J. TURNER.

Upon Severing His Connection With Staff of the C. G. E. Co.

Made Recipient of a Locket and a Ring—General Regret at His Departure.

On Saturday evening at the Y.M. C. A. Hall, a number of the employees of the C.G.E. Works, gathered to say farewell to Mr. B. J. Turner, who is leaving this week for Winnipeg, where he will in future make his home.

Mr. Turner, during the time that he has been on the staff of the Electric Works office, has made himself highly esteemed by those with whom he has been associated and his departure will be deeply regretted. On Saturday night a large number of his business associates met to show him that they appreciated his social and business qualities.

An address was read by Mr. R. H. Shepherd, and a presentation of a handsome gold locket, suitably engraved, and a beautiful ring, was made by Mr. F. A. Shannon. Mr. R. E. Layfield added a personal gift of a purse of $10.

The address read by Mr. Shepherd, was as follows:—

Mr. B. J. Turner:—

We have learned with sincere regret of your contemplated departure from our midst, and we have gathered together here to-night to express to you our sorrow at your leave-taking, and to wish you every success and happiness in your new home.

On looking backward over the past few years which you have spent with us, we view with pleasure your earnest and successful efforts to perform faithfully and well the different duties which were allotted to you, your many little acts of kindness and thoughtfulness towards your fellow-labourers, and your decided success in both your business and social relations with us.

We feel quite confident that your many excellent qualities will be fully appreciated in your new sphere, as they have been in the one you are leaving, and we most earnestly hope that success and prosperity will attend all your undertakings, and that you will eventually attain the heights at which your ambition has aimed.

We are asking you to accept these gifts as a slight talisman of the days you have spent with us, and of our great esteem for you, hoping that in the future they will recall only happy associations with your old home. In bidding you adieu, we most heartily utter the prayer which that word expresses, trusting that the future will bring us many happy re-unions, and that in the interval which elapses you will not quite forget those you are leaving behind, while your short sojourn with them will long remain a bright spot in their memories.

Peterborough, August 20th, 1904.

Mr. Turner, in acknowledging the gifts and the address thanked the donors heartily and expressed the pleasure it had been to him to have been associated with the staff of the C.G.E. Company. He would always look back with pleasure upon that period of his life, and the associations formed here would be among his most pleasant memories. He was deeply grateful for the gifts, and also for the kind words contained in the address.

Short speeches were also given by Messrs. Layfield, Shannon, Shepherd and Brundrette, all of whom paid a high tribute to the worth of Mr. Turner, and while expressing regret at his departure, wished him every success in his future home.

Mr. Turner leaves on Thursday for Winnipeg.

SUDDEN DEATH OF YOUNG LADY.

Miss Mary Donoghue Died in St. Joseph's Hospital from Appendicitis.

A very sudden death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday about noon, when one of the brightest young ladies in the Township of Ennismore passed away. Miss Mary Donoghue, a daughter of Mr. Robert Donoghue of Ennismore started to teach school last week, after having successfully passed her examinations. She had only taught three days, however, when she was suddenly taken ill, and was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital Friday morning suffering from appendicitis. The young lady did not wish an operation performed and the disease had taken such a firm hold upon her that she was not able to withstand its ravages and died yesterday.

The deceased was twenty-one years of age, and was a more than unusually bright young lady and her death will be regretted by the large circle of friends with whom her natural gifts made her a general favorite.

The funeral took place this afternoon from the family residence, Ennismore, to the Ennismore Cemetery.

NEW EXCURSION ROUTE; BEAUTIFUL BOBCAYGEON.

Reached by the New Feeder of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

One of the chief charms of Peterborough, from a pleasure point of view, is the large number of beautiful pleasure grounds within reach of the town. The Rice Lake region furnishes many and the Kawartha Lakes many more. A new one in the latter region has been made accessible in a new, rapid and pleasant way — Bobcaygeon, by the medium of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway, the latest outcome of C. P. R. initiative and enterprise.

A rapid run of 120 minutes takes the excursionist to beautiful Bobcaygeon, no longer a backswoods village, but brought to the "front" by the new railway. The perfect success of this route was demonstrated on Thursday, the Civic Holiday. Between 400 and 500 excursionists were taken over the line, and are loud in praise, not only of the attractive features of the route, the excellence of the road-bed of the new railway, of the coaches and the train service, but also of the beauty and attractions of the terminus. The railway officials deserve a great deal of the praise. In keeping with the practice of the Canadian Pacific, the greatest attention was paid to the comfort and convenience of the public. The officials were industriously attentive, both on the actual excursion, and in regard to preliminary details and their smooth running, is in no small degree due to the popular local up-town agent, Mr. T. E. Boddy. The very successful management and outcome of the first excursion of the new route will make it not only extremely popular but will tend to bring the new line permanently into public favour.

FISTIC ENCOUNTER ON SIMCOE STREET.

Two Men Will Answer Charge of Being Drunk and Disorderly.

On Saturday night, about seven o'clock, the police station was notified by telephone, from the C.P.R. Hotel, that the services of a policeman were needed to quell a disturbance in the vicinity of the hotel. Constable Miller was soon on the scene and arrested Fred Cooper, who was engaging in a fistic encounter with Fred Cronin. The first Fred was placed under arrest, and spent Saturday night in the police station, and was let out yesterday morning on agreeing to appear to-morrow to answer to the charge of being drunk and disorderly. The second Fred, believing that "he who fights and runs away, may live to fight another day," ran, but he, too, will be in the police court to-morrow to answer to the same charge as Cooper.

—On Sunday afternoon Rev. R. C. H. Sinclair and two young ladies from Peterborough, all three of whom were the guests of Mrs. James Dickson, at Rosedale, walked to Baddow to attend a service held by Rev. Mr. Hanna. As the distance is between four and five miles, the girls were pretty tired, and, just as they sank into their seats in the church, the choir began to sing the hymn which commences with the words, "Art Thou Weary, Art Thou Languid?" and the appropriateness of the questions appealed so strongly to the visitors' sense of humor that they had hard work to refrain from laughing "right out in meeting."—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

WANT 'LUNGE SIZE LIMIT LOWERED.

Cottagers' Association to Memorialize the Government.

Annual Meeting Thursday—Election of Officers for Coming Year.

The annual meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers Association was held on Thursday at the Pavilion, Juniper Island, and there were present, Messrs. Geo. Cocurane, president; in the chair; J. D. Collins, Peterborough; H. Sutherland, Toronto; Jas. Acton, Toronto; J. Nugent, Peterborough; Dr. Britton, Bethany; and J. S. Knepman, secretary.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The new fishing regulations were discussed and the Government will be asked to change the regulations respecting the size of muskinonge to be caught, making the limit twenty-four inches in length instead of thirty inches.

The secretary was instructed to write the Department of Railways and Canals asking that the lumbermen be instructed to observe the law with regard to the size of booms of timber. The law provides that the booms shall contain 5,000 logs, whereas it is stated that as many as 50,000 have been brought down in one boom, the result being that some of the islands are surrounded, sometimes for a week at a time with the logs, which prevent the residents from getting to or from their cottages. The secretary was also instructed to write the captains of the steamboats sailing on the upper lakes, complaining of the delay in starting from Lakefield. It is said that now the boats are held there until perspective passengers obtain meals, thus delaying the departure of the boat after the regular leaving time.

The election of officers fol'owed:—

President—R. B. Rogers, Peterborough.

Vice-President—James Acton, Toronto.

Secretary—J. S. Knapman, Peterborough.

Treasurer—W. G. Morrow, Peterborough.

Property Committee—H. Sutherland, Toronto; Geo. Cochrane, W. Irwin, and J. Nugent, Peterborough.

Sunday Services Committee—Sheriff Hall, Geo. Cochrane, T. W. Robinson, R. B. Rogers.

Concert Committee—J. Crane, A. L. Davis, R. N. Jolliffe.

The meeting adjourned to Thursday night, August, 25th.

NORTH MONAGHAN

Mr. Hunter Acquires a Thoroughbred Guernsey.

Mr. Thos. M. Hunter, North Monaghan, has purchased from the celebrated herd of Hon. Sidney Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, a thoroughbred Guernsey bull, "Squire of Calypso." The animal is fourteen months old, and arrived by express on Thursday, and weighs 850 pounds. Mr. Hunter knows the value of breeding good cattle; it costs no more to keep good stock, in fact it costs less, and the advantages to the province and owner are correspondingly great. One hopes to see all our farmers following Mr. Hunter's example in keeping good stock.

AN ANTIDOTE TO THE MODERN SALOON.

The Experiment of a 'Moral" Saloon Being Tried in New York.

A New York saloon was opened by an Anglican Bishop the other day, who made an address and led the audience in a hymn. The new resort is named "The Subway Tavern," and is erected by shareholders very much on the lines of Lord Grey's "Public House Trust" scheme in England. The object is to provide a clean and wholesome place, where the man who drinks will be impelled to drink little rather than much, and where the beverages supplied will be the best of their kind. The keynote of Bishop Potter's address was the familiar theory that "a well conducted open saloon was the poor man's club, and that he had as much right to it as the rich man had to his club." One important feature of the institution is copied from Lord Grey's Trust. It is that the manager who conducts the saloon or tavern is paid a percentage upon all the food he sells, and the milk, coffee and tea, but is paid no commission on the sale of spirituous liquors. There is therefore no incentive on the part of the manager to encourage the consumption of strong drink. The manager replying to some criticism, wrote to the New York Sun, alluding to the thirteen thousand places in New York where spirituous liquors were sold. He said he would be glad to have any person come into the Subway Tavern, take away the bibulous and lead them into the paths of teetotalism; and he also hoped that he would lead some of the bibulous away from indecency and depravity, and in this way improve their condition.

THE CZAR'S BABY BOY IS A BORROWED PEASANT.

The Child was a Girl, a Peasant Male Child was Substituted.

A Paris despatch says:—

"Russian revolutionists here declare positively that the empress of Russia really gave birth to a female child, for whom, at her birth, a male child, was substituted, a peasant woman's baby.

"Then revolutionists vouch for the truth of this statement, and, astounding as it is, insist that it comes from a perfectly reliable source, and that it will be verified later.

"The Nihilists say that the internal condition of Russia is such, and it may be more precarious by the reverses in the far east—that had the people been disappointed again in their hope of the birth of a czarevitch, a revolt would have been imminent.

"This danger, magnified by the probability of the fall of Port Arthur, at any moment, caused the Czar's advisers to take their precautions.

"A peasant about to become a mother was smuggled into the Alexandra villa at Peterhof, where the empress awaited the immensely important event. The Nihilists aver that the Czarina was blessed with a girl, the fifth, the day before a boy came to the peasant. The fact that the Czarina's accouchement was concealed until the baby boy was taken from his mother's arms, presented to the Czar's relatives and the court, and placed in the imperial cradle.

"Improbable as this story appears, it must be remembered that the revolutionists have extraordinary underground means of intercommunication all over Europe."

CORDOVA MINES TO BE RE-OPENED.

Pumps are now at Work and two Shafts are Clear of Water.

Prospects for an Early Resumption of the Work—The Bureau of Mines Report on the Mine.

The probabilities are that the Cordova Gold Mines, which were closed down some months ago, will, in the near future, resume operations, with as large a staff as was employed prior to the closing down of the mines. After work in the mines was stopped the shafts were allowed to fill with water, but for some weeks now the pumps have been at work steadily, and two shafts have been pumped out, and a gentleman who recently returned from a trip to Cordova, informed the Examiner that the feeling in Cordova was very buoyant, and the re-opening of the mines is now thought to be but the matter of a short time, which news will be received with pleasure by all who are in any way interested in this mine, or in mining in Eastern Ontario.

In view of the prospects for an early resumption of work in the mines, a paragraph in the report of the Bureau of Mines for 1904, recently issued by the Ontario Government, will be read with interest. Referring to the Cordova Mine the report says:

"As many gold properties have been worked during the last twelve months as in former years, but owing to the unfortunate closing down of the Belmont mine in the second half of the year the output of the precious metal in this part of the year has been reduced. Considering the location, equipment and other characteristics of the Belmont, it would seem that it should not remain idle long. If the old company do not feel in a position to go on with the work it is to be hoped that a re-organization will take place, which will bring about a resumption of work. Taking into account the cheap water power which has been developed by the company, the low price of labour and supplies in this district, and the fact that the mine is situated within half a day's travel from the city of Toronto, it is believed that ore can be treated as cheaply at this mine as at any mine in the world. A little work has been done on claims adjacent to the Belmont."

AN OLD RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mr. John Armstrong Died This Morning at the Age of 86 Years.

An old resident of the Fifth Ward died early this morning, in the person of Mr. John Armstrong, whose death occurred quite suddenly after a very short illness. The deceased, who was 86 years of age, was over to town last Friday, and in almost his usual health, but since then he took sick, and passed peacefully away at about two o'clock this morning, at his residence, Brown street. His death was caused by old age, no particular disease being apparent. The deceased has until a day or two before his death been enjoying good health and was found in his place in the Mark street Methodist church every Sunday. He was there a week ago yesterday, joining heartily in the services.

The deceased had only one child, a daughter, Mrs. William Smithson, of Otonabee, Mrs. Armstrong having died some years ago. The deceased has been a resident of Ashburnham about twelve years, during which time he made a wide circle of friends who will learn with regret of his death.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE MEANING OF THE BOULEVARD BYLAW.

What are the Rights of Citizens in Respect of Custody of Boulevards?

A correspondent raises an interesting point in reference to the power conferred upon the citizens by the boulevard bylaw recently passed by the town council. It is well known that the bylaw vests the boulevard in front of the premises upon which it abuts in the owner of the property, makes him responsible for its care, and empowers him to prosecute trespassers upon the boulevard. Do the provisions and penalties of the bylaw extend to companies possessing street franchises? For instance, if a telephone, electric light or other company, invades a boulevard coming under the boulevard bylaw, does that invasion constitute a trespass within the meaning of the bylaw, and can the owner of the property thus invaded prosecute the company, and succeed? This is information which the town authorities should promptly supply the public. If such companies are bound by the bylaw, the public want to know it, and the public equally want to know if they are to remain at the mercy of corporations with franchises, who do not always in the application of their legal rights, exercise any too great solicitude for the convenience and interest of public or private property concerned. In the latter event, emphasis is laid upon the fact that the town owes a debt of gratitude to the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, who will put a large part of their wires underground, for sparing our already abundantly disfigured and obstructed streets from the menace of additional poles. It is to be hoped that their action in this regard will be considered a precedent, and become the forerunner of a movement which will eventually result in the placing underground of all wires. Considering the increasing price of poles, it seems that the placing of wires underground would be a saving of money for the companies, especially after once down, and it would certainly be in the interest of the public, for the multiplicity of poles on the streets, with their intricate plexus of wires, is not only a public disfigurement, but a menace of danger in case of fire, by interefering with the operations of the firemen, especially in the business streets of the town.

PUBLIC SPIRITED MEN IN TOWN.

St. Thomas Journal Points to This Town as an Example.

Hon. Senator Cox and Hon. J.R. Stratton are Stimulating Local Enterprises.

The St. Thomas Journal, continuing its comparison of Peterborough and St. Thomas, says:

St. Thomas is more advanced than Peterborough in everything with the exceptions of parks and cemetery. Our streets are far better constructed, and as we said before, our city hall is a palace compared with the structure in the eastern city. Peterborough has one of the best regiments in the province but the drill shed that houses them is not as good as an ordinary Elgin county barn. Our drill shed would drive the Peterborough soldiers into ecstacies of delight, if they possessed it.

While Peterborough is a large business and industrial centre, it does not possess as many financial institutions as St. Thomas. Here we have five banks; Peterborough has four. We have two large loan companies; Peterborough possesses only one.

Our school buildings, in every particular, are far ahead of Peterborough, in fact there are few cities that possess as fine school structures as we do. Peterborough is about to build a new Collegiate Institute, and the Board of Education, if they want their building to be first class in every particular, should pay a visit to St. Thomas and inspect our new Collegiate Institute.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox, though not now a citizen of Peterborough, is one of the town's staunchest friends. Directly and indirectly, he owns a great amount of property there, and it is to his interest that the town should prosper. Naturally he is always at the front in advocating Peterborough's claims and investing money in Peterborough manufactories. Mr. Cox is still considered a Peterborough citizen, though he has been living in Toronto for some fifteen years. Hon. J. R. Stratton is also a public spirited citizen, and he diligently advocates Peterborough's claims with capitalists and others, and is not backward in investing his money in local concerns. Peterborough possesses a good many citizens with the same characteristics.

Peterborough possesses a greater number of large stores than St. Thomas, but they have not one that can equal those to be found on Talbot street.

It is noticeable that in Peterborough as well as Brantford, the progress of the town has stimulated building. Houses are rising all over the city, and there is a persistent demand for good homes. St. Thomas, we think, is very unwise, in not preparing for the new citizens that are certain to come here when the Pere-Marquette shops are finished. There is hardly a vacant house in St. Thomas at the present time and very few new ones are being erected. How are we going to accommodate new citizens? A good suggestion has been made and that is that the vacant property at the West end of the city be converted into apartments to accommodate several families with living quarters. Some of the property owners in that district ought to take this matter into serious consideration.

The C.P.R. is acquiring a number of small railroads in the province. As it is known they have acquired the T.L.E. & Pacific road running from Ingersoll to Port Burwell and the Pontypool, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon Railway running from Bobcaygeon to Burketon, a station on the Ontario and Quebec division of the C.P.R. It is understood that the purpose of the big road in acquiring these lines is to get in touch with as much of Ontario as possible in order to compete with the Grand Trunk Pacific. As is apparent to most people, the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific will allow that road to enter into a large Ontario business, through the innumerable connections of the Grand Trunk in the provinces. The C.P.R has had most of this and in order to keep as close a grasp as possible on Ontario in the future, it is leasing or buying independent lines.

East of Toronto, especially in the Midland district, the crops, as a rule, are first class. The country there is rolling and the early rains did not do as much damage as in this section of the province. A farmer in the township of Cavan, Durham County, declared that his crops were just as good as any year recently. He was quite satisfied and said the conditions on his farm were much the same all over the district.

LATEST SPORT

BASEBALL.

The Peterborough team intended to go to Port Hope on Saturday, but were not sure that the weather would permit the game to be played, as no definite word had been received from Port Hope, and it was still raining heavily here. However, eight members of the team were at the station, but the pitcher, thinking that the team would not go on account of the rain, did not show up, consequently the team did not go.

Toronto won and lost yesterday at Providence. Bruce lost his game while Leary won.

LACROSSE.

In Brantford on Saturday the Tecumsehs were defeated by the Champions by 9-2, and in Toronto the Chippewas shut out St. Kitt's, 3-0. Next Saturday Brantford plays Tecumsehs and Chippewas go to St. Catharines.

The final game in the Trent Valley Lacrosse League will be played in Havelock next Saturday, between the T.A.S. and Havelock. The T.A.S. now have a lead of six goals, which the Havelock team will attempt to overcome in Saturday's game. Waghorne, of Toronto, will probably referee the game.

CONSPICUOUS ACT OF YOUTHFUL BRAVERY.

Orville Kennealey Saves Young Companion From Drowning

Modesty Added to His Quality of Bravery—A Son of Mr W. J. Kennealey.

An act of more than usual bravery, performed by a young gentleman possessing by an extraordinary degree of modesty has just come to public notice.

It appears that last Tuesday, by the courtesy of Rev. Father McCall, the alter and choir boys of St. Peter's Cathedral, with the successful candidates for the entrance examinations from the Murray Street Separate School, were taken for an excursion by the Water Lily to McCracken's. On the return trip a young lad named Hargrove, about nine years old, one of the party on the boat, accidentally fell into the water while the boat was at No. 7 Lock. The boy could not swim to any extent, and Orville Kennealey, the fourteen year old son of Mr. W. J. Kennealey, of Parnell street, immediately jumped into the water at the risk of his life to save the little fellow who was struggling in the water.

Young Kennealy with some considerable difficulty grasped the younger lad, and catching hold of one of the iron steps imbedded in the cement, held him up until assistance came to him.

Orville Kennealy is one of the pupils of the Murray Street School who passed the entrance examinations last midsummer and is now employed at the Carbon Works of the C.G.E. Company.

An evidence of the modesty of the young gentleman, for this is a term richly deserved in his case, is found in the fact that he did not mention the affair to anyone, and his parents know nothing of the brave act of their son until Friday, when another young boy to whose ears it had come, told Mr. Kennealey, who questioned Orville about it, and he still unwilling to talk of his part in the rescue simply stating that the boy fell in and he held him up until help came.

Among the list of heroes the name of Orville Kennealy might well be placed.

Ain't You Glad You Waited?

This is the month that price reductions at Stratton's Bookstore speak loudest, and make you feel glad you waited. The drop in hammocks is one-fifth former prices; in croquet sets, it's a tenth off, and in sporting goods it's twenty off. This is about the way it goes in hundreds of other articles. As the ranks of summer goods get thinner the prices get slighter. A. H. Stratton & Co.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. W. P. FLEMING.

A Woman Who Discovers Stars and Does Other Scientific Work.

The only woman who has ever received an official appointment from the Harvard University corporation, is Mrs. Williamina P. Fleming, the astronomer. Beginning as a copyist for one of the observatory professors, she soon undertook the simpler computations and at once showed that she possessed the rare and peculiar mental faculties necessary for scientific research, says a writer in Modern Women. It was not long before her gifts in this direction gained recognition, and ultimately she was appointed curator of the famous astrophotographic library of the observatory, the only one of its kind in the world. Here, in the course of examining photographic plates, over 1,000,000 of which have come under her special observation, Mrs. Fleming has discovered a great number of variable stars and confirmed the discovery of several new ones. During the last fifteen years nine new stars have been discovered, and of these six were discovered by her. It is due to her effort that the number of known stars whose spectrum is of the third type has been increased from 1,000 to 3,000, while the number of the rare class of fifth type stars has been raised from sixteen to fifty-seven. In addition to various other celestial achievements she has the honor of being the first discoverer of the planetary nebulae by means of photography. Besides looking after all the routine work done by her assistants Mrs. Fleming helps to edit the annals of the observatory and finds time now and then to contribute articles to astronomical journals.

MRS. WILLIAMINA P. FLEMING.

Childlike Innocence.

She presided at her husband's table, a marvel of prettiness and feminine charm. The men were indulging in vacation talk, and one told the usual story of an enormous aquatic denizen which he had only landed after hours of patient "playing," even then having sustained damage to his tackle.

"But," queried the attractive young hostess, with the most serious and wide eyed innocence, "when you were sure that you had the fish on the line why didn't you just pull him in right away? I should think that would be much easier that letting him race around so long in the water."

An outburst of laughter succeeded, of course. But very kind glances were thrown at the little woman as the fishermen explained to her the impracticability of her plan. All the women chimed in to show their superior knowledge, and thus she gained immense popularity on the spot.

Why do people puzzle so over the diminished marriage rate when the reason thereof is so plain? This type of woman—she who asks with the prettiest innocence all sorts of unthinking questions—is getting scarcer all the time, and yet she is the adored of masculine hearts the world over. Juliet was a woman like this, or there would never have been a Romeo.

In the meekest manner possible she achieves the sincerest flattery. It makes the average man feel so old and wise when he takes the maiden of his heart out boating and has to explain to her that rowing "front ways" is not usual, for the simple reason that it is harder to push the oars through the water than to pull them. He smiles at her question, of course, but tenderly, indulgently, with a pleasant warmth at the heart. Dear little girl! How she will follow him as her guide and bow to him as her superior in years to come! Perhaps.

Does this type of the feminine realise the effectiveness of childlike irresponsibility? Perhaps she does and is wiser in her generation than her sisters who pride themselves on being fully informed on all points. After all, her victories are not all over proud man. Children are always fond of her because they can surprise her with bits of information, and she says "Really?" with such a genuine accent as to delight their hearts.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Card of Identification.

Before starting out on a journey, be it long or short, a woman should always provide herself with a means of identification in case of accident. It is wise to fasten securely to the inside of one's coat or gown a card on which are plainly written one's own name and address, the name and address of the place one has come from and is going to. On the other side of the card have the name and address of some person to whom a message could be sent if necessary. This simple means of identification is within the reach of the poorest traveler and may save friends or relatives much expense and worry. Then the thought of being carried away to the hospital or morgue without the knowledge of friends should be sufficiently horrible to every woman to make her think up some means of avoiding such a calamity. Sensible women do not even go on a shopping trip without an identification card fastened securely to the inside of the bodice.

It is well also when traveling to paste to the lining of a purse, handbag, satchel and suit case a card with one's name and address. If any of these things get lost one stands a chance of recovering it and if any be stolen the thief may be moved to return it for a reward.—New York Tribune.

Study of Domestic Science.

Regarding domestic science as a profession, Anna Barrows, writing in the Chautauquan, says that the young woman of average ability and education who has taken two years of special training in the arts and sciences underlying the routine of daily life of a household, large or small, who does not expect a position made to suit her, but who is ready to cope with difficulties, will find the world waiting for her help in several directions. She may teach domestic science in public or private schools or lecture before women's clubs. She may direct the dietaries and feed large numbers of persons in hospitals and schools or send into other homes food prepared under her own roof. It is doubtful whether there are any occupations in the world which are so certain to be lasting as those that deal with our daily food.

Woman as a Worshiper.

Dr. Lyman Abbott says that today the tourist is shown in the cathedral at Durham, England, a cross set in the stone floor a comparatively little way up the nave from the entrance and is told that it was once the boundary line beyond which women worshipers must not pass. They were kept, as a sort of secondary class of humanity, at a distance from the chancel and the altar. Fashions in religious thought and observance change as in everything else. Then women were not believed to be high enough in the social scale to worship with their husbands, sons and fathers. Now they worship as proxies for the masculine portion of the community.—World's Work.

Dishcloths.

The dishcloth in many homes is a breeding place for microbes and contains more disease germs than almost anything else of the same size. Cheesecloth bags, in which salt and sugar come, make good dishcloths. It is a good plan to have two sets for constant use. They should be thoroughly washed every morning in hot water, to which has been added ammonia, soda or washing powder, then rinsed and hung in the air to dry. Use them on alternate days. Besides, it is well to rinse them each time after using and boil them once a week. If they acquire an odor, burn them.

Table Mat of Felt.

A mat for a table is made of white felt about eight inches square. At each corner are fastened three leaves of white felt, in contour like medium sized maple leaves. Each leaf is veined with brownish olive floss, and the three are fastened to the corners of the square by a small yellow satin bow. The leaves are put on the felt, one pointing out from the point of the square and one on each side of the leaf thus in place. This felt cover makes a very good lamp mat.

Bedrooms.

A bedroom need not resemble a hospital ward, but it should contain nothing that cannot be easily and immediately removed, beaten or washed, as the case may be. Curtains should not be banished, but they should be periodically removed and cleaned. Carpets are unnecessary, as rugs are so much more easily cleansed. The walls should not be covered with any woven material, but paper is perfectly permissible.

A DOOR WASHSTAND.

How a Girl May Save Space if Her Room Be Small.

If a girl's room be small and she wishes to economize on space here is a scheme that might pay her to try. The washstand can be dispensed with if there is a well hung door between the room and the wardrobe. If the hinges are strong this closet door will prove a friend in need.

Buy two iron brackets and put up a shelf on the inside of the door. Make it wide enough to hold the washbowl and tooth mugs, soap dish, etc. A hole in the shelf into which the bowl can be set will remove the unpleasant possibility of the washbowl being switched off the shelf by the sudden opening or closing of the door.

Above this shelf suspend two or three rods by means of stout cords. These are for the wash cloths and towels. A small mirror may be hung above the towels if desirable, though care must be taken not to overload the hinges of the door.

Why Women's Wages Are Low.

Rather an amusing reason is given by Anna B. Doughten as to why young girls' wages still remain so much lower than young men's when the same work is accomplished and in quite as good a manner. "Seldom," she says, "does a girl work with any idea of permanency, and often the brighter and more capable she is, the sooner does some young man find that her qualifications are just what he wants in a wife. Indeed, it is a fact," says this philosopher, "that many employers have found it useless to train good looking, capable girls in any special lines, for just when they are fitted for the required duties and the accompanying higher salary, off they go." Miss Doughten is in a position to discuss the subject as she is social secretary in one of the largest publishing houses in America.—Social Service.

Training Children.

Apropos of the modern methods of training children, a writer in the Lad's Pictorial remarks that, although she "believes thoroughly in the influence of love and patience, the modern child is not a brilliant example of the new method. It is too often pert, ill mannered, blase, self willed and no respecter of persons. It is nonsense to maintain that a young undisciplined, mentally and physically unformed creature can be treated like a grownup. Everything young, whether it be a child, a puppy, a colt or a tree wants discipline, and discipline is not to be maintained by theories."

Too Polite.

"How old do you think I am?"
"Old enough to know that I wouldn't say what I thought if I were to guess."

We honor thus the good and great.

THE VERY THIN WOMAN.

Rules Which She Must Follow In Order to Gain Flesh.

The very thin woman must follow an entirely different regime from that ordinarily pursued if she expects to put flesh on her bones. If she is inclined to worry she should try not to be so intense in unimportant matters—she should shut her eyes, in a sense, to everything she can. The troubles which never happen wear out the nerves and destroy the health more completely than important events. Read only pleasant books and talk as much as possible to cheerful, jolly people who are too light hearted to relate harrowing tales to enlist your sympathy. Hurry is a twin brother to worry, so try to take life as leisurely as you may. Diet is of paramount importance in growing flesh, and, while overfeeding must not be confused with a liberal diet, the thin woman must eat plenty of only such foods as will yield substantial results. Sweet milk and cream, eggs, starchy and sweet vegetables and fruits, beef, mutton and fish will certainly increase her weight, unless she has some chronic trouble. Sleep is an important factor in gaining flesh. Get ten hours of regular sleep each night in a room well ventilated and a half hour nap during the day if you can. If inclined to be restless during the night eat a light lunch before retiring. A glass or two of warm milk and a slice of thickly buttered brown bread will be sufficient. Coffee and sweets should never form a part of such a repast.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is often the case when the girl who thinks she is musical deserves it that the piano gets the punishment.

A man is not guilty until he is proved so and a woman until she admits it.

When a man eats a lobster the lobster always gets revenge.

When a man gets ahead of a woman she generally lets him, so she can do things behind his back.

If the way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach, the way to reach his so called intellect is through his pocketbook.

The difference between a tramp and a bathtub is as many miles as the tramp can make it.

While there may be such a thing as Platonic love, the average healthy person would not think it worth while.

Love it not blind; it can see things in a man or woman that no one else can see.

When a man buys a girl a costly diamond ring he is sure to think that she is a little dear.

SHOOTING PAINS THROUGH THE BACK

Not a Day Without Suffering Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman, and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, states: "For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the C.P.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I had heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

RIDER HAGGARD'S DREAM.

Experiences in Telepathy—Wakened From a Nightmare—Vision of a Dog Trying to Speak to Him.

An extraordinary story of a dead dog's "message" to his master is told by Mr. Rider Haggard, the novelist, in the course of a long and detailed letter to The London Times.

During the night of Saturday, July 9, Mr. Haggard was wakened by his wife from a sort of nightmare. "As I awoke," he says, "the nightmare itself, which had been long and vivid, faded from my brain. All I could remember of it was a sense of awful oppression and of desperate and terrified struggling for life, such as the act of drowning would probably involve.

"But between the time that I heard my wife's voice and the time that my consciousness answered to it, or so it seemed to me, I had another dream. I dreamed that a black retriever dog, a most amiable and intelligent beast named Bob, which was the property of my eldest daughter, was lying on its side among bracken, or rough growth of some sort, by water. My own personality in some mysterious way seemed to me to be arising from the body of the dog, which I knew quite surely to be Bob and no other, so much so that my head was against its head, which was lifted up at an unnatural angle. In my vision the dog was trying to speak to me in words, and, failing, transmitted to my mind in an undefined fashion the knowledge that it was dying. Then everything vanished."

It was not until the Sunday night that Bob was found to be missing. On Thursday, the 14th, the body of the dog was found floating in the Waveney, over a mile away. On Friday two platelayers informed Mr. Haggard that the dog had been killed by a train.

Bob's collar, broken and torn off, was produced, and on Monday afternoon one of the men saw the body of the dog floating in the water beneath an openwork bridge over the river, whence it drifted down to where it was found.

Weighing the evidence, Mr. Haggard concludes that the dog must have been killed by an empty train from Harlesdon a little after 11 o'clock on the Saturday night (and before the dream), as no trains run on Sunday, and it is practically certain that it cannot have been killed on Monday morning.

"I don't explain it; I don't try to explain it. I am not a spiritualist. I have little or no sympathy with spiritualism. Please do not suppose that I am going in for psychical research on anything of that kind. I recounted the incident, with all the evidence which seemed to me important, because I thought it my duty to record for the benefit of science an extraordinary experience. It may possibly open up a new line of investigation, and lead to great discoveries.

"The two important points in this particular experience to be remembered are that (first) telepathy has, as far as I am aware, never been recognised as existing between a human being and a dog; and (second) that the communication did not take place until several hours after the death of the dog.

"Then, there is another interesting consideration. We all have dreams and a confused recollection of them on waking. Unless my wife had awakened me when she did, I should probably have forgotten anything of my dream except that it was very unpleasant. But I woke up with the sense of having had a terrible struggle for life, and between the time of hearing my wife's voice and complete consciousness I had the impression that Bob was trying to speak to me.

"The extraordinary value of this impression is that it was, so to speak, caught upon the hop. All these things may be going through our brains continually when they are in a sub-conscious condition, but it is seldom that they are caught on the hop."

Our Queen's Good Father.

Apropos of the reported illness of King Christian of Denmark, a correspondent of M.A.P. recently wrote: "I found myself staying at the same hotel in Wiesbaden as King Christian of Denmark and his brother, Prince Hans of Schleswig-Holstein. The father-in-law of half the royalties of Europe has that air of exquisite refinement so characteristic of Queen Alexandra. Like her, too, he is very fond of dogs, and his favorite French poodle, a fine specimen of black dog-hood, wearing the royal Danish colors, waits each morning outside his master's bedroom door with eager expectancy in every muscle of his body. Of medium height, with a wonderfully slim, erect figure, Queen Alexandra's father looks taller than he really is, and seems, like his daughter, to have the secret of perpetual youth. It is hard indeed to believe that that young figure and alert manner belong to a man whose ninetieth year is nearer than his eightieth. The only thing not modern about King Christian is his 'mutton-chop' whiskers, like his hair, only slightly tinged with grey. The King is greatly liked in Wiesbaden, and walks in and out amongst the people unattended. He drinks the waters and takes the baths like the simplest plebeian of us all. One of his favorite resorts is the famous Kursaal Garden, where he sits beside the gold fish lake under the trees, sips light wine, and chats or reads in pleasant quiet."

A Collie's Long Run.

A collie dog given to Mr. Hunter, of Herriotshill, Berwickshire, by his brother-in-law, Mr. Gilholm, of Cromlech, Dunblane, was sent to Berwickshire by rail. After working among the sheep splendidly for two days, the dog disappeared, and has turned up at Cromlech, having done the journey of over seventy miles on foot. About forty hours have elapsed between its disappearance from the Borderland and its appearance in Perthshire.

BAD BLOOD

Reveals itself in many ways. Sometimes the impurities in the blood mark and mar the skin with blotches, pimples, boils or other eruptions. Sometimes the result of bad blood is rheumatism or a debilitated condition which is popularly described as "feeling played out, hardly able to drag myself around."

The impurities and poisons which corrupt the blood, clog the liver and cloud the skin are removed by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does more than eliminate the poisons; it increases the activity of the blood-making glands so that there is an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It brightens the eyes, cleanses the skin, and gives new, physical energy.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I thank God for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mr. James M. Sizemore, of Mitchell, Lawrence Co., Ind. Box 901. "I was not well for two years. My throat was always sore, head ached, and back ached nearly all the time. My weight was 135 pounds. I was taken sick with typhoid fever, and when the fever left me I had such a pain in my left side I could not breathe without pain. I thought I must die. My wife went to the drug store and procured a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I discontinued the use of my doctor's medicine and began with the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets.' I at once began to feel better: the pain soon left my side and I could breathe with ease. In a week or so I felt so good I could not stay in the room. I began to walk about the streets: I felt better each morning. After a month's use of the medicine I was well. That was over a year ago. Now I weigh 184 pounds and feel better than ever in my life."

THE PICNIC GIRL.

The picnic season is at hand,
When to the music of the band,
With merry shout,
The girls go out
To get their pretty features tanned.

They wander to the woodlands, far
Off from the noisy trolley car,
And romp away
At tomboy play
And give the older girls a jar.

Or in their natty bathing suits
They wet their rosy tootsie toots,
Or on the sand
Come out and stand
And talk to some great horrid brutes.

Then speedily they don their clothes
And after lunch, you may suppose,
High in the swing
They sail and sing
And show the latest thing in hose.

And when the evening shades come down
They do not hurry back to town,
But sit and spoon
Beneath the moon
With dandy, yokel, dude or clown.

Man's days in life for joy are o'er
When picnics are to him a bore.
Give me a maid
Who's not afraid
Of bugs, and I will ask no more.

The War Correspondent.

When you see it in the report of the war correspondent, it may be so and it may not. The chances are about six to one and a nickel and a cent to the other.

The war correspondent likes nothing better than facts, and that he may be certain of their quality he makes them at home. By this means they fit in where he may want to use them without having the edges filed off or the corners rounded.

It is a mistake to think that the war correspondent has a prejudice against the truth, for he will readily use it if it fits in as well as something else, provided he does not have to go out of his way to get it. Of course if the truth is elusive or a man with a gun is standing guard over it the war correspondent always has something on hand equally good to use in its place.

Let us not judge the war correspondent too harshly. Remember that he is being paid money for what he does.

A Quiet Event.

SHE ALWAYS MADE HOME HAPPY.

SHE ALWAYS MADE HOME HAPPY.

In an old churchyard stood a stone,
Weather-marked and stained;
The hand of time had crumbled it;
No only part remained.
Upon one side I could just trace,
"In memory of our mother!"
An epitaph which spoke of "home"
Was chiseled on the other.

I'd gazed on monuments of fame
High towering to the skies;
I'd seen the sculptured marble stone
Where a great hero lies.
But by this epitaph I paused,
And read it o'er and o'er,
For I had never seen inscribed
Such words as these before.
"She always made home happy!" What
A noble record left;
A legacy of memory sweet
To those she left bereft;
And what a testimony given
By those who knew her best,
Engraven on this plain, rude stone
That marked their mother's rest.

It was a humble resting place,
I know that they were poor,
But they had seen their mother sink
And patiently endure;
They had marked her cheerful spirit,
When bearing, one by one,
How many burdens up the hill,
Till all her work was done.

So when was stilled her weary head,
Folded her hands so white,
And she was carried from the home
She'd always made so bright,
Her children raised a monument
That money could not buy,
As witness of a noble life
Whose record is on high.

A noble life; but written not
In any book of fame;
Among the list of noted ones
None ever saw her name;
For only her own household knew
The victories she had won—
And none but they could testify
How well her work was done.

The Passion For Giving.

"Giving becomes a disease in time," remarked a West Philadelphia woman who had had some experience in very practical forms of charitable work. "It is delightful to most of us to be assured that some deed of ours has given great pleasure or done much good. Indeed, it gives more satisfaction than many deeds acted out from the most purely selfish motives and will appeal to us after these more selfish pleasures cease to please. It takes a terrific hold on many people. Women who have been able to give liberally have continued after they had nothing of value, sending silly, wornout finery that could not possibly be of use to anybody. But they have tasted the joy of conferring benefits, of receiving gratitude, and they simply can't deny themselves. Why, people have stolen that they might not have to give up the pleasure of bestowing gifts! Nothing can exceed the lengths to which this passion for giving will carry its victims."

The Robin and the Rat.

One day while a gentleman of Portballow, St. Keverne, was walking past a farm in the neighborhood he was attracted by a robin, which flew about him, flapped its wings in his face some two or three times, and appeared greatly excited and distressed. He watched the robin for some time, and followed it toward a hedge a short distance away. There he found a rat which had got into the bird's nest and was devouring one of the young birds. At the sight of the gentleman the rat jumped out and was promptly knocked senseless. When the robin saw the rat lying on the road she flew at him and pecked him viciously. There were four young birds in the nest; one was killed, but the other three were unhurt.—St. James' Gazette.

A New Local Anaesthetic.

A new local anaesthetic of the cocaine order has been discovered. It is called "eucaine," and the advantage of the drug will enable the carrying out of those operations otherwise impossible with chloroform, owing to heart weakness of the patient. It will also enable the surgeon to take more time over his work. Although scarcely adaptable for amputations, it will be useful for treatment of the thyroid glands. The eucaine is injected by means of a hypodermic needle under the skin at the place where the incision is to be made. After a few moments the skin may be cut without the patient feeling anything. As different and independent parts are exposed, the drug is dropped at intervals of a few minutes. A highly successful operation was recently carried out in a London hospital, the operation lasting one and one-half hours.

GIRLS WHO FLIRT.

The Troubles They Are Sure to Bring Upon Themselves.

Girls should bear in mind the fact that if they wish to win the respect of men they must behave in a modest, dignified manner. Why should they respect her if she has no self respect? They will seek her society, and she will appear to have lots of attention, but behind her back they will laugh at her.

Men can tell at once the girl whom they can treat in an offhand way; they are not very particular when with her as to their language or conversation, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. They are equally quick to recognize the girl whom they know will allow no freedom; they treat her with a chivalrous respect such as they never show the other girls.

When it comes to choosing a wife men do not often look for her among the girls whom they have flirted with. They want a girl whose bloom has not been rubbed off by constant flirtations with other men, they want a girl who is fresh and sweet, and they do not want to feel that she has been just as sweet to numerous other men as she is to them.

You needn't be cold and stand off in your manner to men. Be as cordial and sweet as you can—indifference never makes friends—but don't, I pray you, spoil your girlish charm by letting any man feel that he can treat you with the slightest familiarity.

Testing a Razor.

The economical young man took his razor to one of the best barbers in town to be honed. Returning to get it, he found it ready for him.

"I'll warrant that edge," said the barber.

"It does look pretty sharp," said the man, and he began to feel of the edge with his thumb.

"But I won't warrant it if you do that," declared the barber. "It's the worst thing you could possibly do. You might better cut your nails with it than run your finger across the edge once, or shave with it for a month. There's nothing like knowing a thing or two," the barber added.—Exchange.

Disraeli's Gorgeous Costume.

When Disraeli was a young man he once went on a vacation trip to Corfu in this extraordinary costume: "A blood red shirt with silver buttons as big as shillings, an immense scarf for girdle, full of pistols and daggers, red cap, red slippers, broad blue striped jacket and trousers. His servant, engaged for the occasion, wore a Mameluke dress of crimson and gold, with a white turban thirty yards long and a saber glittering like a rainbow."

Ancient Preservation of the Dead.

Herodotus gives a good description of the manner in which the early Ethiopians preserved their dead. Having thoroughly dried the corpse, they plastered it over with a paste made of gypsum and then painted the face and exposed parts so as to make them look as natural as possible. Dead bodies served in this manner remained intact for hundreds of years.

Sauce.

"The impudence of that young brother of mine!" exclaimed Mrs. Nagger. "He just told me I was no chicken when I married you."

"Well," replied her unsympathetic husband, "that's true enough. You weren't a chicken, were you?"

"No, I was a goose."

A DECREASE IN SOIL FERTILITY.

The Solution of a Serious Problem to Ontario Farmer.

In the older provinces of Canada the majority of the farms have been decreasing in soil fertility year by year. Many o the pioneer farmers assumed that the richness of the virgin soil was practically inexhaustable, a mistake that it all too frequently repeated by the settlers on our new lands at the present day. With the deep, rich vegetable mould of the virgin soil, and looking to the present rather than to the future, it seemed profitable to the early settler to exhaust the available fertility of the upper layer, and then bring to the surface by deep plowing a lower layer to suffer the same treatment. In this way the vegetable matter or humus has been largely exhausted, and the soil has lost its fine texture and mellowness, its capacity for absorbing and retaining water, its permeability to roots, its capacity for absorbing and retaining heat, all of which are regarded by scientists as more important than the actual chemical composition of the soil.

RESTORING FERTILITY.

The problem of to-day is how to restore the fertility of the soil and at the same time make a living off the land. What system of cultivation will enable us to obtain a soil with a fair amount of vegetable matter to the depth of at least a few inches?

The Ontario and Dominion Experimental Farms seem to have solved the problem by adopting shallow cultivation and a systematic rotation of crops in which clover occupies a prominent place. Under this method, as outlined by Prof. Reynolds, the land is plowed only once in three or four years, all the rest of the cultivation being done with harrows, cultivators and other implements which cut, crush, pulverize and loosen, but do not invert the soil.

THE LAND IN SUMMER AND FALL.

To show clearly the method of summer cultivation, let us suppose that the second year's crop has been taken off a clover field. The sod is plowed about August, as early as possible in order to take advantage of the summer's heat to decompose the roots. Then it is harrowed to loosen the surface and prevent he escape of moisture, which is also required in decomposition. After that it is cultivated frequently without tearing up the sod, the objects being to destroy the weeds that may be growing and to enable the sod to rot by keeping in the moisture. As the manure is plowed in with the sod, it will be well decomposed before winter, thus ensuring a good supply of humus for the next crop. The last thing in the fall the land should be ribbed up in the same manner as for turnip drills. This is best done with a double mould-board plow. This ribbing prevents leaching away of the plant food, most of which is heaped into the drills; exposes a greater surface to the pulverising action of frost; and allows a more rapid drying in the spring, and consequently earlier working and seeding.

Probably the next crop will be ensilage corn or roots. In the spring the ridges are smoothed down and a good seed bed formed without using the plow. After the crop is sown, surface cultivation is continued to kill the weeds and conserve the moisture. In the fall the ground is again ribbed up for winter. The following year a spring grain crop may be sown and the land seeded down, completing the rotation.

WHEN WEEDS ARE TROUBLESOME.

Surface cultivation affords the best means of destroying weeds. They are, of course, various ways of eradicating troublesome weeds, depending largely upon the sort of crops grown and the nature of the weeds themselves. One method is to prevent the seed from maturing by growing a hard crop or an early maturing crop such as clover. With late maturing crop, which allows the weed seeds to ripen, it is advisable to adopt surface cultivation after harvest, so as to encourage these seeds to germinate the same season, when the young plants can be destroyed. Under such circumstances it is a too common practice to bury the seed by deep plowing, leaving them in a condition to come to the surface and germinate in some future crop, in which very likely it will be impossible to destroy them.

How the Mussel Travels.

Of all the absurd forms of locomotion practiced by the creatures of the deep the most preposterous is that of the mussel. Squids will startle you by darting backward, crabs hustle off sideways at a lively gait, but nothing save the dull brain of "some kind of clam critter," pondering over the transportation problem in those remote epochs when time was no object, could have evolved so slow and cumbersome a method.

You may often see mussels climb up the pile of a wharf toward the high water mark. Notice the black threads attached to the clam. They do the business. The mussel shoots out a spray of gelatinous stuff in the direction he wants to go and this hardens into those black threads. He lets go the old ones and climbs up by the new. You can trace his progress up the pile by the bunches of old threads, which he leaves behind at intervals. It has never been figured out whether he could go a mile in less than a year, but it would be safe to back the mussel in the animals' "slow race."—Country Life In America.

TORNADO KILLED 12

St. Paul and Vicinity Visited by Death-Dealing Storm.

ONE THEATRE DEMOLISHED

Another Unroofed, and a Steel Bridge Wrecked—Path of the Devastation Was 8 Miles Long By Half a Mile Wide —Pioneer Press Building Riddled By the Wind and Flying Debris.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 22.—Death to 12 persons, injuries to many others, and destruction to property, both private and public, estimated in round numbers at $1,000,000, resulted from a furious gale which tore down the Valley of the Mississippi at about 9 o'clock Saturday night from a point somewhere near the confluence of the Minnesota and Mississippi Rivers, near Fort Snelling. At about that point the fury of the elements seemingly divided, and with a roar descended on the Twin Cities and their environs. The dead:

Lorain F. Hokanson and George Kwenton, killed at Tivoli Theatre.

Unknown child, killed by falling wall of dormitory at House of Good Shephard.

Four unknown dead at Waconia, 20 miles west of Minneapolis.

Louis Pillisbeck, operator at Minneapolis Junction, killed by lightning.

Unknown woman.

Albert Odhe, 6 years of age, son of Frank Hedges, and an unknown 10-year-old girl, killed at St. Louis Park.

The missing: Edwin Gilbert, who was in the Tivoli Theatre.

Fatally injured: William Langby, skull fractured.

Robert Younger, injured internally.

Sister at the House of the Good Shepherd, injured internally.

Unknown child, House of Good Shepherd, buried beneath debris.

There were many others less seriously hurt.

Its Terrible Pathway.

From beginning at a point below Fort Snelling the storm came from the west and howling in its fury uprooted trees and demolished buildings in its pathway towards St. Paul. After causing havoc in St. Paul, the tornado swept onward to Minneapolis and its suburbs. Here, however, the destruction of property was not so great, although telephone and telegraph wires were torn down in great numbers. For four hours the Twin Cities were cut off from communication with the outside world.

The tornado cut a pathway about a half mile in width and eight miles in length through the business and residence district.

The storm cloud, which came from the southwest, first hit the ground on the west side bluffs, near the high bridge. Two spans of this structure, which is of steel and which crossed the Mississippi River at a height of 200 feet, were cut out and thrown into the gulch below, crushing in the roofs of a number of small houses situated on the flats along the river bank.

Demolished Theatre.

It struck the city proper near the Wabash street bridge, completely demolishing the Tivoli Theatre. There was a vaudeville performance on at the theatre, which was fairly well filled. Two men were killed by the fall of the roof, and about a dozen persons, women performers and others, were buried in the ruins. Many of them were severely hurt before they were extricated by the fire department. Across Wabash street the Empire Theatre, a two-storey brick house of the same character as the Tivoli, was unroofed and otherwise badly damaged. Nearly all of the business blocks on Third street between Wabash and Sibley streets, a distance of five blocks, were damaged. Roofs were blown off, plate glass windows shattered and huge signs sent scurrying through the air like feathers. The Minnesota Club, at the corner of Fourth and Cedar streets, was damaged, while the ten-storey Globe office building, just across the street, escaped with but little injury.

The Pioneer Press Building, a 13-story brick and steel structure, was literally riddled by the wind and flying debris. There was a stampede among the printers at work in the composing room of the 12th floor, many of them being cut by flying pieces of glass. The wholesale houses on Fourth street for two blocks below Robert street suffered, extensive damage. The Davidson Building, at the corner of Fourth and Jackson streets, was unroofed, the entire roof being picked up and blown on top of an adjoining building.

The storm then swooped across Smith's Park, levelling all of the shade trees and struck the five-storey brick building of Noyes Brothers & Cutler, wholesale druggists, blowing off the roof and carrying away part of the upper storey. On West Seventh street, between Wacouta and Kitson streets, a distance of seven blocks, much damage was done. The Habighorst Building at 7th and Wacouta, occupied by the Economy store, was unroofed. The five-storey brick building occupied by the Schurmeier Wagon Co., on Rosabel street, was badly damaged, the entire top storey being blown away. The Union Livery Stable was wrecked, about half of the building blown down. Along the north side of East Seventh street every building was damaged, some being nothing more than heaps of debris.

Washington school building at Locust and Eighth streets suffered considerable damage, almost the entire top portion being blown away. St. Mary's Catholic Church, on Ninth and John streets, was unroofed, but the school building across the street, escaped with only minor damages. St. Sigfrid's Episcopal Church, on Eighth street, a frame structure, was levelled to the ground.

CANADA'S NORTHERN LANDS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Tells of Dominion's Protective Measures.

In the House of Commons the other night was passed a vote of $200,000 for the purchase, equipment and maintenance of vessels to be employed in patrolling the waters in the northern portion of Canada, also for establishing and maintaining police and customs posts on the mainland and islands wherever necessary.

Speaking in support of the vote, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "The committee, I am sure, has not forgotten that last year we sent an expedition to explore, patrol and assert the authority of the Government of Canada in Hudson's Bay and the northern waters. The object of this expedition was fully explained to the House last year and met with general favor. The view was to assert beyond any possibility of doubt, so as to prevent any future possible conflict, the undoubted authority of the Dominion of Canada in the waters of Hudson's Bay and beyond. The steamer Neptune was chartered last year and sailed from Halifax. It had on board a representative of the Geological Department, a representative of the Marine and Fisheries Department, Inspector Moodie and five men of the Mounted Police. The instructions given to the expedition, which was for the time being under the chief control of Mr. Low, was to explore as far as he could during the season the northern waters and to establish a post somewhere in Hudson's Bay. No definite instructions were given to the expedition as to the location of the post. Then, as soon as the breaking of the ice in the spring would permit, the expedition was to go north and explore Baffin Bay and Lancaster Strait, and then come back to Cape Chinley on the Straits of Hudson's Bay. There they had instructions that they would be met by another steamer, which was to sail, and has sailed, on the 15th of July, to meet them, give them coal, provisions, etc.

"The Neptune is to come and be relieved and be replaced by another boat, the Arctic, which will be under the command of Capt. Bernier, and which is to sail on August 15th. This boat will carry an officer and ten men of the Mounted Police, apart from the crew of the ship. They will relieve the Neptune. Their instructions are to patrol the waters, to find suitable locations for posts, to establish those posts, and to assert the jurisdiction of Canada. The Government has been induced to come to this action, because it is evident that the time has arrived when our interests in these northern waters should not longer be neglected.

"At the present time there are whalers and fishermen of different nations cruising in those waters, and unless we take active steps to assert what is the undoubted fact, that these lands belong to Canada, we may perhaps find ourselves later on in the face of serious complications."

Sir Wilfrid displayed maps on which he traced the proposed routes of these vessels and the places they have visited and are to visit, to a group of interested members who crowded round the table in the centre of the floor.

The Piano and the Home.

Dr. Goldwin Smith takes a charmingly optimistic view, in the last issue of The Weekly Sun, of the fact that the output of pianos in Canada had greatly increased. "It is pleasant to be told," he says, "that the sale of pianos has largely increased. A piano no doubt is sometimes bought as an ornamental article of furniture; but allowing for this, we may fairly infer that with the increase of the sale there has been an increase of the taste for music. Not only is music a source of the purest pleasure, and in that character an antidote to pleasures which are less pure, but it is a most beneficial agent in the formation of national character. It refines, softens, civilizes. It carries the aesthetic element, without which character is not complete, into homes which poetry and art cannot reach. It exorcises angry passions, as the harp of David exorcised the evil spirit from Saul. In a man who was fond of music you would hardly find a very venomous politician or partisan of any kind. The taste is social also, and likely, wherever it spreads, to promote a sociability, which is said in some of our rural neighborhoods to be wanting, and the lack of which, where it is felt, must be a drawback from the happiness of farm life. Let us hope that the sale of pianos will continue to increase."

His Little Joke.

Said the regular customer of the restaurant as he stopped at the desk to pay his bill: "Where did you get that beef you are serving today?" "What's the matter with it?" aggressively asked the cashier, who scented another kick. "There's nothing the matter with it; that's why I asked."

Nine Points of the Law.

Success in law requires, first, a good deal of money; second, a good deal of patience; third, a good cause; fourth, a good lawyer; fifth, a good counsel; sixth, good witnesses; seventh, a good jury; eighth, a good judge, and, ninth, good luck.—Exchange.

Headwork.

Doctor—It is especially important that you refrain from all head work for a few weeks. Patient—But, doctor, it's by head work that I earn my living. Doctor—Are you a literary man? Patient—No, sir, I'm a hairdresser.

His Impressive Highness.

Jenkins—I met that new butler of yours today and had quite a talk with him. Nuritch (anxiously)—What does he think of us? Did he say?

It is easy to see what should be done, but only a few are able to do it.—Atchison Globe.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

New York, August 20, 1904.

Speculation for the rise was somewhat confused by the sharp advance in wheat, by the unsettled condition of the steel trade and by the further decline in crop conditions. The movement in wheat, of course, has its origin in the shortage of the world's crop and the falling off in the yield of the United States. The advance, however, appears to have been unduly stimulated by public buying; and a sharp reaction may occur when least expected. As for the break in steel wire products, it is impossible to tell at this writing how far reaching that step may be. The cut of about $5 a ton appears to have been in retaliation against the Pittsburg Steel and Republic Iron & Steel conversion deal, and bears all the indications of a serious trade war. Should the cut extend to other branches of the steel industry the effect will of course be detrimental, not only to the steel industry, but to constructive enterprise in general which will naturally be deferred until more settled conditions prevail. However, it is premature to calculate upon the action of the steel magnates in this early stage of the contest.

Concerning the crops, August, as usual, is proving a month of recession in most respects. Cotton and wheat have noticeably declined during August, and while this is not likely to change the estimate of a 12,000,000 bale cotton crop it has seriously affected the wheat harvest; though some conservative authorities are still figuring on a 575,000,000 bushel crop. Corn has thus far escaped injury, and is in promising condition, except that the crop is generally two weeks late and is especially exposed to injury from frost. For corn the estimate is still 2,500,000,000 bushels. What the effect would be upon the stock market, and general business also, of damaging frost to this important crop no one can venture to predict. Suffice to say that a large corn crop is the mainstay of present hopefulness, and failure to realize these expectations would certainly exert a depressing influence throughout the country. Such a contingency may not happen; but it is sufficiently near the range of possibility to enforce caution in stock market operations, at least until the danger period is more nearly passed. As for the other important crops they are all proving satisfactory, and the outlook remains, as in previous advices, favorable to a profitable season for farmers and planters in nearly all sections of the country.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Incd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York.—I believe an upward movemone will start next week that will carry the market up, the highest prices being reached the first week of September. As already intimated, more money will be made by getting short at the top than by bulling stocks, but I consider the long side tolerably safe till after labour day. If you buy stocks Monday morning buy only moderately, and be in a position to buy more on a 2point further recession. It is not a safe market either way at the present moment though on a further break of 4 points stocks should be a good purchase or on a two point rally a good sale. —Ridgeley.

New York.—Developments over Sunday have not changed the situation to any material extent and the stock market looks like irregularity to-day. We expect to see further bearish operations, particularly in specialities, but there should be considerable short covering on weakness which we think advisable. Sales on rallies in the active stocks for small turns will be profitable. Sentiment seems to us to be still considerably unsettled and a trading market is likely for a time. We think Atch., Sug., and B.R.T. may be sold on rallies. It looks as though good support was appearing in R.I., R.G., Pa ,and we believe they should be bought on weak spots for small turns.

U. P. may work lowe.—Town Topics.

New York, August 22.— A. C. P. is a purchase around 83, but we would not buy Sugar. So. Ry. should be bought near 36 1-2. Pfx around 97 and V. C. around or below 30. Ill. C. is a purchase around 136 and Mop. below 93. S.P. may be bought around 54 1-2 and St. P. below 147 1-2. We still think S.P. will reach 85. U.S.Q. may go a point or two lower but we consider it a much better purchase than sale. We don't want to sell a stock when there is so much bad news out on it. It ought to go to 70. Would also buy C.F.I. around and below 25 T.C.I. around 41. Pa around 123, Con. Gas around 183 and P.O. below 100. May wheat continues to soar. It will surely reach 150. Our last advices on Cotton Thursday were bullish.

The Golden Lion a Busy Store Even in August

It's part of our creed to "keep everlastingly at it" and to keep the business constantly in evidence, regardless of extreme heat or extreme cold.

Constantly increasing business talks—and talks loud—for a store. No argument is necessary to prove that our store is giving satisfaction—in measure full heaped and running over—to the people of the town and county of Peterborough and surrounding townships, other than to point to the continually larger number of ladies who are making it their shopping place.

A store's success has to be merited, as our's has been. It must give a little better goods, a little better value, have a little newer styles, or give a little fairer treatment than the others.

If we have not had these "little betters" our trade would not have increased to the extent it has over this time last year.

Figures cannot deceive you. Test this store's ability to serve you.

THE LAST OF SUMMER FABRICS AND GARMENTS

Arrived in New York From Belgium and Refused Landing.

London, Aug. 23.—(C.A.P.)—A Canadian workman of Belgian birth has complained to the Belgian Foreign Minister against the New York authorities. He states he has been a resident of Montreal for years and has there an installation plant capable of procuring the means of livelihood for himself and family. He recently visited his native country, and, returning to Canada, purchased a ticket to Montreal via New York. Arriving at the latter port he passed his baggage through the customs, and also passed the examination of the sanitary authorities, but instead of being allowed to continue his journey was detained for thirteen days on Ellis Island and then sent back to Antwerp.

A PROLONGED BOMBARDMENT.

Russian Reports of the Fighting at Port Arthur.

JAP BATTERIES SILENCED.

St. Petersburg Receives Further Reports Regarding the Warships in the Harbour of Port Arthur—Tremendous Conflict Raging and Victory Hanging in the Balance—Japs Capture an Important Fort.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—A despatch from Che Foo, dated Aug. 22, says that, according to Chinese reports, the Japanese yesterday bombarded Port Arthur from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, pounding in a heavy fire, but that the Russians succeeded in silencing the Japanese batteries. The Japanese fleet was not engaged, having put farther out to sea.

Alarm at Che Foo.

Washington, Aug. 23.—United States Consul-General Fowler cabled the State Department yesterday from Che Foo that the Chinese local authorities there, as well as the Chinese population, are greatly alarmed over the prospect that the Japanese fleet will land at Che Foo and seek to destroy the wireless telegraph system which has been operating with Port Arthur.

May Destroy the Ships.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—An official despatch from Rear-Admiral Prince Ouktomsky at Port Arthur, by way of Che Foo, says that only two officers were killed on board the ships which returned to the harbor after the fight of Aug. 10. News that the Port Arthur squadron has again sailed out is expected at any hour, as Rear-Admiral Prince Ouktomsky's orders are imperative to go out or destroy his ships beyond the possibility of repair before the fortress falls.

Experiencing Difficulties.

London, Aug. 23.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says news has reached Tokio that the delay in capturing the fortress is due to the difficulty in establishing a satisfactory artillery base.

VICTORY IN THE BALANCE.

Japanese Charge Desperately, Was Positions But Are Driven Back.

Che Foo, Aug. 23.—The first detailed news of the general assault on Port Arthur indicates that a tremendous conflict is raging and that victory is hanging in the balance.

Chinese who left Port Arthur Sunday and arrived here yesterday state that the Japonese, by making desperate charges, which were reinforced by artillery fire from Shushiyen and Louisa Bay, swept from the north into Pigeon Bay territory and drove the Russians back from the main forts. The ground being comparatively flat in this vicinity, the Japanese were unable to hold it in the face of the Russian artillery fire, and they retired north an eighth of a mile beyond the zone of fire.

Capture One Important Fort.

The Chinese declare that the Japanese captured one important fort located on the Itzshan Hills, midway between the western coast and the railway on a line drawn approximately from a point midway between Pigeon and Louisa Bays.

The fighting resulting in the capture of this fort was very severe. The position was first subjected to a bombardment for over forty-eight hours. Then the Japanese infantry assaulted it and compelled the Russians to retire. The Russian artillery then directed a heavy fire on the spot, compelling the Japanese in turn to retire.

Impregnable.

The Chinese just arrived, who bring the latest information from Port Arthur, were employed by the Russian authorities carrying the dead off the field and also ammunition, which they say is plentiful. They confirm the statement that the Liotai Promontory was not assailed for the reason that it is impregnable from the seaside, and the Japanese are unable to move on it from the north.

The Japanese main attack has been the heaviest against the Russian centre and right particularly against the centre from which the Japanese have taken up a strong position at Shusiyen.

Pigeon Bay had been the scene of fighting several days before the final assault had begun, the Japanese never being able to hold for long any territory they might gain. Their attacks were made mostly at night, during foggy days and misty mornings.

The Japanese believe that their superior physical condition will win the battle for them by wearing out the Russian garrison, which is constituted of less hardened material, down to the point of exhaustion by the persistency of their attack and their refusal to accept a repulse.

While the Russians apparently believe they will hold the Japanese in check their confidence in their successful resistance is not absolute. The Japanese have guns mounted on nearly all the hills which formerly formed Russian outposts.

The Japanese fire is accurate. The hospitals and Chinese houses at Port Arthur are full of Russian wounded. The narators say the dead, until ready for burial, are stored in warehouses and are then buried on the outskirts of the town, quicklime being used freely to prevent infection.

Three large ships and two gunboats are being repaired in the dockyard and basin, the other ships being behind the shelter of Tigers' Tail Peninsula.

The junks now depart from Liaoti lighthouse.

British Steamer Stopped.

Durban, Natal, Aug. 23.—The British steamer Comedian, from Liverpool, July 26, arrived here yesterday, and reported that she was stopped by a Russian converted cruiser yesterday off the mouth of Bashee River, in the southwestern part of Cape Colony. After the Comedian had been examined she was allowed to proceed.

When opportunity knocks at some men's doors they draw the shades closer and keep quiet under the impression that it is a bill collector.

JAPANESE CAPTURE IMPORTANT POSITION

Said to Have Reached Stoessel's Residence in Port Arthur.

Russian Boats in Shanghai Harbour Will be Bombarded—Japan's Decisive Action.

Special C. N. W. Despatches to the Examiner.

Chefoo, Aug. 23.—Refugees from Port Arthur who have just arrived here say the Japanese have obtained a position between Golden Hill and the town and have reached Stoessel's residence.

Rome, 23.—A telegram from Shanghai, to the Italia Militaire says, that a Japanese squadron composed of the Battleship Tugi, the cruiser Kasagi and two other vessels, have anchored before Woo Sang. A squadron of destroyers entered the harbor of Shanghai. The Japanese admiral, according to the despatch, has orders to bombard the Russian cruiser Askold, and the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grosovoi which are now in port there, in a disabled condition as a result of an encounter with the Japanese fleet at sea some days ago.

Rome, Aug. 23.—A despatch to the Itali Militaire from Shanghai, states that General Kuropatkin has abandoned Liao Yang.

London, Aug. 23.—A telegram to the Evening News from Chefoo says that the Japanese have captured a chain of forts at Port Arthur after a tremendous attack yesterday. Shell from the Japanese guns even reached the harbor.

WILL AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS.

Consuls' Meeting Decides on Delay re China's Neutrality.

Shanghai, Aug. 23.—John Goodnow, the American Consul-General, who is dean of the consular corps, presided at the meeting of the foreign consuls, held here yesterday. All foreign countries with consular agents were represented. M. Ogadiri, the Japanese consul, and M. Kleinmenoff, the Russian consul, were in attendance. M. Ogadiri left a sick bed to attend the meeting. He made a vigorous protest against the presence of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi in Shanghai harbor, and declared that China had failed in her duties as a neutral power. He asserted that the Japanese had the right to take the independent step of entering the harbor and seizing the two vessels. The attitude of M. Ogadiri was warlike and uncompromising.

M. Kleinmenoff protested against the entering of the harbor Sunday by a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, and insisted upon the right, of the two Russian warships in question to remain and repair damages.

Referred to Pekin.

A suggestion made by the British consul to refer the entire matter to Pekin was adopted. In the meantime the work on the Askold is to cease for 48 hours, and no further steps are to be taken by the consuls, who will await instructions from their respective Governments.

The British fleet is expected to reach here to-morrow.

Yankees Cleared For Action.

The Japanese torpedo boat destroyer which entered the harbor yesterday has left the harbor with despatches for the fleet.

The Taoti has, by order of the Walwoupou (minister of Foreign Affairs), again taken a hand in the affair and has issued another extension of time to the Russian vessels, which have been ordered now to leave at noon Tuesday.

The American men-of-war in the harbor, while retaining the outward appearances of inaction, have for several days been practically cleared for action, with gun sights in position and steam up. Rear-Admiral Sterling is determined that the Japanese shall not interfere with the Russian vessels. He has, it is reported, offered to escort the Askold and Grozovoi beyond the three-mile limit.

London Press View.

London, Aug. 23.—The afternoon papers here take it for granted that if any intervention is necessary at Shanghai the powers will act together in upholding the neutrality of China equally against both belligerents.

Paris Says "Unjustifiable."

Paris, Aug. 23.—The officials here confirm the statement that the Taotai of Shanghai has informed the Chinese Government that he is unable to enforce the neutrality of the port. In spite of pro-Russian sympathies serious opinion here considers that Russia's conduct in the difficulty is not justifiable.

Feared Jap Attack.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—The despatches saying that energetic action had been taken by the American warships at Shanghai to protect the neutrality of China has aroused the liveliest satisfaction in official and unofficial circles here. The protected cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi will be disarmed.

The refusal of the Russian consul-general at Shanghai to comply with the requests of the Taotai is, it is said at the Foreign Office, due to the fact that no agreement had previously been reached between the Chinese and Japanese authorities, and Russia did not propose to allow the Chinese to disarm the ships, as they did in the case of the Ryeshitelni at Che Foo with the possibility that they might subsequently be attacked by the Japanese in port.

What Britain Would Prefer.

London, Aug. 23.—Interest in official and diplomatic circles in London yesterday centred at Shanghai, where British interests are strongly appealing for protection. Great Britain, however, would prefer that the United States take the initiative in maintaining the neutrality of China. Great Britain's position as the ally of Japan making her situation delicate unless her interests are directly menaced. It is true, the officials say, that Great Britain agreed in principle to the neutrality of China, but she did not undertake to enforce it. Throughout the discussion relative to the Askold and the Grozovoi she has held the view that it is none of her business, and the extent to which Great Britain has gone is to point out to China the importance of maintaining her neutrality, by which both belligerents are affected.

It may be true that every man has his price, but every man you meet hasn't got the price.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was; and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time, I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. EDITORIAL NOTES.

On Saturday last 2,433 harvest hands left Toronto for the harvest fields of the North-west. And there is need for thousands more. Where there is willingness to work there is no necessity for being idle. Canada's prosperity is bound up in the development of her unoppned resources, and the progress of this development in the abundant employment it will provide, will stave off hard times from Canada for half a century, that is hard times as they come to other countries less fortunately situated.

Canada's sons are good advertisers for Canada. Professor William Osler, the brilliant Canadian, has made a big name for himself and his native country, in the United States, and now he is welcomed among the great scientists of Britain as a worthy compeer. His appointment to the Regius Professorship of Medicine in Oxford University, is held to be a subject of congratulation to the foremost men of higher learning in Great Britain. The Old Country will rightly argue that a country which can produce such men amounts to something in the Imperial economy.

The Toronto News sets up peculiar standards of judgment of public men, especially when thereby a reflection can be cast upon the Liberal Government of the Dominion. It condemns the appointment of Mr. F. B. Wade as chairman of the Trans-continental Railway Commission on the ground of Mr. Wade declaring that he was not an applicant for the position and was kept in ignorance of the details of the consideration by the Government of the question of his selection. "It augurs ill," illy argues the News, "for the Commission if the chairman is to be kept so far from the confidence of the Government." The matter is magnified unduly. It seems to be a case of the position seeking the man and not the man the position, a thing that the organs of the Conservative party cannot, it seems, appreciate or understand.

The course of that section of the W.C.T.U. which objected to the smashing of a bottle of wine to christen a battle ship, will not meet with the approval of Mrs. Carrie Nation. The gentle Carrie dotes on smashing methods, and would delight to see the whole wine stock of a saloon smashed to christen a battle ship or a church. In fact Carrie is credited with having done a little smashing herself with her little hatchet. By the way, isn't it peculiar that the hatchet should be the symbol of two of the great moral lessons of the United States. The hatchet in the name of truth and in the hands of George Washington, smashed a cherry tree, and the hatchet in the name of temperance and in the hands of Carrie Nation, smashed the cherry whiskey tree. If the people of the United States depart as widely and generally from the temperance ideals of Carrie Nation as they have done from the truth-observing ideals of the George Washington myth, whiskey instead of being used merely to christen ships will serve for purposes of navigation.

FEMALE WORKERS.

Brantford Expositor.

There is no more faithful official in the employ of the Ontario government than Miss Carlyle, the female inspector of the factories, and it is gratifying to be told in her annual report to the department for 1903 that the conditions of employment for women workers throughout the province are, upon the whole, most satisfactory.

As a rule the working hours are well observed, and reasonable in their nature, but complaint is made that in some places to secure a Saturday half holiday work begins at 6.30 a.m., and in others the noon hour is shortened. Regarding the meal hour, the inspector says:—

I have observed in many workrooms that meals are taken in the same room as is used for a workroom, and I have seen girls dining in small, dark, cold basement rooms, thus spending the precious break in their working day under conditions as bad, or even worse than the workroom they have just left. But I am pleased to say that there are some firms who provide a warm, comfortable lunch room, with tea, coffee and vegetables cooked and supplied at a very low figure; and some have arranged a large recreation room, with a piano and games. I have always urged upon manufacturers the necessity of providing a room for their girls, or allowing them some change for the hour. By this means workers will get a change of scene, and certainly work better for that change. I have also held that workrooms should be thoroughly aired twice a day, for at least half an hour during the noon hour, and after the day's work has been finished or before it has begun.

The saleswomen in the dry goods stores are perhaps more unfortunate than females in the mills or workshops, for the spinner can seek a few minutes on the window-sill, but the girl behind the counter must remain upright and alert, and must likewise keep her discomfort from betraying itself in her face. I think the law should require mercantile establishments to send to our department a written notice of any accident to an employee.

Some instances are reported of illegal over time and of cold workrooms. Reference is made to the unsatisfactory condition of offices where women are employed in clerical work, little or no provision being made regarding separate conveniences. Complaints continue to be received of employers charging the operators with thread used in the manufacture of women's clothing. Most of the tailors' workshops have very materially improved during the year, but there is still much to be desired in the workrooms for the manufacture of clothing. The cuttings, the dust, the ashes, the coal and the garments finished or unfinished all claim the right to a place on the floor.

Considerable improvement in sanitation and ventilation is reported, but there is room for more.

The bad practice of licking labels in labelling boxes filled with different kinds of powders and other goods is to be deplored. In many places it is the rule for women workers to be placed under the charge of overseers of their own sex, and there are many good reasons why this should be adopted. In many factories where male and female are employed, there are exceptionally strict rules. The males and females enter the factory by different doors, and the women are dismissed, after work, several minutes before the men. This may be regarded as tending towards the extreme of Puritanism, but to those who know the workings of factory life, and the opportunity it affords the unscrupulous in places of authority to influence women dependent upon their good will for the means of earning the necessaries of life, no precaution that may effectually guard women against such temptations can be excessive.

The inspector calls attention to the difficulty which is felt in inducing girls to keep their hair out of the way of machinery and also to avoid loose blouses and sleeves. Legislation dealing with this subject was passed during the last session of the Legislative Assembly, and it is to be hoped it will prove effective.

On Wednesday, August 17th, the Havelock lacrosse team journeyed to Peterborough and played the T.A.S. of that town the first of the home and home games for the championship of the Trent Valley League.

The home club had a hard time getting enough material together to represent them on this important occasion and we are sorry to say they were without the service of four of their best players whose places were filled by juniors.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt as it was plainly seen that the Peterborough team where trained to the hour while the Havelock boys have not been together for over a month and they sadly showed the lack of team work.

The T.A.S. team won by the score of 7-1 and there is no doubt that they will be returned the champions of the league as the home team cannot expect to overcome to score put up against them at Peterborough.

Mr. McKeown is going to build a new store and equip it with the latest jewellery, watches and clocks. He expects to sell the balance of the stock of next week by another sale.

The Marmora Baseball team met with the locals on the latters grounds on Friday last in the series of games comprising the Trent Valley Baseball League pU to the sixth innings it was anybody's game, and the score was kept down to two or three runs a side, but in the seventh Havelock got a start which Marmora could not get the better of. CANADIAN BUTTER COULD BE IMPROVED.

Government Should Permit Judicious Use of Preservatives.

London, Aug. 21.—Weddel and Co's. review of the produce market for the year ended in June, says it is satisfactory to record the fact that last season the quality of the Canadian butter showed a considerable improvement over any previous year, although in the matter of saltless there were great complaints regarding mouldy condition on arrival. This mouldy butter is mostly from western Ontario, and no doubt the land transit to Montreal is largely responsible for this unsatisfactory condition. "There is no reason why Canada should not be able to make as good butter as Denmark or other Continental countries, but to do this she will have to revolutionize her methods. Canadian butter in the last few years has acquired a reputation in this country not to the advantage of Canada. If the Canadian Government would permit preservatives in safe and moderate amounts the quality of the butter when it reached here would show considerable improvement over its present character.

AUTO UP A TREE.

Drops Into the Branches and the Passengers Climb Down.

Catskill, Aug. 15.—With five New Yorkers clinging to the seats, a big touring car ran down a steep embankment last night on the Herman Livingston place, across the Hudson, and landed in the top of a spreading apple tree. The machine stuck fast in the branches until the occupants were rescued with ladders. The tree was then cut down, and the auto brought back to earth so little damaged that the party were able to continue their trip.

In the automobile were Dr. and Mrs. Leonard of No. 938 Dean Street, Brooklyn; George Balfour, Fredrick Leland and a chauffeur. They were on their way to Cario, N.Y. The chauffeur was driving the car at a high speed to reach Catskill Point in time for the last ferry. When a mile south of Greendale Station, on the east bank of the Hudson, he lost control of the big machine. It ran at top speed until a sharp turn in the road was reached. There the auto ran down over the steep bank. Close to the base was an apple tree with low spreading branches. Into the top the runaway went with a plunge and there it stuck fast, with the five occupants twelve or fifteen feet up in the air.

Mr. Livingston and his coachman, Jesse Cole, witnessed the runaway and hurried to the rescue, expecting to find all the members of the party killed or maimed.

"We are all safe," called out Dr. Leonard, "but the automoboling up here is nothing to brag about. If you will just get a ladder we shall be glad to come down and see you."

The ladder was soon up and all the five members of the party got down from the treed auto without serious injury. They were shaken up somewhat and scratched here and there, but did not require the service of a surgeon. After a council it was decided that the only way to get the car was to chop down the tree. The coachman and chauffeur took turns with an axe and soon felled it. The auto rolled gently out of the branches as the tree fell and on inspection it was found that little damage had been done it.

The Baby's Troubles.

The greatest suffering of childhood is caused by eczema, scald head, chafing or other forms of skin irritation or eruption. Because of its extraordinary, soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used would think of being without it in the house.

Resumption at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 23.—The Lake Superior Co. is gradually resuming operations. Not the least important is the resumption of construction work on the Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway, after a suspension lasting since a year ago last fall. The Algoma Steel Company is practically ready to resume operations. It is expected that by the first of the coming month all departments will be in commission. An official of the steel plant says: "We will be in a position to compete for all Canadian orders and expect the price to range between $28 and $30 per ton."

Violent Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and Perhaps a Life Saved.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea and believe I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by all druggists.

12 MILES OF FLAME

Country at Wulffshone Bay, B.C., a Blazing Fiery Furnace

LOSSES ALREADY $3,000,000

Toronto and British Columbia Lumber Company the Heaviest Loser—Five Thousand Acres of Their Limits Reported in Flames—Logging Camps Burned—Only Rain Will Stay Conflagration.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 23.—Official sources give the loss of standing timber to date at $3,000,000).

The principal losers are the Toronto and British Columbia Lumber Company, with headquarters in Toronto. Five thousand acres of limits belonging to this company, at Wulffshone Bay, are reported to be in flames.

Other limits being destroyed in the same locality are those owned by the British Columbia Timber and Trading Company, 2,000 acres, and the Moodyville Mill Company, while the limits of the Brunette Saw Mills are threatened.

On many of the islands in the gulf the timber is in flames, fanned by a sweep of the wind, while blazing timber on Vancouver Island and in Kootenay is threatening Hettmen's with destruction.

There is yet no sign of rain. Unless it comes soon the loss will be enormous.

Yesterday Moses Ireland's logging camp at Bull's Point, and Bull's logging camp at Serge Inlet were wiped out by the flames. The loss is $10,000.

The engines and outfits of the Hastings Saw Mill were saved by a train ride through a blazing fire at Wulffshone Bay.

Twelve miles of country is now in flames there.

FATAL SOUTH DAKOTA WINDSTORM.

Two Dead, Four Fatally Hurt, 30 Injured and Buildings Wrecked.

Watertown, S.D., Aug. 23.—A severe windstorm swept over a region in Hamlin County, in the northeast part of South Dakota, Friday night, killing a man named Erickson, of Willow Lake, and Mrs. H. Schilling, of Bryant, and injuring thirty persons. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Smith, of Willow Lake, and Mrs. Schilling's son and daughter were probably fatally injured.

The greatest damage was done at Willow Lake and Bryant. At Willow Lake every building was damaged. Three churches, a schoolhouse and all the elevators and livery barns are in ruins.

The Great Northern depot was thrown across the railroad track and seventeen box cars were turned bottomside up. The Methodist Church is upside down in the parsonage.

The loss to farmers by damage to their crops will be heavy.

A GUNBOAT ASHORE.

Columbine, Newfoundland Patrol Boat, May Be a Total Loss.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 23.—The British gunboat Columbine, one of the vessels of the squadron patrolling the Newfoundland fisheries, struck on a rock yesterday in Snooks Arm, Green Bay, and it is feared that she will become a total wreck.

The whaling vessel Cabot vainly tried to pull the Columbine off the rock.

The gunboat Fantome left here last night to try to re-float the Columbine, and if that should be found impossible, to save her gear.

DEATH OF MR. R. C. CARTER.

Veteran Railway Manager Passes Away at Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—R. C. Carter, general manager of the Bay of Quinte Railway, the Oshawa Railway, the Thousand Islands Railway and the Deseronto Navigation Company, died yesterday at the Royal Victoria Hospital. He was about 60 years old.

Although Mr. Carter's home was at Kingston he was almost a citizen of Montreal, as he spent most of his time at the Windsor Hotel in this city with his family. Mrs. Carter survives, with four sons and two daughters. One of the sons is traveling freight agent of the Canada Atlantic Railway, another is teller in the Bank of Montreal Cornwall branch, while one daughter is married and living in Gananoque.

The remains were taken to the 8 o'clock train at the Bonaventure Station for Kingston, where the funeral will take place.

Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

This remedy never fails. Keep it in your home, it may save life. For sale by all druggists.

TRADE RETURNS.

Increase For Last Year Nearly Five and a Half Million Dollars—Great Contrast Under the Conservatives.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—As already announced, Canada's aggregate foreign trade for the year ended June 30th last, on the basis of imports for consumption and exports, amounted to $464,978,372, an increase of $5,338,132, compared with the previous twelve months, and a gain of $234,709,990 when contrasted with the best year under the Conservative administration. The imports for consumption were $251,457,187, and the exports $213,521,235. In 1903 the imports for consumption were $233,790,516, and the exports $225,849,724. Of the imports for consumption $102,554,756 were free goods, an increase of $14,156,224 over the year previous. Our imports from Great Britain and British possessions amounted to $72,881,951. From foreign countries we imported goods to the value of $178,575,186. Our imports for consumption from Great Britain were $61,770,379, as against $58,896,901 in 1902-3. Our exports to Great Britain totalled $117,591,376, compared with $131,202,321 in the preceding twelve months. The amount of British imports for consumption entering under the preferential tariff was $44,765,253. From the United States we took goods to the value of $150,826,515, and we exported to that country products to the amount of $73,173,549. In 1902-3 our imports from the country to the south were $137,605,195, and our exports to the republic $71,788,924. The surtax has considerably reduced imports from Germany. Last year they amounted to $8,175,604, a decrease of over $4,107,093 compared with the year previous. Our imports from France exhibit a slight falling off, but our export trade with that country increased by $256,810, the total of the latter being $1,597,928. The foregoing figures are taken from the unrevised trade returns. They may undergo some change in the course of revision.

CANADIAN CHEESE IN ENGLAND.

Hon. Thomas Ballantyne Just Returned From England.

Stratford, Aug. 23.—Hon. Thomas Ballantyne has arrived home from his trip to Scotland and England. He is in the best of health and enjoyed the trip immensely.

Speaking of the dairy trade, he said that demoralization in cheese prices was caused by the old cheese overlapping the new, and preference being given to the old by the consuming public.

Notwithstanding that receipts of new cheese were a third less than usual at this season, there was no great demand for it, and the July weather being exceptionally warm in London, much of the new goods, although very fine and arriving in exceptionally good condition, was spoiled by the heat.

Coal Ship Ashore.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—The Black Diamond SS. Catalone, from Sydney, C.B., to Montreal, with a cargo of coal, grounded about noon at a point just below Ile Ronde, almost opposite Longueuil. Through some accident to the steering gear, the vessel took a sheer and shoved her nose upon a mud bank.

Ain't You Glad You Waited?

This is the month that price reductions at Stratton's Bookstore speak loudest, and make you feel glad you waited. The drop in hammocks is one-fifth former prices; in croquet sets, it's a tenth off, and in sporting goods it's twenty off. This is about the way it goes in hundreds of other articles. As the ranks of summer goods get thinner the prices get slighter. A. H. Stratton & Co.

HIGHER WHEAT, HIGHER FLOUR, HIGHER BREAD

Opinions of Local Millers and Bakers on Present Prices of Wheat.

The shortage of winter wheat, as indicated by the crop report of the Ontario Government, is certain to have an important effect on the milling industry of the Province. The yield is estimated at 9,800,00 bushels, against 17,200,000 bushels last year. It is calculated that the supply of available wheat for milling purposes will be only one-third of what it was in 1903. The requirements of the domestic trade will absorb the entire yield of the Province, and there will be little or no Ontario grain to grind for export. The deficiency, however, will be made up by an increased employment of Manitoba wheat in the mills of Ontario.

The shortage of Ontario wheat will have the effect of raising the price of flour, and to-day the Examiner was informed by a prominent milling firm that the price of all grades of flour has been raised 40 cents per barrel. This increase has been made necessary by the fact that wheat has recently taken a sudden, and, according to the information gleaned by the Examiner, an unwarranted raise in price, as a consequence of which, flour has been raised.

The shortage in Ontario grown wheat, will necessitate a larger quantity of Manitoba wheat being shipped here for conversion into flour, resulting in an increased cost of manufacture.

During the last year, the local mills have all been using considerable Manitoba wheat, one firm stating that for about four days in each week they were grinding Manitoba wheat.

The result of the higher price for flour will very likely mean a corresponding increase in the price of bread. With flour 40 cents per barrel dearer, it is hardly to be imagined the bread will long remain at the present prices. Upon inquiry the local bakers stated that while as yet no concerted action had been taken by them looking to a raise in bread prices, it was probable that such action would be taken soon should flour remain at its present price.

One shop stated that the price of the 3-pound loaves would probably be raised from 9 to 10 cents. No action, however, has been taken as yet by the local bakers looking to an increased price of bread.

Local authorities express themselves as of the opinion that the present price of wheat is an abnormal one, and that the crop prospects do not warrant such a high price.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

Forwarded by L. O. L. No. 80 to Mr. W. A. Kindred Last Evening.

The following letters of condolence were ordered by L.O.L. No. 80, and the Scarlet Chapter to be forwarded to Mr. W. A. Kindred on the recent death of his wife and a committee consisting of Messrs. [illegible] Mowll, Geo. Redding, and W. H. G. Armstrong, from [illegible] No. 80, and Messrs. J. Garside, Wm. G. Bartley, and Robert Wilson from the Royal Scarlet Chapter, waited on Mr. Kindred last evening and presented him with the resolutions.

To Companion W. A. Kindred, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Companion Kindred,—We, the officers and companions of the Royal Scarlet Chapter of West Peterborough, beg leave to tender to you our profound sorrow and sympathy in the great loss which you and your family have suffered by the painful dispensation which has removed from your hearth a kind and loving wife and an affectionate mother. The virtues she possessed were such as to endear her not only to yourself and family, but to every member of the community in which she lived.

You will miss your loved one, but will have the comforting assurance of knowing that, guided by the hand of an All-Wise Providence, you will meet her in the home prepared for all those who during this life have faithfully served their God.

We know that human sympathy affords but little comfort in such a sad bereavement, but we commend you to a kind and loving Saviour, whose grace will sustain in every trial, and as a slight balm of human consolation would add the words of Longfellow, who hath said:—

"There is no death, what seems so is transition.
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian,
Whose portals we call death."

Signed on behalf of the Chapter,
W. H. G. ARMSTRONG,
Worshipful Companion in Command,
JAMES GARSIDE,
Companion Scribe.

To W. Bro. W. A. Kindred, C. M., Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir and Brother,—We, the officers and members of Diamond Loyal Orange Lodge No. 80, hereby extend to you our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the sore bereavement and grievous loss which you have sustained by the sad and untimely death of your beloved companion and wife.

We realize how feebly any words of ours are to relieve the burden of sorrow so suddenly thrust upon you, but hope that the expression of our sympathy may in some measure comfort you at the present trying time. You have the great consolation of knowing that she who has so lately been summoned from your side was prepared for the call to enter into that joy which awaits all true Christians, and although you will long miss "the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still," you will be comforted by the hope of a happy reunion, knowing that God, who ruleth the universe, doeth all things good to them that love Him.

We pray that He who hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows will sustain you through life and grant unto you and yours that peace which He alone is able to give.

Signed on behalf of the lodge,
R. B. McGILL,
Worshipful Master.
W. H. G. ARMSTRONG,
Recording Secretary.

SHADE TREES MUST NOT BE TRIMMED.

Damaging Trees is an Offence Which Will be Punished.

It may not be generally known that it is against the law to injure shade trees, but such is the case, and the statute provides a heavy fine for this offence. A young Scotchman was seen the other day in Ashburnham cutting the bark on a beautiful tree and when reprimanded stated that he did not know that he was committing an offence.

In this case no prosecution was proceeded with, but it is just possible that in future offences the guilty ones will not be as leniently dealt with, and this is cited as a warning.

TO-DAY'S DOINGS AT THE POLICE COURT.

Drunk and Disorderly, Vagrant and Ill Treatment Cases Tried.

A more than usually heavy docket was on at the Police Court this morning, when two young men were fined $2 and costs both for being drunk and disorderly. Joseph Ryan a vagrant, was remanded for one week. John Hobson, a young boy, was up on a charge of ill-treating a dog, and the charge having been proven, the young offender was fined $2. The police magistrate expressed the hope that this would be a lesson to other boys who illtreated their dogs. Two boys were up on a charge of having stolen apples and as the prosecution was not present they were let go, with a warning.

PROSPECTS FOR THE RUGBY SEASON.

Difficulties in the Way of Entering a Senior Team in the O. R. F. U.

No Grounds on Which a Gate May be Collected—Proposition to Use Driving Park.

Mr. Chris. Graham, secretary of the Peterborough Rugby Club, has received a letter from Mr. Frank Woodworth, secretary of the O.R.F.U., advising him that the advance copies of the O.R.F.U. Football Guide will be sent in a short time, and urging him to organize a rugby team to enter the senior series this year. He proposed an alamgamation of all the town teams to enter one strong aggregation.

Mr. Graham, when interviewed this morning on the matter, said that he thought it doubtful if Peterborough would be able to place a team in the senior series. The great difficulty here is not in securing the players to constitute a strong team, but in the fact that there is no means of collecting a gate at the games, without which it will be impossible to to finance a team. Last year the players in addition to losing the time required for practice and to play the games, had to meet, out of their own pockets a financial deficit, and it is not to be expected that they will continue to do this.

The officer of the Club are very much opposed to asking for public subscriptions to help the team, but this had to be done last year.

It is felt that perhaps if the grounds at the Driving Park were fitted up so as to allow the games to be played there, now that the street cars will be running to the grounds, the team might be able to raise sufficient money to carry the team through this season, but the grounds at present are not in a condition suitable for rugby.

In view of the difficulties of the situation, it is probable that the suggestion made that Peterborough enter a senior team will not be acted upon unless some means of overcoming these difficulties are forthcoming.

A team may be entered in the intermediate series, though as yet nothing definite has been done in the matter. An intermediate team will not cost nearly as much to carry through the season as a senior team, because in the case of the latter, a deposit of $50 is required, and $25 from each game goes to the Union.

Mr. E. S. Clarry president of the club, when seen by the Examiner, expressed the hope that the young men of the town would enter upon the game with greater enthusiasm than ever before. As to the probability of putting a team in the senior series he thought that it would be unwise. His reasons for arriving at this conclusion were that the year's team must necessarily be composed of inexperienced men as during the past two years the players who made up the senior team of a few years ago have gradually dropped out of the game and moved out of town or became married and express a desire to watch the game from the grandstand. The existence of the junior city league during the past season, as well as the existence of a number of association football clubs in town composed of excellent types of athletes has proved a good feeder for the Peterborough Rugby Club and many of these players will no doubt be found in the line up of the team of the season. Intermediate rugby however, is as steep as the president of the club thinks they could stand this year although he thinks that the club has for several years made a mistake in not being in the senior instead of the intermediate series.

The annual meeting of the club will be held about the second week in September. In the meantime the present officers of the club desire a full and frank discussion of the rugby situation through the press and all those who are strangers in town since last year and who are who are rugby enthusiasts would confer a favor upon the management by handing in their names to the secretary of the club.

In conclusion Mr. Clarry stated that it could be proven that a good strong team can be got together and the matter of finances, which are a serious drawback in the senior series, arranged there might be a chance of entering the senior series.

STONY LAKE NOTES.

A Couple of Upsets Have no Serious Results—Concert This Week.

Arrangements are being made for a concert in the pavilion, Stony Lake, next Friday evening. There is considerable talent available at the lakes and a good programme is assured.

Mr. R. B. Rogers had a damp experience on Sunday morning. He was taking snap shot of Juniper Island while sitting in the rear of a small dinghy and losing his balance fell backwards into the water. He easily climbed into his boat none the worse for his ducking.

Two young ladies were upset from a canoe on Saturday afternoon when a short distance from Juniper Island. Both clung to the canoe until assistance arrived from the shore.

On Sunday morning there were 74 canoes and skiffs and 10 launches at Juniper Island while the service was in progress at the pavilion, and the sight was a very pretty one. The Sunday mornings have been very fine and the turnout to the church services has consequently been large.

Almost every boat brings down a party of campers, and the end of the week will see the population greatly thinned. The weather is still delightful and as many as have the opportunity will remain at their cottages until next month.

At Juniper Island on Monday morning a little girl fell from the wharf into the water. She was at once rescued by those standing nearby.

THE HIBERNIANS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Eighth Annual Meeting now in Progress in St. Thomas.

The eighth annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to which Mr. J. J. Lynch is the delegate representing the Peterborough Division, was opened in the Council Chamber at St. Thomas at ten o'clock yesterday morning. Major Maxwell delivered an address of welcome, after which the Credential Committee was appointed.

The delegates and the members of the local division then marched to the Church of the Holy Angels, where Rev. Father West sang high mass, assisted by Rev. Father Ferron. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father O'Neill, of Bothwell, from the text, "What a grand and plesmant thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

He reviewed the history and progress of the Order, which was first started in Ireland, which was prosperous everywhere and embraces men in every walk of life, and stood for friendship, unity and Christian charity upon the stem of faith. Catholicity was one thing planted on the shores of Ireland, which could not be wiped out.

Last evening the delegates were tendered a complimentary banquet at the Grand Central Hotel by the local division.

Over sixty delegates were expected to be present.

THE GOOD OPINION WAS STRENGTHENED.

Rev. J. Bastow is Well Liked by His New Congregation in Renfrew.

The Renfrew Mercury says of the first Sunday services conducted by Rev. J. Bastow, who went from Peterborough to take the pastorate of the Baptist Church there:—

"Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., the new pastor of the Baptist Church of our town preached two strong, instructive, uplifting sermons last Sunday greatly strengthened the good opinions formed of him by his previous services and confirmed the hopes of the members of a new era of prosperity for their church. Mr. Bastow will work as he did at Peterborough for the moral and spiritual welfare of Renfrew and asks for the co-operation of our citizens. A cordial welcome will be given to all who attend the church services at any time."

EXCELLENT RESULTS OF THOROUGH TRAINING

Employed at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

Miss Eileen and Mr. Harry Eyres, grandchildren of Mr. Wm. Eyres, of town, have made highly creditable records in the Calgary, Alta., Collegiate Institute. They have both passed their examinations for first-class certificates, Miss Eileen securing the highest number of marks of any of the candidates, the fourth examination in which she has had this record. Three of these were made in Peterborough. Miss Eyres attributes much of her success in the North-west to the thorough grounding and drill, in the several subjects, received at our Institute. These, she was inclined to think at the time, were too exacting; but when she had a chance to compare the teaching methods of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute with those of similar schools she soon perceived the wisdom of them in the interest of the ambitious student.

KILTIES BAND TO CROSS THE ATLANTIC.

Will Tour the British Isles Giving Concerts—A Famous Canadian Band.

The Canadian public is very much interested in the fact that The Kilties Band, of Belleville, Canada, is about to sail for the British Isles on a concert tour. The Belleville organization has been touring Canada, United States and Mexico for the past four years, and has met with great success. It was the only Canadian Band honoured with an engagement at the World's Fair, St. Louis. The City Council and Board of Trade of the City of Belleville, have granted a large sum of money with which to give the boys a grand send off, so Belleville will be in its glory on September 9th, when they will have a demonstration, reception and banquet in honour of the Kilties. They sail from Montreal on the Dominion Line Sept. 10th. The Kilties have done much to advertise Canada during the past four years and as they are the first Canadian Band to cross the water on a concert tour, all Canadians are very anxious that they be welcomed loyally.

A Correspondent of Experience Deals With the Subject.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have read your splendid article "Duck Shooting Methods" and am pleased with your liberal treatment of the subject; I have shown your paper to a number of my friends and they are encouraged to prophesy that if the principles of your article are carried out, the beautiful lakes around this section of country will once more be covered with immense flocks of wild duck, just as they were 50 years ago, that is, according to the best information I can get. The sportsman who have taken the summer trips over the glorious waterways of this part of Ontario will never forget the scenery round these beautiful lakes, but deep down in his heart he is thinking of duck, his eye searches closely every likely marsh, every rice bed, and in his mind he sees flocks of thousands of Mallard, black and Canvas ducks, resting and feeding in these waters. Fifty years ago this was quite true, but now you are fortunate if you see a single teal, blue bill or lonely black duck, or oftener none.

THE REASON — DUCK HABITS.

The wild duck in the early spring go north to breed. They go up two—male and female,— and come down fifteen—the average brood of young ducks being thirteen. They cross this ground on their way to New Ontario, Hudson Bay District and the prairies round that section. They skirt Lake Superior on the north side, feeding as they go up in the spring and down in the autumn.

Mr. Editor, we are directly interested in this proposition. It is quite right to protect the ducks in the spring, for if you kill one old one it means the loss of thirteen young ducks in the fall, besides the parent duck.

Notwithstanding the game law and the unsportsmanlike shooting, if you are sailing or fishing in the lake and there are ducks round you are sure to hear a gun go off and that largely accounts for the position to-day.

THE LESSON OF EXPERIENCE.

I will give you one little bit of personal experience. I belong to a shooting company and one of the laws is—"No member shall leave the club house to shoot in the marsh before 8 o'clock in the morning and must not fire a gun after sunset." Well, the weather was fine and warm; the ducks were out in the lake and bay and my punter did not want to give up at sunset. He said the ducks would be round thick before we got the decoys up. He was right, time was up and the ducks knew they were safe. While he was picking up the decoys the ducks actually lit within reach of his paddle; the air seemed full of them. I believe I could have knocked them down with a stick. I am sure if I had fired my gun I could have killed twenty or thirty ducks from sunset till dark that night. But then the live ducks around that section of marsh would have left for the lake or gone over to some other preserve where they could rest in peace; a few nights of that kind of shooting would have cleared the ducks out of our marsh.

It is just so with our lakes. Duck shooters get up at three or four o'clock in the morning, get their position in the marsh, take pot shoot at flocks and soon the ducks leave and seek more congenial feeding grounds.

Not long ago I had two days' fishing in Rice Lake. Each day I heard the gun go off several times. It is all wrong—the ducks must be protected or they will leave for other quarters.

Rice Lake should feed tens of thousands of wild ducks all the fall months, and the same in the spring.

SOMETHING ABOUT PRESERVES.

Long Point preserves on Lake Erie have over 20,000 acres and opposite are Turkey Point preserves. West of Long point and skirting Port Rowan Bay are Toronto and Big Creek shooting preserves. Fifteen years ago they were like the lakes in this locality with a few Bluebill; now they have the finest shooting grounds in Canada. Port Rowan Bay three miles wide and six to seven miles long, affords shooting for hundreds of sportsmen and market hunters, while the preserves of the three big companies offer a place of rest and retreat to the ducks. It is fair to say that Toronto hotels, homes and restaurants largely draw their wild duck supply from Lake Erie.

A well regulated club will not allow shooting in their marsh before Sept. 1st, and after 15th of October. By that time the ducks have a chance to collect and feed. They will not allow shooting before 8.00 a. m. and will not allow shooting after sunset and will not shoot into a flock.

If there were a preserve established on the above lines in each of the lakes round Peterborough in three years we should have abundance of ducks and I am sure in ten years we would rival Long Point. More than that; those who shoot in Rice Lake to-day would kill ten birds for every one they kill now, and in place of Whistlers and Bluebills they would get Mallard, Black Duck and Canvas Back.

Thanking you for your kind insertion of this letter and your interest in sport, I remain

RE RIGHT OF WAY TO LIFT LOCK.

The Tenant of Armour Farm Explains the Situation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In your issue of Saturday last there appears a letter signed "Enquirer", (the writer is evidently afraid to sign his name) in which the writer seems anxious to know why a "private lane" leading from "Concession street" to the "lift lock" is not open to himself and friends.

In answer, I desire to say, for the information of Enquirer, that I am the tenant of farm on which this "private lane" is situated, and for which I pay a large rental. This "lane" is, and has always been intended for and used by the tenant, and owner of said farm, and neither "Enquirer" or the public have any right in or over the same.

A largely signed petition was recently sent to the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa" asking the government to buy a right of way and open a street on the lane in question, but on the report of Mr. R. B. Rogers, Engineer in Chief of Trent Valley Canal, the Department refused to act in the matter. The town council also refused to act, and the owner will not give a right of way unless paid for it, nor can I.

The men at the gate are there for the purpose of prosecuting men like "Enquirer" for trespassing on my property and are in my employ, and the fact that for a proper consideration I allowed the contractors to use the lane, and that the public trespassed on it while open for their use, confers no rights on Enquirer" or the public to continue in using it. Furthermore there is a good road round the square to the lift lock open every day in the year to "Enquirer" and his friends if not too lazy to walk round.

Yours etc.

HENRY COX,

Tenant.

Peterborough, August 23, 1904.

The correspondant referred to merely asked for information as to the right of the persons stationed at the gate to collect an entrance fee, and this above letter supplies the needed information.

This route from the town to the lift lock is private property and the public have no legal right to use it; it is only by the courtesy of the owner or occupant that the public have heretofore had that privilege. It seems that the government and the town especially, might do something towards securing the right of way to the lift lock. There may be a good road round the square, but that is not generally known or thought of and the same public that tramps upon and spoils a boulevard to save a distance of two or three steps, naturally prefers the straight course, which in this case happens to be through private property. It would be a nice thing to have Elizabeth street extended to the lift lock, for it would be a very great public convenience. When one comes to think of it the government is under no obligations to open this right of way. It will make no difference to the usefulness of the lift lock if the public never sees it, but it makes a great difference to the town whose visitors should be afforded the best possible facilities for reaching one of the best sights of Peterborough. If the town authorities would make an effort and use their influence with the government the matter, it seems might be easily arranged. Could not the government provide that the right of way should not be too costly? Could not the government expropriate a roadway and settle the cost by arbitration? The cost should not be excessive, for it might be easily in the interests of the owner to have opened up the portion south of the roadway, which would afford a splendid site for suburban residences, overlooking, as it does, a magnificent panorama of beautiful landscape in Peterborough county, silvered here and there with glimpses of the winding river framed in the living green of trees or meadows, and for a back ground the blue hills of two other counties. It is in the interests of the people whose interests are naturally in the keeping of the town that easy access to the lift lock should be provided. The public look to the town to move in the matter. Private rights must be respected, and if these are insisted upon a long used avenue to the lift lock is closed.

ISLAND OF ANTICOSTI

NEW SCENE OF SALVATION ARMY COLONIZING SCHEME.

Army Has Already Several Colonies, But This One Will Probably Be the Most Unique of All—How It Seeks to Eliminate the Trinity of Waste From Its Enterprises—The Island's Reparation.

Recently the Salvation Army has given surprising evidence of growth and expansion. The evidence is supplied by the announcement that General Booth has about completed arrangements for the purchase of the Island of Anticosti. Menier, the chocolate king, is sick of his bargain. Some years ago he bought this barren island for $130,000, and since then has spent a couple of million dollars on its improvement. It has proved a most unsatisfactory investment, however, and once M. Menier discovered, to his chagrin, that his possession of such a large territory conferred on him no royal privileges, the joys of ownership departed, and now he is willing to be relieved of his bargain. The money which will change hands when the deal is completed will represent not more than a fifth, perhaps, of M. Menier's outlay. He will take what he can get, and gladly relinquish the role of Canadian Jacques Lobaudy.

Farm Colony at Hadleigh.

Just what the Salvation Army intends to do with this island has not been announced, but one is justified in assuming that its 5,400 square miles will be divided into farms, the whole to form a gigantic colony where the Army will work out its social and economic theories on a larger scale than has been possible heretofore. At the present time there are several Salvation Army colonies in America and the British Isles, the most important of them being Hadleigh Farm, on the Nore. Several years ago General Booth established this farm as a partial solution of the problem to which his life has been dedicated. The farm differs from the great farms which we anticipate on Anticosti, in that it is merely a training school for intending emigrants. Human waifs and strays picked up in London are despatched to the farm to work at one of a dozen trades which they may learn there, or to fit themselves for making a new start overseas. Hundreds of Hadleigh Farm graduates have come to Canada, and are today useful citizens.

The Trinity of Waste.

The economic idea of the Salvation Army in its colonizing schemes was aptly expressed by Frederick de L. Booth-Tucker in a magazine article some years ago. He said: "The Salvation Army's method of dealing with the unemployed is to place waste labor on waste land by means of waste capital, thus combining the trinity of waste, the separation of which means the destruction of each, the co-operation of which means the prosperity of all." In Anticosti the Salvation Army will find a large and comprehensive assortment of waste land, and London will supply enough waste labor to make it blossom like the rose. There remains to be found the waste capital. Lack of capital the Salvation Army has always struggled against, and it has always won at least a partial victory. If it could not get a dollar, it would take a dime, and, if need be, could find use for a penny. We do not expect to see the Anticosti project fail through lack of funds. We believe that if the Army had M. Menier's resources and opportunities it would by this time have made Anticosti a fairly populous province. Anticosti is described as a sterile and inhospitable rock, but it is no more inhospitable than was the Salt Lake district when settled by Brigham Young and his Mormon followers seventy years ago. The Salvation Army is capable of performing on Anticosti the Mormon miracle in Utah.

Army Is Self-Supporting.

The most important feature of the great work done by the Army is that it is practically self-supporting. Those who are helped are obliged to pay for this help in labor. They truly work out their own salvation. For example, in 1896 an average of 5,000 people a day were maintained in London at a cost of $493,000. Of this sum $470,000 was received for the product of their labor. This is better than charity. A secret of the wonderful method which accomplishes such results is that the work of the Army itself is given for almost nothing. General Booth draws only his traveling expenses from the funds and has paid in thousands of pounds. His son Bramwell draws the largest salary paid, $1,000. It has been estimated by business men that his services are worth $20,000 a year. Another Booth gave up an income of $6,000 to work for the Army. He gets a few dollars a week.

The Island's Reparation.

Looking at the wonderful results achieved by the Army in every part of the world where its standard has been raised, there is every reason to believe that if General Booth and M. Menier conclude their negotiations satisfactorily, the future of Anticosti is assured. Be its soil never so sterile, its approaches never so menacing, men who are working not alone for their bodily needs, but for their moral salvation, will wrest from this reluctant land that for which they seek. It is a happy destiny for Anticosti to be thus conquered and made to bear the yoke of crop and harvest. The island which has been the scene of religious persecution and class intolerance is to aid the one great spiritual organization in the world which is no respecter of persons, nor regards any man's professed religion. To make reparation for the wrecks which have strewn her iron coast, Anticosti will receive with joy the thousands of human wrecks which will find safe harbor there.

WHAT MEXICANS EAT.

Grease Plays an Important Part in Their Rich Dishes.

The farther south one goes the more important part meat seems to play in the diet. In old Mexico the people of the upper class have highly seasoned roasts and steaks and game three times every day. The roasts are stuffed with raisins, and a rich brown gravy is poured over them. Grease seems more indispensable to them than to the fur enveloped Eskimos. There are no broiled steaks, but in their place one is served with a half raw piece of tenderloin reeking with grease and peculiarly flavored herbs. In that balmy clime, where the system would be so much better off without any meats, thousands of steaks are sold daily at 45 and 50 cents a pound. The poorer classes are forced to abstain from such and live on the coarse frijole beans and cold clammy tortillas, which are thin white corn cakes made from rye hominy crushed to a pulp. This forms their unvaried diet. On the aristocrats' tables are the most delicious fruits, chiramoyas, zipotes, mangoes and others which Americans have never tasted. The popular aguacate is a cross between a fruit and a nut. It is a dark green and the flesh is about the consistency of ointment. It grows on a tree of unparalleled dark green foliage and is used often in the place of butter or is made into a toothsome salad.

Rich soups, with bananas chopped in them, are served every day, and vegetables dressed with goat's cream are on their tables. At every meal during the year they eat the frijole beans, which have been dipped into a brown pottery bowl of boiling lard before they are brought to the table. The Mexicans eat enough lard to undermine the digestion of the stoutest being. Sirup is a great delicacy and very expensive. It is served as a sort of dessert in little china saucers and is eaten from spoons. Little bits of native candles are also served in separate plates.—Farm and Ranch.

It Didn't Pay.

New Britain Currency.

Dewarra, a currency of New Britain, is an instance of how the spoils of the chase may be turned to account as the outward and visible sign of wealth. Dewarra is made by stringing the shells of a dog whelk upon the ribs of palm leaves. These strings may be retailed at so much a fathom—usually the price is equivalent to about three shillings a fathom length—or they may be made into various articles of personal adornment to be worn on great occasions. In New Britain the dewarra hoarded up by a rich man is produced at his funeral and divided among his heirs in much the same kind of way as personal property is divided among us.

The Rite of the Snake.

In Val di Rosa, Italy, the serpent is a traditional terror, and the place is celebrated for a curious religious custom known as the rite of the snake. On ascension day the priest solemnly immerses a harmless water snake in a huge antique basin, dug up on Monte Bruno. The mountaineers believe that by reason of this ceremony all the other snakes that infest the country will perish.

WHAT WOMEN SHOULD KNOW.

That the cause of a great deal of suffering, usually supposed to be on account of female disorders, is overcome by ANTI-PILL, the discovery of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt.

A great amount of womens' ailments are caused by the food that is taken being turned (through improper digestion) into poison instead of nutrition. This poison carried by the blood throughout the system, makes weak women—women who are hardly ever well—nerves in dreadful condition—limbs ache, back aches, head aches—billious, constipated. ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, will correct these troubles—it starts its work by making a well stomach—it insures strength to weak women—It is harmless at any stage or condition of a woman's life, and there is no time ANTI-PILL cannot be used with safety. Any woman who cares to may use a bottle of ANTI-PILL free from any expense. THE WOMAN MINISTER.

She Has Come to Stay in the Congregational Church.

The woman minister has come to stay in Congregationalism. While other denominations, like the Methodists and Episcopalians, refuse to ordain women, the Congregational denomination, in most sections of the country, at least, seems willing to approve well qualified women or to extend to them the same opportunities in the Congregational ministry that are offered to worthy and well educated men. The divinity schools of the denomination admit women to their courses, and some of them, like Hartford Theological seminary, make a specialty of the opportunities offered women.

And yet it is not likely that there will be such a pressure from the feminine side of the house into the ranks of the ministry as to crowd the men to the wall. As in the case of the law and medicine, it will probably only be the occasional woman in coming years who will choose the ministry for her profession. But it seems certain that, provided they possess the desirable natural and acquired qualifications, women will be welcome in the Congregational ministry, at least, and find an important work to do for their fellow men and women. The ministry, like every other profession, must be judged by its fruits and subjected to this ancient but still pertinent test. The women preachers throughout the country are doing honor to their sex and are scoring a success which might not have been anticipated a quarter of a century ago.—Boston Transcript.

French and English.

The celebrated Mrs. Tickness undertook to construct a letter every word of which should be French, yet no Frenchman should be able to read it, while an illiterate Englishman should decipher it with ease, and wrote the following:

"Pre, dire sistre, comme & se us, & passe the de here if yeux canne, & chat tu mi dame; dine here, & yeux mai go to the faire if yeux plaise; yeux mai have fiche, mutin, porc, buter, foule, hair, fruit, pigeon, olives, sallette for ure dinner, & excellent te, cafe, port vin, & liqueurs; & tel ure bette & poli tu comme; Ile go tu the faire & visite the baron. But if yeux dont comme to us, Ile go tu ure house & se oncle, & se houe he does; for mi dame ses he beant il. But doux comme, mi dire; yeux canne li here, yeux nos—if yeux louve musique, yeux mai have the harp, lutte, or viol here. Adieu, mi dire sistre."—London Globe.

The Real Unicorn.

Early in the last century the unicorn of ancient myth came within the realm of scientific knowledge in the form of the white rhinoceros, the largest, next to the elephant, of modern quadrupeds. For long years the unicorn's only known habitat was on a coat of arms. Ancient writers who had told of it were discredited until a one horned rhinoceros, found by Marco Polo in Sumatra, received this name. And early in the last century Burchell also discovered in South Africa, between the Orange and Zambezi rivers, the huge white pachyderm. It had, in truth, two horns, but one was so small as to be scarcely perceptible, while the other, tufted with bristles at the base, was so many as four feet long, curving and tapering to a hard, sharp point.

It Is Good to Laugh.

Health, an English publication, says: "It is good to laugh. There is probably not the remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the body that does not feel some wavelet from the great convulsion produced by hearty laughter shaking the central man. The blood moves more rapidly. Probably its chemical, electric or vital condition is distinctly modified. It conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular mystic journey when the man is laughing from what it does at other times. The time may come when physicians shall prescribe to a torpid patient so many peals of laughter to be undergone at such and such a time."

Easy Stairs.

The very acme of ease is reached in stairs that have treads twelve to fifteen inches broad and risers five to seven inches high. The run or distance in most houses is too short to allow of this, but they should come as near it as the architect of the house will permit. It is so easy to climb such stairs that one hardly is aware of any effort. Numbers of incurably broken down women owe their bad health to the steep stairs which they have been obliged to climb daily.

The Crucial Moment.

One of the favorite maxims of General Grant and one certainly in accord with human nature was that in every closely contested battle there comes a time when both sides are exhausted. When this condition arises, he said, the army that first breaks the lull and puts itself in motion is likely to win. A blow then is worth a dozen previous ones.

KEROSENE OIL.

A few drops added to your boiled starch will make ironing easier.

Dip the fingers in the oil and rub the throat to give relief from sore throat.

Saturate a cloth in the oil and rub the rollers to clean a clothes wringer quickly.

A few drops added to the water with which windows are to be washed will save time and labor.

A few drops on a hinge or roller which has formed a bad habit of squeaking will insure a speedy cure.

One tablespoonful added to each bollerful of water will lessen labor as well as whiten your clothes when washing.

A few drops on your dusting cloth will brighten your furniture as well as prevent dust from dying from the cloth.

Saturate a cloth with the oil to clean the sink, bathtub or basin which has become greasy and discolored from use.—Woman's Home Companion.

Taller Takes the Artist to Task.

A well formed, good looking man, rightly wearing such clothes as any high class tailor would make for him, would compare favorably with any Greek of old, togged in his best. But neither sculptor nor painter can make so pleasing a representation of the man in close fitting clothes as he can of the man in flowing robes, not because the clothes are unhandsome, nor because they are unbecoming to the wearer, but because the artist presumptuously thinks the tailor who made the clothes did not know his business, and does not think it worth while even to try to represent them as they are. As he generally represents them on canvas or in stone they look as little like the sartorial things of beauty they are as a pallid corpse looks like a living human being.—Sartorial Art Journal.

DIZZY SPELLS AND DYSPEPSIA

Soon Disappeared When the Nervous System was Set Right by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin street Peterborough, Ont., states:— "For some years I was troubled with indigestion, which developed into nervous dyspepsia, and besides suffering from nervousness, strange dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed, and as a result of the use, I am quite restored to health."

THE "COWBOY EARL."

Peer Who Advertises Historic Castle Martyr For Sale Has Experienced Many Strange Ups and Downs.

Lord Shannon, who advertises the historic town of Castle Martyr, which he owns, in County Cork, as being for sale, is a peer who possesses more than ordinary interest for people on this side of the water owing to the fact that he is known as the "Cowboy Earl." At the time of his father's death, some fourteen years ago, no trace of him could be found. The last that had been heard of him was that he had been part owner of a ranch in Minnesota about four years previously, that is to say, in 1886.

But his whereabouts could not be ascertained for a long time, and much money was spent in scouring the whole of the United States and Canada, even to the Yukon, in an endeavor to apprise him of his father's death and of his own accession to the earldom before he was found living quietly in New York. During his roving life in the United States he experienced many strange ups and downs and extraordinary vicissitudes, cattle punching being the occupation in which he appears to have been chiefly engaged. Indeed for long after his return to Ireland and his establishment in his ancestral home at Castle Martyr, he used to go in for wood chopping on an extensive scale, getting rid in this manner of his superabundant energy, and his lazy cottagers reaping the benefit of his violent exertions. He was at one time after his return reported to be engaged to a Mrs. Francis Beedy of Philadelphia, but eventually married a Miss Thompson of Surrey, by whom he has several children, the eldest of whom bears the title of Viscount Boyle, Boyle being likewise his patronymic, as it is that of the earls of Cork. The Earl of Shannon is the chief of a younger branch of the family, of which Lord Cork is the head, and it is his coat of arms which is emblazoned on the head of the menu cards and of the note-paper of the Carlton Hotel, which commemorates Lord Shannon's ancestor, Lord Carlton, Minister of State to Queen Ann, and the creator of Carlton House, afterwards the residence of King George IV. as regent.

Had a Business Mind.

The late Queen Victoria seems to have exercised a suzerainty over the pocket money of her grandchildren. She held them to a strict accounting in the matter of expenditure, and if they did not make their allowances last over a specified period she sternly called them to account. One week when the present Prince of Wales was at Eton, candy, tarts and other schoolboy delights proved his financial undoing. He had spent a month's allowance in one week. With impecuniosity and indigestion came repentance. Accordingly he wrote a long mea culpa to his grandmother, confessing his fault, and asking for an advance on account of the next installment of pocket money. In reply he received a long letter of admonition from the Queen, refusing his request. The letter closed with a sentence in which the writer expressed the pain that it gave her in having so to write to him.

A few days later, Her Majesty received another letter from the future heir to the British throne. It ran much like this:

"Dear Grandmother,—Yours received. Please 'don't bother any more about me. I'm all right now. I sold your letter for thirty shillings to one of our fellows here, who is collecting the letters of notable people."—Joel Coates, in "Success."

London's High Rents.

He is indeed a lucky man who owns building property within the four mile radius of London, for he can command a small fortune in the way of rental for his houses, shops or offices, as the case may be. Singularly enough, it is not in the west end of London, as many people imagine, but near the Old Lady of Threadneedle street. Some time ago one room near the Royal exchange let for between $10,000 and $15,000 a year, while a house agent who advertised certain properties in Throgmerton street asked $1,200 yearly rental for each of seven telephone boxes. For a suit of three rooms on the mezzanine flour $5,000 a year was also asked and $10,000 required for six rooms on the first floor.

For shops and business premises in the Strand gigantic rents are paid, although, of course, Bond street is the dearest thoroughfare in the world with regard to shops. Many shopkeepers between Charing Cross and the old Lyceum theatre pay between $10,000 and $15,000 rental, exclusive of rates and taxes. Perhaps one might be able to obtain a very small shop for $3,000 or $8,500 per annum, but such a price would secure very indifferent accommodation—probably only the one room which faced the street.

Elected M.P. Fifty Years Ago.

An English paper says: Sir James Ferguson, released from the thankless task of presiding over the Grand Committee on the Aliens Bill, is no doubt thanking his stars that he is quit of as hard labor as he has encountered during the whole fifty years during which he has been connected off and on with the House of Commons. It is difficult to realize, looking at the slim, upright figure, youthful gait, and hardly grizzled locks of the member for Northeast Manchester, that he was first elected to Parliament half a century ago, just ten years before Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the present father of the House, took his seat for Gloucestershire. Sir James shares with Major Seely the distinction of having become an M.P. while on active service as a soldier. He penned his first address to his constituents from the battle field of Inkerman, where his friend and fellow-Guardsman, Colonel James Hunter Blair, whom he succeeded in the representation of Ayrshire, fell, on November 5, 1854.

$500 Reward For Women Who Cannot Be Cured.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

IRISH CATTLE HUNT.

Wild Herd Had Become a Nuisance to the Farmers of Cave Hill.

Such a hunt as would have delighted the heart of Fenimore Cooper's doughtiest heroes has just concluded within three miles of the centre of Belfast city, a herd of wild cattle being exterminated on the slopes of Cave Hill, which frowns majestically over Belfast Lough.

Some years ago Mr. Stofford McLean, a farmer, put some polled cattle on the hill, and a young bull reverted to savagery and induced some members of the herd to follow his lead.

In the course of time they multiplied, and the younger members were wilder than the old. They broke hedges and fences, and foraged anywhere and everywhere.

Mr. McLean was held responsible for their depredations. Claim followed claim for fences broken and hayricks demolished, until the farmer, in despair, invited everyone to join in a grand hunt and put a stop once and for all to their work.

Men climbed the hill armed with every class of weapon to be found in the district, pistols, old blunderbusses, fowling-pieces, sticks and knives, and a sprinkling of modern rifles. They warily stalked their prey, but the animals were quick, leaping hedges and ditches in a manner which no hunter could equal.

One or two men got within range, but their small shot whistled off the animals' hides like hail on the pavement.

The hunt on the first night was a failure, but the men came better prepared and, as a result, most of the animals have been accounted for, and there is not likely to be another such hunt in Ireland for some time to come.

"I Want."

Woman is the real economic distributer. The millionaire manufacturer imagines that he himself runs his business. Oh, no. It is run by farmers' wives. When they do not care for yarn or calico, his looms stand idle for a year. The vast machinery of the world turns on woman's little word, "I want." Hence the education of women should include this factor, the desire to want the right things.

Dark Houses.

A dark house is almost always unhealthy, always an ill aired house. Want of light stops growth and promotes scrofula, rickets, consumption, etc., especially among children. People lose their health in a dark house, and if they get ill they cannot get well again in it.

The jealous woman demands her husband's love, and it's uphill business for him ever after. The tactful woman demands nothing and gets far more than the other.—Baltimore American.

Sponging woodwork with water in which a generous quantity of alum has been boiled is said to be an excellent method of keeping away obnoxious insects.

APOTHEOSIS OF SPORT.

How a Kingston Writer Views the Festivities of a Big City.

A philosophic writer in the Kingston News and Times refers thus to a recent scene in Toronto:

Civilization is only over the fence from barbarism, and is constantly knocking boards off to make holes to crawl through, back to the original estate. People dearly love noise and show. Physical prowess and not intellectual achievement still claims the attention of the world—and this was the sermon that the machine hung on these pegs of text. Let the greatest preacher, the greatest teacher, the greatest surgeon, the greatest author that the world holds to-day, all come to Toronto together, and a half column interview, with a mild intimation that a few of their friends had called upon them at the hotel, would be the sum of public notice and of public interest. A few years ago when the introducer of antiseptic surgery was in Toronto, a man who indirectly has probably been the means of saving more lives than all the wars of the Empire have cost, who has prevented more suffering than all the wars have inflicted, when this man was in Toronto a few medical men and college people joined to do him honor, but the public had not interest enough to enquire his name. The City Council did not vote a thousand dollars to entertain him, nor a half score aldermen rush across the lake to meet and welcome him. Nothing that is of surpassing benefit to humanity, nothing that raises the status of the race, nothing that makes life better or more intense, appeals to the crowd. When Scholes won the boat race, though, there was a stir abroad. Here was a chance for noise. No matter that the alleged rowing was not of the least practical value, that no ordinary man could get into the boat undrowned, that if he were in it he could not stay in it, that if he could keep his balance the craft would be no more valuable as a carrying agent or more navigable than a fence rail; still Scholes won the match, and there was a chance for civilization to rip off a board and get over to the side of barbarism for a few hours, and Toronto was not going to neglect an opportunity like that. So the public of this country has to take its sulphur and molasses in the form of hundreds of columns of nauseating twaddle. There is a photograph of the boat he won in, the room he ate in, the bed he slept in, and the yelling mob he had triumphal progress through. The whole show was nearly as good as a circus parade. And this is the apotheosis of sport.

The Biggest Leaves.

The biggest leaves in the world are those of the Inaj palm, which grows on the banks of the Amazon. They reach a length of thirty to fifty feet, and are from ten to twelve feet in breadth.

The Papyrus Plant.

The historically interesting papyrus plant is nearly extinct in Egypt, and the only place where it is now to be found in abundance is along the Anapo river in Sicily.

THE TYPEWRITER GIRL.

She came to me in a business whirl—
I thought I was lucky to get her;
I hired her—my beautiful typewriter girl.
She obeyed me—to the letter!

Shy and demure and without a flaw,
No matter how early or late to her
I spoke, it was final—my word was law.
I hired her, forsooth, to dictate to her.

Alas! but I married that maiden, and when
I made her a partner and mate to me
She lifted her eyes from the keys and the pen
And started right in to dictate to me!
—Aloysius Coll in Lippincott's Magazine.

"He told me to go to blazes!"

"Shucks, you're too sensitive! I've often been told to go to work!"—New York American.

Necessary.

A young gentleman who is so unfortunate as to have a slight impediment in his speech recently returned to the old homestead in Connecticut to spend a vacation. His mother remarked to him while at table:

"Really, Tom, you seem to stammer more since you went to New York than you used to down here in Stonington."

"C-c-certainly, m-mother, I h-h-have to s-s-stammer m-more, because, y-you s-see, N-New Y-York's a l-l-larger place!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hope.

"No, Mr. Puffect," said the fair young girl; "I cannot promise you an opportunity to teach me to swim this summer. You see, I have agreed to let twenty-five young men teach me, one after the other, and I fear that by the time they are through the season will be over. But," seeing the look of disappointment on his face, "you may either be the first one to teach me to skate this winter or the first to give me a swimming lesson next summer."—Judge.

Given Up by Doctor and Mother.

MRS. MAXWELL BARTER, Grand Cascapedia, Que., writes:

"I take great pleasure in telling you what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for me and mine. A year ago my little girl, now nearly three years old, was attacked by Cholera Infantum. It was in the hot season and she was teething at the time. The doctor gave her up; in fact, I did so myself.

"I finally decided to try Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry. I procured a bottle and it did her so much good that I got another bottle and by the time it was finished she was completely cured. As for myself, it has saved me from inflammation of the bowels several times. I always keep a bottle in the house and cannot recommend it too highly."

SEN. RUGBY TEAM FROM PETERBORO'.

Kingston Whig Says one Will Enter O. R. F. U. From this Town.

Chances For Rugby This Fall—Brockville, Petebrorough and Kingston May Enter.

The Kingston Whig, discussing the Rugby situation says:

With the approach of the autumn season many of the local sports are discussing the outlook for rugby football in the city, this season, and it is to be hoped that no time will be lost in organising last year's champions and deciding what steps shall be taken to put a team in the field for the coming season. Secretary D. J. McDermott, of the Limestones, is in receipt of a letter from Secretary Frank D. Woodworth, of the O.R.F.U., asking what possibility there is of Kingston entering a senior O.R.F.U. team this year. He states that Peterborough and Brockville are thinking seriously of breaking into senior company and also mentions the possible entry of a team from the Royal Military College. This year, cadets will make an effort in rugby lines, as there is little incentive to go in the ontercollegiate ring, play a game or two of practice and drop out with defeat. With the probability of a score of games greater energy would be displayed and a good team would be put in the field.

If Brockville and Peterborough put teams in the senior series there is no reason why the Limestones should not do likewise, as it is evident, from their last season's record that, with the addition of some experienced men, they would be in no way outclassed in senior company. The players of last year's champions are available, with the exception of P. C. Page, who has retired from football, and Lemesurier, who has left the city.

It is generally conceded in sporting circles that there is abundance of material in Kingston for a senior team and the next question to be considered is whether the team can be made to pay. The difference between the money required to run a junior team and the amount necessary to manipulate a senior aggregation is very considerable. The expenses of last year's junior team were a trifle under $350, while the expense list of the Grenites, the year they won the championship totalled in the neighbourhood of $2,000. The only team that can be made to pay in Kingston is one that is winning a good share of its games and this fact will require to be taken into consideration before any definite steps are taken.

The line up of Queen's senior team is very uncertain at present and nothing definite will be known until the opening of college in October. Last year's graduating class put a stop to the college football career of many of the senior players and the champion Indians will, no doubt, make up this year's senior team. The prospects for a good football season in Kingston were never brighter than they are this year and the citizens should encourage all efforts of the team managements with their financial and moral support.

REG. BLOOMFIELD [illegible] MAKES NEW RECORD.

Former Peterborough Boy Lowers World's Record for International Double Blade.

Reg. Bloomfield, the Peterborough paddler, has again been winning races, his latest feat being to lower the world's record in the international double blade, by six seconds, and establishing a new record of 8.14. The Toronto Star says:—

The Toronto Canoe Club's summer regatta was an unqualified success, as far as sport goes. The club balconies, usually crowded to the limit with visitors, did not hold more than a hundred and fifty spectators.

The work of Reg. Bloomfield, who cleaned up for the "Red Ring" at Orillia and the A.C.A. meet, was the feature. He won or was in the winning crew in four events and was second twice.

Bloomfield, with his partner, Hal Brent, paddled in a new Dean racing canoe. The canoe, while not unusually light, has very speedy lines. She slipped through the water in grand style.

Bloomfield broke the world record in the international double blade. He was not pushed, but even at that clipped six seconds off the record. The time was 8.14. The surprise of the afternoon was the defeat of the senior four, Findlay, Brent, Bloomfield and Malcolm, by the junior four, Cadieux, McFarlane, Clark, and Blackburn. The two teams paddled a dead heat, and then the juniors won after a fierce battle. The results of the various events were:

Dinghy race—N. R. Gooderham, Belmont, 1; Sweatman, Belmont, 2; F. E. Howard, Queen City, 3; Briggs, T.C.C., 4.

International double blade singles—Bloomfield 1, MacMurty 2, Corson 3. Time 8.14.

Single blade tandem — Bloomfield and Brent 1, Findlay and Blackburn 2. Time 5.16.

Single blade fours — Cadieux, MacFarlane, H. A. Clark, R. C. Blackburn 1, Findlay, Bloomfield, Brent, and Malcolm 2.

Single blade singles — Bloomfield 1, Gallow 2.

Double blade tandem—Gallow and MacMurtry 1, Bloomfield and Brent 2, Findlay and Malcolm 3.

Tilting—Bloomfield and Brent 1, Temple and Moody 2. Time, 4.50.

LACROSSE.

The race in the senior C.L.A. series is becoming a most interesting one. A few weeks ago it looked like a cinch for the Tecumsehs but the two defeats which the Indians have sustained recently have put a different complexion on affairs and the Brantfords and Chippewas have both good chances. The bad defeat of the Tecumsehs at Brantford on Saturday goes to show that the Telephone City dozen have struck their gait and they should just about turn the Tecumsehs down again at the island next Saturday. Should this occur and should the Chippewas win at St. Kitts, the Tecumsehs, Brantford, and Chippewas will be tied. Brantford's chances of again capturing the championship look to be rosy.

• • • •

The T.A.S. team is in good shape for the game at Havelock on Saturday. The red and black have a good lead and judging from the game here last week, they should add another victory to the string. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the team.

LAWN TENNIS.

Last night Armstrong defeated Glover 6-2 and 6-3 in the championship series of the Athletics. To-morrow night Cavanagh and Armstrong will play. Neither of these men has lost a game yet, and that to be played to-morrow night should be one of the best of the series.

HOCKEY.

The Belleville Intelligencer bewails the fact that there will probably be no hockey team in that town this winter and says:—"Put crape on the hockey sticks. Harry McGuire's gone. Oh! no, he isn't dead, but he's gone from Belleville, and every lover of honest and square sport will be sorry. Who is there with a drop of sporting blood in his or her make-up that doesn't remember with a thrill those grand rushes "Dyke" used to make? And how he carried disaster into the enemy's ranks amid the thunderous cheers of his fellow townsmen. Those auburn curls of "Paderewski's" were always in the thickest of the fight, and he was honoured by friend and foe alike as a good natured, square player, who took his medicine without a murmur, and never quit while there was a moment of playing time left. There were other sports, of course, in which Harry shone, but hockey was his best hold."

And the departure of Belleville's star centre causes one to sigh and murmur, "Where are the boys of the old brigade?" who made Belleville famous during the last couple of winters. Winchester in Toronto, Brown in Kingston, Kennedy in Manitoba, McGuire in Montreal, Wallace a student at McGill—Sandy Burrows is the only one left of the speedy septette that had all the hockey teams in this district—and many others—guessing.

Will we ever see as good a team in Belleville again as we had during the last two seasons? Well, they say there's as good fish in the sea as ever were caught, and in "Sandy" Burrows we've got a star to draw to. So cheer up.

4 WERE DROWNED

Terrible Accident Reported From St. Andre, Que.

THEIR SAILBOAT CAPSIZED

Fifth Occupant of the Boat Had a Miraculous Escape After Being Two Hours in the Water—Two of the Victims Were Dominion Government Employees—Two Other Fatal Drowning Accidents.

Quebec, Aug. 23.—Notre Dame Du-Portage, a well known watering place, several miles west of River Du Loup, was the scene yesterday afternoon of an appalling boating calamity, resulting in the loss of four lives and the narrow escape of a fifth. The victims were Didater Dion, Willarod Fraser, both of Ottawa, and Ovide Laforest of St. Andre, Kamouraska, and his son. Edward Cusson, also of Ottawa, was the fifth man of the party, and managed to escape, though not before having had a two hours' struggle in the water.

The party left early in the morning for the Pilgrims, a small island, about six miles distant, in a sailboat, to which was also attached a rowboat. On their way home Fraser thought he noticed a seal in the water and fired at it with a revolver. Some of the other occupants turned sharply around and in some way upset the boat.

An effort was made by all to reach the small boat. It also capsized. The first to go down was the elder Laforest, and he was soon followed by Fraser, Dion and the younger Laforest. Cusson managed to reach an oar belonging to the small boat and with this managed to keep afloat till rescued by some people from the shore. Laforest was the father of seven children. Dion and Fraser were both married men, and with Cusson were employed at the Public Works Department in Ottawa.

Boat Capsized.

Edmonton, N. W. T., Aug. 23.—A drowning accident occurred Sunday afternoon in Cooking Lake, a summer resort, near here. Dr. J. S. McLean, dentist, of Edmonton, and three others were out sailing on the lake when the boat capsized, Dr. McLean being drowned.

Killed Stealing Ride.

Port Hope, Aug. 23.—Joseph Smith and his brother, both residents of Cobourg, were stealing a ride westward on a freight train yesterday. When near Port Granby Joseph Smith fell from the train and was run over, being killed instantly. The remains were brought to Port Hope. Smith had worked in Oshawa until recently.

Student Drowned.

Watford, Aug. 23.—Joseph Hall, a young medical student at the Western University, London, was drowned in Bear Creek, townline of Brock and Enniskillen, on Sunday afternoon while in bathing. He was 26 years of age and leaves a wife and young child. The body was recovered yesterday morning.

Father Brault Killed.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Father Brault, one of the best-known parish priests in the diocese of Montreal, was accidentally killed at the C.P.R. station at Mile End yesterday morning. Father Brault, had come into the city to get his train for Quebec, and was in the act of crossing between two coaches, when they were backed together and he was thrown under the wheels. One wheel passed over his legs, above the knees, almost completely severing them. He died while being taken to the hospital.

Lost in the Woods.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—Two children of Joe Collins, of the Mission near Fort William, disappeared last Monday. The family were camping out seven miles from the Mission, and the girl, 16 years of age, and the boy, 12 years of age, were picking berries in the bush and lost their way. On Friday the girl found her way home, after being out night and day in the bush since Monday. She is seriously ill. A search party is out scouring the woods for the little boy.

Hit By a Train.

Port Arthur, Aug. 23.—A man named Mullins was brought up from Red Sucker Sunday night. He was working on a trestle and was struck by a train. He was seriously injured, a number of bones being broken.

Miss Sutton May Die.

Hamilton, Aug. 23.—Yesterday morning Miss Annie Sutton, daughter of John Sutton, 223 South Queen street, was reproved by her mother. She went upstairs, and a short time after her mother found her unconscious. She had taken a dose of carbolic acid. The doctors have not very great hopes of saving her life. She is 18 years of age.

Boy Swallowed Lye.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Thinking that it was some kind of a drink, left for him by his mother, and not knowing it to be a deadly poison, Paul Soure, a 7-year-old son of a farmer living at Sebastopool, a village 16 miles from Egansville, put a cup of lye to his lips, swallowed the contents, and is now in a dangerous condition.

Smallest Crop on Record.

London, Aug. 23.—(C.A.P.)—John Kingsford, one of the most extensive flour importers on the Corn Exchange of Mark Lane, says that the wheat crops in England are expected to be the smallest on record, and that the price of bread will go up.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Incd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

Monday evening, August 23. — There were advances to-day of about 3 points throughout the list. These advances will go considerably further. So. Pac. advanced nearly 2 points and we expect to see it sell at 64 before 64. Pa. has tremendous purchase and should sell at 123 before 123—buy it. A.C.P. should sell at 67 before 67. St. Paul should be bought around 150 1-4 for a big advance. We also continue bullish on Ill. C., So. Ry., Tex., S.S. pfd., Wab. pfd. L.N., U.P., Mop., Atch., V.C., R.I., Rdg., Met, Man., C.F.I., T.C.I., N. & W., CO., B &O Rubber, Ky., P.O. and Con. Gas. and would buy them on the slightest reaction. This market will simply boil during the next two or three weeks and we advise you to hold all long stocks.

May W will ultimately sell at 180 or 175 but may have a ten or fifteen point reaction at any moment. Oct. cotton has advanced about 40 points. It ought to go to 10.50.—Wall Street Information Bureau.

August 23—Liverpool opening, wheat 1-8 higher; corn unchanged. Regulars 11-2 p.c. on leather pfd. expected this week. Up to date out prices on iron and steel have not stimulated buying. Neutrality question at Shanghai settled. Stocks in London steady about parity. —Town topics.

New York.—Yesterday's demonstration in the stock market emphasized the fact that the banking interests maintain a strong bull position in the market. We favour taking profits on any further advance of a point or so in the standard stocks with a view to buying them back on a moderate reaction. We do not favour short selling in the manner in which the market is controlled makes it an easy matter to turn the market upward at the pleasure of the controlling interest. We continue bullish on U.P., S.P., P.A., Rdg., B.O., Atch. and St. P. and favour buying them and also the south-western stocks. We do not care to follow the advice in A.C.P. and believe profits should be taken in this stock.

Sug should be bought on reactions and the long side of U.S.Q. will prove profitable.

1.30 p.m.—Wheat 1-4 lower; corn 1-4 higher. Liverpool.

Some advance in wheat is expected to-day in anticipation of a bullish report, but the big interests are getting out of their long wheat and a sharp break in it cannot long be deferred — we would sell it on any bulge.—Topics.

The Golden Lion a Busy Store Even in August

It's part of our creed to "keep everlastingly at it" and to keep the business constantly in evidence, regardless of extreme heat or extreme cold.

Constantly increasing business talks—and talks loud—for a store. No argument is necessary to prove that our store is giving satisfaction—in measure full heaped and running over—to the people of the town and county of Peterborough and surrounding townships, other than to point to the continually larger number of ladies who are making it their shopping place.

A store's success has to be merited, as our's has been. It must give a little better goods, a little better value, have a little newer styles, or give a little fairer treatment than the others.

If we have not had these "little betters" our trade would not have increased to the extent it has over this time last year.

Figures cannot deceive you. Test this store's ability to serve you.

THE LAST OF SUMMER FABRICS AND GARMENTS

have been stood up in a row and made to take their medicine, in the shape of rigid reductions from the old prices.

The store is in the midst of Fall now and Summer goods are unwelcome, so they have all been given "move out" prices.

JAPS CAPTURE AND DESTROY.

More Port Arthur Forts Fall Into the Hands of Japanese.

SEVASTOPOL STRUCK A MINE

British People Again Aroused Over the Activity of the Smolensk —Protest Against Delay—The Government Urged to Act With Firmness—Time up at Shanghai and Nothing Done Yet.

(Special to the Examiner.)

CheFoo, Aug. 24.—Information of undoubtable authenticity states that the Japanese armoured cruisers Nishien and Asuga have bombarded and silenced the Russian forts east of Golden Hill, at the entrance of Port Arthur.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The State department has been advised that the Chinese foreign office has extended the time for repairs on the Russian ships in Shanghai to noon of Aug. 28th.

Che Foo, Aug. 24.—A junk, which left Liaoti Promontory on the night of Aug. 21, has just arrived here. She reports that the Japanese have succeeded in occupying Antesesban Fort, as well as another fort, probably Etschan, about one mile southwest of Antschshan. They have driven the Russians from the parade grounds, which lie about two miles north of the harbor; they have destroyed two forts at Chaotchanko, which is within the eastern fortifications, and they have advanced to a point near Chaotchankp. This news confirms information received here previously, and which the local Japanese were not inclined to believe.

Warships Unable to Fight.

The junk heard firing until midnight of Aug. 22. Scarcely a building in Port Arthur remains undamaged. The Town Hall, which was used as a magazine, has been destroyed. Four large warships, unable to fight, are at Port Arthur. Only one ship, a vessel with two masts and two funnels, has guns on board.

"Clair Fort" Captured.

London, Aug. 24.—The Evening News yesterday afternoon published a despatch from Che Foo, under yesterday's date, announcing that the Japanese captured "Clair Fort," of the Port Arthur defences, Monday, after a tremendous attack.

Preparing to Celebrate.

Che Foo, Aug. 24.—According to advices brought here from Port Arthur by a junk, the Japanese were hotly pressing the Russian centre along the railway and the Russian right in the vicinity of Golden Hill. These advices are brought by Chinese who departed from Taipangtse, which is one mile from the city near Golden Hill, between the city and the forts of the Russian right wing. The Chinese declare that the Japanese occupied Taipangtse and penetrated along the railway to Gen. Stoessel's residence on Aug. 21.

As this report would indicate that Port Arthur had all but fallen, the Japanese expert attached to the local consulate received the information with great reserve. The information is accepted, however, as a confirmation of previous reports that the Russians have been driven from Itzshan, and that the Japanese are very close to the southern forts and the eastern defences. The local Japanese, under the leadership of their consul are subscribing money and preparing to celebrate the expected fall of the fortress.

Expected to Fall Soon.

Tientsin, Aug. 24.—Lloyds agent at Newchwang reports as follows:

"The Russians are detaining produce from the interior. Liaoyang is expected to fall shortly. Newchwang and the country under Japanese jurisdiction are progressing wonderfully. The consuls get every assistance from the administrator."

Sevastopol Struck a Mine.

Tokio, Aug. 24.—Admiral Kataoka reports that as the Russian battleship Sevastopol was emerging from Port Arthur yesterday, she struck a mine, after which she was seen to be listed to starboard. She was towed back into the harbor.

The battleship Sevastopol was built in 1896 in Russia. Tonnage, 10,960; 17.5 knots; crew, 700; armament, four 12-inch, twelve 5.9-inch guns.

BRITISH PEOPLE AROUSED.

The Activity of the Russian Cruisers Smolensk the Cause.

Durban, Natal, Aug. 24.—The captain of the British steamer Comedian has lodged a protest against the action of the Russian auxiliary cruiser Smolensk in stopping the steamer and examining her papers on Sunday last, off the southeast coast of Cape Colony.

Liverpool, Aug. 24.—The owners here of the Comedian (now at Durban, Natal), have no confirmation from the captain of the steamer of the statement that it was the Russian auxiliary cruiser Smolensk which stopped the vessel off the coast of South Africa.

Complete Report Wanted.

London, Aug. 24.—The Foreign Office has ordered the British officials at Durban, Natal, to make a complete report of the circumstances connected with the reported examination of the papers of the British steamer Comedian by a Russian auxiliary cruiser off the South African coast. If the Smolensk actually examined the Comedian's papers she according to the British officials, violated the assurances given by the Russian Government that neither she nor the St. Petersburg would be used again as men-of-war.

A Call to the Navy.

London, Aug. 24.—The Daily Telegraph demands that the Government adopt rigious measures to stop the molestation of British shipping by Russian volunteer fleet vessels, declaring that "if diplomacy fails, the British navy must clear the high seas of the defenders."

The other newspapers show less excitement, because it has not yet been established that the vessel that stopped the Comedian was the auxiliary cruiser Smolensk.

An Important Meeting.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Political consquences of first class importance may follow the gathering at Peterhof on the occasion of the baptism of the heir to the throne.

The Emperor last night practically personally exchanged views with Emperor William and King Edward, as both Prince Henry of Prussia and Prince Louis of Battenberg, who arrived yesterday, were not only bearers of letters, but come fresh from personal audiences with their respective sovereigns.

SITUATION AT SHANGHAI.

Time Is Up But Nothing Has Yet Been Done.

London, Aug. 24.—The Standard this morning, unable to conceal its disappointment that the United States Government is not prepared to protect the neutrality of China at Shanghai, editorially contends that the United States could have taken the lead in the matter without arousing the jealousies and suspicions which must follow intervention by any European power.

According to The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent, the Russian Government supports the refusal of the Askold and Grozovoi either to disarm or to treat China as a power capable of enforcing neutrality.

The Daily Chronicle's Che Foo correspondent says: "The entire Chinese squadron has left here, doubtless in order that it shall not be mixed up in further incidents of the Ryeshitelni kind."

Time's Up.

Shanghai, Aug. 24.—The final time limit allowed by the Taotai of Shanghai for the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi to disarm has passed without compliance with his orders.

A meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday afternoon, but the Russian Consul-General, M. Kleinmenoff, was absent and no definite course of action was decided upon.

The Taotai has requested Sir Pelham Warren, the British Consul-General, to order that the repairs to the Askold be stopped.

Arranging a Compromise.

London, Aug. 24.—The coorespondent of The Times at Pekin says the waiwipu (Chinese foreign board) is trying to arrange a compromise by which Japan shall be induced to permit the Askold to remain at Shanghai until Sunday next, when the tides will permit the cruiser to cross the bar.

THE CZAR'S MANIFESTO.

General Amnesty Recorded in Russia For Political Offences.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Emperor Nicholas' manifesto on the birth of an heir to the throne, the text of which will be published to-day,

Abolishes corporal punishment among the rural classes and for first offences among the sea and the land forces;

Remits arrears owing to the state for the purchases of land and other direct imposts;

Sets apart $1,500,000 from the state funds to form an inalienable fund for the benefit of landless people of Findland;

Grants amnesty to those Findlanders who have emigrated without authorization.

Remits the fines imposed upon the rural and urban communes of Finland, which refused to submit to military conscription in 1902 and 1903, and Remits the fines imposed upon the Jewish communes in the cases of Jews avoiding military service.

The manifesto provides for an all-round reduction in sentences for common law offences, while a general amnesty is accorded in the case of political offences with the exception of those in which murder has been done.

The manifesto provides for the education of the children of officers and soldiers who have been victims of the war, as well as assistance for such families as need it, whose breadwinners have fallen in the service of their country.

NICKEL MINING IN NORTHERN ONTARIO.

The Industry in a Flourishing Condition —It Gives Good Prices to the Farmers.

Mr. T. W. Gibson, director of the Provincial Bureau of Mines, and Professor Coleman, have just returned from a tour of the nickel range between White Water Lake and Vermillion Lake.

The chief object of their tour was to discover the location of the acid edge of the eruptive rock in that locality. Mr. Gibson stated that some good level farming land enclosed by the eruptive rock had been met with. This land was largely taken up by French-Canadians, and was fairly well cleared. Their crops this season were immense, and they received higher prices for their products than the farmers of older Ontario. Nickel mining, Mr. Gibson described as being in a flourishing condition. The Canadian Copper Company had just completed their new extensive plant at Copper Cliff. They were now drawing their nickel from the Creighton mine, five miles away, which was undoubtedly the largest mine of its kind in the world. The mine was at present, he said, an open cut 250 x 350 feet, and 60 feet deep, all pre. A shaft had been sunk to the second level 80 feet below the bottom of the present cut, and another pit would soon be opened 500 feet away. The Mond Company were operating the North Star, and were conveying their ore to Victoria Mine. Other mines visited were the Massey and Hermina (nickel) and the Shakespeare (gold.)

To Know is to Prevent.

If the miners who work in cold water most of the day would rub their feet and legs with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil they would escape muscular rheumatism and render their nether limbs proof against the ill effects of exposure to the cold. Those setting out for mining regions would do well to provide themselves with a supply before starting.

BUSY HOUSEWIVES.

Pe-ru-na a Prompt and Permanent Cure for Nervousness.

MRS. LULU LARMER.

Mrs. Lulu Larmer, Stoughton, Wis., says:

"For two years I suffered with nervous trouble and stomach disorders until it seemed that there was nothing to me but a bundle of nerves.

"I was very irritable, could not sleep, rest or compose myself, and was certainly unfit to take care of a household.

"I took nerve tonics and pills without benefit. When I began taking Peruna I grew steadily better, my nerves grew stronger, my rest was no longer fitful, and to-day I consider myself in perfect health and strength.

"My recovery was slow but sure, but I persevered and was rewarded by perfect health."—Mrs. Lulu Larmer.

Mrs. Anna B. Flaharty, recent Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Nebraska Wesleyan University at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-seventh street, W., Chicago, Ill., she says:

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna B. Flaharty.

A TIME FOR ACTION.

Some of our newspapers are discussing apparent changes in the commercial conditions of the country and sounding notes of warning against incurring large financial obligations. These warnings are based on decrease of exports in some lines and upon the fact that the outcome of the farmers operations will be less than last year.

There may be good advice involved, but there is no need for, no wisdom in, sounding too loud a pessimistic note. The best way to bring about hard times is to talk hard times and to permit the state of mind, associated with such talk, to influence the general activity. Incessant harping upon such a subject tends to create a general feeling akin to panic, which will tend to action upon impulse and hence unintelligent and unconsidered action. Let each citizen do his duty to the best of his ability, instead of folding his hands over the imagined prospects of dull conditions, and dull conditions thus deprived of an invitation and a welcome, will delay their visit proportionately. The Farmers' Sun, under the heading, "A Time For Caution," thus addresses itself to the subject in relation to the farmers:—"Farmers to-day, particularly with five or six prosperous years behind them, are in a much better position than in the period of depression which prevailed some years ago, but at the same time present conditions call for extreme care and wise judgment in the management of income and outgo." This is good advice and seasonable at any time. The successful farmer does not need advice and the farmer who most needs it will not take it to himself. "Trust in God and keep your powder dry," is an injunction whose spirit applies to the prevailing conditions. If everybody diligently does his duty and works at his best to maintain good times and refrain from talking hard times, the best course will be taken to insure a perpetuation of prosperous conditions. The man who folds his hands and whines, invites, and does his share in producing the calamity he impotently bewails.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Muscovite has been so thoroughly discredited by the war in the East, that judges at the FallFairs will think twice before they award prizes to Muscovy ducks.

"Virtue is its own reward," seems to shine only in the copy-book head line. Brown Bros., Toronto, the well known stationers, have had a long and honourable business career, characterized by square dealing. Yet they have been twice cleaned out by fire within about three months. They have sympathizers throughout the Dominion.

Before the election of 1896, says the Globe, we had statistical prosperity in Canada. Now under a same tariff system we have statistical adversity announced from the same quarter in terrible records of injurious imports. The people prefer the statistical adversity of the present to the statistical prosperity of the past, and will vote to hold what they have.

The Russian armchair critics are grimply optimistic. They think that the Japs cannot carry Port Arthur by assault, and will have to fall back on the "starving out" process. This is a cheerful view to take of the postponement of the evil day. With the sharp advance on the prices of food stuffs, the starving out process will operate more rapidly.

It is an open question whether the politicial writers of the Mail & Empire, have taken lessons for the Cheefoo romance or the latter derided his facility in repressing contradictory yarns for the journalistic romances. The newspaper truth-stretchers were, however, in business before the cheefoo chap bobbed up in the matter of the dogs of war.

The regular weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night was attended by a good number of the members, and after the "troup" had been gone through with at the park, a march out down George street to Simcoe to Water, up Water to Hunter, and down to George and to the drill hall.

A most satisfactory drill was held last night and the regiment will no doubt be able to do itself credit on the occasion of the trip to Barrie for Labor Day.

The following orders were issued last night.

TREMENDOUS ODDS.

(Toronto Star)

If to expect defeat is itself nine-tenths of a defeat, our Conservative friends must enter upon the coming election as soldiers do upon a forlorn hope. They have nothing to say and nobody to say it. They have one man and no policy. They have no specific complaint against the men in office, except that they happen to be Liberals. They have no men of their own with whom to replace the present Cabinet if by some strange chance they should get the upper hand in the elections. Upon what, then, can they face the country? Defeat stares them in the face, and they know it. After the Dominion election of 1900 there was an election for the Quebec Legislature. Foreseeing defeat, the Conservative managers simply laid down their arms and refused to fight. They knew they were beaten, and decided to spare themselves the exercise generally involved. It is too much to expect that in the Dominion at large this experience will be repeated, but for all the difference there is in the the essential conditions it might as well be.

When the issue is once joined we shall have Mr. Borden busily looking after his own constituency, one of the very few in Nova Scotia the party are confident of winning. In New Brunswick—who, in New Brunswick stands towards Mr. borden as Sir Leonard Tilley stood towards Sir John Macdonald? Does anybody know? Has anybody heard? Prince Edward Island is admittedly Liberal. Quebec, if Mr. Borden stays in Nova Scotia, will have to take care of itself. If the famous telegram "What are your needs?" were now to be sent out to the Conservative candidates, as it was in 1900, the answer would come back promptly, "A leader." There is none. Two years ago there was Mr. Monk. One year ago that rather awkward person had entered the penumbra projected by the transit of Mr. Tarte. A little later Mr. Tarte was the leader, personally conducting Mr. Borden through the Province, and vouching for the sincerity of what Mr. Borden said in his somewhat throaty French. Six months ago both were pitched over, Mr. Monk for objecting to Mr. Tarte, Mr. Tarte because opinionative Tories would rather vote for Laurier. Then Mr. Casgrain's little candle glowed for a night, to be snuffed out after a Montreal banquet to Mr. Borden. Heaven knows how many more they propose to try; for the present it is enough to know that Mr. Borden and the Star Junta between them have left Quebec Conservatives leaderless. Can they hope thus to win, and against Laurier? Not though the Ottawa Citizen should offer prayers and burnt offerings from now till election day.

In Ontario, one has to concede, the party will make a fight for it. Not because they look for power this election, but because they want to hold the ridings in line until power does come. They have a majority. They will try to keep as much of it as they can. True, they have no leader, but they will try to get along without. We have not been told that Dr. Sproule, who, by some odd freak of fortune, now leads the Ontario party, intends to make a stumping tour of the Province, and there is nobody else to do so. The party hasn't a speaker of any prominence at Ottawa, who could be depended upon to hold an audience of a thousand people for an hour. Even the much derided Tuppers could do that. In the West they are still haunted by the memory of Hugh John's brief inglorious leadership.

So stands the organization in the matter of leaders. On the other side Liberals can call the roll with every satisfaction. Laurier, Fielding, Emmerson, Fisher, Fitzpatrick, Cartwright, Mulock, Paterson, Sifton and they do say Aylesworth—and still half a dozen good men to spare. And only one Borden to oppose them all. There never was anything like it, except, as has been said, when the party frankly quit in the last Quebec election.

TOO MUCH LIQUOR, TOO MANY SMOKES.

British Committee Reports on Why the Race is Deteriorating; Shows Alcoholism and Juvenile Smoking to be Principal Causes.

London, August 20.—The report of the British Inter-Departmental Committee of Physical Deterioration has been issued.

The points there dealt with are the following:—

(1) Where hope lies—Improving the conditions of life.

(2) Extension of the medical inspection of factories.

(3) Weakness of the Factory and Workshops Act.

The committee express the hope that the information they have collected will have some effect in allaying the apprehensions of those who, as it appears on insufficient grounds, have made up their minds that progressive deterioration is to be found among the British people generally.

The report deals at length with such important questions as conditions of employment, urbanization of the people, the depletion of rural districts, alleged tendency of superior stocks towards a diminished rate of production, adverse conditions attending the left of the juvenile population, remedial measures for the same and the question of food.

On the question of alcoholism the report says: "Next to the urbanization of the people and intimately associated with it, as the outcome of many of the conditions it creates, the question of "drink" occupies a prominent place among the causes of degeneration. The close connection between a craving for drink and bad housing, bad feeding, a polluted and depressing atmosphere, long hours of work in overheated and often ill-ventilated rooms, only relieved by the excitement of town life, is to self-evident to need demonstration, nor unfortunately is the extent of the evil more open to dispute."

RETARDING INFLUENCES.

The evidence laid before the committee teems with testimony as to the disastrous operation of these causes. Dr. Scott put alcohol first among the influences that retard improvement. He said:

"They are living on it, some of them, and the lower you go the worse it is."

Mrs. Mackenzie expressed the general view when she said:

"I think that if the drink question were removed, three-fourths of the difficulty and the poverty and degradation altogether would go along with it."

There is also much food for reflection in the passages dealing with the depletion of rural districts by the exodus of the best types. The report states:

"Another factor is the alleged deterioration of the people, connected like the last with their aggregation in towns, is said to be the withdrawal from the rural districts of the most capable of the population, leaving the inferior types to supply their place and continue the stock, the evil being often aggravated, in the opinion of some, by the drifting into the country of the debilitated town population, which is crowded out by the inrush of more vigorous elements.

"There appears on the face of it to be considerable probability that both these movements are in operation. The effects of certain conditions of town life on the weaker members of the community, and the selective tendency of certain classes of employment which creates a demand for men of greater physical efficiency than is to be found as a rule in a town-bred population, are constantly drawing upon the resources of the rural districts, and it is presumably the men of most energy and possibly of finer physique that respond to the allurements offered them."

"There cannot, the committee say, be any controversy as to the expediency of arresting where possible, the exodus to which such baneful results are attributed. Nothing, perhaps, would be so likely to force upon the urban communities the necessity of healing their own sores, and bringing up a healthy population within their own limits, as the cessation of the influx of vigorous bodies to take place of the crushed and broken by the wheels of city life.

WORK FOR THE SCHOOLS.

There appears to be but little evidence submitted as to how this could be done, but the committee record the opinion that:

"The school might be made a most valuable agent towards the attainment of these objects, and they are not without hope that the recent education act, by bringing all forms of secular instruction under a popularly elected local authority may greatly contribute to to that end.

"The committee accordingly have great sympathy with the view expressed by the late M. Phelix Peacut: First of all, teach the children to take an interest not only in books, but in the life of the fields. Teach them gardening, and how to keep bees, the making of cheese, and the management of a dairy. Make your scheme of education deliberately rural; instil the taste for an active life, the delight in physical energy."

FOOD AND PHYSIQUE.

With regard to food it seems that a striking consensus of opinion was elicited as to the effect of improper or insufficient food to determining physique, and this factor was acknowledged by every witness to be prominent among the causes to which degenerative tendencies might be assigned through in one or two cases its relative importance was thought liable to exaggeration.

Considering the question in its general relation to the health of the people at large, the committee report:

Into the circumstances affecting this aspect of the subject, the habits of the community enter largely, and these, it is obvious, are open to a great variety of influences, industrial, moral and economic. If, as one witness emphatically stated, with the support more or less marked of others, a large proportion of British housewives are tainted with incurable laziness and distaste for the obligations of domestic life, they will naturally have resource to such experiments in providing food for their families as involve them in least trouble; if, as many contended, the effect of female labour in factory and workshops is to form bad wives and mothers, any changes in the industrial conditions of the people that increase the demand for this class of labour, react upon the comfort of the home, and the economic causes that have contributed to recent years to the production of tinned foods in enormous quantities have had the effect of reducing the amount of home-cooking. Changes, moreover, in the relative cost of certain articles of food, whether brought about by economic or fiscal causes, give a direction to popular taste, which it may take generations of educative influence to correct.

Another interesting section of the report is that dealing with juvenile smoking. On this the committee observe:

The evidence submitted on the point represents a practically unanimous opinion that the habit of cigarette smoking among boys is a growing one, and that its consequences are extremely deleterious. No actual testimony was forthcoming to prove that early smoking diminishes growth, but Prof. Cunningham mentioned it as one of the causes of physical deterioration, and Dr. Scott was of opinion that scarcely two per cent. of the cases of undergrowth had not been habitual cigarette smoking.

The committee make no fewer than fifty-three recommendations. We select the following:—

The committee believe that the time has come for dealing drastically with this problem. They advocate an experimental effort by the local authorities in certain of the worst districts, in the direction of fixing a standard and notifying that after a given date no crowding in excess of such standard would be permitted.

ALCOHOLISM.

The committee believe that more may be done to check the degeneration resulting from "drink" by bringing home to men and women the fatal effects of alcohol on physical efficiency than by expatiating on the moral wickedness of drinking. To this end they advocate the systematic, practical training of teachers to give rational instructions in schools on the laws of health, including the demonstration of the physical evils caused by drinking. At the same time the committee cannot lose sight of the enormous improvement which has been effected in some countries, and might be effected in this country, by wise legislation.

For the purpose of bring home to the people the importance of properly-selected and carefully prepared food, there is much room for training of a specially educative character among girls and young women. Continuation classes for girls beyond school age should be organized, attendance at which should be compulsory, subject to the exercise of a judicious discretion on the part of the school authority.

It is desirable that more attention should be given, with the assistance, where possible, of voluntary agencies, to organizing games for school children, and for that purpose much greater use should be made both of school and public playgrounds than at present. But the committee are of opinion that no scheme of games alone can ever be made general enough to supply the place of methodical physical training.

The committee recommend that a bill should be brought before parliament (1) To prohibit the sale of tobacco and cigarettes to children below a certain age; (2) to prohibit the sale of tobacco and cigarettes in sweet shops and other shops frequented by children.

In conclusion, the committee declare that they do not rely upon any large measure of legislative assistance; the law, they say, may with advantage be altered and elaborated in certain respects, but the pathway to improvement lies in another direction. Complacent optimism and administrative indifference must be attacked and overcome, and a large-hearted sentiment of public interest take the place of timorous counsels and sectional prejudice.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Rain, rain, more rain. Hard on the harvest and the small potatoes.

A lot of our people took in the Carmel Church Tea last Thursday evening. All speak in the highest terms of the repast and the entertainment. A large gathering of people as the receipts will indicate, being the sum of $101.50. Good music by the Zion Choir. The church is a gem plurity in its new coat of paint and the interior decorations reflect credit on the artist, Mr. Geo. Hearthly of Marmora.

The painting work goes on here as well; the town is being painted, but not "red." Mr. Thos. Wilson has given his residence a coat of white, and a covering of felt roofing.

Mr. Moore is paiting the house occupied by Dr. Macham, while the Methodist Church is in the hands of Duncan & Doupe, Painters in Petrborough, where six men are at work in the art of decoration.

The Baby's Troubles.

The greatest suffering of childhood is caused by eczema, scald head, chafing or other forms of skin irritation or eruption. Because of its extraordinary, soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used would think of being without it in the house.

PITH AND POINT.

Lots of worthy people are not popular. There's your case, for example.

Talk about a rut all you please, some men are never any good out of one.

Youth deals in fancy; age, in facts.

All false teeth are made to look too young.

Before saying that you think forty is old remember there may be some one present who is at least forty-one.

You are getting old when people begin to say that you have money hidden around somewhere. They never accuse the young of hiding money.

There is a saying "Get busy." It applies to idle, shiftless men. But there should also be a saying "Get lazy." It would apply with force to some men who work too much.

A Legal Puzzler.

Curious comments by a judge, even in the presence of the prisoner, though extremely rare, are not unprecedented. Mr. Justice Maule once addressed a phenomenon of innocence in a smock frock in the following words: "Prisoner at the bar, your counsel thinks you innocent; the counsel for the prosecution thinks you innocent; I think you innocent. But a jury of your own countrymen, in the exercise of such common sense as they possess, which does not seem to be much, have found you guilty, and it remains that I shall pass upon you the sentence of the law. That sentence is that you be kept in imprisonment for one day, and as that day was yesterday you may now go about your business."

The unfortunate rustic, rather scared, went about his business, but thought law was an uncommonly puzzling business.—London Tit-Bits.

The Yankee as Europe Knows Him.

"I was greatly amused," said a merchant who has lately made a visit abroad, "to notice how the term Yankee widens in application as one gets farther away from the habitat of the real thing.

"I met a very intelligent hotel keeper at Berne, in Switzerland, and in the course of conversation he remarked that he had an extremely agreeable countryman of mine staying at his house the previous season.

"'As you are both Yankees, you may by chance know him,' he said.

"'Where does he live?' I asked.

"'In Buenos Ayres,' replied the hotel keeper."

THE WEATHER IDEAL

Ontario Rifle Association Matches Open Auspiciously.

SEVERAL NEW RIFLE RANGES

Sir Frederick Borden Planning to Carry Out His Intentions to Erect Several New Rifle Ranges Throughout the Country With the Appropriation Made For This Purpose Last Session.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The annual competitions under the auspices of the Ontario Rifle Association were begun yesterday under the most auspicious circumstances. The weather approached the ideal from the marksman's viewpoint during the afternoon, the sky being a cloudless blue and little wind stirring.

Canadian Club Match.

The number of contestants who appeared was considerably in excess of that of any previous year. In the Canadian Club match the principal of the three events brought to a conclusion yesterday, there were no less than 325 entries. The Canada Company contest, open to tyros alone, the definition of tyro being one who had never won a prize in any former year at any Provincial, Dominion or National Rifle Association match, save in the novice class, attracted 156 entries, a number overshadowing last year's list, and supplying a healthy indication of the interest being awakened in the sport among the youthful element. The winners of $10 and above were: Pte. D. Mitchell, 13th, 49, $20; Staff-Sergt. A. Graham, 48th Highlanders, 49, $15; Capt. W. H. Forrest, 6th D. C. O. R., 48, $12; Pte. P. Armstrong, R. SIR FREDERICK PLANNING.

Minister of Militia Reserves Sites For New Rifle Ranges.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—The Minister of Militia, in his department estimates last session, made provision for the encouragement of rifle practice throughout the Dominion. Plans are now being laid in the Department to carry his intentions into effect. In company with his colleagues Sir Frederick is now framing the contracts for the erection of rifle ranges in different parts of the country. The Minister has already reserved sites in British Columbia and in the Northwest Territories for ranges. There will be a new range at Winnipeg. A contract has been given to Martin Jeck for the building of a range at Cobourg, Ont. Sites have been acquired for one at Goderich, Ont., and another at Agnes, in Megantic County, Quebec. The Department has decided to build a new range at Sussex, N.B., where the militia of New Brunswick spend their annual camp. A range will also be built at Woodstock. The proposal is now under consideration to provide ranges for the militiamen at Windsor, Ont., and at Amherst, N.S.

Fishery Inspector Drowned.

Barrie, Aug. 24.—A report has reached here of the death by drowning of John Steele, fishery inspector, of Uptergrove. At 2 a.m. Sunday he left Strawberry Island in a canoe for the mainland. About 4 a. m. a farmer's wife was awakened by his cries for help, but, not having any boat, could not go to his aid. A few hours later the body was found by a searching party not far from shore. The hands were badly lacerated in his attempts to hang the canoe. Steele was a powerful man, about 35 years of age, and was an expert canoeist and boatman.

Crushed to Death.

Walkerville, Aug. 24.—A young team driven by W. Moore, of Windsor, became frightened at a passing train Monday. The team started to run away. Moore, in trying to stop them, caught the wrong line, thus causing the truck to turn towards him. He was caught between the truck and a brick wall and badly crushed, three of his ribs being broken. He was taken to the Hotel Dieu, Windsor, but died yesterday morning from the effect of his injuries.

Killed By Runaway.

Drayton, Aug. 24.—On Saturday Jas. Forest of the second of Maryboro was driving his team through his farm gate when they ran away east to the village of Glenallen, striking a retired farmer, Charles Crapp, in the back, breaking his ribs and and injuring him so badly he died.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Takes Seriously the New England Agitation For Reciprocity.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt is alarmed by the magnitude of the demand for Canadian reciprocity in New England, which the National Administration has so far ignored, as far as definite action is concerned, and will take the matter up in his letter of acceptance. From what standpoint he will deal with it and what recommendation he may make is not disclosed at present.

The President's idea is, however, that something must be done. He expressed the fear that New England would show a great Republican defection, especially in Massachusetts, due to the scant recognition given reciprocity in the Chicago platform.

The issue was the subject of a long and grave discussion at Sagamore Hill yesterday on the part of the President, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island.

BRITISH CLAIMS TO BE SETTLED.

International Tribunal Between U.S. and Britain to Be Established.

Honolulu, Aug. 18 (via San Francisco, Aug. 24.)—It is stated that an international tribunal is to be established by Great Britain and the United States for the purpose of settling, among other things, the claims of a number of British subjects here who were imprisoned as revolutionists after the rebellion of 1895. Over 20 claimant have placed their claims for damages in the hands of the British consul here.

Governor Carter took the matter up while he was in Washington, and was informed that a tribunal would be formed to make settlements. It is now seven years since this decision was taken in the matter. Most of the claimants were kept in jail for some weeks while the provisional Government feared a revolt.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

China Yields to Russia.

London, Aug. 23.—The Che Foo correspondent of The Times asserts that China has yielded to the Russian demands and will grant compensation for the Ryeshiteini affair as well as degrade the local Taotai, and the Chinese admiral. The correspondent says that an American warship is ready to land marines should trouble arise.

The Joy of Living.

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force sent tingling along the nerve centres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

A Costly Ton of Coal.

On Jan. 10, 1780, thirteen men brought a wagon with a ton of coal from Loughborough, in Leicestershire, to London as a present to the then Prince of Wales. When the coal was emptied into the cellar the clerk of the cellars gave them 4 guineas, and as soon as the prince was informed of it his highness sent them 20 guineas and ordered them a pot of beer each man. They performed their journey, which is 111 miles, in eleven days and drew the coal all the way without any relief.—London Tit-Bits.

Infinitesimal Webs.

Mexico, the land of Montezuma, prickly pears, sand, volcanoes, etc., has many subtropical wonders both in vegetable and animal life. KANGAROO HUNTING.

A Dangerous Sport In Which Thick Breastplates Are Worn.

Tiger skins, elephant tusks, antlers and a dozen other trophies decorated the smoking room of the huntsman.

"You can't guess what this is," he said, and he took down from the wall a piece of curiously woven matting. It was about two feet square, green in color and five inches thick.

"This," he explained, "is the breastplate that is worn in kangaroo hunting. Without it the kangaroo with a fore leg blow would smash in your chest as though it were a pasteboard box. This breastplate is a souvenir of an exciting kangaroo hunt in Australia.

"All big game enthusiasts are familiar with tiger shooting, elephant shooting, the chase of the grizzly, of the boar and of the hippo, but I know few men who have ever hunted kangaroos.

"Yet this is an exciting and dangerous sport. The kangaroo when he is brought to bay will fight. He jumps straight at you, like a great cat, and with his small fore legs he aims at your chest two tremendous blows—first the right and then the left—and these blows, with a speed and an accuracy that no prizefighter could equal, would kill you if they landed on an unprotected surface. So you wear, for a protection, this thick green guard, woven of native grasses by native women.

"You hunt the kangaroo in 'sets.' Eight huntamen compose a set, and each set employs half a dozen native runners to stalk the kangaroo.

"The kangaroo, on being stalked, comes tearing over the plain straight at you. He travels with the speed of an express train, and he makes great bounding leaps. One minute he is crouched on the grass, the next he is ten feet up in the air, and all the while, remember, he is going forty miles an hour.

"Hence he is a mighty difficult object to shoot. If you fail to shoot him, and there is no tree handy, then you must put your trust in your matting breastplate. This breastplate of mine, you notice, has a dent in it."

Warming Effect.

If there were no appointments
By victors to allot,
I think it's plain that the campaign
Would not be quite so hot.

He Was Precious.

"So she is in love with the policeman?"

"Yes; she says he is worth his weight in copper."

Practical Knowledge.

"Does he know the city thoroughly?"

"I should say so. He has every free lunch in town down pat."

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few relatives and friends, by Rev. J. G. Potter assisted by Rev. H. P. Neville of Rosebanks, brother-in-law of the groom. The bride was handsomely gowned in white organdie, trimmed with Nottingham lace and carried white asters. She was attended by Miss Isabelle King, who was becomingly attired in cream voile with yoke lace and trimmings, and carried pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. Wm. Morris, of town. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Herbert King of Chicago, Mendelsohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Peter Kerr.

The happy couple were the recipients of many costly and beautiful presents evidencing the high esteem in which they are held by a large circle of friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome piano, to the bridesmaid a gold necklace and to the groomsman a pearl pin.

A wedding dejuene was served at the residence of the bride's mother, 546 Downie street at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawley left on the 11.35 C.P.R. train for eastern points and will reside in Peterborough upon their return.

A LUCKY CATCH BY A. KENNEDY.

Succeeded in Hooking a Thirty Pound 'Lunge Yesterday.

All previous fishing records for the season were broken at Stony Lake yesterday when Mr. Archie Kennedy, until recently a grocer in Lakefield, caught a 'lunge weighing 30 1-2 pounds and measuring four feet, two inches in length. Mr. Kennedy caught this monster near Miss Ray's cottage not far from Baptie's Island.

This exceeds by one pound the fish caught recently at Jubilee Point by Mr. Gilman, and is the heaviest fish reported for the season.

LOCAL MARKSMEN WIN GOOD PRIZES

Some Fine Shooting at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges.

Peterborough Men Who Made Good Scores—The Annual Prize Meeting.

The thirty-sixth annual prize meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association opened yesterday morning at the Long Branch Range, under conditions that augur the most unqualified success. The most essential necessity for a good meeting is fair weather. The weather was ideal in every respect. The light was bright, but not glaring. The atmosphere was cool and clear, and the wind was a gentle breeze blowing down the range. The shooting commenced at 8.15, and when the entry list was completed there were over 100 more competitors than last year. In all the matches this means an entry list of over 2,500, against about 2,000 last year. On account of this there is a possibility that the meeting may have to be extended over until Friday.

Members of the 57th are well up in the scoring. In the Canadian Club Matches Pte. Geo. Fitzgerald and Col. Sgt. W. H. Moore each scored 43, winning $4 each, and in the same match Pte. J. Gibson, with the same score won $3, and in the City of Toronto match Col. Sgt. Moore scored 74, the prize being $4, and Pte. Fitzgerald with a score of 73 took $3. Pte. Wilson also got $3, scoring 72.

PRACTICAL JOKING WITH THE POWER OF THE PRESS.

Newspapers Must be in a Position to Judge of Reliability of Information Supplied

The Hamilton Herald, which apparently has been victimized, has the following:—

"One of the most despicable forms of practical joking is the writing of a bogus marriage notice and sending to the newspapers for publication. Jail is the proper antidote for "fun" of that sort, and that sort of "fun" is a punishable offence."

This suggests the remark that while newspapers are anxious to get news, they are, at the same time, anxious too that the news should be as accurate as possible. Many persons in sending short paragraphs for insertion in the Examiner neglect to enclose their names. It must be understood that no news or personal paragraph will be used unless the name of the person furnishing it is known. This is not, of course, for publication, but to furnish an indication of the responsibility of the person supplying the news paragraph, and, incidentally, of his or her reliability.

HEROIC RESCUE.

Member of McMaster Band Saves Children From Watery Grave.

Port Hope Guide.

While Mr. H. R. Nobles and J. A. Hilts, members of the McMaster Band, were out driving on Saturday they drove by the electric light plant. Passing by the creek near the plant they rescued a horse and four children from drowning. The children attempted to pass through the water instead of crossing the bridge, but because of the recent rains having swollen the stream the horse was carried off his feet by the current.

Mr. Nobles heroically plunged into the creek and succeeded in separating the horse from the rig and in bringing the children safely to shore.

While performing this feat of bravery the young evangelist ruined a good suit of clothes and lost a valuable ruby ring. Mr. Nobles did not consider the loss of the ring or the destruction of the clothes any sacrifice, being only too glad to assist those needing his help.

FINE PROSPECTS FOR FALL EXHIBITION.

Interview With Directors Disclose Pleasing Conditions.

Prize Lists Greatly in Demand—The Black Watch Band a Great Attraction.

Judging by the smiles displayed by the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this year's fair should eclipse all others. Mr. K. Eardley Wilmot, the indefategable secretary greeted the reporter with a smile this morning when he was asked as to the present prospects and replying he said that the success with which the director's efforts were being met was most gratifying and the fair of 1904 will far excel all previous years in every particular. More requests are coming in for prize lists than ever before, and the enthusiasm being displayed by intending exhibitors is indeed very flattering to the directors, each of whom is doing his utmost for the fair's success. The people are simply going into estacies over the crack band which the directors have secured for this year, the famous 42nd Highlanders Black Watch Band, which bids fair to surpass in popularity the Coldstreams Band. President Hughes-Charles was also seen for a minute, and he too was also wearing the "smile that won't come off." He said that he would not be satisfied if this year's fair did not far exceed that of all previous years and Mr. Charles looks pretty well satisfied.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, another director, said that the department of which he has charge is demanding more and more attention and promises to be very successful. He finds that as the fair grows in proportion the duties of the directors increase.

Messrs. E. M. Elliott and Kennedy were out of town on exhibition business, and the Board of Directors as a whole is very attentively engaged in forwarding the interests of the fair. Mr. Robt. Fair is one of the most energetic and is a regular walking advertisement for the Peterborough Exhibition, which will be formally opened on Tuesday, September 27th, by Lieut.-Governor Mortimer Clark.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MR. LONG.

Foreman of the Dickson Company Given Surprise Party Last-night.

A surprise awaited Mr. George Long, foreman for the Dickson Company last night when, on the eve of his departure for the North Country to superintend the operations of the company for the season, about thirty of his friends came to his home in the East Ward to spend an evening with him before his de-departure. Their coming was a complete surprise to Mr. Long, and a very pleasant evening was spent in dancing, music for which was supplied by Mr. Kane. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

WHAT IS DOING IN RUGBY CIRCLES

Some Gossip Regarding Knights of the Gridiron.

Rugby Club's Annual Dance Should be Revived—Lots of Rugby Material in Town.

The management of the Peterborough Rugby Club have decided to present the large mixed photo of the team of 1903 to the Athletic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S. The large group picture of the team of 1902 was presented to the Y.M.C.A. In this connection it might be mentioned that the Peterborough Rugby Club has been the only athletic organization absolutely representative of Peterborough athletics inasmuch as its membership is made up of many members of the T.A.S. and members of different Protestant organizations. The Club has worked harmoniously together for many seasons without thought of rivalry as to the composition of the team or the management of the organization. The result has been most satisfactory, and no athletic organization in Peterborough can point to a more successful record. It is earnestly to be hoped that the same spirit shall be exhibited in the maintenance of the club during the present season.

Dr. Andrew Scott, one of the best fullbacks that Peterborough ever produced, and who for several years assisted in bringing Provincial and Dominion rugby championships to Peterborough, is in town for a few days. Dr. Scott is now a resident of London, but takes a keen interest in rugby circles in Peterborough. He expresses the hope that Peterborough will again be to the front and add more championships to their record.

A condition of affairs which may tend to advance the interests of rugby in Peterborough this season will be the operation of the Peterborough Street Railway. It is quite probable that arrangements may be made to play the games at the Driving Park.

An effort will likely be made to prevail upon Mr. Will Crowley to again accept the position of captain of the local fifteen. Captain Crowley is one of the old guard. He has seen many players come and go, amongst them being such well known exponents of the game as Hal. Burnham, Andy Scott, Garnet and Norman Bell, Jack MacDonald, Fred Smith, George Revell, A. W. MacPherson, Roly and Victor McWilliams and many others. His management of the team last year was most creditable, and he is a player in whose judgment and ability the rugbyists of the town have explicit confidence.

A feature in connection with rugby in Peterborough which should not be overlooked this year is the annual dance of the Peterborough Rugby Club. For many years this proved to be one of the biggest social events of the season, but last year owing to a general abatement of the dancing fever the event was called off. From what can be learned such will not be the case this year, and as the annual hop tends to bring the boys more in touch with the public, it would be well for the management of the club to bear this important event in mind.

President Clarry was asked to-day as to the date of the annual meeting. He intimated that a meeting of the old executive would be held early next week when the exact date would be decided upon. He states that he looks for a grand revival in rugby in Peterborough this year.

The Peterborough Rugby Club has had good secretaries in the past but undoubtedly none of them came up to Mr. C. G. Graham in the management of that onerous position. In addition to being one of the best players on the team, Mr. Graham successfully assisted in the general management of the Club.

About a month ago Eugene Hurtubise announced that he was leaving town, but a few cool evenings which felt like autumn must have caused him to change his mind and this fall the big Frenchman will be found on the local line-up. He is as enthusiastic as ever and is known in rugby circles throughout the Province.

It is not known as yet what will be done towards the formation of a City League. An announcement in this regard will be made shortly.

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team will run an excursion to Havelock on Saturday to the final game in the Trent Valley League. If enough signify their intention of accompanying the team a coach will be attached to the 11.35 C.P.R. train, and it will probably return about 8 o'clock on a freight. The return fare will be $1.00, and all who intend going should leave their names with the secretary of the club, Mr. Jas. Dorris, or at the Examiner office not later than Friday evening. This will be the best game of the season and no one should miss it.

• • • •

The Total Abstainers go to Havelock on Saturday to play the final game for the T.V.L. championship. The red and white have a substantial lead and it is hard to see how the easterners can overcome it even should they win the match. But the locals are determined to go through the season without a defeat and are confident of winning on Havelock's grounds. Those who accompany the team will see a great contest.

GYMNASTICS.

At the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium this morning Mr. Percy Campbell defeated Mr. Ernest M. Best in five straight events of an athletic nature. Putting the shot, jumping, hopping, and other such exercises constituted the programme.

BASEBALL.

To-day is Port Hope's Civic Holiday, and the Lindsay baseball team is playing there, in a Midland League game.

The Port Hope Guide makes a big howl because the Peterborough team did not go to Port Hope last Saturday in a pouring rain to play a game with the Port Hope team, and in Monday's issue makes some statements which will hardly stand substantiation by facts. Those who remember the weather condition of Saturday will surely not be surprised that the team did not leave home. Over two inches of rain fell during the 12 hours preceeding the hour fixed for the game, and at noon the rain was still falling, and surely no one in his proper senses would think that a game could be played under these conditions. However, Mr. Whitcroft, willing to oblige the Port Hopers as much as possible, was prepared to go, and upon telephoning to Port Hope could get no decisive answer as to whether he was expected or not until it was too late to get his full team together.

In view of these facts, the abuse handed out by the Guide is unwarranted. It says:—

"Aside from this the Peterborough team have been a source of trouble ever since their admission. Two of their games have been protested, and Cobourg could have claimed their game by default had they so desired.'

The Peterborough team has caused no more trouble than has Port Hope's nine, and for verification of this ask Bowmanville. As for Cobourg claiming their game by default, Cobourg was ordered to play here by the President and failed to show up, not giving any explanation of their conduct, and if deposit money is claimed Peterborough has a pretty good show.

The Guide ends up this rather extraordinary article thus:—

"The locals have sent in their claims for Peterborough's deposit money and should certainly receive it. But now Treasurer McGuire of Cobourg hesitates about handing it over. Of course at the order of the President he is obliged to forward the cheques and for the benefit of Cobourg he may yet find it to his advantage to do so."

This last paragraph is rather a significant one and savours of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." What does the writer mean by saying Cobourg may yet find it to their advantage to hand over Peterborough's deposit money.

Away with such nonsense, the Peterborough team wants to play the game, and is prepared to do anything reasonable to meet the other teams, but surely this is going a little too far.

• • • •

Toronto's winning streak still continues and the Canucks are now in fifth place by virtue of their win from Newark yesterday and Montreal's defeat. The team is doing finely on the road and if they do as well at home, they should land in third place at the end of the season; there is still about five weeks' of scheduled games.

• • • •

According to the Midland League schedule, Peterborough plays at Oshawa on Saturday.

• • • •

The local team will go to Oshawa on Saturday and to Port Hope a week from to-day to play Midland League games.

• • • •

On Saturday afternoon the T.A.S. and Auburn team in the Kawartha League will play at the Murray Street Grounds and the game between these two teams which are now the top-notchers in the league, should be one of the best of the season. Quinlan and Lattermoile will be the battery for the T.A.S. and McCorry and Belleghem for the Auburns. This game will probably decide the championship in the Kawartha League. Both teams have had a good season's record and both are anxious to win Saturday's game, which should pretty nearly decide when the championship will be in for the year.

THE PACIFIC PROVINCE

ITS GREATNESS AS REVEALED IN THE KOOTENAY PILGRIMAGE.

British Columbia's Glories—The Sportsman's Paradise, the Lumberman's Home and the Miner's Very Heaven—Virgin Forest and Inexhaustible Mines of Coal—Train and Boat Glide Over the Wealth of the Far West.

British Columbia, the Switzerland of Canada, the sportsman's paradise, the lumberman's home, and the miner's very heaven. You need only take the Kootenay trip to realize that this great province is each and all of these, writes a traveling correspondent of The Toronto Telegram.

Fully 630 miles of mountains, rivers and lakes on this Kootenay trip alone—almost every variety of "fin and fur and feather," virgin forests to the water's edge, and mines, the richest of their kind—the inexhaustible coal of Lethbridge and Fernie, the iron of Kitchener, the silver lead of the Slocan, the copper and gold of Rossland's Le Roi and the Boundary mines. And then the mighty smelters, the largest and best in the world, of far-famed Trail, and of Nelson and Greenwood and Grand Forks.

Wealth! Why, your train and your boat glide over it as they do through farm and ranch and the panorama of scenic wonders—the giant Douglas fir, cedar, spruce, hemlock and pine, and the home of the finest trout and wild duck to mountain goat and grizzly bear.

The Great Glacier.

To realize this—to know British Columbia—leave your Imperial Limited at Dunmore Junction, and take the Crow's Nest branch of the C. P. R., leaving until you return, beautiful Banff, the lake in the clouds, charming Louise, and the mighty Mount Stephen, and the great glacier on the 450 miles of main line to Revelstoke. Or, if you will, take the Kootenay trip from Revelstoke, re-joining the main line at Dunmore. You can make the trip in two days either way.

Leaving your wilderness of prairie at Dunmore, 100 miles will bring you to the coal mining town of Lethbridge, which supplies coal as far east as Winnipeg and north to Calgary and Edmonton, and south to Montana. This 100 miles built in 1885, was taken over by the C.P.R in 1887. The company extended it at once to the Kootenay Lakes. As a piece of speedy railroad building it is worth recording here that this 289 miles of extension was constructed and ready for operation in 14 months and 22 days, the first sod being turned July 18th, 1897, and the last spike driven October 7th, 1898—and this through a mountainous country, necessitating trestles and tunnels and loops.

Forty miles to the south of Lethbridge is the Mormon settlement of Cardston. Then on your train speeds through the St. Mary's Valley a mile wide and three hundred feet deep—on through Whoopup and Kipp, old trading posts, the scenes of many conflicts between the first white settlers and the Indians.

Ranching District of MacLeod.

You now pass through the ranching district of Macleod, which is also the southern terminus of the Calgary and Edmonton branch of the C.P.R., Calgary being 108 miles north and Edmonton 300 miles. Leaving your contented cattle you enter the foot-hills of the Rockies, gradually higher and higher up to Victoria Peak and Castle Mountain. Over canyon, around and through mountains you pass the now desolate region of Frank, the little mining town almost wiped out by that awful slide of rock a year ago last April. Up there is what is left of the mountain, and here the rock is nearly a mile wide and some fifty feet deep.

A little beyond Blairmore you get the first view of the great Crow's Nest Mountains with its mighty snow-crowned head, and ten miles further is the lake of the same name, 5,000 feet high—so high that they say it is "the birthplace of the winds that blow across the prairies." Then comes in view Island Lake, and soon you leave Alberta here, in its way, a great divide, mountain streams on one side flowing on and into the Saskatchewan and to the Hudson Bay. The others on and to the Kootenay and Columbia and Pacific.

Three Miles to Cover One.

On ten miles is the great loop around and over the Michel town and stream, which down there in the valley seems like a silver thread. To get down into that valley the train goes three miles to cover less than one. You can see the engine from your car window nearly all the way, and the rails up there on the mountain side. The little silver Michel joins the Elk—that gem of mountain rivers; so does the railway as far as Fernie.

Of ill-fated, but still hopeful and ambitious Fernie, now sobly rising from her ashes of last April, you have read. This, and the awful explosion in the Crow's Nest Company mine two years ago, have been the great misfortunes of Fernie since it was founded in 1897 by William Fernie, the discoverer of these great coal fields, now passing the evening of his laborious life in ease at Victoria.

This great discovery and the immediate construction of the C.P.R.'s Crow's Nest branch was all that was needed for this as for all the mining towns along this boundary line. But it was Fernie's lot to suffer with its success.

The explosion in Mine No. 2, it will be remembered, killed 130 men. But as the court at Nelson decided two weeks ago it was "a gas" and not "a dust" explosion, an accident therefore over which the company had no control and, for which, there being no negligence on the part of the company, it could not be held responsible. Although the company had contributed $50,000 to the widows and relatives of the unfortunate miners, suit was brought for more. The trial lasted a month with a law cost running up in the thousands, the brightest lights of the British Columbia bar being employed. The honors of the great legal contest went to the Hon. Joseph Martin, chief counsel for the company. Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, the managing director of the company and well known Toronto K.C., assisted in the case.

Fernie Fire Recalled.

Of the fire at Fernie last April, though in six hours it wiped out 50 buildings, fully 30 are now in course of erection. The ashes had not lost their heat when lumber for new buildings was brought to the scene.

One butcher, while his neighbor's store was burning, rented a shed out of the fire zone, removed all the meat the blaze permitted, and took orders for that day's dinner. That is characteristic of Fernie and of all British Columbia towns and cities.

Now in Fernie better buildings are being erected. The Crow's Nest Company's new offices will be of concrete and will cost $20,000. The Bank of Commerce is erecting a branch here to cost $15,000.

The Crow's Nest Company mines and modern plant and their capacity are well known. There are over 200,000 square miles of these coal lands and $5,000,000 has already been invested in plant and improvements in the mines here at Coal Creek, at Michel and at Morrissey adjoining. The company have over 2,000 men on the pay roll, which frequently reaches $150,000 in wages a month.

The Great Coke Ovens.

Of the company's great coke ovens it need only be said that they are the largest and perhaps the most complete, not only in Canada, but in the world.

When you leave Fernie you pass through 60 miles of natural park, mountains with their wood encircled base and snow-crowned heads. Through mining and through lumber camps you reach little up-to-date Cranbrook, the trade centre of this mining, lumber and farming district.

On past the lofty Moyie Lakes and through the district of the famous St. Eugene copperland mines, over roaring Goat Mountain canyon 200 feet deep and you are in the Kootenay Valley. The Kootenay River, which you crossed nearly 100 miles east, has become rebel and deserted to Montana and Idaho, but has repented and coms back to Canada again with a peaceful ending here in Kootenay Lake.

Model Gold-White Boats.

Here you board one of the model gold-white boats of the C.P.R.'s well known fleet that ply these inland waters, electric-lighted craft, and well appointed for night as well as day trips. This vessel will land you at Nelson that evening, or some 18 hours in all from Dunmore. The train is ready to whisk you off to Robson, where early in the morning you leave on another of the same class of boats through the Lower and the Upper Arrow Lakes, 125 miles, with mountain peaks always in view. At Arrowhead you take train 28 miles here to Revelstoke.

The night before last you left your Imperial Limited at Dunmore, last night at seven you left Nelson and to-night at seven you resume your trans-continental trip. To-morrow morning at 10.40 you will be at Vancouver.

A Million in Smelters.

If you would make it a three days trip go down from Robson to the smelters at Trail. These mammoth smelters are in themselves worth over a million dollars. The C. P. R., which controls them, have yearly added to and improved this plant that it might be made of sufficient capacity to do this great work here—the reduction of British Columbia ores within her own limits. This is and has been the aim of the C.P.R. For some years British Columbia ores were being sent to the smelters over the border, and now that the C.P.R. has largely prevented this, American railroads are seeking entrance into this province to carry the ores out. The Great Northern already has three or four branch lines in British Columbia, and this threatened danger of the province losing even a part of this great industry is regrettable. It rests with the British Columbia Legislature to guard her own and declare that the ores mined in British Columbia shall be smelted within the limits of the province—a measure similar to the Ontario act which puts a stop to Americans taking Ontario logs over the border to turn into lumber and compelled their manufacture in Ontario.

King's Priseman a Good Citizen.

A keen eye, a steady hand, absolute control of oneself, and a readiness to calculate upon the allowances which must be made for even the slightest changes in the weather, are essential to all good marksmen. In a contest like the King's Prize more than ordinary staying qualities are also necessary. The strain of such a struggle is of itself a great drain upon a man's physical powers. Private Perry could not have won if he had not been in good condition, and without knowing him personally one could safely assert that because he is a fine marksman he is a good citizens; it is invariably the case, says The Globe. The Prince and Princess of Wales spoke gracious words to him when he received the prize from the hands of her Royal Highness, and Lord Roberts added his congratulations to theirs. Canada echoes their sentiments. Ontario and the east are as proud of the achievements of Private Perry, who is a former Torontonian and learned to shoot while a member of the Royal Grenadiers, as is his adopted city of Vancouver, and while he will there, no doubt, receive the most tangible proof of that feeling, all Canada will echo the cry, "Well done, Perry."

War Office Plans.

In the war of 1812 the British War Office in London was at considerable pains to make plans for supplying fresh water to the ships upon Lake Erie, supposing the water of the lake to be salt.

Which Eye Is Stronger?

Here is a little test for your eyes that will soon show you which of them is the stronger. Place an object about two inches in diameter on a level with your eyes and move back from it about ten feet. Then point to it and take sight along the top of your pointing finger until the object and the tip of your finger are exactly in a line with the eye from which you are sighting. Next open the other eye and see if the object seems to have moved from the straight line. If it has not moved to one side apparently, the eye with which you first looked is the stronger, as the addition of the other's vision does not change the focus. If the object seems to have moved, it proves that the other eye is the stronger, the difference being measured by the distance that the object appears to have moved.

Try sighting with both eyes open first. Then look with first one eye and then the other and see how far out of line each makes the object appear. The one that is farthest out of line is the weaker eye.

Bumps on the Head.

The lump raised by a blow on the head is due to the resistance offered by the hard skull and its close connection with the movable elastic scalp by many circumscribed bands of connective tissue.

The result of a blow, when the scalp is not cut, is the bruising and laceration of many of the small blood vessels or capillaries. Blood or its fluid constituent, serum, is poured into the meshes of the surrounding connective tissue, which is delicate, spongy, distensible and cellular, and the well known bump or lump is quickly formed. This cannot push inward at all and naturally takes the line of least resistance. Similar lumps may be formed on the shin in exactly the same way, for the shin bone also is covered only by skin and subcutaneous connective tissue.

The Largest Cities of Antiquity.

The greatest cities of ancient times were Babylon and Rome. The former is said to have had an area of 100 to 200 square miles. Its houses were three or four stories high, but palaces and gardens occupied much of the vast area, so that the population was not what these figures would seem to indicate. In fact, it is said by one historian that nine-tenths of this area was taken up by gardens and orcherds. The total population of the city under Nebuchadnezzar and his son Evil Merodach is estimated at upward of 2,000,000. Rome reached its greatest size during the fourth century of our era, and its population was then about 4,500,000.

TO STEADY STEAMSHIPS.

Ingenious Scheme to Save Travelers From Seasickness.

To lessen the rolling of steamships in a sea an interesting device has been designed by Herr Otto Schlick, a German naval architect, and consists of installing a rapidly rotating fly wheel in the hold of the vessel. This involves making use of the principle of the gyroscope familiar in the toy sometimes known as the Archimedean top, where a fly wheel whose weight is concentrated near its circumference is mounted in gimbals so that it is free to rotate in any plane.

Herr Schlick proposes to mount a fly wheel carried on a vertical axis in a frame which is suspended on a horizontal axis tranverse to the length of the vessel, the whole mechanism being placed at the bottom of the hold. To rotate the fly wheel with the necessary high speed electric motors or steam turbines would be employed. There would be hydraulic brakes and band brakes to restrain and regulate the motion of the fly wheel when necessary.

The effect of the rapidly rotating fly wheel is to develop forces that would oppose the oscillation of the vessel, making it slower and reducing its extent materially. An elaborate calculation was made of the size and weights of such a fly wheel, and Herr Schlick has ascertained that for a steamer of 6,000 metric tons (5,905.5 English tons) a fly wheel four meters (15.12 feet) in diameter, weighing ten metric tons (9.842 English tons) and moving with a peripheral velocity of 300 meters (656 feet) per second would have a most marked effect.

Free Employment Agencies.

The establishment of free public employment agencies, either carried on by the state or the city, has been tried all over Europe, in most cases with marked success. France was the country to begin the innovation, and that the new system has proved satisfactory may be judged by the fact that a law was recently passed to do away with paying employment agencies and providing for the establishment of mutual and free public agencies throughout the nation.

In many of the United States free agencies have been established in connection with the State Labor Bureau, with branches in the most important cities. In other instances municipalities themselves have established the agencies, while in still other instances organizations like the Salvation Army and various charitable institutions have successfully conducted free employment bureaus.

THE NORTHERN LIGHTS.

Quivering gently aloft, with radiance soft,
Set free by the strong Hand of Might,
Adorning the earth with the charm of their birth,
And enriching the splendor of night.

They come trembllngly forth from their home in the north,
With glittering brilliance and show;
Wrought by the immortal, they cover the portal
Of the Heav'nly Gate with their glow.

Flashing hither and thither the while that they quiver,
Their streams of gold are set free;
Now softly they're gleaming, their mystical beaming
Has e'en cast its glamor on me.

Again they are flashing, and swiftly they're dashing
Across the blue dome of the sky,
Then quickly retiring, leave Nature admiring
The work of Jehovah on high.

Curious Contest For a Bride in Tibet.

Among some of the wilder Tibetan tribes in the Koko-nor there is a curious marriage ceremonial function. This consists in placing the girl, on her wedding morn, in the upper part of a tree, while her male relatives remain on the lower limbs, or else in the back part of her father's tent or hut, while these same relatives guard the entrance, in each case the latter being armed with lolo thorn sticks.

The groom, when these preparations have been completed, rides up and announces his intention of seising the bride. This requires fortitude, for the relatives beat him unmercifully when he attempts to reach the woman. If he manages to elude his assailants and touch the toe of the woman she is his, he is welcomed into the family and complimented on his ardor. Should he fail he suffers not only the inconvenience of being wifeless, but the loss of cattle and other presents given during the negotiations. By the sale of a girl to one man, however, the father does not relinquish his claims upon her, but may sell her to other suitors who come afterward, until she may have half a dozen husbands.

MINOR PARTIES IN U.S.

NOMINEES OF THE PROHIBITIONISTS, POPULISTS AND SOCIALISTS.

"The Fighting Parson" of Pennsylvania, Who Leads the Prohibitionists—An Incident in the Career of Thomas E. Watson, Nominee of the People's Party—Eugene V. Debs, Whom the Socialists Have Nominated for President.

Besides the Presidential tickets of the Republican and Democratic parties in the United States there are now in the field those of the Prohibition, Socialist and People's parties. Each of these minor parties has named to head its ticket a man conspicuously identified with its policy.

The nominee of the Prohibition party for President, Rev. Dr. Silas Comfort Swallow of Pennsylvania, is a Methodist clergyman prominent in his denomination. He was born at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1839, is the editor of The Pennsylvania Methodist and won attention as a reformer through attacking in his paper alleged abuses in the State Government. In 1897 he was nominated for State Treasurer of Pennsylvania and in 1898 for Governor, receiving 182,000 votes for that office.

Dr. Swallow has been known for some years as "the fighting parson." Even when he was a very young man he showed that he had not only ideas of his own, but the courage of his convictions. He was an ardent abolitionist, and during the first years of the Civil war there was a certain place on his route as a Methodist circuit rider where he found the people so incensed at President Lincoln's course in respect to slavery that he was advised not to pray for the Chief Magistrate.

REV. SILAS C. SWALLOW.

Swallow resolved to disregard the advice, with the result that on his return to the church a few Sundays later he found the doors locked. Mounting a stump near by he began to sing. He had a congregation of two for prayer. Curiosity brought his enemies from the woods where they were watching him, and by sermon time he had the largest audience to which he had ever preached in that vicinity.

Thomas Edward Watson, nominee of the People's party for President, was born in Columbia County, Ga., Sept. 5, 1856. He contended with poverty in obtaining an education, was admitted to the bar and made a small fortune in practice of law. He was sent to the Georgia Legislature for several terms and afterward to Congress.

This was in 1890, and he was elected as a Democrat, but joined the Farmers' Alliance movement, a course that brought him into conflict with his colleagues of Democratic faith in the House of Representatives. It was in this connection that he immortalized the now historic phrase, "Where was I at?" In a campaign book issued for circulation by the People's party he charged Congressman Cobb of Alabama with making use of this language when addressing the Speaker of the House while in a maudlin condition. The controversy over the question of Representative Cobb's sobriety on this occasion is now famous. Watson made unsuccessful contests for re-election to Congress as a Populist in 1892 and 1894. He was nominated for Vice-President by the People's party in 1896, the ticket being headed by William J. Bryan. For the past few years he has devoted himself to literature and has written a historical work entitled "The Story of France," which is most original and unconventional in style. Ancient history is told with verve and dash.

EUGENE V. DEBS.

Eugene Victor Debs, nominee of the Socialist party for President, is known as a labor organizer and lecturer. He was born at Terre Haute, Ind., in 1855. He worked when a young man as locomotive fireman and as a clerk. For several years he was city clerk of Terre Haute and in 1885 was a member of the Indiana Legislature. He has been prominent in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and in the American Railway Union.

When a woman gives up it is because she has gone to the utmost limit of strength and endurance. It is a marvel how women will stagger on under the daily household burdens when the whole body is racked with pain.

For the nervous, run-down condition which so many women experience, as a result of overstrain in household cares, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the weak stomach by curing diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood of poisons which cause rheumatism and other painful diseases. It nourishes the nerves, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for weakness, nervousness and debility.

"I want the whole world to know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Helen Hardgrove, of Bangs, Knox Co., O., "I had many of the ills of woman's life. My lungs and throat troubled me besides, and I had rheumatism. About a year ago I had to give up work I was so bad. I had heard so much about your medicine I thought I would try it. I took four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and by the time I had taken half of the first bottle I began to gain, and kept on getting better. And now I have no more of my old ailments and am entirely cured of rheumatism. I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE OLD AGE MICROBE.

Dr. Metchnikoff Has Found It and Is Looking For an Antidote—Lo. is to Stop Old Age.

Dr. Metchnikoff, the bacteriologist of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, has discovered the microbe of old age. He did not make this statement in so many words, but that is what his theory comes to. He expounded it at a scientific lecture on the subject of "Senility." "What is old age?" the lecturer asked. He dismissed the theory that senile decrepitude power in the cells of the organism, pointing out that, on the contrary, certain cells, such as those of the hair, often display greater activity in old age.

The professor proceeded to prove that senility is a microbian infection. It is well-known that microbes are far from being all inimical to the human body. We could not, in fact, live without the good offices of the beneficial bacteria, called "macrophagi," which spend their own existences fighting the unfriendly microbes and thus prolong our days. But it now seems that the good microbe turns Turk after we have reached a certain age, and the discovery of that fact is the foundation of Dr. Metchnikoff's theory. The macrophagi in question, after helping us to live, compass our downfall and death. Perhaps because they themselves decay they spread a slow infection in our system which produces senile decrepitude.

The favorite residence of the macrophagi in human beings is the great intestine. Birds, in whose systems the latter organ is reduced to its smallest expression, live much longer than mammals. A radical remedy for the microbian malady of old age would be the removal of the great intestine. Failing that method, to which there are obvious drawbacks, in the present state of science at all events, Dr. Metchnikoff recommends treatment by certain foods, such as curdled milk, which will introduce into the system bacteria counteracting what he calls "our intestinal flora."

On the other hand, raw fruit and vegetables multiply the flora iniquestion rapidly. However, the only real antidote to old age will be an artificially manufactured serum which will act directly on the microbes of senility. Dr. Metchnikoff is engaged on researches to discover such a serum. When he finds it he leads us to expect not eternal youth perhaps, but at least a ripe old age, and only prolonged far beyond the present span of man's existence, but free to the last of any senile decay.

Iron Plated Ships.

To Napoleon III. belongs the credit of being the first to have ships plated with iron, the first seaworthy craft of this description being the French vessel Gloire, launched in 1860.

Beowulf.

The only manuscript of "Beowulf," the great Anglo-Saxon epic, now extant, is the one from the collection of Sir Robert Cotton, now in the British museum. The poem dates from the middle of the eighth century, and the single existing manuscript is badly charred by a fire through which it passed in 1731.

A Road Mirror.

At Woodbridge, Suffolk, England, where three roads meet at dangerous angles, the urban council has erected a mirror at such an angle that drivers of motor cars and other vehicles can see whether the road is clear.

A Jamaican Delicacy.

One of the choicest delicacies in Jamaica is a huge white worm found in the heart of the cabbage palm. When cooked it tastes like almonds.

Grew Through a Rock.

There is a tree just beyond the New England railway arch on the Middlebury road, in Connecticut, which has grown through a solid rock many tons in weight, making a large fissure, which would require a dynamite explosion to duplicate.

Milk For the Face.

In the middle ages it was considered injurious to the complexion to wash the face with water. Ladies used a few drops of milk and a soft rag to remove any traces of dirt.

London Boroughs.

The county of London includes twenty-nine boroughs or separate towns of from 51,000 to 335,000 inhabitants.

Bankruptcy in Russia.

A merchant in Russia can be declared bankrupt if his liabilities exceed $772 and he has not the ready cash to meet them. He can be arrested, and his detention depends on the will of his creditors.

Irony of Fate.

An English auctioneer was compelled to auction off the furniture of his own household in lieu of a debt.

Ancient Shorthand.

The Abbot Trithemius in the fourteenth century undertook to invent shorthand, but his treatises on the subject were condemned and publicly burned as being filled with diabolical mysteries.

Old Age Statistics.

Only one in 3,000,000 persons will reach the age of 104; just one in 5,000,000 can expect to see 105 birthdays, and as to living to be 106 years old, estimates place that contingency out of the range of practical calculations.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Salt, though not agreeable, will heal any small cuts rapidly. It is an excellent disinfectant.

Plain soda water, taken in moderation, often aids digestion, but soda water with fruit sirups is bad for a weak stomach.

To relieve the pain in a finger that has been mashed or pounded, plunge the injured member into as hot water as the patient can stand.

One-half pint of vinegar, one tablespoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cayenne pepper and one pint of boiling water will cure night sweats. Mix, let cool and strain, and sponge the patient at bedtime.

A very good remedy for relieving earache is to fill a little bag of soft flannel with salt and make this very hot in the oven. Test it against your cheek to make sure it is not too hot, and then apply to the aching ear.

Children's Food.

A healthy, well developed child fifteen months old may be fed soft boiled eggs, well cooked cereals, beef juice, finely minced baked apples, toast and even dried homemade bread, barley gruel and plenty of pure milk and a moderate amount of cream if it agrees with the child. Do not allow the baby to taste harmful foods. The pernicious habit of giving baby "little tastes" of whatever it cries for cannot be too strongly condemned. It results in strife and often in severe illness. If the maid or nurse disobeys in regard to feeding the baby, she is not fit to have the care of a child. Better take this part of the work in your own hands and thus know what your baby eats.

Cicero's Books.

Cicero was the greatest book collector of antiquity. One of his letters is extant in which he urges Atticus, a learned friend, who was compelled from poverty to sell his library at auction, not to dispose of the books at public sale, but to keep them until the writer was able to purchase them.

Swimming.

An Austrian physician, Dr. F. Mueller, has made experiments which demonstrate that swimming is harder work than mountain climbing.

Belgium's Waterways.

The total length of the navigable waterways of Belgium amounts to 1,360 miles. As the total area of the country is 11,373 square miles there is one mile of waterway to every eight and one-half square miles of territory. Eighty-five per cent of the navigable waterways is under the control of the state.

The Eyes.

The eyes should be distant from each other exactly the breadth of an eye. A greater distance, according to an authority, indicates stupidity; a less, low cunning.

Fish as Food.

Food experts say that fish is no more useful as a brain food than cabbage or roast beef. They admit, however, that it is easier to digest and assimilate than meat, and this fact doubtless explains the preference which brain workers have manifested for such food.

Voiceless Animals.

Whales and serpents are voiceless; so also are the porcupine, the armadillo and the giraffe.

An Odd Sign.

A sign which is not infrequently seen over the doors of shops and restaurants in Paris which are undergoing repairs and refurnishing is the following: "Closed on Account of Renoaning."

CANADA'S CANOE CHAMPION.

Some Facts About the Remarkable Feats of "Reggie" Blomfield and the Races Won by Him.

The Toronto News has an article referring to the success of a former Peterborough boy, Mr. Reg. Blomfield, who has recently distinguished himself as a canoeist. The News says:

Members of the Toronto Canoe Club swear by "Reggie" Blomfield, and very properly so, for what Reggie Blomfield does not know about a canoe, and what he cannot do with it, is not worth knowing or doing. If it were not that so many persons of known veracity and rectitude could be called up at a moment's notice to support the statements with their solemn affidavits as witnesses, one would hardly venture to relate some of the things that Blomfield will do in a canoe.

WON'T BRAG.

It is no use trying to get Reggie Blomfield to talk about his feats himself. He is one of those incurably modest fellows who simply won't talk about his prowess. If you want to hear his praises, you must buttonhole one of the experienced members of the Canoe Club, and softly whisper "Blomfield" in his ear. Then he will start right off, and keep going till further orders. A News reporter thus held up Mr. H. Fisher, one of the most enthusiastic members of the Canoe Club.

"Blomfield," said The News reporter, in an insinuating tone.

"Blomfield!" answered Mr. Fisher, coming up at once to the bait. "He's the best man we have. He made another record down at Sugar Island. There's nobody like Blomfield in a canoe."

IN THE FERRY'S WAKE.

Persons who cross Toronto Bay to indulge in the wild festivities at Hanlan's Point and other haunts of giddiness upon the Island have by now become accustomed to the strange spectacle of a canoeist, poised deftly on the second swell of the steam ferry's oily wake, flying along after the ferry without stroke of paddle, and thus without effort gliding clean across the Bay from shore to shore. "Isn't it cute?" say the people on the ferry. Reggie Blomfield was the first to introduce this particular form of trick canoeing on the Bay, where it has since become highly popular. There are now several members of the Canoe Club who can do it quite well.

TURNING THE "FLIP."

But mere common or garden ferry-chasing no longer attracts Blomfield. "I believe I could turn a flip in the swell," he one day confided to a club companion.

"No you can't. Don't be silly," said the club companion.

"Yes I can," said Reggie Blomfield. "Flip-turning," it should be explained for the benefit of the uninitiated, is an art which in still water might call forth the utmost skill of the expert canoeist. The "flip" is another specialty invented—or at any rate introduced to Toronto — by Blomfield.

What happens is this: The canoeist puts a foot on one gunwale of his light craft, a hand on the other, and with a sudden spring throws himself and canoe into the air, so as to turn a kind of summersault. The canoe makes a complete revolution, coming down right way up in the water. The canoeist douses in the "drink," but almost at the same moment as his canoe touches the water again he has grasped her on the other side and sprung back to his place. This startling feat Blomfield can perform in the record time of 2 2-5 seconds. And if you don't believe it, you can go to the Canoe Club and ask the fellows there.

Obviously, to turn a "flip" in the ferryboat's wake is therefore an evolution of considerable delicacy. Blomfield went one way, and his canoe went the other. Of course "Reggie" is a first-class swimmer, and he soon rejoined his friend, the canoe, and lay in wait for the next ferry-boat. When it came along, he got on the swell, gave another jump, and performed as neat and successful a "flip" as in quiet water. Great applause at the Canoe Club.

Emulating the "flipping" propensities, of their champion, the club now has quite a little group of "flippers." These include R. Moody, F. Finley, T. Lewis, and T. Temple. But none of them can come near the "only original" Blomfield, emptying the canoe

Another feat of Blomfield's is emptying his canoe. Of course anybody can empty a canoe, but it is not everybody who can swim around in the water, and taking hold of a swamped canoe, give it a couple of deft shakes from side to side, empty the whole of the water from it, and be peacefully seated inside it within four or five seconds.

BUT THIS "TAKES THE CAKE."

But the latest masterpiece of Blomfield has as yet no name and no imitators. His "properties" for this trick are a canoe and a short rope fast to one end. Holding the rope in his hands, Blomfield stands on the decked-in part at the other end of the canoe, and so sinks her into the water, peak foremost, so that she goes down with him almost perpendicularly. About twenty feet of water is required for this operation. When the end of the canoe touches bottom, Blomfield gives a little spring upwards, and takes hold of the canoe's gunwales with his hands. She shoots straight up, sending her upper end high out of the water, until nothing but the decked in part of the lower end contains any more water. Then she gently drops flat on the surface of the water, right side up, with Blomfield safely inside her.

EMPTYING THE CANOE.

Not only is "Reggie" Canada's crack canoeist, but his comrades at the club do not tire of saying what a downright good fellow he is. He is a thorough "sport." At the club regatta last Saturday, for example, he was set to "tilt" against T. Temple, another expert of the club. The two had never encountered each other before, and both wanted to see which would win. Blomfield scored three points over the other man by making him touch his canoe, or drop on a knee, and the umpire told him he had won. But this would not do for him. He insisted on going on till one of the pair should knock the other clean into the water, which he eventually succeeded in doing to his friend.

Besides the "fancy" canoeing above described, Blomfield has done a good deal of solid canoe work in connection with surveying in the wild district round James Bay.

"He beats any Indian I ever saw," is Mr. Fisher's summary of his prowess.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Particulars of the grounds of the petitions to unseat two members of the Legislature, Messrs. A. A. Mahaffy, Conservative, Muskoka, and John Brown, Liberal, North Perth, were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The trials of these petitions begin Sept. 6th, Muskoka at Bracebridge, and North Perth at Stratford. There are in all eight petitions pending, and the particulars in the other six cases are required to be filed a fortnight before the dates set for trial, which are:

Sault Ste. Marie, against O. N. Smith, Liberal, at Sault Ste. Marie, Tuesday, Sept. 13th.

North Grey, against A. G. MacKay, Liberal, at Owen Sound, Tuesday, Sept. 13th.

Centre Bruce, against Hugh Clark, Conservative, at Walkerton, Tuesday, Sept. 20th.

North York, against Hon. E. J. Davis, Liberal, at Newmarket, Tuesday, Sept. 20th.

North Norfolk, against A. Little, Liberal, at Simcoe, Tuesday, Sept. 27th.

Petition Against Mr. Mahaffy.

Dr. Hart's petition against A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P., charges Mr. Mahaffy with having, through Newton Langford of the Township of Ridout, fraudulently, by the use of threats of force, violence and restraint, and of the infliction of injury and damage, intimidated Michael Cassidy, a lumberman, in order to induce or to compel him to refrain from voting, and that he did prevent the exercise of the franchise.

The respondent is accused of having, through T. H. Lennox of Aurora, the Conservative candidate against Hon. E. J. Davis in the last two elections, offered money to voters and obtained from them drink and refreshment corruptly.

It is charged that the respondent, either personally or by and through Samuel Hurling of Medora, did illegally furnish liquor within the limits of the polling sub-divisions for corrupt purposes.

T. W. H. Leavitt of Toronto, and the respondent, are charged with having distributed a large sum of money received from outside the polling division for corrupting the electorate.

The Purity Fund.

Charge No. 117 reads: "Some time prior to said polling day, Oct. 27, 1903, J. P. Whitney, M.P.P., leader of the Conservative party in the Province of Ontario; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M.P.P., E. B. Osler, M.P., Dr. Pyne, M.P.P., E. B. Ryckman, J. W. Flavelle, all of the City of Toronto, and other persons, whose names are at present unknown to the petitioners, being members of a political association or organization, corruptly and illegally contributed and raised a fund or sum of money under the guise of a 'purity fund,' for the purpose of assisting and promoting the election of the respondent by corrupt and illegal means, and did give and furnish to the respondent and his agents a large sum of money to be corruptly and illegally expended by the respondent and his agents in order to induce voters whose names have been mentioned, and others whose names are at present unknown to the petitioners, to vote for the respondent, or to refrain from voting at the said election."

Brought in Strangers.

The final paragraph of the particulars charges that R. L. Joynt, M. P.P.; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M.P.P.; R. R. Gamey, M.P.P.; Donald Sutherland, M.P.P.; Edward Little, M.P. P.; Dr. Pyne, M.P.P.; M. D. Morrison, M.P.P.; W. H. Bennett, M.P.; T. H. Lennox, and J. D. Cotes, all agents of the respondent, and a large number of those persons whose names are at present unknown to the petitioners, expended the funds by bringing into the electoral district strangers whom they had hired for corrupt purposes, and to prevent the free exercise of the franchise.

North Perth Particulars.

In the North Perth case the particulars, which include 125 charges, were filed by Jas. Baird, acting for John C. Monteith, the defeated candidate and petitioner, against John Brown, the sitting member. Among the charges are these:

"Within one week of the election, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and James Vance, Liberal organizer, held a meeting at the Grand Central Hotel, Listowel, at which were present John A. Hacking, Francis W. Hay, William Climie, John H. Macdonald, P. J. Livingstone, J. N. Hay and others. All were told that the money wherewith to win the election had arrived, and Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Vance distributed among those present a large sum of money."

The Culleton Charge.

"During the said election, or shortly before it, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Hon. G. W. Ross, agents of the respondent, sent Edward Culleton of Toronto, baker, to Stratford to assist in the election. Mr. Culleton was instructed by Hon. Mr. Stratton and Premier Ross to call upon R. T. Harding, an agent of the respondent, and that the said Mr. Harding would instruct him what to do. Mr. Culleton received from him, the said Harding, or some other agent of the respondent, a large sum of money to be used in bribing, treating and corruptly influencing voters. The said Culleton did so spend a large sum.

The Buffalo Charge.

"Shortly before the polling day the respondent either personally or by and through Capt. John Sullivan and James Vance, Liberal organizers for Ontario, and other members of the Liberal Association of Ontario entered into an agreement with James T. Nelson of Buffalo, by which he was to supply men who were to go into the electoral district of North Perth to personate voters, spend money and do other corrupt acts.

"The said James T. Nelson, Leon J. Mulloy, John Freeman, James Haskitt, Frank Gallagher, William Bain, Michael Crosby, F. Schley and John McCarthy did go into the electoral district, and in connection with R. T. Harding, barrister, Stratford; W. M. O'Beirne, publisher, and others, agent of the respondent, did give, lend or promise money or valuable consideration to James Campbell, Donald Campbell and George Schwoob, all of Stratford, voters in the riding, to induce them to vote for the respondent or to refrain from voting."

Charge 37 alleges that liquor was stored in Alexander Easson's barn, and that he was provided with money for corrupt purposes.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Inc'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, Tuesday evening, August 23.—SS pfd sold above 40 to-day. It will ultimately sell above 50 but may have a set back first. Hold on to it Kt pfd sold at 47 buy it near 45. Buy lead around 23, it will sell above 30 soon. S.P. ought to go to 63 1-3 on this move. Considering yesterday's sharp advance, to-day's reaction was very moderate indeed. Nor will the reaction go much if any further until a much higher level has been established. Upon any further weakness to-morrow morning we strongly urge you to buy St. Paul, S.P., U.P., Mop., P.A., BO, N & W, Ca and Rdg, Tex, Ill C, A.C.P., RI, USQ, Wab. pfd, the tractions, Con Gas, So, Ry. etc. The advance should be resumed to-morrow and the market will boil during the next two weeks. It will be harvest time for the bulls. Hold everything till we tell you to take profits. May Wheat ought to react further. Oct. Cotton sold at 10.54 to-day an advance of nearly 60 points since last night. This is the price we predicted ever since it was 9.60. You should have sold it above 10.50 as per previous advices.

Liverpool opening, wheat 1-4 lower; corn 1-2 higher.

We look for another irregular market to-day in continuation of the programme of a trading market in which the standard active issues as a whole should be bought when sold. The market is more divided than it has been corresponding with sentiment which is largely the governing factor although it is evident that the large interests are under the market. There is a shake out contemplated in Met., St. Ry., whether it is put into execution or not is another thing, but if it breaks the support at 121 we would anticipate a severe drop. A.C.P. ought to be bought on breaks. If St. P. forces its way through the 182 offerings it should go to near 186. We cannot become bearish on U.S.Q., there are bull tips out on S.R.—Town Topics.

Our show rooms are open. You can view the winter's styles. They are all here. Orders are taken based on the styles we show. It's worth a look at any rate, even if you do not buy, and you are never pressed to do so. All we know about Furs is at your service.

The Golden Lion a Busy Store Even in August

It's part of our creed to "keep everlastingly at it" and to keep the business constantly in evidence, regardless of extreme heat or extreme cold.

Constantly increasing business talks—and talks loud—for a store. No argument is necessary to prove that our store is giving satisfaction—in measure full heaped and running over—to the people of the town and county of Peterborough and surrounding townships, other than to point to the continually larger number of ladies who are making it their shopping place.

A store's success has to be merited, as our's has been. It must give a little better goods, a little better value, have a little newer styles, or give a little fairer treatment than the others.

If we have not had these "little betters" our trade would not have increased to the extent it has over this time last year.

Figures cannot deceive you. Test this store's ability to serve you.

THE LAST OF SUMMER FABRICS AND GARMENTS

have been stood up in a row and made to take their medicine, in the shape of rigid reductions from the old prices.

The store is in the midst of Fall now and Summer goods are unwelcome, so they have all been given "move out" prices.

FINAL ASSAULT NOW BEING MADE

Japanese Guns Sweeping Port Arthur's Defences.

PREPARING TO CELEBRATE

Tokio Inhabitants Decorating the Streets and Houses in Anticipation of Victory—Expectation that the Losses will be Greatly Increased Before Fall—Russia Orders Askold's Disarmament.

Tokio, Aug. 25.—Two Russian torpedo boat destroyers struck mines at the entrance of Port Arthur last evening, the larger one of the destroyers, a four funnelled one was sunk. The names of the vessels and the number of lives lost are unknown.

Paris, Aug. 25.—An official despatch from Shanghai says the Russian Consul has notified the Tsota that the Askold and Grozovoi have been disarmed.

Tokio, Aug. 25.—The final assault on Port Arthur is imminent. Hundreds of Japanese guns continue to pour a destructive fire into the city and harbor along the lines of forts and entrenchments, preparatory for the infantry assault.

It is evident that the Russian lines have been weakened and partly penetrated in the vicinity of Autzshan Itzshan forts.

The entire line of Russian defences immediately about the harbor is within range of the Japanese guns. A number of Russian forts and batteries countinue to be vigorously defended. The Japanese death roll will be heavily increased before they are captured.

Final Stand at Liaotishan.

The direction of Japanese attack creates the impression here that the city and defences on either side of the harbor entrance will fall first. The final stand will be made at Liaotishan.

It is believed here that both sides have suffered heavy losses, and that the final record will make the siege the bloodiest since Sedan.

The Japanese are supremely confident of the ultimate result. The leaders of the Government await the outcome in calm assurance.

The people are everywhere decorating the streets and houses and erecting arches and dagotzis in preparation for a national celebration of the expected victory.

If Etesshan Is Gone Position Critical.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—Reports from foreign sources represent that the Japanese assault at Port Arthur has become exhausted. Others claim that they captured the Etesshan Fort, on the western line of the defences.

If this position has been occupied, it is realized that unless the Japanese are at once dislodged the chain of forts will be breached and the position of Port Arthur rendered critical.

The simple fact that the day to which a large portion of the public looked forward to with superstitious dread passed without the fall of the fortress, suddenly encourages the popular hope that the christening of the Czarevitch will make a turn in the tide.

Golden Hill Silenced.

Che Foo, Aug. 25.—Information of undoubted authenticity states that the Japanese armored cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga have bombarded and silenced the Russian forts east of Golden Hill, at the entrance of Port Arthur.

WARSHIPS DISARM.

Askold and Grozovoi May Now Stay at Shanghai.

London, Aug. 25.—The correspondent of The Times at Shanghai, in a despatch dated August 24, 11.35 p. m., says that orders from Emperor Nicholas have been conveyed to Capt. Reitzenstein, commanding him forthwith to disarm the cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, and that the flags on both vessels were lowered at 7 o'clock to-night.

Sebastopol's Bows Submerged.

London, Aug. 25.—A telegram from Tokio to the Japanese Legation says the Russian battleship Sebastopol was bombarding the Japanese land position Tuesday from outside the harbor at Port Arthur when she struck a mine. Besides a list to starboard, the battleship's bows were submerged.

Outward Bound.

Nyborg, Denmark, Aug. 25.—A large steamer flying the Russian naval flag passed through the great belt yesterday, outward bound.

THE CHRONICLE'S IDEA.

Would Like the Views of the Canadian Woolen Manufacturers.

London, Aug. 25.—(C.A.P.)—The Daily Chronicle says it would be interesting to have the views of the Canadian woollen manufacturers on Mr. Chamberlain's preferential scheme. The Canadian farmer may be willing enough to reverse the policy of high protection in return for a preference, but the Canadian manufacturer is a confirmed protectionist.

CZAREVITCH CRIED LOUDLY

Happy Omen at the Christening of Alexis Nicholavitch.

CZAR WREATHED IN SMILES

Impressive Ceremony at the Peterhof Palace at St. Petersburg—Cossacks of the Don Escorted the Royal Child—Salutes From Guns and Chimes From Church Bells Announced the Conclusion.

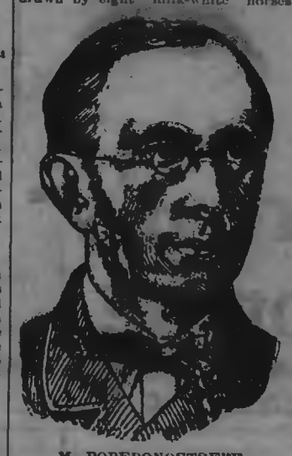
St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The christening occurred at the church of the Peterhof Palace with imposing ceremony. The Empress left her bed Tuesday for the first time since the birth of her son. Both she and the infant are in excellent health. The heir weighs about ten and one-half pounds.

Within the royal port of the Peterhof Palace, from the moment the cortege issued from the gates of the Alexandra Villa to the instant the glasses were clinked around the Imperial table in the great palace, the scene was one of magnificence and brilliancy almost touching the barbaric.

Over perfect roads, beneath stately overhanging trees, the procession moved through the royal park, a beautifully composed, slowly changing picture, perfect to its smallest detail.

The Guard of Honor.

The centre of interest of course was the golden State carriage, drawn by eight milk-white horses,



M. POBEDONOSTSEFF.
Procurator-General of the Holy Synod.

with out-riders and walking grooms, in which sat the Princess Galatzin, mistress of the Empress' household, with the Imperial heir. At the door of the coach on one side rode the grand equerry of the court, Lieut.-Gen. De Grunwaldw, and on the other side the commander of the household troops, Lieut.-Gen. Hesse, both superbly mounted and uniformed, like glittering equestrian statues. Following the coach came an armed escort, with poised lances, of the famous Blue Cossacks of the Don, of which the baby is now commander-in-chief.

The procession passed through the palace to the church. There was another picture in the waiting rooms.

The Czar Happy.

The Emperor, his face wreathed in smiles, and the Dowager Empress, led the procession, followed by the other members of the Imperial family, the grand dukes and grand duchesses in the order of their rank, the baby bringing up the rear, the youngest of all. His Majesty was met at the door of the church by the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg with a raised cross. But here the Emperor retired, as the rules of the church give him no place in the ceremony, in which the baby was presented by his spiritual parents to the Heavenly Father.

Inside the chapel were assembled M. Pobedonostseff, Procurator-General of the Holy Synod, and the members of the Holy Synod, the diplomatic corps and Imperial guests from every court in Europe.

The Ceremony Itself.

The christening party gathered at the jewel-crusted font. The baby was carried by Princess Galatzin, and the cushion on which it was borne was supported by Gen. Reichter and Prince Dolgorouki, aides-de-camp to the Emperor. The sponsors represented an Emperor and an Empress, two kings, one princess and four grand duchesses. The baby was so shrouded in filmy lace, dainty flannels and a purple silk overmantle that it was almost impossible to distinguish the form that lay so still and quiet as the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg anointed its hands, breast and forehead with the mystical holy oil, compounded for the purpose in solemn secrecy in the Kremlin. But when the moment came to complete the immersion in the warm water of the font, the royal infant showed its humanity by a lusty yell, which echoed through the chapel and was greeted by a murmur of amusement and approval as being a sign of luck and good augury for the future.

The Te Deum, melodiously chanted by a hidden choir, was the signal to the bells overhead, which swung clamorously, while the royal yacht, off the shore of the gulf, thundered a salute of 301 guns. The signal was taken up at Cronstadt and St. Petersburg, and Moscow's 500 bells chimed while the guns of the Kremlin rolled.

As the message sped forth from the forts to the town the Emperor left the chapel and mass was celebrated. During the singing of the psalm His Majesty conferred on the heir the cross of St. Andrew and tenderly draped the distinguishing ribbon around the baby's shoulders.

Congratulations were pressed on the father through the crowded length of the salons where the baby passed, now the head of the royal party, next in rank to the Emperor himself.

Breakfast in the Palace completed the ceremony.

Decorations Conferred.

An Imperial autograph letter was published yesterday making a number of promotions and conferring decorations on the occasion of the baptism of the heir to the throne, including the bestowal on M. TEA AND CONCERT AT HALL'S GLEN CHURCH.

All Saints' Choir Supplied a Splendid Programme Last Evening.

The annual tea and concert of the Hall's Glen Church was held last evening and was in every respect a most successful event. There was a very large crowd present including several 'bus loads from Peterborough and many of the Stony Lake cottagers and campers. The tea was, of course, all that could be desired and the concert given by the All Saint's choir was splendid. The chair was occupied by Mr. Kaaf of Toronto, and the pastor, Rev. Mr. Batisby, was also on the platform.

The programme opened with a chorus "Break Forth into Joy" by the choir, and was followed by a solo "Always," by Miss M. Elliott. A comic duet by Messrs. Bert Cranfield and Bruce Rickey was well received, as was the solo and chorus, "Always in the Way," by Miss Mabel Rickey and the choir. Miss E. Free gave an enjoyable reading "The Bootblack in Church," followed by a solo "Tic-Tak-Too" by the popular young tenor, Mr. J. Legg. A comic song by Mr. E. Coleman concluded the first part.

The second part of the programme was opened with a chorus, "King of Kings," by the choir, followed by a musical sketch by Messrs. B. Cranfield, B. Tovey, B. Peters and E. Patterson. A duet by Miss Mabel Rickey and Mr. Bruce Rickey was the next number and was followed a solo by Mrs. Reid. A reading by Miss Free, songs by Mr. E. Crowe and Mr. B. Rickey concluded a very enjoyable programme.

The affair was in every way a great success and a handsome sum was realized.

FLORODORA CLUB'S SUCCESSFUL MOONLIGHT

Trip Down the River Last Evening was Very Enjoyable.

The Florodora Social Club of the C.G.E. Company ran one of the most successful moonlight excursions of the season down the river last evening. The weather was delightful for the trip, and it was a moonlight with a moon. The City of Peterborough and a large scow conveyed the pleasure seekers about the lake and river and the 57th Band was present to supply the music for those desiring to trip the light fantastic. The evening was in every way very enjoyable for the large number which attended, there being about two hundred and fifty on board.

The Sunlight way of washing requires little or no rubbing. You should try Sunlight Soap. Will not injure dainty fabrics.

THE REAL ENEMIES OF CANADA

A Conservative journal excuses the employment by its party of the racial cry on the grounds that Laurier is the "very embodiment of the racial cry," because he has a strong support from Quebec. Would it surprise the organ to know—to recollect, rather, for everybody knows it—that Sir Wilfrid Laurier long before he came into office was chosen as Leader of the Liberal party by the English speaking Liberals of the Dominion? He was not chosen on account of his racial origin, but because he was then, as he has been since, and is now, the strongest man in public life, a stalwart Canadian and consistant advocate of British connection. It was the villainious attacks on Sir Wilfrid Laurier because of his nationality by the Conservative organs of the baser sort which contributed to unifying the electors of Quebec and ranging that province on the side of Sir Wilfrid, and the Bourbon element of the Conservative party untaught by adversity is fatuously pursuing a similar course now. Canada is for Canadians, no matter what their racial origin, and the man or newspaper which attempts to trade on racial or religious prejudice is a worse enemy to Canada and Canadian unity and Imperial unity than an armed enemy. We can shoot down the enemy, but having regard to the value of amunition, it would not be advisable to shoot down the internal enemy to national concord, and consequently to national progress. This day is the Scripture fulfilled in our sight—a nation's foes are they of its own household.

LICENSE LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The objection which temperance advocates have been want to bring most prominently against the Ontario license system, that the license law is not properly enforced has very materially lost it force. Under the present head of the license department as is generally recognized, the license law is being vigorously and impartially enforced, an action in the interests of both the respectable portion of those engaged in the traffic as well as in the interests of sobriety. We see very frequently in the newspapers testimony to the active enforcement of the license law which now prevails. The Brantford Expositor of a recent date furnishes this testimony. It says:—

"Rev Dr. Chown, secretary of the Temperance and Moral Reform work of the Methodist Church, is satisfied the present Ontario Government is seeking to enforce uniformly and thoroughly the license legislation of the province. Speaking at Huntsville he told of an incident in Collingwood district. The license law was poorly enforced, said Dr. Chown, and he personally visited the Provincial Secretary, pointing out the desirability of a special officer being appointed to see that the law was more respected. "You name a man of strong personal convictions who can be relied upon to do his duty fearlessly," said Mr. Stratton. "and we'd make the appointment." "I accordingly named the defeated Prohibitionist candidate in the last Provincial election," said Mr. Chown, "and the appointment was made. Down in Blenheim," he continued, "a bitter fight was made between the Prohibitionist and liquor interests over local option, the former winning out. Stress was brought to bear upon the license commissioners and for a time it was feared that licenses would be granted; but a commissioner of doubtful integrity resigned and in his stead was appointed a man upon whom no amount of pressure could be brought to swerve him from the performance of his duty." Dr. Chown also stated that at his suggestion a board of commissioners had been appointed for the Temiskaming district, all of whom were nominated by himself."

Such testimony to the care exercised in giving effect to the law, that the duty represented by such action effectively discharged should satisfy all criticism, except that coming from the rabid opponents and vilifiers of the Government and the Provincial Secretary.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Keep both hands on the Liberal Government.

The Conservative party in regard to leadership adopts Kipling—"Once on a time there was a man."

It is an open question whether the politicial writers of the Mail & Empire, have taken lessons for the Cheefoo romancer or the latter derived his facility in springing contradictory yarns from the journalistic romancer. The newspaper truth-stretchers were, however, in business before the Cheefoo chap bobbed up in the wake of the dogs of war.

The Ottawa City Council took so seriously the proposition to tax bachelors that the matter was referred to a committee to investigate and report. Bachelors may not now be specifically taxed, but many of the hardened sort think their ingenuity is taxed to the utmost to escape the matrimonial snares spread by designing spinsters and widows, to entrap the roving feet of the wifeless man. The silly season must be held responsible for the mental vagaries of corporate bodies. Would it not be just as reasonable to tax old maids as old bachelors? It may be argued that in the latter case, "Barkis is willin' but is conventionally restrained from making matrimonial propositions, while "Peggoty" will be "gormed" before he pops the question.

ONLY ONE SALE AT LINDSAY BOARD.

Victoria County Cheese Board Met on Monday Morning.

(Lindsay Post.)

The Cheese Board met Monday at 9.45, a.m. and adjourned at 10.20, which is something new and somewhat of a pleasant surprise to the buyers. Only one factiry was sold, and then the meeting adjourned for one week, on account of the lack of the half cent on the price. The buyers present were, Messrs. Flavelle, Whitton, Cook, Fitzgerald, Gillespie and Brown.

Before commencing the regular business the President reminded the salesmen that the fees, $1. for each factory, should be paid in. The instructors fees will come later on. The President also stated that they wanted the Dunsford, Star, Bobcaygeon and North Harvey cheese taken at the nearby station and not brought to Lindsay. Give the railroad a show.

Mr. Cook—"Will you guarantee the freight?"

President—"I will guarantee nothing."

Mr. Fitzgerald — "Will you guarantee the shipping?"

The President answered with the same previous remark and said they wonted to sell on those terms today.

Mr. Flavelle started at 8 c. Mr. Cook raising to 8 1-8. Mr. Fitzgerald then made it 8 1-4, after which there was a long pause.

Mr. Whitton then made the bid 8 5-16, Mr. Fitzgerald again making a raise at 8 3-8, but Mr. Whitton, who likes to be on top bid, jumped to 8 7-16 and as there was no further offers he called his "Old Reliable," Red Rock, which accepted, but he met a snag, when he called Resboro, who answered "No, make it 8 1-2." But Mr. Whitton only said "8 3-8 for further selections."

Mr. Arnold—"Well, Mr. President, if we are not going to get 8 1-2 to-day, I move an adjournment of one week."

Salesman Nugent—"I second the motion."

Mr. Whitton was satisfied but said, "No selling between Board," and when he got his answer, the Board adjourned. The following factories and the number of cheese boarded were as follows:—

Star	125
Cameron	116
Mariposa	158
Cambray	67
Omemee	160
North Verulam	130
North Ops.	80
Pine Grove	56
Resboro	119

AN IDEAL ENDING.

A most remarkable circumstance was connected with the death of Robert B. Somerville in Toronto last week. Mr. Somerville was ninety-two and his death was due to a paralytic stroke. At the time the end came it so happened that Mrs. A. W. Peart, of Burlington, Mrs. Young of Selkirk, Manitoba, and Mrs. Moore of Quebec, daughters of the deceased, were on a visit to his home. The funeral, again, which took place on Monday, was the anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Somerville and of the death of his wife. Altogether, death without pain, with three of his family gathered from the four quarters of the Dominion at his bedside, and in the fulness of years, it was an almost ideal ending.

40 CHARGES IN ALL

Particulars of the Cross-Petition in North Perth.

PURCHASING A CANDIDATE

Charge Is Made That Mr. Monteith Was Corruptly Induced to Run For the Legislature—That Purity Fund Again —Swarm of Notable Non-Residents Professional Politicians in the Riding.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—North Perth Liberals yesterday filed their cross-petition, by which it is hoped to disqualify John C. Monteith, the unsuccessful Conservative candidate. There are forty charges in all, and one against Mr. Monteith declares that shortly before the election E. Sydney Smith, K.C., agent of the respondent, entered into a corrupt bargain with A. Miscampbell, E. B. Ryckman, Edmund Bristol, A. W. Wright and others, whereby the respondent was corruptly induced to become a candidate by undertaking to pay his election expenses as well as all his personal exponses out of the "purity fund." On Dec. 31, 1902, the trustees of the fund, paid the respondent $700 on account of the said bargain.

Shortly prior to the election of May, 1902, this fund was raised by a number of prominent Toronto and other Conservatives, among them E. B. Osler, M.P., J. W. Flavelle, W. R. Brock, M.P., J. J. Foy, M.P.P., A. E. Kemp, M.P., E. R. Ryckman. The fund was distributed by E. B. Ryckman, E. B. Osler, M.P., and others to different candidates, and agents of the Conservative party.

After the election a considerable balance, which was used in the bye-election of December, 1902, and Jan. 7, 1903, in North Perth, and was distributed by A. W. Wright, E. Sydney Smith, K.C., A. H. King, Chas. Casson, J. R. Gillis, Jacob Huether, James Sharman, James Steele, J. J. Coughlin, George Close, Fred Corrie, Alex. F. McLaren, M. P., A. H. Monteith, Dr. Monteith, Felix Devlin, Orrie Sebastian, Dr. W. N. Robertson, J. J. Hagarty and others.

Christopher Riley, of Stratford, hostler, was the night before election locked up in a room in the Cabinet Hotel, and there supplied with liquor to keep him in an intoxicated condition.

Outside Workers.

Shortly prior to and on the said day of election the respondent, continues the particulars, by himself and through A. W. Wright, a Conservative organizer, and others, did corruptly induce the following persons to become agents of the respondent: A. W. Wright, A. Miscampbell, J. Downey, Ed. Bristol, Sam Hughes, A. B. Ingram, M.P., Rob Birmingham, E. T. Essery, James Thompson, E. M. Flock, Ed. Weld, A. T. Glass, John Ponsford, L. E. Jones, W. Nichol, Sam Price, Nicol McColl, O. Kearness, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Moir, Captain Money, Jacob Herr, William Thompson, Mr. Walt. Mr. Payne, Mr. Seliger, T. Smith, J. Thepley, W. Hunt, Mr. Perrin, Mr. Johnston, H. Elliott, J. H. Hancock, David Ewing, J. H. Cook, Mr. White, William Robinson, Mr. Perram, Ernest Switzer, Mr. Garrich, Mr. House, Mr. Southcock, L. Plenc, J. Plumb, W. Weidenharmer, R. Howe, George Swallaemer, J. Campbell, Thomas Stevens, John Walker, R. R. Gamey, D. Sutherland, H. J. Spence, A. T. Essery, D. L. Stewart, John Laxton, George Spence, Mr. Spence, Mr. Downs, Mr. Spottes, A. Caswell, L. McNichol, F. Asquith, J. Walsh, Hugh McIntyre, and others, and to come to the city of Stratford, and for weeks prior to the election to engage as canvassers and agents, while knowing that such persons so engaged were nonresidents and professional politicians, and the said agents were paid by the said A. W. Wright, or the respondent, or some other person on their behalf, with funds received out of the said above mentioned corruption fund.

Some of those who are alleged to have received or been promised money are Ed. Poyner, Owen Kunc, Simon Wilfong, R. Ewart, John Cahill, J. Wilson (Listowel, for rigs), Robt. Woods, John F. Rowlings, Wm. Swallwell, jr., the latter of whom was named in the main petition as having been bribed by the Liberals.

The Baby's Troubles.

The greatest suffering of childhood is caused by eczema, scald head, chafing or other forms of skin irritation or eruption. Because of its extraordinary, soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used would think of being without it in the house.

The Gervais' Proposals.

London, Aug. 25.—(C.A P.)—The St. James' Gazette, re the consular system, says the proposals of Gervais, the Canadian M.P., should revive the subject in a quarter where the weakness of the system is most apparent. Gervais suggests that a special British-Canadian consular service would be viewed with suspicion, as this will be by home-keeping Britons. It is apparent the demand does not arise from the idea of one man, but must be taken as expressive of a strong Canadian opinion.

No Substitute Offered.

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when the best remedy for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know it is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. Sold by all druggists.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Killed By Derrick.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—A laborer named Deschamps was killed yesterday by the falling of a derrick at the new court house, St. James street.

Fatal Shooting Accident.

Wapella, N. W. T., Aug. 25.—Mr. Cooley, a lawyer here, whose parents live in Belleville, accidentally shot himself Tuesday and died from the effects yesterday morning.

He was out duck shooting with a youth named Winning. They got separated, and Winning found him later wounded, but conscious.

He had been here only since spring, and was highly respected by all.

Killed at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—John Stainfort, a mortar mixer, fell from the top of the new land title office Tuesday afternoon and was picked up in a mangled condition. He died at the hospital yesterday morning.

Feared He Was Going Crazy.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—W. A. Watt, 145 Booth avenue, is dead from asphyxiation. His wife went to Munro Park for a day's outing; when she returned she was surprised to find the house full of gas, and her husband lying dead on the floor. There was also a note from the deceased, saying that he was going crazy, and that it was the best thing he could do. Watt worked for Robertson Bros., the confectioners. He had been in poor health for the past two years. He had acted strangely for the past two weeks.

Took Overdose of Arsenic.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—At the mines of the Manitoba Union Cement Company at Gypsumville, on Sunday, Charles McDonald, formerly a veteran trader with the Hudson Bay Company, and latterly employed in the mines, committed suicide. McDonald had been despondent for some time owing to domestic troubles, and death resulted from a dose of arsenic which had been self-administered.

WORK OF "BLACK HAND."

An Italian From Toronto Kills a Man For Giving Up Secrets of Society in New York.

New York, Aug. 25.—Salvatore Bossito, eighteen years old, was shot to death in his father's restaurant on Park street by Carlo Rossati, 35 years old, early yesterday, because he had disclosed to the police the secrets of the alleged "Black Hand." The father was knocked down and choked into insensibility by the slayer, who then ran down the street followed by a great mob.

Italians to the number of 1,000 attacked Elizabeth street police station, hurled missiles at the police and prisoner, injuring two detectives and one policeman. They would have killed Rossati had not the police from two stations arrived and used clubs and fists on the mob and threatened to shoot.

According to the police, the murder was deliberately planned by an organized gang, and this gang is alleged to have sent to Toronto for Rossati, who arrived here Tuesday night. After his arrival he was seen about Mulberry Bend with Italians, and because of his immense stature attracted attention.

Bossito is an enemy of these organized gangs, and his son inherited the enmity.

At the police station Rossati said little beyond declaring he shot in self-defence.

In Toronto Three Weeks.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—A prominent Italian was asked yesterday whether he knew a Carlo Rossati who had been in Toronto lately. After considerable hesitation, he said he did. "He is a very handsome man, tall, with broad shoulders," he added, "and dressed very showily. He was very energetic in talking with the Italians around the city, and on two or three occasions he had large numbers of sympathizers with him on street corners, where he was haranguing them. He could talk very well, if the snatches of the conversation I heard were fair samples. He proposed to form a society for the protection of the Italians of this city from being down-trodden, as he described it, and, if an Italian does get into trouble, to see that he is properly defended."

"Was he successful in his attempt to form the society?"

"I do not know. However, I believe this man was here to form an agency of the 'Black Hand,' a society whose kidnappings and blackmailings in New York and the larger cities of the United States have given the police much trouble."

"Where did Rossati come from?"

"Baltimore, I believe. He was only here about three weeks and I have not seen him for the last couple of days, so it is possible that he has gone back to New York."

Admitted Duty Free.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—An Order-in-Council has been made to allow the free importation into Canada of articles of Canadian manufacture sent here temporarily for repair, and to be again exported.

The Joy of Living.

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force sent tingling along the nerve centres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

Rubber Plants.

Most Americans have an idea that rubber is a product like wheat or corn, to be obtained from a given tree. The idea is quite erroneous. It has been estimated that 1,000 different species contain rubber, though commercial quantities have been obtained from only forty or fifty.

GOVERNOR OF HUDSON BAY.

Major Moodie Will Stay Two Years in the North.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—When Major Moodie returns to the north at the head of the Mounted Police expedition he will go as Governor of Hudson Bay, with full authority to administer the territory. He will remain in the north for two years before again returning to civilization. Ma'or Moodie will be accompanied by Mrs. Moodie, who is now in Ottawa preparing for their long residence in the north. The headquarters of the party will be made at Fullerton.

Consecrated Bishop.

Joliette, Que., Aug. 25.—The consecration yesterday morning of Mgr. Archambault as first Bishop of the new diocese of Joliette was a most impressive and elaborate ceremony. A great many prominent churchmen and laymen were present. The Archbishop of Montreal presided.

Living for years is well, but living each year well is better

Old age requires no pity when it is accompanied by good health. Eat proper food and you will not only live long but enjoy every year you live. It stands to reason that if you give the proper food in Nature's exact proportions to each element in your body they will always be healthy and vigorous. Now the whole wheat grain contains every element the body requires to build it up. The only foods in which you can get the whole of the wheat are

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT AND TRISCUIT

The Natural Foods

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit is easy of digestion, being light and porous, offering great surface for the action of the digestive fluids, thus shortening the time of digestion and resting the digestive organs.

A Splendid Display.

At last we are to have an opportunity of wearing semi-ready hand tailored suits. Saturday the semi-ready wardrobe opens and it will be to the interest of every young and elderly man in Peterborough who likes a neat suit to look over the stock of suits that are being displayed. They are certainly wonderful examples of the highest kind of tailoring, and they offer very extensive choice in rich and attractive fabrics.

LARGE EXCURSION TO NORTH WEST.

About 120 Persons Left Peterboro' This Morning.

Some of the Excursionists — Many Will Remain Only a Short Time.

The C.P.R. station was a busy scene this morning when the Harvest Excursion for Manitoba left Peterborough, and the station officials had a pretty busy time of it. Over one hundred persons left Peterborough this morning for the Northwest. Of these about half probably intend to engage in farm work, while the others will visit friends or are going to take positions in other lines of business. Many are going out simply to see the great country and some of them will probably locate there if the conditions are satisfactory to them.

The great majority of the excursionists were young men and the trip to them is in a sense a holiday outing, which to others it means very much more. some middle aged men, who, thinking that they could better their position in the west have left their families here and have gone into new fields to try and win fortune. Not a few, however, are taking their wives with them, and together they will start anew in the western country.

The crowd was a jolly one and there is little danger that there will be much time to become lonesome while on the trip. The regular 7.12 train carried the excursionists. It arrived in Peterborough fifty minutes late, having ten coach loads of passengers, and with the one hundred and twenty or more who boarded it here, the train was crowded.

The baggage men at the station here stated that there had never been as much baggage checked from this station for Manitoba in one day before, and only once, at the time of the Klondyke rush was their greater quantities sent away in one day. The platform was piled up high with new trunks and immense telescope bags, the favorite of the harvesters, and these will be sent later. At every station this side of Tweed a large number of passengers boarded the train, although, of course the Peterborough contingent was the largest.

At Toronto the special train will be made up and sent over the G.T.R. to North Bay, connecting there with the C.P.R. for Winnipeg, where the harvesters will be distributed throughout the country, where they are most required.

Among those who went from here were:—B. J. Turner, G. Crowe, M. Hunter, J. Crowe, W. J. Doughty, W. Boswell, W. Cameron, W. Robinson, C. Watson, H. Byers, W. Fox, R. Reid, J. Sweeney, E. Searights, Geo. Allen, H. R. Staples, A. Hopkins, J. H. Bleir, L. Sargent, W. Primrose, J. Kemp and his brother, C. Leslie, T. Miller, L. Mills, L. Hawes and wife L. Martin, H. Staples, and wife, L. Isbister, Mr. and Mrs. N. Lush, J. A. Williams, W. Borne, W. J. McDouald, G. Sweeney, of Peterborough; J. P. Condon, Jos. McMannus, of Douro; Wm. Black, W. Ferguson, B. Wigmore, J. Andrews, R. Adams, A. Spence, G. Elliott, F. Stark, and J. R. Morrison, Norwood; W. McIlmoyle, and wife; F. Pearson, Mr. Mann and Miss Simpson, Smith; B. Chambers, Lindsay; Chas. Dodge Blairton; J. C. Gryls, Irwin Hambly C. Wilson and S. English, Lakefield; Albert Wood, and Roy Sanderson, Otonabee.

A party known as the "Tar gang" from Hall's Glen, consisting of Messrs. A. C., Arthur and Melvin Carveth, J. Moore, and H. Dodds, formed a by no means inconsiderable part of the crowd. The young men left home this morning at two o'clock, and were driven to town by Mr. W. Hamilton, some of them have been out to the west before, so they are somewhat experienced travellers and the discomforts of the journey do not bother them.

The number from Peterborough this year is larger than that of former years, and this in spite of the fact that there is plenty of work around here for all who wish it, but they doubtless are anxious to see what the west has for them.

WORKED HIS SCHEMES IN SEVERAL CITIES.

F. N. Wyllie who is Wanted Here on Forgery Charge, is Still at Large.

A short time ago, Chief Roszel sent out circulars for information regarding the whereabouts of F. N. Wyllie, who is wanted here on a charge of forgery. Wyllie is also wanted at Ottawa, Hamilton, and St. Catharines on charges of obtaining money under false pretences. He was in Peterborough a few weeks ago and upon leaving here he went to Lindsay, where he worked a forgery scheme. When last heard of he was in Sarnia, where he tried to obtain money by forgery, but was unsuccessful. He claimed in Sarnia that he represented the Mail & Empire, Toronto, but when in Peterborough he was a commercial traveller. He is evidently a bad character and will have many charges to face when he is captured.

Labour Day Doings.

The Labour Day excursion to Jubilee Point on Monday September 5th promises to be one of the largest of the season. This excursion will be conducted by the Peterborough Trades and Labour Council and the Calcutt line of steamers has been engaged. The City of Peterborough will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 8 o'clock, and the Water Lily with palace barge, Otonabee, at 8.30. Upon arrival at the Point a programme of sports for which liberal prizes will be given will be run off, and an address by Mr. Jas. Simpson, of Toronto, on labour topics, will be given. A good orchestra will accompany the excursion to provide for dancing. The return fare will be 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for children. 1d

BALOON ASCENSION WAS SUCCESSFUL.

The "Sweet Caporal" Ascension was Made Last Night.

About eight hundred persons were at the Central Park last night when the balloon ascension under the direction of Professor Belmont, took place. The ascension was made for the purpose of advertising the merits of the Sweet Caporal Cigarettes, and had the desired effect. Shortly after six o'clock the big aerial machine was loosed from its moorings in the park and amid the cheers of the crowd of spectators, sailed gracefully to the north east with the aeronaut, who was apparently quite composed. Driven by a slight breeze from the south west the balloon went up and towards the canal, and when a good height had been reached the parachute was made use of and the descent successfully made. The baloon alighted in a field of standing grain on the farm of Mr. McCall, east of the canal, and a carter was sent after it last night.

As the baloon went up advertising letters were distributed from it by the occupant.

DROWNING ACCIDENT IN SCUGOG RIVER.

Well-known Resident of Lindsay Drowned Tuesday Night.

First Drowning in the Scugog This Year—Mr. B. Bryans the Victim.

(Lindsay Post.)

Early this morning word reached town of a sad drowning accident which occurred last night some four miles down the river, by which Mr. Ben Bryans, a well known resident of this town lost his life. It appears that somewhere about 7.30 p.m. Mr. Bryans in company with Mr. Chas. O'Leary started down the river in a small boat to spend the night at a point near the light house. When about four miles down, in some unaccountable way, the boat was capsized and both occupants were thrown into the water. The next known of the accident is told by Mr. Thos. Hickey is as follows: "About 9.30 p.m. last night whilst sitting with my family after having arrived home from town, some one present remarked that they heard some one shouting in the direction of the river. A member of the family went out and listened and not hearing any further sounds concluded it must be some boys in the neighbourhood. Mr. John Turner, who was at my house and had started for home, when he again heard the shouts as if some one was in distress. He hastened back to the house and told us what he had heard. Immediately my son Patrick hurried across the fields to Mr. Thos. Flynns and also to Mr. Thos. Hutton, both of whom live close by and apprised them of what had transpired. They, in company with Mr. E. Spears and Mr. Geo. Kasley, started for the river and made for the spot from which the sounds seemed to come. John Birgensaw, who was camping at Green Point, also started out in a boat with the rescue party having reached the spot from where the cries of distress came from, found Chas. O'Leary in an exhausted condition, clinging to a stump, and in a semi-conscious manner, was able to tell them his companion had fallen out of the boat, but from what cause he knew not. That he had made all reasonable efforts to get him into the boat again, and in so doing precipitated himself into the water. By this time Bryans had become almost exhausted and seeing O'Leary's position told him to strike for the shore and save himself. He managed to reach a stump on the edge of the river where he remained until rescued. After reaching the shore Mr. O'Leary was driven to the residence of Mr. Hickey, where everything was done to make him comfortable. This morning a number of men went out in search of Bryans' body and succeeded in finding it in some weeds close to the shore. About 9 a.m. Coroner Burrows was communicated with, who, after hearing the circumstances surrounding the case, deemed an inquest unnecessary

TO FORM BUILDING TRADE'S ALLIANCE.

The Arrangements Have now Been Practically Completed.

Plans for the Labour Day Demonstration—An Address by Mr. James Simpson.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Trades and Labour Council was held last night, when arrangements were practically completed for the great demonstration to be held on Labour Day, Monday, September 5th, at Jubilee Point. A few minor details have yet to be settled and for this purpose a special meeting will be held next Wednesday night, arrangements are now in progress to have Mr. Simpson, the noted labour orator of Toronto, who will give an address on Monday at Jubilee, come here for Sunday and speak in the afternoon in some public hall on a general topic. This has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but it is hoped that such arrangements may be made.

Last night's meeting was well attended and the members are enthusiastic in their preparations for the Labour Day demonstration which it is expected will surpass all previous events of a similar character held here.

The question of forming a building trades alliance was also discussed last night, and plans for its formation were all but completed.—Three trades have already signified their intention of entering the alliance, and the fourth is simply waiting for the formal permission of the central body. When this alliance is formed, all the labour in connection with building will be under union control and the different trades will work in co-operation.

LAMENTED DEATH OF HARRY CAVANAGH.

Died Last Night After an Illness of About Two Years.

After suffering for about two years, only the last few days of which, however, have been spent in bed, Mr. Harry Cavanagh, the second eldest son of Mr. T. Cavanagh, proprietor of the Cavanagh House, died last night at 9 o'clock, at his home, Simcoe street. The deceased was 33 years of age, and was born in Peterborough, where his life residance made him a general favourite with his large circle of friends. During the last two years he has suffered considerably, but his indomitable courage never failed him, and up to the last he was always cheerful, and it is doubtless due to this fact that he was able to ward off so long the disease which eventually conquered him, and caused his death.

The deceased leaves one little daughter, Alta, two other daughters, with his wife, having predeceased him. His mother and father and three brothers, Roy, James and Charles, also survive him.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, Simcoe street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, where interment will take place.

LEAVING EXAMINATIONS.

Results now in Hands of Principals of High Schools.

The results of the leaving examinations of the high schools and collegiate institute were sent out Tuesday by the Department of Education to the Principals of the various schools, and students can secure information relative to their standing on application to their own Principals. This year about 5,500 pupils wrote for these examinations, or the actual number of pupils in attendance at such schools. This fact shows that about four-fifths of the high school and collegiate pupils take the course at these higher schools purely as an educational training, and not because they desire to enter the professions, as was formerly the case.

During these examinations about 65,000 papers were examined by the staff of 160 examiners, who have been engaged in the work of reading and reporting on these papers during the past few weeks.

LOST—A RIPE WHEEL WITH A LURID HISTORY.

Owner Values it Highly for its Associations.

A young gentleman whose innate modesty would render the appearance of his name in print distasteful, mourns the loss of a wheel, which he hopes to recover through the mediu mof this advertisement The wheel is a Brantford—built Red Bird but it has other more pronounced distinguishing features. It hasn't been cleaned for five years—this being the ninth year of its existence. In the course of its life it has only used two pairs of tires, though it has measured thousands of miles and has never been oiled, still its' ball bearings are in as perfect condition as when it was turned out of the shop and the wheels are in as good working order as those in its owner's head. It passed through a fire so fierce as to burn off the varnish or enamel, which was artistically replaced with a coat of Indian red mixed with coal oil. It was left standing in front of a shop on George street, and a farmers' team knocked it down and walked over it and made it a driveway for a load of hay. The owner does not value the wheel according to its intrinsic worth—though he has been known to refuse $7.35 for it, but for its associations. He has ridden his faithful friend a long time and the vicissitudes and pleasures of life he and it have shared together, make it dear to him—he was using the wheel when he first saw the young lady who has made the romance of his life. Any person or persons who will return the wheel to the Examiner office, or the Police Court, where the owner feels more at home or furnish such information as will lead to its recovery, will be liberally rewarded—with the nicest words the young man's dictionary reminiscences can supply. He is therefore anxious for the return of his bicycle, not, as remarked, on account of its value—for a self respecting junk shop would think twice before it gave it floor room—but he wishes to present it to the Victoria Museum in Inverlea Park, so that his children—of the future—may see by what means their distinguished ancestors made his way through the world and the mud in the days when he was young and gay. d&w52134-46

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

Englishmen Thought His Fine Rather Heavy—This Morning's Court.

At the Police Court this morning, William John Smith, an Englishman of unusually small statute, and who has been in Canada but a short time was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the street last evening. He was arrested on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, with his coat off and prepared to lick anybody who was desirous of a sound thrashing.

"What have you to say to this charge?" said the Magistrate.

"Well, I guess, I did 'ave a drop too much," re replied.

"You are fined $2 and costs, $5.75 altogether."

"Isn't that a wee bit 'igh for the first offense?" replied the little fellow, the smile which had previously bedecked his countenance becoming fainter," it's easier than that over in England."

"We try to teach you not to get drunk the second time," said Mr. Dumble. "You have ten days in which to pay the fine."

"Might as well for it now, I suppose. Its more than I've earned in this country since I came out, I'll 'ave to be getting out soon."

"Don't try any more of our whisky," suggested the Chief, "it's stronger than in England."

Flora Losey was charged with using insulting language. She failed to appear in court.

"The 'fire team' has left town, I understand," said the Chief, "and the case will come up upon the return of the desired party."

ABOUT DUCK SHOOTING.

A Correspondent Does not Regard Duck Preserves Favourably.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I saw in your paper two or three times something about duck shooting, and a good deal about "preserves". Now, like any good sport I think that duck should be protected and I think the present game law goes far enough for that purpose and it gives an equal chance to all. But I don't know about this preserve business, which a Mr. Bolsford, who writes to your paper seems to think so much of. In this country we have come to think that the poor man has an equal chance with the rich. But it seems to me that these preserves are for a few high toned gentlemen, who have plenty of money, who can afford to fence off a few thousand acres of duck marsh and keep it for their own use and shut out everybody else. I fail to see where a fair show is to come to the man like myself who can't afford to keep up a club house and club off their favoured spot anybody who has just as good a right to get a long bag of ducks, though he may not have a long purse.

I have as good a mouth for roast duck as any rich man, but I am not selfish. If any man has better luck or can shoot better than I can, he is welcome to all the ducks he can kill in the open season, but I do not, believe it is right that any man or lot of men, merely because they have money should have a better show than common honest Canadians.

Yours truly,
RED WING.

MACHINE 'PHONES FOR BRANTFORD.

Canadian Machine Telephone Company Wants to put in System.

Will Charge $15 and $25 per 'Phone—Peterborough's Example may be Followed.

The Brantford Expositor has the following article on the telephone situation in that city:—

"The latest development in the local telephone situation is an offer from the Canadian Machine Telephone company of Toronto to install a complete system here for $35,000. If the city wants to go in for municipal ownership they will establish a system at the above figure, or if the city decides not to adopt municipal ownership, of telephones, the company if granted a competitive franchise will install their system anyway.

The system, which is a Brantford invention in which Mr. N. D. Neill is interested does away with the telephone girl and cut-ins on conversation, which is thus rendered strictly secret. Rates will be $15 and $25. A feature is an automatic call on the part of the subscriber without any assistance from "central." In time the company will sell out to the city if the local aldermen so desire.

The company have recently installed a system in Peterborough and inside of three weeks they had three hundred subscribers.

Note.—The last paragraph if not literally correct is correct to the extent that the company has obtained a franchise and made preparations for undergrounding its wires and broken ground for an exchange building on Charlotte street.

Important Opening.

The opening of a Semi-ready wardrobe in Peterborough, next Saturday is somewhat of an event in this town. We have heard of Semi-ready for a good many years, but, unfortunately the location of the nearest wardrobe in Toronto has prevented the particular dresser of Peterborough from patronising Semi-ready as much as they would like. It will be well worth your while to look at the Semi-ready hand tailored suits on Saturday.

RUNIC CROSS OF ST. AUGUSTINE MOST QUAINTLY ORNAMENTED.

Erected by Lord Granville to Draw Attention and Re-awaken an Interest in the Spot Which First Felt the Tread of the Early Christians on British Soil—Importance of St. Augustine's Landing.

One of the most important events in the annals of English history is the landing of St. Augustine at Ebbsflete in the year 597. From the old convent on the Coehan Hills, Gregory the Great sent off this emissary with forty other monks as missionaries to England, and in one of the chapels of the convent is a descriptive picture of their departure. King Ethelbert's wife, Queen Bertha, was a zealous Christian, and used all her influence for the introduction of Christianity into Kent, and this fact may have made her husband favorably disposed towards the new religion and also paved the way in a friendly spirit.

Soon after their arrival on the Isle of Thanet, a meeting was arranged between Ethelbert and Augustine, the former traveling from Canterbury, where he met the latter in a lane skirted by a wood between Ebbsflete and Ramsgate, beneath the shade of a noble oak—for on no account would the King have the first interview "under the roof," but in the "open air," as some spell might be cast over him and his soldiers. An ancient scion, if not an actual representative, of the oak which sheltered the little party was felled about 50 years ago, and used for repairs on a farm close by. It stood upon a quarter of an acre of ground at least, and the principal branches were fifty inches in girth. In this charming place, seated upon the bare ground surrounded by his wild soldiers, the "Son of the Ashtree" awaited the advent of St. Augustine—who was a man of gigantic stature, with head and shoulders taller than anyone else—and his companions. They came up along the shore chanting a solemn litany for themselves, also for those they were about to meet, carrying a beautiful silver cross in front of them, and beside it a large painted and gilded picture of Christ on an upright board after the fashion of those days. They sat down at the King's command, and the important interview began, but, unfortunately, neither party could understand the other's language, so the priest whom St. Augustine had brought over to England for that purpose acted as interpreter.

To draw attention and re-awaken an interest in the spot which first felt the tread of these early Christians' feet, Lord Granville had created a very handsome cross, of Runic form, most quaintly ornamented. About a furlong from this Cross is a beautiful spring of water which was formerly called "St. Augustine's Well." Here, doubtless, many were converted and baptized by this little band of pilgrims.

Apples and Drunkenness.

With the view of learning the opinions of other medical men concerning the efficacy of the habit of eating apples to destroy the taste for liquor a well known physician corresponded with many medical men living in various parts of the United States. He received replies from all but three.

From a large majority came answers that they had never known a case where a person was accustomed to the free use of apples and was a drunkard, nor did they ever know of a drunkard who was accustomed to the daily use of apples.

From a personal observation, covering a period of more than twenty-five years, the physician says he never has known a single instance where a person who was a free user of apples acquired the liquor habit, nor has he known a person addicted to the free use of liquor who was fond of apples.

Milking Cows by Electricity.

In Germany a new milking apparatus is said to employ electricity to operate the suction mechanism by which the fluid is drawn from the udder of the cow. A set of rubber hoods are attached to the teats, each hood leading to a central rubber tube, from which the air is exhausted at regular intervals by means of the electrical device. It is claimed that the suction thus secured resembles very closely the sucking of a calf and that for this reason the cow "lets down" her milk more freely than when milked by hand.

ANCIENT BABYLON

The Way the Excise Question Was Handled by Its Solons.

A translation of King Hammourabi's code, written about 2,250 years before Christ, gives us an insight into the life of the great city of Babylon at that remote time and of the way in which the excise question was handled by its legislators.

Nearly all the dealers of wines and liquors at that time were women, as many of the laws translated from the code speak only of women as sellers of drinks. Severe measures were taken against those who adulterated the wines or mixed them with water, so as to safeguard the purity of the article for the use of the public. The barmaid was held responsible for all disorderly scenes or drunkenness in her premises, and death was the penalty for those who did not denounce all cases of drunkenness to the police. Those women who were employed in the temples were forbidden to enter public hostelries under penalty of death, and even drinking in private was forbidden to them.

Special police officers were detailed for the enforcement of the excise laws in the city of Babylon, but then as well as now the officers charged with this duty were, if we are to believe the code in question, either negligent in the performance of their duties or too willing to accept bribes from the barmaids in the shape of drinks or even money.

Severe punishment is dealt out in the document to the police officers who shall accept bribes in connection with the enforcement of the excise laws of Babylon, but it is probable that then as well as now many of the fair saloon keepers found a way to bribe the officers and evade the laws.

Saved by a Bullet Wound.

A soldier who served under General Wolfe in the campaign resulting in the fall of Quebec was dying of an abscess in one of his lungs. "Well," said he, "as I am to die, I will die in battle," and he insisted on joining the firing line. Very soon he got a bullet through the lungs. The bullet pierced the abscess at the psychological moment, and drained it. The surgeons were able easily to cure the bullet wound, and that soldier lived for many a year afterward.

MARKS ON MEXICAN MONEY.

Chinese Bankers Affix Their Seals to Guarantee Its Genuineness.

As everybody knows, Mexican dollars circulate in large quantities in the far east, where bankers send large quantities of Mexican silver dollars every year.

A year ago a reporter saw one of the Mexican pesos that had been in circulation in China for some time and was surprised to find it covered with small Chinese characters like so many seals. This dollar was shown to Liang Hsun, Chinese minister, who explained the presence of the marks as follows:

"The bankers, of whom there are hundreds in China who receive Mexican dollars, affix to them their seals to guarantee their legitimacy, and as pesos circulate and go from one bank to another they are being marked by all the banks who receive them. In case the peso proves to be illegal the banker who sealed it last has to change it for good money and withdraw it from circulation.

"When the pesos are completely covered with seals they are sent back to Mexico to be recoined, the expense being paid by all the bankers whose seals are seen on the coin. It is in accordance with a recent agreement that it often happens that dollars, although marked all over their two faces, continue in circulation and are highly esteemed, as the seals are so many guarantees that they are genuine. The decision to seal pesos was taken because illegal coins began to circulate in China."—Mexican Herald.

Ginseng.

Farmers should not waste so much as a postage stamp on ginseng or the fakirs who try to sell them the roots. Ginseng is a root much desired by the heathen Chinese, who imagine that it has curative powers. Its habitat is under the forest cover in humid climates. It can be cultivated with sufficient care and expense under proper condition, but it is doubtful whether it can be got to grow in California at all. It requires about five years to raise a crop, at which time in this state it would probably be stolen, as it is quite valuable when finally raised. The best ginseng is said to be raised in Korea for the Chinese market. Those going into the trade must therefore be prepared to compete with Mongolian labor in Mongolian markets, which we assure them will be found impossible except to those ready to conform to the Mongolian standard of life. Ginseng roots sell at high prices because it costs so abominably to produce them, even in the most favorable locations, and no one can even guess the cost of the stuff when grown in the dry climate of California—if it can be grown here. Let ginseng alone.—San Francisco Chronicle.

An Old Joke Brought to Light.

The Broadway M. E. church of Logansport, Ind., was built fifty years ago, and a tin ball adorned the top of the spire. The building was torn down lately to make room for a more elaborate one. In the tin ball, with the records of the church, were found a deck of cards and a half pint bottle of whisky. Dudley H. Chase, four times judge of the Cass circuit court, is the only man alive who knew of the presence of the whisky and cards, he and three others having smuggled them into the tin ball with the church records and other papers in order to see what the elders would say when they discovered them. The latter overlooked them, and the ball was sealed and sent to the top of the spire, there to remain half a century with its incongruous contents.

An Anachronism.

The Rev I. K. Funk, who has written a book upon the marvels of clairvoyance, was born in Ohio, and in the town of Clifton, and a Clifton man said of him recently:

"We are proud here of the success Dr. Funk has made in life. We treasure a number of stories of his childhood. It seems that even as a little boy he had an unusual and subtle mind.

"A clergyman put to him one day a number of questions about Biblical history and he answered them all very well. Finally the clergyman said:

"'What commandment, my lad, did Adam break when he ate the apple?

"'If you please, sir,' was the reply, 'there weren't any commandments at that time.'"

CHURCH ALES.

An Old English Custom That Was Suppressed in 1603.

From almost the earliest times in England "church ales" were often given in a building adjoining any church, where were a hearth of good compass and a stout oaken table upon which the "ale" and viands were set forth. The founder of the feast gave his best brew and was content to receive money in exchange, the spirit animating these quasi religious symposia being akin to that which obtains at the modern charity bazaar—that is to say, all who attended were prepared to pay liberally or even dearly for their fare.

Thus the man who had lost his money and was "down on his luck" would give a "bid (begging) ale" that, if he was popular, might suffice to set him on his feet again. The more romantic "bride ale" assisted penurious young couples into housekeeping, while a prosaic "Whitsun ale" was furnished by churchwardens, who used to raise money for the poor, for church repairs or other pressing cause, the malt previously presented to them and stored in the tithe barns.

Dancing was indulged in at such "church ales," and if the season were propitious an adjournment might be made to an adjacent meadow, where archery, quintain and other diversions would ensue. But excesses became more and more frequent, so that in 1603 "church ales" were summarily suppressed.

The Juvenile Japanese.

There are no children in Japan. They are dignified burlesques on the grown-ups. The little girls of the family take care of the babies by having them strapped to their backs. Nearly every maid of five or six has a baby tied to her back, and perhaps that accounts for the bent back and tottering gait of the Japanese woman. Though one never hears a Jap baby cry, if one begins to make a mouth and wrinkle up its funny little face, its child mother quiets it by raising her body on her toes and heels as fast as she can, and placidity reigns in short order. A man would feel like a fool quoting "Mother Goose" to a Japanese child or trying to amuse it as one does our children. As for chucking one under the chin, that's unthinkable.

Blind Boys' Football.

Football and many other outdoor games are played by the blind, certain changes being made so that in each game the sense of hearing takes the place of sight. In football, for instance, a tiny bell is fastened to the ball, and by the bell's tinkle the ball's location is determined. The blind delight in races of all sorts. They do not run toward a tape, as the seeing do, but toward a bell that jangles briskly. It is odd to see the blind at their games. They play gravely and they maintain a profound silence, for if they make a noise the voices of their guiding bells could not be heard.

An Inhuman Wretch.

"I never saw such beautiful teeth and magnificent eyes as that girl has," said the young man who raves.

"Indeed?" answered the cold blooded person.

"Didn't you notice them?"

"Certainly not. I am neither a dentist nor an oculist."

LONG BROS. TWO STORES

THE SKYLARK'S SONG

AN ASTONISHING FEAT FROM MANY POINTS OF VIEW.

Not Alone Is It a Wonder of Melody, Tone and Quality, but Its Volume Is Astounding and Its Circumstance of Utterance a Physical Marvel.

For its music alone the song of the lark is almost the most melodious of any bird's. The tone and quality are admirable and the volume of sound astonishing. It can be heard clearly when the lark has mounted, as it sometimes does, beyond recognition by normal eyesight. The volume of sound is also most noticeable when a caged lark is heard, singing as it does far nearer to the hearer than the bird in the sky. But apart from the quality and music of the song the circumstances in which it is uttered render it an astonishing feat.

Every other considerable songster is quite aware that singing entails much physical effort. Consequently it takes care to secure a good platform to sing from. A thrush or a blackbird or a robin nearly always selects a top shoot or projecting bough, preferably a dead one, on which it sits and sings, never moving its position, and without any objects round it to hinder the carry of its voice. The blackcap and nightingale and some of the warblers sit in a bush to sing, but the whitethroat and even the hedge sparrow choose the topmost twig. The whitethroat sometimes sings when descending, and some of the pipits and the wood lark do the same, the meadow pipit singing a feeble little song as it makes a short ascent and descent.

But to the strain on its lungs of long protracted song the lark adds the great muscular exertion of a steady upward flight, usually carried out not by scaling the air in gentle circles, as in the soaring of the larger birds, but by a vertical climb made by the incessant beating of its wings. Wordsworth's recognition of it as the Type of the wise who soar, but never roam,

True to the kindred points of heaven and home, is often almost literally correct. After two or three spirals the bird goes up almost as if it were drawn heavenward by a cord, and then, closing its wings, descends like a falling stone to the very point from which it rose. The strain upon the muscles and the lungs would be great if during all this time it were silent. But it chooses to add to the exertion of soaring that of pouring forth a continuous flood of sweet notes with no intermissions or breaks whatever.

A lark will soar and sing during a space of ten minutes consecutively. The rapidity with which the pectoral muscles are working during this period may be judged from the fact that the bird makes not less than from five to six beats of the wing per second. The beats are usually in sets of from three to five, the bird pausing for a moment as if to take a fresh start after the interval. When chased by the merlin falcon, skylarks make their finest exhibitions of flight, ascending into the air to heights which have been estimated as being not less than a thousand feet. Sometimes the bird uses the same means of ascent as when it is soaring and singing, rising vertically by incessant beats of the wing. In the language of the falconer, these are termed "mounting" larks, and their object is to outfly the hawk directly, shaking off its pursuit during the ascent. Others prefer to rise by flying in a spiral, which the falcon imitates.

Mr. E. B. Michell, in his volume on "The Art and Practice of Hawking," says: "The one bird may be circling from right to left and the other from left to right, and neither seems to guide the direction of its rings by any reference to those which the other is making. It is now a struggle to see which can get up fastest, and it is astonishing to see to what a height such flights will sometimes reach. As soon as a lark is 800 feet high it can drop, almost like a stone, into any cover within a radius of 200 yards from the spot just under it, allowance being made for the effect of the wind. But 800 feet is not high for a ringing flight; at least there is nothing unusual about it. A lark does not go out of sight until it is much above that height, and it is no extraordinary thing for it to do this." The lark seldom sings late in the day. It can be tempted to rise in a burst of melody for one final ascent if the evening sun breaks through the clouds after rain, but as a rule it is silent long before the sun has descended into the western bed of cloud. We have Milton's authority that it is up and in song before dawn. But those who have Heard the lark begin its flight

And singing startle the dull night

are not easily found, though in the height of the pairing time it may very possibly be beforehand with aurora in greeting its mate. But as a rule the lark sings at sunrise, as the ortolan eats. Darkness depresses it and keeps it mute, but a gleam of sun is the signal for it to ascend. Obviously rain would make it most difficult for it to soar, both by adding to the weight of its body from the moisture caught in the feathers and by wetting the webs of the pinions, so the lark only soars in the dry as a rule. It is one of the most sensitive and best of nature's weather gauges, for when the larks begin to sing it is almost certain that rain has ceased for some time, if not for the day. It is the cock lark which sings. William Cobbett noted that one was just soaring and beginning to sing when the hen flew up and evidently told him to stop, for she fetched him down again—"an instance," says Cobbett, "of that petticoat government which is universal."—London Standard.

The anxious mother of the family oftentimes carries the whole burden of responsibility so far as the home medication of common ailments of the girls or boys are concerned. A LUCKY SHOT.

Exciting Moment in a Buffalo Hunt in South Africa.

A hunter in South Africa tells the following story of an adventure with a buffalo: "I was in the act of descending the bank when Prinsloo, a Dutch hunter, who was lower down the slope, saw the dark outline of the buffalo standing at bay behind the screen of reeds. Next instant, seeing it about to charge, he shouted, 'Daar kom hij!' ('There he comes!') and fired, rather at random, I am afraid. Then, rushing down the path by which he had advanced, he threw himself headlong into the reeds on the left. This all happened in a few moments, but I had sufficient time to raise my rifle to my shoulder and fire as the enraged bull rushed straight at me through the reeds, with nose thrown forward and horns back. As I fired I endeavored to jump aside to escape the charge, but my feet got entangled in the matted grass, and I fell on my back, luckily, however, retaining my hold on the stock of my rifle. My first shot seemed to check him for a moment, but the next he was rushing up the slope at me. I shall never forget the look in his fierce eyes. It was but a moment's work to draw back the bolt of my Mauser and to close it again, thus pushing another cartridge into the breech. I had no time to raise the rifle to my shoulder. There was barely time, just before he was within striking distance, to pull the trigger, with the stock under my armpit, while I lay on my back on the top of the sloping ground. Without so much as a groan he fell in his tracks and rolled over into the muddy water two yards below with a great splash, shot through the brain."

Cape to Cairo Railway.

The British South Africa company has received information that the Cape to Cairo railroad has been brought up to Victoria Falls, the line now stretching a distance of over 1,000 miles from Cape Town. The sections of the huge single span bridge which is to carry the railway across the falls are now on their way out from England, and it is expected that the structure will be completed before the end of this year. Meanwhile the line will be taken 100 miles farther north, to Kalomo, the headquarters of the administration of northwest Rhodesia.—London Chronicle.

Ill Health and Suicide.

The chief medical examiner of the Royal Arcanum reports that 103 members committed suicide during 1903. Among the supposed causes were: Domestic trouble, 16; financial difficulties, 26; ill health, 31; loss of employment, 10.

The Arcanum reports for four years show that during that period disease was responsible for 187 suicides and all other recognizable causes for 232.

A SONG OF SUMMER.

Sing a song of summer;
Robins in the trees,
Smiling sky and grass knee high
Waving in the breeze;
Has of drawbacks, too, its share—
Hot enough to roast a bear.

Lolling on the greensward,
Watching shadows fly;
In the shade with lemonade
And a girl close by—
Not so nice to rise at dawn
And proceed to shave the lawn.

Swinging in a hammock,
With a palm leaf fan,
Or afloat and in your boat,
Getting lovely tan—
Oh, the season is just grand
If you're not a harvest hand.

Sing a song of summer;
Apple, cherry, peach,
All aglow and hanging low
Where a man can reach;
But they're green or hard or dry
In the store where I must buy.

Practical Relief.

"Ah me," sighed Clare De Froth, as she listlessly gazed out of her eyes at the passing throng below her window. Clare always gazed out of her eyes. She might have gazed out of her ears occasionally for a change, but, poor girl, she didn't know how.

"This is a cold and cruel world," she murmured, biting off half a cent's worth of gum and tucking the rest of the stick away in her capacious pocket. "We strive after light, and the gas trust says 'Nit,' or words to that effect. How I long to fly from the sordid crowd and commune only with noble minds, to drink their words as a thirsty cow drinks slough water and to exchange confidences, giving jackknives to boot where one confidence is worth more than another.

"Ah me," she said again, not being able to think of anything new to say, "I am sick of it all. I shall go and feed my fair young face a small portion of corn beef and cabbage and forget, if possible, the dreary, dreary world," and she hiked off at the call of the dinner bell.

One Thing Lacking.

He thought his education fine,
But found he had another think—
That some few things he did not know—
For when he came to buy a drink
Where prohibition laws held sway
It seems he didn't know the wink.

Quite Provoking.

"Boggs is a very even tempered man."

"Oh, very."

"Of course when he was run over by a train he naturally felt cut up."

Should Be Posted.

"What is the last word in the dictionary?"

"I don't know. I will ask my wife. A woman always has the last word."

Explaining It.

"His great contention is that all men are born equal."

"That's all right."

"But he seems to think he's better than most men."

"Well, he means all men are born equal, but some are equal to a hundred others."

Definition of Genius.

So far is genius from being "a transcendent capacity for taking trouble, first of all," as Carlyle has it, that it is rather the capacity for doing without trouble that which other people cannot do with any amount of trouble.

"Nine times out of ten," says a philosopher, "trouble is what we blame the world for when we did it all ourselves."

Poverty wants some things, luxury many, avarice all things.—Cowley.

CHEER UP.

There Are Millions of People Much Worse Off Than You Are.

Cheer up. The world is taking your photograph. Look pleasant. Of course you have your troubles, troubles you cannot tell the policeman. A whole lot of things bother you, of course. Business worries or domestic sorrows, it may be, or what not. You find life a rugged road whose stones hurt your feet. Nevertheless cheer up.

It may be your real disease is selfishness—ingrown selfishness. Your life is too self centered. You imagine your tribulations are worse than others bear. You feel sorry for yourself—the meanest sort of pity. It is a pathetic illusion. Rid yourself of that and cheer up.

What right have you to carry a picture of your woebegone face and funereal ways about among your fellows, who have troubles of their own? If you must whine or sulk or scowl, take a car and go to the woods or to the unfrequented lanes.

Cheer up. Your ills are largely imaginary. If you were really on the brink of bankruptcy, or if there were no thoroughfare through your sorrows, you would clear your brows, set your teeth and make the best of it.

Cheer up. You are making a hypothetical case out of your troubles and suffering from a self inflicted verdict. You are borrowing trouble and paying a high rate of interest.

Cheer up. Why, man alive, in a ten minute walk you may see a score of people worse off than you. And here you are digging your own grave and playing pallbearer into the bargain. Man alive, you must do your work. Smile, even though it be through your tears, which speedily dry. And cheer up.

Economy.

"Economy," said a Wyoming man, "is always admirable. A Cheyenne hatter, though, was disgusted the other day with the economical spirit of a visitor to his shop.

"This visitor, a tall man with gray hair, entered with a soft felt hat, wrapped in paper, in his hand.

"'How much will it cost,' he said, 'to dye this hat gray, to match my hair?'

"'About a dollar,' the hatter answered.

"The tall man wrapped the hat up again.

"'I won't pay it,' he said. 'I can get my hair dyed to match the hat for a quarter.'"

A Villain.

Lady of the House (to her friend)—What do you suppose has happened? At the last ball my Elsa made the acquaintance of a young man who was obviously interested. He was a good match, so I sent him frequent invitations to dinner, and as I knew he was a great gormand I employed the best cook that was to be had. Her Friend—And your plan succeeded? Lady of the House—Well, not exactly. The villain found out and married my cook.

Roasting Live Negroes Makes Goldwin Smith Conclude That Mob Law is Supreme in the United States.

Mr. Goldwin Smith, as Bystander, prints an article in the "Farmers' Sun, leaning towards the adoption of the Yankee system of fixing hard and fast, dates for general elections. Mr. Smith, however, does not advocate the adoption in Canada of another peculiar republican "institootion"—the practice of mob law supremacy and the roasting of negroes, without even the formality of a trial. Referring to a recent case of this relic of darkest barbarity grafted upon republicanism he says:—

"A mob in Georgia has been indulging in the pastime of tying two negroes to the stake, after saturating their clothes with kerosene, burning them alive, and revelling in the contortions of their agony. It is stated that there were persons of wealth and respectability in the mob. There is no use in saying that this is indignation against crime, or even that it is hatred of race; it is devilish lust of oruelty, such as burned in the fiendish breast of the Iroquois. Why are such things allowed to happen in a Republic which deems itself the flower of anlightenment and civilization? The answer is, because there is no government in the United States. Government has been practically supplanted by the perpetual conflict and alternate domination of two factions, each of which is too dependent on mob favors to enforce the law. No such spectacle is presented in any other community pretending to civilization."

"SOO" STEEL RAILS NOW BEING MADE

Steel Rail Mills Started in Full Blast Without Fuss or Hurrah.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 25.—Without any hurrah, the first rails to be made as the resumption of operations in the steel plant were turned out Tuesday evening at 7.30. Operations were commenced with a full complement of men, and Superintendent D. D. Lewis says that as fast as material arrives the blast furnaces will be started.

A despatch was received yesterday, informing the management of the acceptance of the contract for rails to be used by the Government in the relaying of the Intercolonial tracks. This will need between 30,000 and 50,000 tons. This and other orders on hand ensure work, as far as market conditions are concerned, for some time to come.

C.P.R. Breaks Pool Prices.

New York, Aug. 25.—A break in the rail pool is believed in Wall street to be imminent.

Official announcement is made that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has purchased 60,000 tons of steel rails at $20 to $21 a ton. This is $7 to $8 a ton under the pool price. The rails have been sold by the United States Steel Corporation, and the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

It is expected that the American railroads, especially the big eastern trunk lines, will make a fight over the discrimination in favor of the Canadian road. E. H. Harriman, who needs nearly 100,000 tons of rails for his various systems, has declared that he will not pay $28.

Steel officials do not deny that the Steel Corporation would make a good profit on rails sold to C.P.R.

Approved M. MOWRY, President. Correct R. E. LAYFIELD, Treasurer.

We have examined all books and vouchers, and find all books and accounts as above.

GEO. TOVEY,
W. S. ROBINSON,
Auditors.

Peterborough, August 4th, 1904.

The report was received and adopted.

Mr. Layfield remarked that last year there was a deficit of $465.25, while this year there was a surplus of $161.50, which fact should be gratifying to the members of the society. Besides this, there had been paid about $100 properly belonging to last year, while about $50 of this year's money belonged to next year, which would leave the net resources about $210.00.

The president congratulated the society upon the splendid report which was presented. He thought the change for the better financially had been due to the excellent work done in the executive meetings, and to the change in the bylaws. The society had been run on a strict basis and every claim was thoroughly investigated and several had been refused, as it was the opinion of the executive that there was not sufficient cause to warrant a payment.

Mr. W. S. Robinson in moving the adoption of the treasurer's report, referred to the flourishing condition of the society and thought the executive should be congratulated upon the splendid work they had done during the past year. About 60 per cent. of those employed at the Works were members of the society and he though this number could by a little effort be raised to 90 or 95 per cent.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, resulting as follows:

President—W. H. Hill.
Vice-President—J. Reid.
Secretary—S. A. Shannon.
Treasurer—R. E. Layfield.
Physician—Dr. Young.
Amusement Committee—J. Hickey, M. Breckenridge, J. Reid, R. Martin.
Auditors—W. S. Robinson, R. E. Harding.

The meeting then adjourned.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Ind'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, Wednesday evening, August 24.—Stay long of P.M.; buy it below 29. Stay long of ACP—it will go higher immediately. Reading will sell 54 before 54; buy it around 54 for a big advance. Erie is also going considerably higher. In short this is a bull market. You should all be long of stocks from 2 to 10 points lower down with excellent profits to your credit. These profits will be swelled considerably during the next 2 weeks. On a moderate reaction of about a point, which, of course, is always possible. We advise you to buy St. Paul, S.P., Pa., Rdg., U.P., Ill. C., Tex., A.C.P., UBQ., So. Mop. At., PO, etc. Hold everything. May wheat which we told you Monday should react 10 or 15 points has reacted over 10 points since then. Do not buy it yet. Would not do anything in cotton at present.—Wall Street Information Bureau.

Loan market full of stocks. This is too good a market to scalp. Much money will be made by those who take long side of good stocks and who will maintain it for a reasonable time. Among the promising issues are Mop., Tex P., PO, Pa and S P.

Get long of some BRT, buying is very good.

Bears in NYC will be forced to settle above 125.—Joseph.

Liverpool, 1.30 p.m.—Wheat 2 8-8 lower; corn 3-4 lower.

New York.—First car of No. 1 hard north-west wheat received at Winnipeg. Reg div on Soo com and pfd. Both management and stock holders committee of O.W. asking for proxies for meeting Sept. 28th. J.J. Hill denies rumour of plan to pay Northern Sec. dividend, 4% made for 2nd week. Aug. show average gross inc. 1.8 p.c.

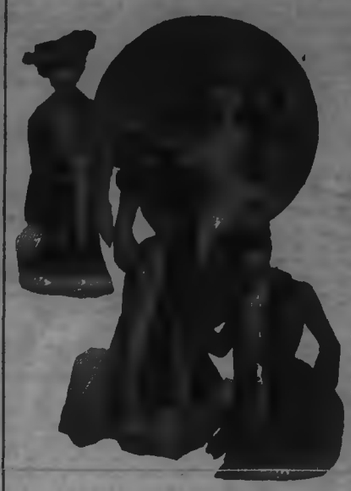
Summer Prices

FOR

Winter Garments



The last month of Summer—August—is a good time to buy Furs. It is known to be a good time. Prices as a rule are lower, because the dealer is anticipating the season.

It is a good time—in fact the best—to order Furs. Because it affords time in which to make them up with care and without the haste that comes with the winter season.

Our show rooms are open. You can view the winter's styles. They are all here. Orders are taken based on the styles we show. It's worth a look at any rate, even if you do not buy, and you are never pressed to do so. All we know about Furs is at your service.

RUSSIAN REPORTS OF JAPANESE DEFEATS.

Heavy Losses to Japs Reported in Attack on Port Arthur.

LIAOYANG GENERAL ATTACK.

Severe Fighting Reported to be in Progress Twenty-two Miles South East of Town—Russians Estimate Japanese Forces to be 240,000 in Number.

Che Foo, Aug. 26.—Russian advices received here say that the Japanese assaults on Port Arthur, Aug. 21 and 22, were repulsed with tremendous losses. It is added that the attempt of the Japanese to capture Fort No. 1 cost them 10,000 men, and that their attack on Fort Etsashan resulted in their losing 3,000 men killed or wounded.

Port Dalny is said to be filled with wounded men.

General Attack at Liaoyang.

London, Aug. 26.—According to the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, with Gen. Kuroki's army, the Japanese are not likely to retire into winter quarters. Rather than to thus give the Russians a breathing space, they will prosecute a vigorous winter campaign. The correspondent says the Japanese are accumulating immense stores, ammunition and guns at Haicheng.

A despatch from Liaoyang to The Daily Telegraph reports that severe fighting has taken place at Torantspu, twenty-two miles southeast of Liaoyang, and that a general attack is in progress.

Wet Season Over.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarsers in the Field, Aug. 21, via Fusan, Aug. 26.—Fair weather has returned after five days heavy and three days light rains. It is hoped that this is the last stretch of the wet season. Streams are falling and the sandy soil is absorbing the water rapidly. The Russians are reported to be fortifying Liaoyang extensively. There has been no fighting recently.

At Liaoyang.

Liaoyang, Aug. 26.—At the Russian headquarters here, General Kuroki's army is estimated at 100,000 men, Gen. Nodrus' force at 70,000, and Gen. Oku's at 40,000. This is exclusive of two divisions of about 80,000 men moving upon the right bank of the Liao River.

According to the Chinese the Japanese have converted the branch railroad from Newchwang to Tashichao into a narrow guage and are conveying thither twenty siege guns.

Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese commander-in-chief, is understood to be with the besiegers of Port Arthur.

Torpedo Boats Mined.

Tokio, Aug. 26.—Two Russian torpedo boat destroyers struck mines at the entrance of Port Arthur Wednesday evening. The larger one of the destroyers, a four-funneled one, was sunk. The names of the vessels and the number of lives lost are unknown.

SMOLENSK TO BE NOTIFIED.

British Cruisers Sent to Convey Russian Orders to Quit Interfering.

London, Aug. 26.—Replying to a deputation of the East India trade section of the London Chamber of Commerce last evening, Premier Balfour said he had been informed last night by Ambassador Benkendorff that the Russian Government was not certain that the Smolensk had received orders in accordance with the recent agreement concerning the treatment of neutral ships.

Therefore, in accordance with the suggestion of the British Government, the Russian Government had authorized Great Britain to assist in locating and notifying the cruisers. In consequence, the British Government had ordered two cruisers from the Cape of Good Hope to proceed immediately and search for the Smolensk and her consort and convey to them the instructions to desist from further interference with neutral commerce.

Mr. Balfour said he hoped, therefore, that they might really consider the episodes connected with the volunteer fleet as now entirely ended.

The Asia Was Stopped.

London, Aug. 26.—The Anchor Line steamer Asia, which sailed Aug. 11 from Liverpool for Calcutta, has arrived at Port Said and reports having been detained two hours while her papers and cargo were examined by the Russian cruiser Ural. The search took place sixty miles east of Cape St. Vincent, Portugal.

Stopped a Coaler.

London, Aug. 26.—News has reached England that the Russian auxiliary cruiser Ural stopped and examined the British collier Pencalenck, on Aug. 12. The Pencalenck was bound from Cardiff for Malta, with coal for the British navy.

Fred. Myers' Case.

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—Fred Myers, the Oak Hall clerk, appeared before the police magistrate yesterday morning, and was committed for trial. The evidence against him was to the effect that he sold a suit for $6, handed $4 into the cashier, and put $2 in his own pocket. F. R. Smith, manager of the store, says that Myers confessed to him that he had stolen $300 from the store in that way.

Sir John Gorst, Conservative M. P., on Chamberlain's Policy.

INCREASE IN FOOD PRICES

No Doubt, Too, If Such An Expedient Would Promote Imperial Unity—Cambridge University Free Trade Association Issues a Condemnatory Circular—Chamberlain on Colonials in Commons.

London, Aug. 26.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Chamberlain, replying to C. T. Grant of the Royal Exchange, Glasgow, who suggested that some younger spirits from the colonies should be asked to come over and find seats in the British House of Commons in order to hear their views from their own lips said he would be glad to welcome colonial statesmen in the House of Commons. there is nothing to prevent any British subject being elected to that Assembly.

Sir John Gorst, M. P. (Conservative), writing to the newly formed Cambridge University Free Trade Association, said that Mr. Chamberlain's scheme of a colonial preference would in his judgment exact a contribution they can ill afford from the British people, in the shape of an increased price for food for the benefit of certain classes of colonial producers. He must doubt if such an expedient would promote imperial unity.

The Cambridge University Free Trade Association has issued a circular opposing the preferential treatment of colonial imports because of the inevitable connection between any practical scheme for preferential duties and some form of protection not only on food, but on manufactures.

Trained Jap Navy.

London, Aug. 26.—(C.A.P.)—The Daily Chronicle says that Admiral Douglas had a large share in the training of the Japanese navy and its brilliant success in the present war must bring special gratification to him.

REPLY IN MUSKOKA CASE.

Mr. A. A. Mahaffy's Charges Against Liberal Workers.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Conservative cross-petition in the Muskoka election has taken the form of an application for summons for those charged with wrong-doing in support of Dr. Hart, the Liberal candidate.

Mr. A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P., the respondent in the election petition, yesterday applied through Mr. James Baird for an order that Peter Hutcheson and others named in the application below appear at the trial of the petition against Mr. A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P., at Bracebridge on September 6 and answer the charges of corrupt practices, and show cause why they should not pay the penalty imposed by the election act.

An affidavit accompanying the application was sworn to by Mr. Mahaffy and is in part as follows:

Toronto, Aug. 26.—A. A. Mahaffy has replied to the election protest lodged by the Liberals against him by asking an order of the court, that Peter Hutcheson and others show cause why they should not pay the penalty imposed by the election act for corrupt practices. Mr. Mahaffy says in his affidavit:

"I charge that during the election Peter Hutcheson, grocer; George H. O. Thomas, stationer; Frederick Cochrane, station agent, all of Bracebridge; McKechnie, station agent at Utterson; William Nasmith, farmer of Macauley; Dr. F. L. Howland, Huntsville; S. A. Hutcheson, Huntsville, committed corrupt practices to influence voters.

"Peter Hutcheson received money from George O. H. Thomas and others, and paid the same to William Nasmith, the amount being about $300, and to Frank Snider $10 for corrupt practices.

"Frederick Cochrane gave Milton McEwan, George Symms and other voters $300 each and other valuable considerations to influence their votes.

"William Nasmith promised to pay William Taylor, farmer of Macauley, $5 for his vote.

"S. A. Hutcheson and —. McKechnie promised to settle the account of Peter Spragge, a blacksmith of Stephenson. The account was one of $10 owed to Dr. Hart, the Liberal candidate, by Spragge.

"Dr. F. L. Howland, on election day, induced Orvil Shay to vote in two polling sub-division.

"Duncan Marshall paid Andrew Yuile some $40 in settlement of a former election account."

The order was made as a matter of practice and the summonses will be issued.

SCOTCT METHOD SUCCEEDS.

Price of Nova Scotia Herring Doubled by its Adoption.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 23.—John Cowie, Scotch expert in charge of the Canadian Government herring curing experimental station at Canso, has just received returns of a trial shipment to St. Petersburg, which ensures the success of the employment of Scotch methods in curing Nova Scotia herring. A shipment of 50 packages of herring, caught near Canso, were sent to the Russian capital, and proved high-class fish, and realized prices as high as the best Scotch herring. A previous shipment to New York brought $11 to $13 per barrel, twice as much as ordinary Nova Scotia herring command in the same market. The herring cured at Canso are equal to the best Scotch fish, but the Scotch fishermen have not been very successful in catching fish. This is partly due to the small size of the nets used on the steam drifter 33, brought from England, and partly to the absence of any record of the movements of the herring on the Atlantic coast. In order to give the experiment a fair trial the operations at Canso will be continued for three years, and it is probable the Canadian Government will purchase the 33 and equip her with nets better suited to our coast fishing. The steamer will cost about $15,000. It is believed that an enormous trade in Scotch-cured herring can be built up in Russia.

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."—MRS. FRANK BEYER, 23 S. Second St., Meriden, Conn.

Another case which proves that no other medicine in the world accomplishes the same results as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. After that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy wife within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, who is the pride and joy of my household. If every woman who is cured feels as grateful and happy as I do, you must have a host of friends, for every day I bless you for the light, health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought to my home. Sincerely yours, MRS. MAE P. WHARRY, Flat 31, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis."

THE DATES OF ELECTIONS.

No little discussion is taking place in the Press regarding the advisability of making the date of general elections for the Dominion Parliament a fixture instead of being as it is now discretionary with the Governor-in-Council. The first objection that suggests itself to such a change is that brings the portion of Canadian constitutional arrangement relating to the fixing of election dates in line with the political "institootions" of the United States. A change in the regard in question would argue the advisability of a change of our system of government by party. By this the party in power has, amongst the other prizes of victory, the privilege or duty of fixing the date of a general election. That this privilege may have been, or may be, abused, is not of itself a sufficient reason for adopting a fixed date, and adopting an arbitrary rule for fixing the date of an election. Such a course would mean a deterioration of the elasticity of our constitution, which might not be subservient of the best intereats of the country. The party in power has the confidence of the people and if the people trust the administration of the day to manage the weighttiest affairs of the Dominion, it is not unreasonable to trust the government to decide, in conformatory with the good old British way, the comparatively minor matter of the day on which a general election shall be held. If the people find that the government they have placed in power dicharges its responsibility in an evil way the people have the constitutional remedy in their hands—they can send such a government packing. And if a government abuses that portion of its public trust relating to the management of elections the people have it in their power to take practical cognisance of such breach of trust. The people are not very insistently clamouring for a change and it is to be hoped that a system which commends itself to a constitutional monarchy will not be displaced for a republican ideal.

OUR BEST DEFENCE.

Sir Fredrick Borden, Minister of Militia, may not see his way quite clear to building a line of forts on the international boundary from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but he is taking a much more rational way to develop the best system of defence of this country needs by developing the militia of the country and making them efficient soldiers. The South African war demonstrated the fact that good shooting was the most effective equipment of the practical soldier—the soldier in action, not on parade. The development of the citizen soldier in this direction is at present engaging the attention of the Militia Department, and the energetic Minister in charge is arranging for the establishment of new rifle ranges in different parts of the Dominion. A despatch from Ottawa states that the Minister of Militia has already reserved suitable sites in British Columbia and in the North-west Territories for laying out ranges when the progress of settlement warrants the expenditure. There will be a new range at Winnipeg, the contract for which has been awarded. The site can be reached by electric car in less than half an hour from the centre of the city. A contract has been given for the laying out of a range at Cobourg, Ont., and sites have also been acquired at Goderich, Ont., and Agnes, in Megantic County, Quebec. The department has decided to build a new range at Sussex, N.B., where the militia of New Brunswick hold their annual camp. A range will also be built at Woodstock. The proposal as under consideration to provide ranges at Madoc, Ont., and at Amherst, N. S. Now, this is going at things in a practical way and the more accurate markemanship is developed in the Dominion the better will the Dominion be defended. In connection with this, now is a good time for those of influence in Peterborough to urge upon the Government the importance of making Peterborough a central depot for militia stores. The suitability of this town for such a purpose is too well known to be insisted upon, what is needed is to give effect to that condition.

The Montreal Star is an ultra Conservative journal, but it seems to have become somewhat disgusted over the Dundonald affair. Listen to this for a rebuke from the candid friend: "Lord Dundonald talked as if he were trying to drag in a phrase that had been specially coined for offensive political use. The Union Jack was safe here before he came. It is safe, although he is dismissed. His remarks were made in political malice and for mischievous effect, and were not words that any sensible man in his circumstances could have been induced to utter. The Conservative party always seeks to go into a political contest wrapped in the folds of the flag, and were it not a great flag with wonderful hold on popular affection, the abuse of it by a political party would have produced serious results long ago."

OUR IRON MINES OF GREAT VALUE.

Ore Will be Found Equal to That on the American Side of Lake Superior.

"It is my firm belief that in time the iron mines on the Canadian side of Lake Superior will be quite as important as those on the United States side," was the optimistic statement of Mr. B. W. Folger, of Kingston, one of the best known mining men in the Province, to-day, in speaking of the new discovery of iron reported from that district to the Bureau of Mines. "So far there has been practically nothing done on the Canadian side except prospecting, but enough has been shown to demonstrate that the iron is there, and that all it needs is developing.

"The discoveries on Hunter's Island admit of no question as to their merits. The new discovery is 100 miles from that district and the outcroppings are part and parcel of the same range. There are outcroppings along that whole distance, and in time there will be mines. It will be found, too, that the Canadian ore will be of just as good grade as that found in the famous Minnesota ranges."

The Joy of Living.

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force sent tingling along the nerve centres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

SICKENING SAMPLES OF GUSH AND BOSH.

What Flapdoodle Writers Unload Upon Readers of Yankee Newspapers.

Wild Ideas of Canadian Sentiments and Aspirations.

In order to show what inconsidered trash is loaded upon the readers of Yankee newspapers as representing the feelings of Canadians and Canadian condition, the following selection from the correspondents column of the New York Globe of a recent date is submitted. While Canadians will only laugh at the absurdity of these letters and their pitiful travesty of things Canadian, they are no doubt accepted as gospel by many Americans. Canada is so contented with her present political situation and relations that there is not one in a million of its people who would consider the question of union with the United States as for a moment a debateable proposition. It is too absurd for discussion. The New York Globe publishes the following letters under the heading, "Canada's Parting of the Ways":—

Editor of the Globe:

Sir,—Kindly permit me to answer Messrs. "Holland", "Banks" and "Jack Canuck". In 1882 the Rt. Hon. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, K.C.B., prime minister of Canada, arranged with the Grand Trunk Railway Compan to send free passes from the United States to Canada and return to all parties in this country who were assessed in Canada and would vote for his supporters, and 10,000 such passes were given to the managers of the Tory campaign. Men who had lived here twenty years and voted here fifteen years went there and voted for members of parliament. The law has not since been changed, and cannot without the consent of Great Britain. "Once a Briton always a Briton" is a legal verity.

I did not suppose that there was a gosling in Canada who didn't know that knighthood was used as a gentlemanly bribe to purchase support for the crown as against the people. I had been writing for the press of the United States and Canada for forty years. No statement of fact made by me has ever been proved to be incorrect. I have charged men in high places with high crimes and misdemeanors, but never until certain that my charges were true beyond all peradventure.

Let me say to your correspondent that only the power which can suspend the law of gravitation or reverse the current of Niagara can prevent the political union of the United States and all of British America, with the exception of British Guiana. The accumulated wealth of Canada is $7,500,000,000. The political union will double it in the twinkling of a star.

FRANCIS WAYLAND GLEN.

New York, July 5.

Editor of the Globe:

Sir,—As an old resident of Canada and native born I have been watching the many letters of Mr. Glen and those attempting to answer him. Mr. Glen simply asks, "Why do so many Canadians come to the United States?" Mr. Glen of course, knows, and so do 90 per cent. of those that come here, that Canadians are surrounded by everything American in their homes and business lives to such an extent that even in their political life a monarchy 3,000 miles away is distasteful and they get uneasy as they look across the border and see the world's flag, the Stars and Stripes.

The bettering of their condition, of course, goes without saying, but the main reason is distasteful. We don't like kings, queens, lords, dukes and titled nonentities. Canadians have no use for them, and so long as they are governed by a foreign Europe, so long will the present 1,500,000 native-born Canadians now here be swelled to millions more until Canada is independent herself or annexed to the greatest constitutional government on earth. Canadians will come and Uncle Sam will welcome them, and they will sing with Mr. Glen:

"Man never made and nature never produced anything more beautiful than the American Flag."

AN OLD TORONTO BOY.

Brooklyn, July 7.

An "Old Toronto Boy" is certainly a fiction as thourough as its pretended owner is a fraud—that is, as a Canadian. He never was a real "Toronto Boy." Even if he were a Canadian, he was not a true one. He is in the same class as a certain historical character. Even among the twelve apostles called by our Blessed Lord, there was a Judas.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

PRAISE FOR THE COMMISSION.

The Railway Commisssion Settles Shippers' Grievances Satisfactorily.

Toronto News Praises Commission Medicine Hat's Claims Considered.

The Toronto News, which in the past has not shewn any special desire to eulogize anything Liberal, has the following reference to the Railway Commissioners appointed by the Laurier Government:—

Western newspaper notices go to show that the Railway Commission has made a favorable impression in the Territories. The Medicine Hat News, for example, accompanies its report of the session at that town with cordial, even enthusiastic editorial approval. The proceedings at this conference constitute an interesting example of the way in which the powers of the Commission are working out in practice. A small village named Irvine presented requests for an open crossing over the railway for stockyard accommodation, and for a refrigerator car service. The matter of the crossing was discussed by the Irvine people and two or three representatives of the Canadian Pacific, and a compromise was reached. To the request for a stockyard, Mr. Jamieson, the general superintendent of the line, replied that it was the intention of the company to establish a suitable yard at the place. The complaints as to the refrigerator service elicited a promise to arrange the matter satisfactorily. The discussion of the open crossing incidentally led to an interesting statement by Mr. J. S. Dennis, one of the railway company's representatives, upon the general subject of railway crossings. This is a matter of some importance to the West. The railway antedates settlements and villages, and consequently there must be negotiation before roads can be opened across its right of way.

This is a fairly typical picture of the Commission at work. Irvine is a very small place. Under the former method of administration it would have continued to endure its local inconveniences, for it could not have sent a delegation to Ottawa. It is worth while to send the Railway Commission to Irvine and the hundreds of other Canadian towns which have difficulties in need of adjustment. Another striking feature of the session was the fact that the Commission made no ruling. The Canadian Pacific authorities met the village people, talked the situation over with them, promised redress for a grievance, announced their intention to extend their shipping equipment, and came to a compromise on the only other issue. The Commission proved a means of bringing the two parties together on a reasonable basis. This was the way in which the Commission worked when the party appealing was a small place. The important town of Medicine Hat presented more serious complaints, and the same spirit of fairness pervaded the discussion. The people of the West as a result know much more of the intentions and policy of the Canadian Pacific than was previously confided to them. Some of their suggestions are taken under advisement, others have been accepted, on other points amicable understandings have been reached. The railways may, in the end, have reason to be grateful to the tribunal which requires them to discuss matters face to face with the people they serve.

CATTLE MARKETS.

London, Aug. 25.—Cattle are firm at 11¼d to 12¼d per lb; refrigerator beef, 11c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12¼c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the city market since Tuesday, as reported by Messrs. Fox and Hay of the C.P.R. and G.T.R., were 102 carloads, composed of 1404 cattle, 2256 hogs, 2300 sheep and lambs and 90 calves.

Outside of the load quoted by Crawford & Hunnisett, which brought $5 per cwt., there were a few odd cattle reported as shippers at $4.60 and $4.80 per cwt., the latter price being obtained by McDonald & Maybee for one steer, 1380 lbs.

Trade for butchers' cattle was good at the price reported below, but there were not a dozen cattle reported by the different commission firms that sold over $4.25 per cwt. McDonald & Maybee report 8 butchers' cattle, weighing 980 lbs. each, at $4.60 per cwt.; and Maybee & Wilson report 3 butchers' cattle, 1090 lbs. each, at $4.35 per cwt.; the next best price reported is a sale of 18 butchers' cattle, 1040 lbs. each, at $4.25, which is the only load of butchers' reported as bringing that price, but McDonald & Maybee sold 23 butchers', 1045 lbs. each, at $4.15. All other sales are reported as going under these quotations.

Deliveries of feeders and stockers were fairly large. Feeders weighing from 850 to 1000 lbs. each, of good quality, are in demand, and there were not enough of these on the market. Prices for this class ranged from $3.25 to $3.80 per cwt. There were one or two lots of what might be called short-keep feeders, weighing 1200 lbs. each, that brought $4.20, but there are few of these wanted at the present time. What is wanted is steers of god quality, 850 to 1000 lbs. each, to turn on grass, so that they will be ready to stable and feed for export.

There were some fair lots of stockers, weighing 600 to 650 lbs. each, that sold at $3.15 to $3.20 per cwt. But there were also a lot of ill-bred mongrels that sold at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt., as will be seen by sales quoted below.

Trade in milch cows and springers was a little brisker, prices ranging from $30 to $52 each.

Prices for veal calves were unchanged and firm for all of good quality. Prices ranged from $3.50 to $5.25 per cwt., as per quality.

The run was fairly large and prices ranged a little easier. The bulk of sheep sold at $3.75 per cwt., and the bulk of the lambs at $4.75 per cwt. But choice lots of both classes brought a little more money.

The run of hogs was fairly large, and prices declined another 10c per cwt. But it was not large deliveries that caused the drop. Packers report that they are making no money at the prices they have been paying, and stated that they must have them at lower prices. Selects are quoted at $5.60, fats at $5.35 and lights at $5.25 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—About 120 cattle, 80 calves, 200 sheep and lambs and 25 store hogs and small pigs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. Trade was very dull. There were no very good cattle, and prices ranged from 2½c to 4c per lb.

Calves sold at $2.50 to $8 each.

Shipping sheep brought 3½c, and the others 3c to 3¼c per lb. Lambs sold at $2.25 to $4 each.

Fat hogs sold at 4½c to 5¾c per lb. Store hogs sold at $7 to $10 each, and young pigs at $2 to $4 each.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 600 head; light demand; barely steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 50 head; active, 25c higher, $4.50 to $7.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 3400 head; slow, 5c to 10c lower; heavy and mixed, $5.75 to $5.90; yorkers, $5.50 to $5.85; pigs, $5.50 to $5.75; roughs, $4.75 to $4.95; stags, $3.50 to $4; dairies, $5.25 to $5.70.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 25.—Beeves — Receipts, 1044; no trading to-day; feeling firm, on reported light receipts to-morrow; exports, 826 cattle. Calves—Receipts, 26; steady; veals, $5.50 to $6.25; tail ends, $4.50 to $5; grassers and buttermilks, nominal.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 1630; good sheep, strong; others, steady; lambs, 25c to 50c higher, on scant supply; common to good sheep, $3 to $4; culls, $2; common to prime lambs, $5 to $7.75; one car, $8.

Hogs—Receipts, 2142; 25 on sale; feeling a trifle weak; no sales reported.

TWO WERE DROWNED

Young Bank Clerks Upset Out of a Canoe at the Soo.

WERE STRUCK BY A SQUALL

J. C. Patterson, Teller, and Herbert D. Hill, Jr., in the Bank of Commerce, the Victims—Attempt Was Made at Rescue, But Heavy Sea Running Prevented Success—Other Accidents.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 26.—What appears to be a double drowning accident occurred here last evening in St. Mary's River, about one mile from the town.

Two young men, J. C. Patterson, teller in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and Herbert D. Hill, jr., in the employ of the bank, went canoeing. A high wind was blowing from the west and the young men put up a sail and were heading up the river, just at a point where the current is strong.

They were struck by a squall and the canoe overturned. The accident was seen by parties from the club boat-house, who immediately started to the rescue, but owing to the heavy sea running, they were forced to put back with the skiff.

Launches and tugs were summoned, but up to the present time no tidings of the young men nor of the canoe have been found.

Mr. Patterson was one of the fastest hockey players in this district, and was a member of last season's hockey club.

Three Were Drowned.

Binghamton, N.Y., Aug. 26.—By the capsizing of a sail boat late yesterday afternoon, three young people were drowned in Oquaga Lake, about three miles from Deposit.

MAUD DOWDALL KILLED.

Mr. Phipps' Heroic But Futile Attempt at Rescue.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Maud Dowdall, a little girl, aged 11, was instantly killed at Lorne Park yesterday by C. P. R. train No. 30, Conductor Osborne in charge. Maud, her mother and two other girls were coming from the park to catch the 2.30 train. C. P. R. No 30 being late, was coming along at the rate of fifty miles an hour. They attempted to cross the track, but misjudging the speed of the train, it was upon them in an instant.

Maud's two companions managed to jump clear. The engine struck her just behind the ear, killing her instantly and throwing the body many feet down the track.

J. F. Phipps, an elderly man, who was sent to Lorne Park by the Toronto City Mission, seeing the little girls' plight, made an heroic but futile attempt at rescue. The tender struck him, inflicting several nasty gashes around the head.

The father of the child is practising law at Spokane, Wash. The funeral will be from the home of her uncle, Thomas Mulvey, K.C., 125 Bathurst street.

Run Down By Train.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Garfield McDonald, 339 Dufferin street, while driving across the railway tracks at Windermere avenue yesterday afternoon, was run down by a C. P. R. westbound train. He was thrown high in the air, but beyond the rails, and was but little hurt. The horses escaped, but the wagon was wrecked.

Tornado Kills Four.

Jamestown, N.Y., Aug. 26.—A tornado swept through Chautauqua County late yesterday afternoon, leaving death and great destruction in its path. Parkhurst's Grove, where the Stockton town picnic was being held, was directly in the path of the storm. Five thousand people were on the grounds when the storm broke. Four persons were killed and several others were injured. At the assembly grounds of Chautauqua many trees were uprooted.

Killed By Lightning.

Pembroke, Aug. 26.—John Gould, aged 72 years, a farmer of Alice township, was struck by lightning and instantly killed yesterday.

Barns Burned.

Newtonville, Aug. 26.—The barn and most of the contents, belonging to William Walker, three miles east of here, was burned by lightning yesterday afternoon.

Struck By Lightning.

Port Robinson, Aug. 26.—During a severe storm that swept over this district about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a large barn on the farm of Henry Moyer, two miles southeast of here, was struck by lightning and, with the greater portion of the season's crops, was burned.

The Baby's Troubles.

The greatest suffering of childhood is caused by eczema, scald head, chafing or other forms of skin irritation or eruption. Because of its extraordinary, soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used would think of being without it in the house.

Dr. Willoughby Again.

Warkworth, Aug. 26.—The Conservatives of East Northumberland met yesterday. There was a good representation from all over the county. Dr. Willoughby was unanimously chosen to be the standard bearer for this riding.

Died at 125.

Washington, Ga., Aug. 26.—Caesar Booker, believed to be 125 years old, died here Wednesday. He came to Georgia ninety years ago as a slave from Virginia. Caesar leaves six children, the oldest of whom is 96 years old.

ESTIMATES OF THE CROP.

Winnipeg Grain Tourists Strike An Average of 44,000,000 Bushels.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—The weather now is ideal for harvesting operations, being warm, with drying winds. The harvesters continue to come in gradually. Cutting is by no means general as yet.

The main party of the Winnipeg grain dealers' excursion has returned, and is inclined to be optimistic, so far as rust is concerned. On the return trip each member of the party was asked to give an estimate of the probable yield of the western Canadian crop for 1904.

This was done and an average taken, making the estimated yield 44,000,000 bushels. A month ago the estimate was between 60,000,000 and 65,000,000, which makes a shrinkage of 30 per cent.

At Melita, Farmer Neely brought in the first load of fall wheat yesterday. It graded No. 1 northern and Oglivie & Co. paid $1 a bushel for it.

ARCHBISHOP IN MONTREAL.

Elaborate Program Arranged For His Stay in That City.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—According to present arrangements the Archbishop of Canterbury on his arrival here Sept. 1 will be met by the Archbishop of Montreal and the members of the special reception committee.

He will be dined by Sir George Drummond, and in the afternoon will be taken for a drive over Mount Royal and to see the principal points of interest.

In the evening a service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral, where Archbishop Bond will present an address to the primate and the latter will preach.

Following the service a reception will be held.

On the following morning service will be held at the cathedral, and at 1 o'clock the primate will be tendered a luncheon at the Windsor Hotel.

A garden party will be given in the afternoon, and in the evening he will be dined at Bishop's Court.

FIRE IN OIL FIELDS.

Morse Wells in Louisiana Fired By Friction in Pipe.

New Orleans, Aug. 26.—A long distance telephone from Jennings, La., says that three of the Morse oil wells are on fire and five other wells are in danger.

There seems little hope of saving the entire oil field from destruction.

The fire was caused by friction in the pipes of Morse well No. 6.

So far as known no one has been injured.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

To Protect British Consumer.

London, Aug. 25.—(C.A.P.)—The Financial News says our hopes of protecting the consumer from the assault of African speculators must depend on the freedom with which India released her stores, on the salvation of the Canadian crop, and the favor nature may show to the important crops, whose futures are still in the incipient stages—viz., Australia and Argentina.

GERMAN ENGINEERS VISIT LIFT LOCK.

They are Delighted With its Splendid Character and Perfect Working.

Very Strongly Impressed With Evidence of Canadian Progressiveness.

Yesterday the town and the Lift Lock were honoured by the visit of two distinguished German engineers, who came to town to see the Peterborough Lift Lock whose fame is becoming world wide. These gentlemen were Mr. Richard Eger, special counsellor of construction of Public Works and Deputy Minister, Berlin, Germany, and Mr. Nakong, counsellor of construction and director of navigation in the Baltic Sea, of Pillau, East Prussia. These two gentlemen together with two associates who are in Buffalo at present, were sent out by the German Government to study the waterway methods on this continent. Mr. Elgar is also in charge of the German exhibits at the St. Louis Exposition.

They were delighted with their visit to the Lift Lock yesterday. They were shown over the works and its construction principles and working explained to them by Mr. R. B. Rogers, C.E., Rev. Mr. Langfeldt acting as interpreter, as neither of the two gentlemen understand English. They were shown the working of the lock by an exhibit lockage and were simply delighted, stating that the lock and its working surpassed anything they had ever seen. They were also much interested in the cement work, which was a revelation to them, Canada being the pioneer in adopting concrete work to canal construction and it was entirely news to the visitors. Altogether the visitors were very strongly impressed with the evidence their visit afforded of the advanced character of Canadian methods of canal construction and their expression of appreciation coming from experts of large experience is deserving of great weight.

After the lift lock had been "done" the gentlemen were driven round town. They said they were greatly pleased with what they saw and remarked that Peterborough, in the way of advantages of various kinds was far in advance of provincial towns in Germany of corresponding size and population.

The party left last evening and will join their companions in Chicago en route for St. Louis and will return to Germany by way of New York, on September 15th.

These gentlemen are the forerunners of others who will visit Canada in the near future. The German Government has set aside an appropriation to be used in sending clever young engineer students on visits to America to study waterways, construction methods and some of these will be certain to visit Peterborough before very long time elapses.

—A man from Manitoba was blowing about the size of cabbages that grew there. The ex-Warden of Peterborough County said he couldn't say much about cabbages, particularly when the Manitoba man claimed that they grew them there as large as washtubs, but he knew, for he had seen it with his own eyes, that in Lindsay two policemen could sleep on one beet.

The Opening Saturday.

The semi-ready suits are certainly the best looking—the best made suits that have ever been seen in Peterborough. This is the opinion of one who has been favored with a private view. Saturday is the opening. From to-morrow the masculine portion of Peterborough who like something different and better in the way of dress will have an opportunity to satisfy their taste—and they will be able to assure themselves that their suit is just right before they buy.

MAKING THEIR EXIT.

Stony Lake Will Soon be Deserted of its Summer Visitors.

Every day sees an exodus of summer visitors from Stony Lake and in another week the beautiful summer resort will be comparatively quiet. The fact that September 1st is only a week away causes those at the lakes with children to wend their way homeward owing to the opening of the schools next week. The weather is also becoming cooler especially at nights and the summer camping season is about at an end. Every day parties are returning especially those from across the line of whom there were a large number at the lakes this year.

The season at Stony Lake this year has been a very pleasant one. The weather has been quite varied in its nature, but as has been the case throughout the province, there have been very few really hot days, such as make one feel that he is glad to be away from the city or town.

The boats have had a fairly good season, especially during this month when the traffic has been quite heavy. The extra boat on the service this season has made things more accommodating for the public.

LOCK WILL BE CLOSED AFTER LABOUR DAY.

Extensive Repairs to be Made at the Lock in the River.

The lock in the river at the south end of the town will be closed for repairs after Labour Day. September 5th. It is necessary to make extensive repairs to this lock and the work must be concluded before the frost sets in. New gates will be put in and the bottom will be lowered three feet. It will take some time to complete these repairs and as the excursion season will be practically closed by Labour Day it was deemed advisable to have the lock closed on that day. It is expected that the street cars will be running by that date so that passengers and freight will be conveyed to town on the cars.

THROWN FROM WAGGON— BROKE HIS THIGH BONE.

Wilbert Stewart Victim of an Accident Near Hastings Yesterday.

At Hastings yesterday Mr. Wilbert Stewart was the victim of a very painful and serious accident. He was driving a team of horses to the village when the animals became frightened and he was thrown from the waggon, breaking his right thigh bone. The break was a serious one and Mr. Stewart will be confined to his bed for many weeks. Drs. Berry and Coughlin, of Hastings, were summoned and set the fractured limb.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

Those Who Get Drunk and Cause Disturbance Must Pay.

At the Police Court this morning John Pogue was charged with being drunk and creating a disturbance such as was obnoxious not only to those in his house but to the neighbours. Several witnesses were produced and testified that the language used was very disgraceful. The magistrate said that it was his duty to see that people had their rights and if the defendant preferred to get drunk and cause disturbances he must suffer the consequences. He was fined $2 and costs or $8.35 altogether to be paid in ten days.

OUTRAGING PARK FLOWER PLOTS.

Central Park Visited and Flowers Stolen Last Night.

One of the malicious acts of depredation upon the flowers of the Park, was committed last night. Some evil-disposed person broke off a dozen fine panicles of bloom from the northern one of the two plots of hydrangeas, situated on each side of the drinking fountain. This is outrageous and is peculiarly vexing to Mr. B. Cooney, the caretaker of the park, who in addition to the beauty of the flower plots being impaired has the added annoyance of knowing that the special plots which he himself donated to the public, should be thus disrespectfully treated. The Horticultural Society which has charge of the Central and Victoria Parks, is naturally and justifiably indignant over this outrage, and officials of the Society informed the Examiner that a reward of $10 would be paid for the discovery and conviction of the nocturnal vandals guilty of the above crime, for it is a crime against the public. The parks are maintained in the public interest and flowers are planted to please the public eye, and if one person were allowed to pluck flowers and the example generally followed both parks would speedily be despoiled. Therefore the public should give every assistance in discovering the culprit or culprits, for it is not the Horticultural Society, but the public, that has been robbed.

The Wheel Came Back.

Like the battered cat of the story, the wheel came back, furnishing a new testimony to the effectiveness of the Examiner as an advertising medium. The advertisement of the lost wheel came under the eagle eye of the police, who communicated to the young man the fact that his treasure was in their hands—it had been arrested as a vagrant and "run in." The owner of the wheel is delighted with its recovery, but objects to paying for the advertisement on the grounds that, as it is to be donated to the museum, he should not be taxed for contributing to the benefit of the public.

CANADIANS GOOD FIGHTERS.

Opinions of a Boer Prisoner—Letter From Local Boy in Capetown.

A letter has been received from Mr. Geo. Daniels, who left some weeks ago for Cape Town, South Africa. He arrived safely, having had a most pleasant sail across the ocean. While at St. Helena, he visited the house in which Napoleon died and also the house where General Cronje lived while a prisoner. He took breakfast in a Boer prisoner's house and had a talk with him regarding the war. The Boer had a very high opinion of the Canadian soldiers, having fought against them at Paarderburg, Rustenburg and several other places. He said that had it not been for the great work of the Canadians the Boers would have won several battles. He said he never wanted to fight against the Canadians again and when Mr. Daniels told him that he had fought against him, he shook hands and said, "Well never mind, your good fellows, and I wish you luck." He said that South Africa was ruined now and that there would be cruel war again before two years as the Kaffirs were preparing for a struggle.

Mr. Daniels reached South Africa on July 28th and his letter was written from Cape Town.

WANTED FOR MURDER.

Information Wanted Regarding Recent Murder in Toronto.

The Chief of Police has received the following circular:—

On the afternoon of Tuesday the 2nd inst., a man and woman, having with them a male child from 7 to 9 months old, secured a boat at the Munro Park boat house in the eastern suburbs of this city and went out on the lake returning within an hour. At 1.15 p.m. the following day they went out again and in the evening the boat was found at the east end of the island where it had been abandoned about 4 o'clock by the man and woman who walked from that point to Centre Island and took the ferry across to Yonge street wharf where all trace of them has been lost.

On Thursday the 4th inst., the body of the child, which had been killed by a blow on the head, was found floating in the lake, evidently a clear case of deliberate murder.

As these people may have come from some outside point your assistance, with the aid of you local newspapers, is desired in our effort to trace them. We will have no difficulty in identifying them if they can be located.

Descriptions, Man—Probably 35 years of age, medium height, rather stout, broad face, prominent cheek bones, large nose wide at nostrils, dark hair and moustache, very large soft hands, wore a dirty grayish coloured suit, turned down collar, much soiled, a dark red neck tie and a soft black hat, appeared to be expert in handling a boat.

Woman—30 years of age, slender, and of medium height and complexion, dark eyes and hair, thin lips and gums noticeably red, wore a dark skirt, light coloured blouse, white hat and badly worn shoes fastened with a strap across instep, long neck chain to which was attached a locket which hung from her belt, a number of cheap looking rings on the fingers of right hand, but no wedding ring although she appeared to be enciente probably five or six months advanced.

Child—From 7 to 9 months old, well developed, full round face, very dark eyes, dressed in white with tight fitting white hood tied with pale blue ribbon, and white woollen bootees.

POLICE COURT.

A local hotelkeeper was charged with selling liquor in prohibited hours on two occasions, Sunday the 7th and 14th. Both charges were dismissed as the evidence was not conclusive. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. J. Haverson, solicitor of the Licensa Vitualers Association appeared for the defence.

NOTES FROM Y.M.C.A.

Fall Season Will Soon be in Full Swing at the Association.

In the course of a few weeks the fall season at the Y.M.C.A. will again be in full swing. The prospects for the coming year are better than ever and the membership promises to be larger than ever before. The gymnasium classes will open about the middle of September and with the very capable staff more interest than ever will be centred in the athletic department of the institution. The classes will be conducted by Mr. P. K. Holmes, physical director and Mr. Hutchinson, assistant.

The new physical director, Mr. Percy K. Holmes, of Yarmouth, N. S., is expected to arrive in town next Monday to assume charge of the physical work of the local Association. He comes very highly recommended and will no doubt prove a great assistance in promoting the work of the Association.

A splendid picture of the Arrow Basketball team, one of the fastest in the Senior Basketball League last year, is on exhibition in the Y.M.C.A. parlour. The picture, which is the work of Mr. R. M. Roy, is an excellent one. Those in the group are, — A. Hodgson, centre; H. Gillespie, forward; W. Fitzpatrick, forward; F. Richardson, back; M. Miller, back; A. Gillespie, back; E. G. Galley, manager; and F. S. McCoy, secretary-treasurer.

Though the gymnastic season has not as yet been formally opened, the gym. has been a scene of much activity during the mornings of this week when the Olympian games have been in progress. The contests have been open to all and about 15 contestants have been competing for the glory which is the only prize offered. The object of the contests is to prepare the athletes for the coming season and are of a preliminary nature. The contestants have been gradually dwindling down to the finals which were contested this morning between Percy Campbell and Ernie Best. These two young men have been running neck and neck throughout the series, the latter being the better on the straight events while Campbell proved more expert on the fancy contests and trick moves. Campbell won out this morning on the final contest on the high bar, but Best was in poor condition and will be given a further chance for the glory. The contests have been most interesting throughout.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN WATERLOO.

New Furniture Factory Completely Destroyed by Fire This Morning.

Special G. N. W. Despatches to the Examiner.

Waterloo, Ont., Aug. 26.—The large four-storey brick furniture factory controlled by the Canada Furniture Company was completely destroyed by fire this morning. The fire was caused by a lighted candle in the hands of the factory foreman, who was oiling the elevator machinery, coming in contact with some waste. The draft carried the flames up the elevator shaft and within a short space of time the whole interior of the factory was in flames. The loss on the building, machinery and stock probably will reach $125,000; insured in about 20 American and Canadian Companies for $68,000. Eighty-five men are thrown out of work by the fire.

THE RUST SCARE NOT WARRANTED.

Crops in Manitoba Will be Excellent This Year.

Harvesters Arriving in Winnipeg—Arrangements for Their Distributions.

(Examiner's Special Correspondence.)

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—The van of the huge army of harvesters who are wanted to assist in the work of garnering this year's wheat crop throughout the West arrived from Ontario about ten o'clock last night. They were a fine looking lot of young men and in spite of the long journey appeared to be in excellent spirits. The train carried about 700 passengers in all, a fair proportion of whom were women, who are coming west either to visit friends or help in the commissariat department of the work.

The second special arrived shortly after eleven bringing about 800, while the third section pulled in about four hours later with about the same number.

In spite of the lateness of the hour the arrivals received a hearty reception as there were fully a thousand Winnipeggers on the platform, attracted there either through curiosity or a desire to meet friends expected up from the east. Each train carried a large amount of baggage having attached from two to four cars for this purpose. No effort was made to distribute the arrivals last evening as there were no facilities for doing so, but it is expected that as the Manitoba crops are the farthest advanced of any in the West, the majority of them will remain in the province and will go to their various destinations by the branch lines either to-day or to-morrow.

On the platform of the old station several ticket wickets and information booths have been rigged up and the arrangements for handling the crowd is on a much larger scale than ever before. At these booths information with regard to the localities in which the men are needed is on file, and all requests for help will be filled. Many of those who have arrived have been in the West before and are going back with farmers who have previously employed them. Some too have secured work by mail, through mutual friends. There is some hesitency on the part of the farmers in sending in applications for farm hands till it is definitely learned as to the amount of damage, from the reported spread of rust, which may injure the yield and force a glut of men on the labour market. Should this develop the supply will easily fill the demand. The next party is booked to arrive on Thursday.

RUST REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

The shadow cast by the cloud of exaggerated reports claiming that the wheat crop of Manitoba and the Territories was suffering from black rust and was likely to prove a failure, is passing away before the light of true reports from the various districts. In many places, it is true, rust is prevalant but that two thirds of the crops will be ruined and worthless is simply a glaring untruth. It has now been discovered, on investigation, that the reports eminated in the first place from land companies in Minneapolis and St. Paul who by it hoped to stem the tide of American emigration to the Canadian West, for their own private benefit. Booklets were even printed and distributed broadcast throughout the North-western States offering lands "just as good" as those in Canada. For a time these wild reports created consternation and totally upset the equilibrium of the Grain Exchange. Now, however, that the truth has come to light and everybody assured that the prevalence of rust is but slight, and only confined to certain districts instead of being over the entire province and the territories, things have reassumed their natural aspect and the consensus of opinion is that this year's crop will yet be another record breaker.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE C.M.B.A., TORONTO.

The Deficit Matter Settled by Report of Special Committee.

Toronto, August 26.—Judge Landry, of St. John, N. B., reported for the special committee on the deficit difficulty to the C.M.B.A. convention last night. The report is a practical endorsation of the settlement made by the Executive, and it was adopted almost unanimously. This disposes of the most troublesome matter before the convention.

Most of the time of the morning and afternoon sessions was taken up with listening to a carefully prepared statement by Mr. Abb Landry, an expert actuary of Davenport, Iowa, on the state of insurance conditions in the association. The whole question of assessment and rates was explained. The trustees are of opinion that the present plan of assessment is capable of improvement but before recommending any change wanted expert advice. The plan pursued in the past has been to levy such assessments as are needed. During 1903 they numbered 17, but it is proposed to levy a flat rate according to age at entry, and collect the regular assessments monthly. The whole question will be discussed to-day.

The Committee on Laws presented their report, which was being discussed at the hour of adjournment.

Alex. Fraser and D. M. Robertson of the Sons of Scotland attended in the afternoon and extended fraternal greetings. On behalf of the C.M.B.A., J. A. Chisholm, Halifax, a Past President of the oldest Scotch society in his city, made a felicitous reply.

ANECDOTES OF WOMEN.

Some of the Best Recent Ones and Some That Are of More Ancient Vintage.

The spelling of our great-grandmothers was very uncertain. The old Duchess of Gordon, a leader of fashion in her day, used to say to her cronies: "You know, my dear, when I don't know how to spell a word I always draw a line under it; and if it is spelled wrong it passes for a very good joke, and if it is spelled right it doesn't matter!"

Tit For Tat.

A bright story is told of the accomplished wife of a well-known member of Parliament. When she was the admired Miss ——, of Derby, she was once at an evening party, and a fashionable, but somewhat vulgar, young dandy was asked by the hostess if he would like to be presented to the beauty.

"Oh, yes," said he, languidly, "trot her out."

It happened that Miss —— overheard the remark, and when the dandy was duly presented she slowly and coolly scanned him from boot to collar, and then, the survey finished, she waved her hand and carelessly said, "Trot him back!"

A Famed Beauty.

When Mrs. Langtry first appeared in London society, her artless beauty created something of a sensation. Sir John Millais painted her portrait and christened her "The Jersey Lily." A Regent street photographer, speaking of that period, once related the following story: "I remember on one occasion, when she first came to London, I came suddenly into the room and found her before the looking-glass. Turning to me she said, 'Oh! Mr. Van der Weyde, I am always rushing up to every mirror to see what on earth it is that people make such a fuss about. I am sure I can't see it.' She is a delightful sitter, so naive, so pleasant and unaffected."

Lady's Rhyme.

The following return was sent by a Yorkshire lady to the assessor of carriages, horses, male servants, dogs, etc.:

Not a male in our house,
Not so much as a mouse,
Nor a horse, nor a dog, as true written;
You can search house or ground,
And not a beast will be found,
But a hungry old cat and her kitten.

Signed the Pledge.

Miss Florence Macnaghton, of Runkerry House, Bushmills, North of Ireland, performed a swimming feat under very peculiar circumstances in 1887. Seeking to persuade a local fisherman to become temperate, the latter promised to do so provided Miss Macnaghton undertook to swim the bay between Blackrock and Port Ballantrae, a distance of about one mile. The young lady accepted the challenge, and duly accomplished the undertaking in thirty-nine minutes, with the result that the fisherman, true to his promise, donned the blue ribbon and signed the temperance pledge.

He Felt Small.

M. Lalande dined one day at the house of Recamier, the French banker, and at the table was seated between the celebrated beauty, Madame Recamier, and Madame de Staol, equally distinguished for her wit.

Wishing to say something agreeable to the ladies, the astronomer exclaimed, "How happy I am to be thus placed between wit and beauty."

"Yes, M. Lalande," sarcastically replied Madame de Staol, "and without possessing either!"

Useless Energy.

Here is a story told of one of the many lady nurses who went to South Africa during the late war. At a military hospital a lady nurse sat down beside a soldier's bed, and commenced to read aloud in a very impressive manner, with a view, no doubt, of helping the wounded hero to pass the time pleasantly. After she had gone on for a few minutes a kind-hearted "Tommy" in an adjacent bed called out:

"You're wasting yer time, miss. It's no good talking to 'im—'e's been dead an hour!"

Hannah's Way.

It was said of Hannah More, the famous authoress and philanthropist, who died in the year 1833, at the age of eighty-eight, that when she was told a tale against another in her village her reply usually was, "Come, we will go and ask if that be true." The effect was something wonderful. The tale-bearer, taken aback, would begin to say, "Well, perhaps, there might have been a mistake," and finally beg that no further notice be taken of the matter. But no; Hannah More would go there and then, taking the scandalmonger with her, to make inquiry and compare accounts. If all tale-bearers could be treated in that summary manner how few would be the tales told!

Complimentary.

A former Lady Lucan was heard to say a very neat thing to Mrs. Sheridan, wife of the celebrated wit and dramatist, who died in the year 1816. "You must certainly be a happy woman, madam," exclaimed her ladyship, "to have the felicity of pleasing the man that pleases all the world!"

Her Promise

Henry Carey, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, after having enjoyed Her Majesty's favor for several years, lost it in the following manner: As he was one day walking in the garden of the Palace, full of thought, under the Queen's window, she, perceiving him, called out in a jocular tone:

"What does a man think of when he is thinking of nothing?"

"Upon a woman's promise," replied Carey, promptly.

"Well done, cousin," answered Elizabeth.

She retired, but did not forget Carey's answer. Some time after he solicited the honor of a peerage, and reminded the Queen that she had promised it to him.

"True," said Elizabeth, "but that was a woman's promise!"

SUNKEN TREASURE.

The Bullion That Went Down in Vigo Bay 200 Years Ago.

An Italian company has been formed to recover bullion sunk in Vigo bay 200 years ago. It has found one of the old galleons at the very outset of its search, an anchor, a chain and some cannon having been brought up as evidence. The salvors have hopes of raising the vessel bodily and removing the contents at leisure. Vigo, a town in northwest Spain, has figured at least four times in the annals of English war. In 1589, the year after the invincible armada, Sir Francis Drake and Sir John Norris wound up an expedition to Portugal by capturing Vigo, burning the city and ravaging the country. It was in 1702, however, in the fighting days of Queen Anne, that the great "affair" occurred. As an old line has it, "in 1702 brave Rooke did strew the depths of Vigo bay with gold."

War had been declared with France, and Sir George Rooke, who had distinguished himself at La Hogue and afterward took Gibraltar while in command of the united British and Dutch squadrons, received information that Spanish galleons richly laden were then anchored at Vigo. On arriving there he found that the commander of the French escort had protected his convoy by placing them behind an enormous boom formed of masts, yards, chains, cables and casks, but, undeterred, the Torbay, under Vice Admiral Hopson, crashed through, to be very nearly destroyed, however, by a fire ship. It is said that the latter still had its cargo, which consisted of snuff, aboard, and when it blew up the snuff prevented the flames from making headway.

A complete victory was gained by the allied fleet. According to some accounts five galleons were among the prizes, which had on board 20,000,000 pieces of eight, besides merchandise of equal value. Of the silver fourteen millions were saved, and of the goods about five millions. Four millions of plate were destroyed, with ten of merchandise, and about two millions in silver and five in goods were brought away conjointly by the British and Dutch.

Transplanting Flowers.

In transplanting flowers soak them well first, then lift them out carefully with a trowel, taking a generous supply of earth with them.

An Unlucky Find.

A German tinker named Landsberg found a purse containing $110 at Rostok. He took it to the police station, where its owner claimed it and gave Landsberg a quarter. The disappointed finder shot himself.

He looked around with careful glance,
Then shook his head and sighed.
Again he cast his eyes askance
As though he'd like to hide.
He leaned against the back yard gate
And seemed to muse and meditate.

He felt within his inmost soul
A most consuming wish
To seize some bait, his fishing pole,
And hike away to fish;
But still he lingered round the lot
As if he could not leave the spot.

But, finally, with look intent,
He gathered up his lines,
And riverward the man was bent,
If one could read the signs.
It seemed that he'd made up his mind
To do just as he felt inclined.

Just then a woman's voice called "Jim!"
Just that word "Jim!" it said,
But, my! how it affected him!
He to the wood pile fled,
And there he seized the saw and buck
And sawed and sawed and blamed his luck.

Brought Her to Time.

"How is Charley coming on with that girl who insisted that he must do some heroic deed before she would marry him?"

"All right; they are engaged now."

"Did he perform some deed of valor?"

"No, he began to flirt with another woman."

Injured His Line.

"Talk about er hot campaign injurin' trade, dis quiet campaign is going to ruin our business."

"Dat's right. No free drinks in sight, and if it keeps on votes will not bring more dan two bits."

Curious Advertisements.

Some of the Japanese tradesmen in the smaller towns of Nippon have a curious way of advertising their business. On their right forearms they tattoo figures—the shoemaker a shoe, the woodcutter an ax, the butcher a cleaver. Underneath these emblems are such inscriptions as "I do my work modestly and cheaply," and "I am as good at my trade as most of my fellows." When they are looking for work they bare their arms and walk about the streets.

The Ruby as a Fruit.

The people of Burma believe that the ruby is a kind of fruit which will ripen if you give it time. They say that most rubies do not ripen simply because they are not allowed to do so. If you want to "ripen" the ruby in your ring, according to the Burmese idea, you must take your ring and lay it in the sun for one month without disturbing it at all, and at the end of that time it will be "ripe" and good to eat.

Two Pairs.

Mrs. Egerton Blunt—But why did you leave your last place? Applicant—I couldn't stand the way the mistress and master used to quarrel, mum. Mrs. E. B. (shocked)—Dear me. Did they quarrel very much then! Applicant—Yes, mum. When it wasn't me an' 'im it was me an' 'er.'

Vanity, Not Love.

Eleanor—She is very fond of him, isn't she? Gladys—Well, I don't think she's as fond of him as she is fond of having people remark that he is fond of her.

Useless.

O. R. A. MATCHES.

Three Complete Events on Wednesday—Shooting Above the Average.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Yesterday at the Ontario Rifle Association matches the program was more of a social one than on the opening day. After the Osler Cup match, E. B. Osler, M.P., president of the Association, gave a luncheon, and speeches urging the importance of rifle shooting were made by the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. J. M. Gibson and Mr. Osler.

There were three complete events on the card yesterday, the Macdonald, Osler and Duke of Cornwall and York matches, while the City of Toronto contest, begun on Tuesday, was completed. Pte. J. Straiton of the 37th, carried off the honors in the first named and Pte. G. Scheurer of the Q.O.R. in the second. In the City of Toronto finals, Corp. R. McGregor of the G.G.F.G., Ottawa, who led in the primary stage, maintained his position, and with a total of 116 points secured the gold medal and $25 cash awarded the winner. McGregor is one of the most consistent shots in Canada. He has been a competitor in association matches for years and has earned a splendid reputation.

There were about 320 entries in each of the four events decided yesterday, the list of entries being practically the same for each contest. The average of marksmanship in all four was above last year's.

To-day's great attraction will be the Tait-Brassey match, which is known as the militiaman's contest.

Quaint Story of Victor Hugo.

In the diary of Sir Montstuart Grant Duff the following story is told regarding Victor Hugo: An ardent admirer once said to Hugo: "The nation has never treated you quite properly; no street has been called after you; there ought to be a Rue Victor Hugo." "That will come, my children; that will come," said the master. Then another disciple took up the running and said: "A street! That indeed would be nothing; a whole quarter of the city should be called after you." "That will come, my children; that will come," said the master. Thereupon a third disciple joined in: "Paris should cease to be Paris, and be renamed City of Victor Hugo." "That will come, my children; that will come," said Hugo serenely.

Reflected Light.

A dead white surface has decided advantages for reflecting light over a looking glass or a bright surface. Good white blotting paper reflects back 82 per cent of the light cast upon it. Many persons are under the impression that a looking glass must be a better reflector than paper or whitewashed surface because with looking glass a strong shadow can be cast, while from a dead surface no heavy shadow is obtained. The reason is not so much that the reflected light is less from the dead surface, but that the reflection is concentrated in the case of the looking glass. With paper or whitewash it proceeds from a vast number of points.

From Over Study at School.

This Girl Became Pale, Languid and Nervous — Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Made Her Well.

Mrs. R. Wareham, 267 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"One of my children suffered a great deal with nervous headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, and in fact was all run down, pale and languid. These troubles were attributed to over study, and confinement at school. She began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can say that we have found this treatment exceedingly helpful. It has relieved her of headache, steadied her nerves and built up her system wonderfully. We can see a great change in her as the colour is returning to her face and she is gaining in flesh and weight."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 4

A LOST FRIEND.

My friend he was—my friend from all the rest;
With childlike faith he ope'd to me his breast.
No door was locked on altar, grave or grief;
No weakness veiled, concealed no disbelief
The hope, the sorrow, and the wrong were bare.
And ah! the shadow only showed the fair.
I gave him love for love, but deep within
I magnified each frailty into sin.

Each hilltop foible in the sunset glowed,
Obscuring veins where rivered virtues flowed.
Reproof became reproach, ill summed grew
The captious word at every fault I knew.
He smiled upon the censorship and bore
With patient love the touch that wounded sore,
Until at length, so had my blindness grown,
He knew I judged him by his faults alone.

Alone, of all men, I, who knew him best,
Refused the gold to take, the dross to test.
Cold strangers honored for the worth they saw;
His friend forgot the diamond in the flaw.
At last it came—the day he stood apart,
When from my eyes he proudly veiled his heart;
When carping judgment and uncertain word
A stern resentment in his bosom stirred.

When in his face I read what I had been,
And with his vision saw what he had seen.
Too late! Too late! O could he then have known,
When his love died that mine had perfect grown,
That when the veil was drawn—abased, chastised
The censor stood—the lost one truly prized.
Too late we learn—a man must hold his friend
Unjudged, accepted, faultless to the end.

NUTS AND BEANS AS FOOD.

Their Value Proved by the Department of Agriculture.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports most interesting experiments made by Professor Poffa of the University of California upon men engaged in hard manual labor most of the time and students working to support themselves while pursuing their studies. The professor says, "Nuts are the cheapest source of energy, peanuts ranging far ahead." The price, 3.6 cents per thousand calories of energy, is at less cost than any animal food or potatoes at 90 cents a bushel.

Peanuts deserve special mention because the cheapest domestic nut containing the highest percentage of protein, with maximum fuel value and minimum refuse. Ten cents, for instance, will purchase more protein and energy when spent for flour or meal, but these are raw materials, requiring considerable preparation before they are eaten. This is not necessary with fruits and nuts. Ten cents' worth of peanuts will contain about four ounces of protein and 2,767 calories of energy.

Although peanuts supply protein and energy for a smaller sum than bread, they are outranked by dried beans, which at 5 cents a pound will supply for 10 cents over 200 grams of protein and 3,040 calories of energy. If more peanuts and dried beans were used by the fruitarians the diet would be enriched and the cost decreased. Fifteen cents a day was the average cost with fruit, nuts, beans and a limited quantity of cottage cheese and eggs.

The Passing of the Pen.

"The typewriter has destroyed the golden future that we foresaw for our business," said a manufacturer of pens. "If the typewriter's field of usefulness keeps on enlarging there will scarcely be any need for pens fifty years hence."

The man sighed.

"When I entered the pen trade in my boyhood it seemed," he said, "that this, above all trades, was the one destined to spread. In my dreams I saw the whole world, educated at last, writing with pens of my make. Then the typewriter came. I sneered at it in the beginning. I called it a toy. But to-day it will do everything a pen will do. It will make out bills and cheques, address envelopes of every shape, make entries in all sorts of books. We penmakers are beginning to suffer from the typewriter's advent. Our business, instead of enlarging healthily, is shrinking a little like a man whom consumption has attacked. We are shutting down. We are laying off hands. It is easy to see that the day will come when pens will only be used for polite correspondence and for the signature."

Mexican Gods.

When the Franciscan friars first brought their religion to the Huichol Indians of Mexico the "new gods" were eagerly accepted by them, but they would not give up their native deities. They fancied that the more gods they had to pray to the surer they were to get their prayers granted.

Leather Trunks.

Grew So Fast He Died.

Physicians regard the case of Walter J. Ricks, a youth who died at the home of his parents in Lafayette, Ind., from the effects of too rapid growth, as one of the most remarkable in medical annals. Although but fourteen years old, young Ricks was over six feet in height, but slender. The development of his internal organs did not keep pace with that of his body and his limbs, and the strain on his heart resulted in injury to the vital organ and caused his death.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

HURRY UP!

Everywhere one hears that expression "hurry up!" It is a genuine Americanism expressive of the "rush" in which we live. Nothing is swift enough for us. We race against steam and lightning and find them slow. We grudge the time given to eating, and rush through meals as though life depended upon our haste.

Life does depend on our haste, but not in that sense. Look at the obituary columns of the papers and see how many prominent men are carried away by "stomach trouble," "acute indigestion" and other related diseases. Their lives have in general been sacrificed to the haste and rush of business which overlooked the fact that food can only nourish the body when digested and assimilated and that the digestive and assimilative processes can't be hurried.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures diseases of the stomach and the associated organs of digestion and nutrition. The source of all physical strength is food, properly digested and perfectly assimilated. By enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food "Golden Medical Discovery" increases and enriches the blood supply and sends new strength to every organ of the body.

"I was at one time as I thought almost at death's door," writes Mr. J. S. Hill, of Leando, Van Buren Co., Iowa. "I was confined to my house and part of the time to my bed. I had taken quantities of medicines but they only seemed to feed the disease; but I must say that 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me, and to-day I am master than I have been for twenty years. I am now forty-three years old."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser sent free to you on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound book, or 21 stamps for paper-covered to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HAVE CLIMBED TO THIBET.

The Advance of the British Met by Curses of Buddhist Priests.

History affords scarcely any parallel to the British expedition into that strange and mysterious country in the heart of the Himalayas known as Thibet. In reaching the high plateau where the Grand Lama rules supreme the British have performed an unprecedented feat in military engineering. They have had literally to climb all the way, and to climb and fight and also to carry along the supplies necessary for sustenance proved a task demanding courage, endurance and ingenuity.

A short time ago General Macdonald and Colonel Younghusband and the members of their expedition were reported encamped on the Tangla

BUDDHIST PRIEST OF THIBET WITH PRAYER WHEEL.

Pass, at a height of nearly 16,000 feet, an altitude exceeding that ever reached by any previous military expedition. They were then at the top of the stairs leading over the Himalayas into Thibet. Their way from that point on was over a road verging slightly downward toward Lhassa, the sacred capital. At many points in this precipitous route the Thibetans might have held the British at bay or overwhelmed them, but they used antiquated weapons and depended for their defence largely on the prayers and curses of their Lamas, or priests. These Buddhist priests carry prayer wheels, which they twirl to register their appeals to divine or demoniacal powers. Their curses upon the advancing British have failed to hinder their progress, and on Aug. 9, for the first time in history, British troops marched though the streets of Lhassa.

TRYING COIN OF THE REALM.

Findings at Recent Trial of Pyx in the London Mint.

An excellent example of the delightful art of wasting time is given in The London Gazette.

Therein is set out at great length and in solemn, high-flown language the verdict in the trial of pyx of the London mint, duly attested by twelve honest goldsmiths.

The pyx, it may be explained, is a box at the mint wherein is deposited one coin from every 15 pounds of gold and one from every 60 pounds of silver.

Every year a jury solemnly weighs these coins and reports on them.

With an acuteness of mind that is remarkable in a British jury, the goldsmiths have this year made several discoveries, which they intend as a shock for the nerves of the already harassed citizen, to whom money is always a trial.

They took 142 sovereigns and twenty-four half sovereigns, weighed them, and found them wanting. "We found," says the jury portentously, "that the amount of variation from the standard of a weight specified in the first schedule to the Coinage Act, 1870, was minus one-thousandth of an ounce (—.001 oz.) on the whole of such coins."

But this enterprising jury were not satisfied to rest on their laurels when they had made this amazing discovery. They were determined to probe the matter to the root. They took eight more sovereigns and three half sovereigns, and found that their "millesimal fineness varied from 916.30 to 916.96."

Still indefatigable in search of scandals, the jury ran through the whole gamut of the silver coins, and were amply rewarded by the second remarkable discovery that the amount of variation from the standard weight was again one-thousandth part of an ounce.

Worse was still to come. The unfortunate coins proved, under this searching cross-examination, to vary from the standard of fineness by .0003.

The jury make no comment on their discoveries. They present them in all their nakedness to an astonished world.

Willing to Let It Drop.

Two Irishmen serving in a British regiment were good chums until Rooney was raised to the rank of sergeant. Forthwith his chest expanded, and from that time on he looked down on McGrane.

One day McGrane approached Rooney and said:

"Mike—I mean sergeant—s'pose a private stepped up to a sergeant and called him a conceited monkey, phat wud happen?"

"He'd be put in the guard-house."

"He wud?"

"He wud."

"Well, now, s'pose the private only thought the sergeant was a conceited monkey, and didn't say a wurd about it. Wud he be put in the guard-house?"

"Ave coorse not."

"Well, thin, we'll lave it go at that."—London Globe.

An Indignant Judge.

An eminent English judge some years ago caught himself napping on the bench. He had nodded for some minutes over his notes. His head collapsed with a jerk in the direction of the desk, and he awoke. He opened his heavy eyes and looked angrily around. "Summon the caretaker," he said. The caretaker was summoned. "What do you mean, sir, by permitting such an intolerable temperature in this court?" demanded the judge. "Open the windows at once. If ever you permit the court to become so hot again while I am here I will commit you to prison without warning." The miserable man crept away. The court was already as cold as a vault, but the judge wanted to blame some one for his drowsiness.

Striking Coincidence.

By a somewhat striking coincidence, says The Tablet (London), contemporary portraits of Queen Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scots are coming into the market within a few days of each other. One is a portrait of Elizabeth by F. Zucchero, signed with his monogram and dated 1587, the year of Mary Stuart's execution. The other is an oval miniature of Mary by Nicholas Hilliard, portrait painter to the Court of Elizabeth, and is inscribed in gold "Anno Dom. 1581."

MAN OF THE MOMENT

BRITISH SECRETARY OF STATE FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS SO REGARDED.

His Energetic Protest to Russia With Reference to the Seizure of British Merchantmen by Vessels of the Czar's Volunteer Fleet Converted What Might Have Been a Serious Misunderstanding Into a Commonplace Episode.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, England's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is regarded just now as the "man of the moment" by his countrymen because of his prompt action with reference to the seizure of British merchantmen by vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet in the Red Sea. His energetic protest converted what might have been a serious misunderstanding between the two nations into a commonplace episode. The treaty of arbitration with France, which he was recently successful in negotiating, has beyond doubt had a material effect in forcing the Russian Government to abandon her policy of diplomatic "bluff" and adopt a more reasonable attitude towards others, of which the early acknowledgment of the impropriety of the course of her naval officers is one of the first fruits. Lord Lansdowne was Governor-General of Canada 1883-88, Governor-General of India 1888-93, Secretary of War 1895-1900, and Foreign Secretary since the retirement of Lord Salisbury in 1900.

GOSSIP OF THE GRIDIRON VICTORIAS TO PLAY SENIOR

Last Year's Intermediate Champions Take a Higher Step—Rugby Notes.

Captain Gowans of the Victoria Rugby Club of Toronto, has made the statement that the Vics will play in the senior O.R.F.U. series this year. He says that they have the pick of Toronto and will have a first class team. The Vics won the intermediate championship from Peterborough last year chiefly through the fact that their half-back line was superior to that of the locals. They played the Westmounts of Montreal for the Dominion Championship, but were defeated.

• • • •

With the Victorias out of the intermediate series and the Wellesleys a doubtful proposition, the situation in this series of the O.R.F.U. does not look any too bright. Last year there were only three teams, Victorias, Wellesleys and Peterborough in the intermediate series.

• • • •

The Argonauts of Toronto have not yet decided whether to again enter the O.R.F.U. series. Many of their players are in favour of the old scrimmage style of play and would like to apply for admission to the Quebec Union where this system is in use. The matter will be decided shortly.

• • • •

The Torontos have decided to enter teams in the three series of the O. R.F.U. this season and expect to be strongly represented in each series.

• • • •

The Central Y.M.C.A. team of Toronto will enter a team in the junior O.R.F.U. series.

• • • •

It is to be hoped that the City League will again be in existence this fall in Peterborough. Last year some excellent games were witnessed and it was shown that there is plenty of material in town to fill the vacancies caused by the old players dropping out if this material is only properly developed. The earlier a man starts the game of rugby, the better player he will be and it is in the City League that the local boys should learn the game.

• • • •

Surely Peterborough is not going to drop out of rugby this year after the record of the past? Last year was the first for many years that either a Provincial or Dominion championship has not come to town and the boys should be imbued with the spirit to regain the honours lost last year. And there are plenty of players in town to form a team which can bring back a championship and it is to be hoped that as the fall approaches the interest in rugby will increase and that all the men who play the game will turn out and lend a hand.

• • • •

The suggestion has already been made in these columns that efforts be put forth to have the Driving Park put in shape for rugby purposes. The greatest drawback to rugby in town during the past years has been the question of finances. Rugby is an expensive game, especially as regards travelling and as the gate receipts have as a rule been small, the boys have had to struggle along and often go down in their pockets to cover expenses. But it is thought that were the games played in the Driving Park, a suitable gate could be collected and with the aid of the street cars the game could be made to be a playing proposition.

• • • •

It was learned to-day that the Review sports are preparing for rugby. After being defeated twice at hockey and the same number of times at baseball, our contemporaries have become desperate and claim that in rugby they will have their revenge. They say that the old style scrimmage game is what they desire. The Examiner's advice to them is that they can't start practising too soon.

• • • •

Mr. Edward Bayly, one of the best authorities on Rugby in Canada, when asked what he thought of the New Burnside Rules, said:—

"Well, I have only seen three or four games under the new rules, and I can hardly tell yet. They are much more open,, but I think they have not reached their final development. One season is not a sufficient time to test rules. The only games with them that I have seen were very pretty, but the weak point of the rules seems to be that they have a lot of forwards standing off-side, who are forbidden to do anything, and I think by the time the novelty has worn off, these men will be doing things on their own account, and the referees won't be able to prevent them, and then the Union will be up against the old problem of wing interference, and will either have to come to the American game or go back."

slavish imitation

"There is one thing," added Mr. Bayly, "which I think prevents the development of football in Canada a good deal, and that is, that as a rule a man who is a good player is a good imitator, and picks up football because he sees other fellows play. The result is that when a team wins a championship, their good and their bad points are both imitated almost slavishly, and so you often find a team that plays a very good defence and a bad attack, abandon their good defence, for instance, in favour of the defence of the team which won the championship, and which may very likely not be as good a one as their own. I could give you several instances of that sort of thing. There was such imitation of the Osgoode Hall team of 1892, and of the Ottawa College team. You see it right along."

BASEBALL.

Saturday's game between the Auburns and T.A.S. should provide one of the most interesting contests of the season. Whenever these teams have met in the past the game has been very close, the score in the last game being 5-4. No one should miss next Saturday's game.

• • • •

The Peterboroughs go to Oshawa to-morrow to play a league game with the team of that place. Oshawa won here by 2—1, and the locals are confident of reversing the score to-morrow. The Oshawa team must win to be in the running.

• • • •

It looks like Lindsay for the Midland League championship, though the Scugog town team will have to play ball to win in Bowmanville and in Peterborough. Oshawa is playing fine ball at present but it looks as though they have started too late as the team dropped four games at the start.

• • • •

To-morrow afternoon's game between the Auburns and T.A.S. is attracting considerable interest in baseball circles. The teams always play fast ball when they meet and the final game to-morrow should be a corker. Both club artists, McCorry and Quinlan are pitching very effectively and with proper support the score will be a small one. One of the best games of the season is assured.

• • • •

The Torontos dropped another game to Newark yesterday by 4-2. The Canucks were weak with the stick. Montreal, however, lost again and the Canadians are still in fifth place.

• • • •

At Bowmanville yesterday the home team won from Cobourg in a Midland League game by 8-7. The play was very keenly contested. Hooper and Weekes were at the points for the winners and Downs and Floyd for Cobourg.

The Port Hope Guide in its account of the game there won by Lindsay by 8-4 says:—

"Providence favoured the ball team with ideal weather yesterday and one of the largest crowds of the season gathered at the park to witness the game between Lindsay and the local team. This match was eagerly looked forward to as the Lindsay team was the league leader and looked upon as the speediest nine of the league. Cobourg and Bowmanville were also greatly interested as the result of this contest had much to do with their championship chances. A loss for Lindsay would have placed Bowmanville, Cobourg and Lindsay with two losses each. But no, it was not to be and the locals came out with the small end of the score, which was 8-4.

It was a good exhibition of ball and the result was in doubt until the last man had been called out. What little luck there was Lindsay had it. Workman drove a fly to left field which was lost in the grass and he and Stalker scored. But then there is no use making excuses; they won on their merits. Their outfield simply outclassed ours and there was never a ball that went in reach of them that was not gathered in. The pitching honours were about even, but there was a couple of weak spots on our infield that needed to be strengthened.

Then the Lindsayites are all good batters and their hits just came when needed. On the other hand the locals seldom made a hit except when two men were out and the runner was generally left on 2nd or 3rd. A change in the battery order as suggested some time ago might easily remedy this and assist very materially in winning the flag for the season.

Our old friend Bill Cinnamon still retains his pugnacious disposition and created much amusement for the spectators. Bill looks for every chance to kick and yesterday the wind flowed more freely than usual.

Pethick for the locals pitched a splendid game, fielded well and had a hit for every time at bat.

The feature of the game was the one hand catch by Henderson after running to deep centre. "KH" was loudly applauded.

The next game will be with Peterborough probably a week from Saturday.

THE TRIGGER.

The regular shoot of the Peterborough Gun Club, postponed from last week, was held yesterday afternoon and in spite of the strong wind blowing at the time some good sport was enjoyed. Following are the scores:—

Event No. 1, at 10 birds.—C. James, 8; L. Hall, 6; C. Woods, 5; R. Neill, 3; W. McGregor, 3; R. Brown, 1.

Event No. 2, at 10 birds.—L. Hall, 9; C. James, 6; C. Wood, 6; W. McGregor, 5; R. Brown, 4; R. Neill, 2.

Event No. 3, at 5 birds.—C. James, 4; C. Wood, 3; R. Brown, 3; L. Hall, 2; W. McGregor, 3; R. Neill, 1.

LACROSSE.

The team, it will be remembered, had a remarkably creditable record last season reaching the semi-finals in the junior C.L.A. series. The following members of the club are asked to go to Roy's studio and have their picture taken in civilian clothes:—R. Glover, W. Galley, H. Morgan, E. Dillon, G. Mein, H. Dunsford, Geo. Robertson, W. Cavanagh, E. Best, S. Wasson, F. Clarke, H. Rush, H. R. H. Kenner, A. A. McPherson, V. Hamilton, T. Glover, S. Ketchum, Freeman, H. Flynn, B. Rickey.

A big crowd of supporters is expected to accompany the T.A.S. Lacrosse Team to Havelock on Saturday to witness the final game in the T.V.L. The Havelock boys are determined to win the match though they can hardly hope to win in the round and a fine contest is assured. The red and black are in fine shape and should add another victory to the already long string.

• • • •

Lindsay won from Millbrook at the former place on Wednesday by a score of 6-2 in a lacrosse game.

• • • •

The Tecumsehs won at Fergus by 2-1 on Wednesday in a closely contested game.

• • • •

The T.A.S. lacrosse team and supporters will leave for Havelock to-morrow morning on the regular 11.35 C.P.R. train. A special rate has been secured and a large crowd is expected to take in the trip and cheer the red and black to victory. This is the last game of the season in the Trent Valley League and it will no doubt be the best of the year. The Havelock boys are determined to win the match and will exert every effort to become the only team to defeat the T.A.S. this season. The Total Abstainers have a lead of six goals on the round and should increase this by a few points in to-morrow's game. Come along and help the boys add another championship to Peterborough.

• • • •

In the intermediate C.L.A. series yesterday Bradford beat Orillia by 4-1. The former, however, wins the round by 9-5.

• • • •

The game to practically decide the championship of the senior C.L.A. series will be played at the Island to-morrow between Brantford and the Tecumsehs.

THE TRIGGER.

On the last day of the O.R.A. meeting in Toronto yesterday, Pte. R. A. Wilson of the 57th scored 86 points for a prize of $3. Col.-Sergeant W. H. Moore scored, 87 for a like sum of money.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Inc'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

August 25th, Thursday evening.—S.S. pfd has now advanced 13 points since we advised its purchase 3 weeks ago, and we would take profits around 48. Buy some Rdg will advance to 54 before 54. St.P. made a new high point, getting up to 153 5-8 and Pa made a new high price by selling at 125, both are good for about six points more on this move. Ill C sold at 139 to-day; it will sell at 150 soon. Our other bull favourites such as Bo., N & W Co, Tex, So R, Rk, SP, UP, Mop Wab pfd, Con Gas, PO, ACP, Erie, Lead, LSQ, CFI, TCI, etc., are all advancing steadily but surely to a much higher level. We can only advise you to stay long and to buy more on any 1 1-2 point reaction should such a set back take place; Sug may be bought below 130, but would stop it around 128. Would not buy May wheat—it ought to go to 100. If not lower before starting on another record breaking advance. Wall Street Information Bureau.

There are signs of an approaching reaction, Whether or not it will be general or specific we cannot yet determine. We would exercise caution on the long side, selecting stocks that have not had a recent advance of substantial proportions for they will be made strong to cover selling and other issues. Should the professionals aggressively attack certain issues like ACP, Atch, Mop, Rdg, S P and UP which are in a position for a natural recession of a moderate nature. The market is slowly creeping up a general attack might cause it to lose in day the gain of a week.

THE JAPS ADVANCING ALONG WHOLE LINE

Kuropatkin Must Fight or Retreat—if He Can.

FIERCE FIGHTING NOW ON

General Engagement Progressing in Manchuria After a Comparative Lull of Four Weeks in the Fighting—Russian Commander Sends Czar News of Advance on Liandiansian—Affairs at Port Arthur.

Kantzertun, 7 miles southeast of Liaoyang, Aug. 27.—The Japanese are advancing along the whole line of the Russian eastern front. On Aug. 24 there was a rifle skirmish and the next day the Japanese artillery opened fire. On both days the firing ceased at dusk, and the small energy displayed by the Japanese might have been taken to indicate that it was merely a demonstration or a reconnaissance in force. On the morning of the 26th, however, the rifle and artillery fire was renewed with an energy that left no doubt that a severe battle was intended. The Japanese pushed their attack against the Russian right flank and centering their fire on the first battery of the third brigade. Three officers and several men were wounded early in the day, but the battery held its position and replied to the Japanese fire with such marked effect that Gen. Ivanoff, who commands Lieut.-Gen. Kellerjs corps, sent a congratulatory message to its commander. The Japanese several times attempted to cross the Tankcho (Liank River), but only a few succeeded and these were forced to hide in the fields of Chinese corn. At 2 p. m. the artillery fire became as hot as it was at Vafangow, but it fluctuated considerably, and occasionally the Russian fire almost silenced that of the Japanese. Rain fell in torrents at 4 o'clock.

After Four Weeks.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—After four weeks' interval the Japanese have resumed their advance against Gen. Kuropatkin's positions. The opposing armies are in contact east and south of Liaoyang and fighting has been in progress since Wednesday. The advices at hand are too meagre to enable the officials to form a correct opinion as to whether it will result in a general engagement, but the extent and character of the Japanese movement leads to that conclusion. Since the rains ceased a week ago there have been continued intimations that Gen. Kuropatkin was about to assume the offensive, but instead of that it was the Japanese who attacked the Russian commander's eastern and southern positions.

Advance on Liaodiansian.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following despatch, under date of Aug. 25, from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"On Aug. 24 the Japanese delivered an attack in the Valley of Sundakhya from Tantzuputzy. The Japanese advance was checked at 3 p. m. at Liaodintau by a Russian company, five men being wounded.

"The same day two Russian companies resisted the advance of the enemy in superior force at Sunoinpu. The Japanese suspended operations. The Russian losses were one officer wounded and fifty-three men killed or wounded.

"On the evening of Aug. 24, the Japanese having repulsed our outposts, occupied the heights to the southeast of Liandiansian and constructed earthworks and entrenchments on the heights.

"At 5.40 a.m., Aug. 25, one of the enemy's batteries opened fire on the village of Kofintza. A Russian battery returned the fire successfully, notwithstanding the considerable distance of the Japanese guns, and silenced the latter, compelling the gunners to take to cover.

Japs Forced to Retire.

"Since the morning of Aug. 25, a force of the enemy, consisting of one brigade of infantry, with four batteries, has marched through the Sundakhya Valley and repulsed two companies of our troops. In advancing down the valley one company of Japanese advance guard came under the fire of our battery, apparently suffering heavy loss, and was forced to retire.

"On the morning of Aug. 25, the enemy placed in position two batteries in front of Liandiansian and bombarded our advance post position. After a brisk exchange of fire the enemy's infantry appeared from Erbakhe, moving towards Kaminsa. In the artillery duel which ensued our batteries silenced the Japanese guns.

"About 11 a.m. our advance post remained on the main position, and the Japanese infantry occupied the wooded heights west of Kaminsa, near Tassintun. Towards noon, Japanese guns were observed near Erbakhe with a division of infantry. Four batteries were seen to be concentrated between Kaminsa and Katassai. About 2 p. m., a Japanese mountain battery, which was advancing along a ridge toward Tassintun, was held up by our guns and was prevented from occupying the position held by another battery which was silenced after suffering heavy loss.

"At 3 p.m. large bodies of the enemy were observed constructing entrenchments on the heights south of Sanpu, and at 4 o'clock a Japanese mountain battery appeared on the heights west of Kaminsa, but retired. At 5 p.m. a Japanese force of at least two divisions of infantry was advancing against the Russian positions at Liandiansian."

JAPS CLUTCH PORT ARTHUR

Russians Driven Back Inch By Inch, But End In at Hand.

Che Foo, Aug. 27.—According to information from trustworthy sources the present position at Port Arthur is as follows:

Eastward from Takushan to the Wolf Mountains the country is in the occupation of the Japanese, who have mounted 300 heavy guns besides field artillery. The guns include ten 6-inch quick firers, manned by a naval brigade, and also weapons brought from the principal forts of defence in Japan. They are able to shell the town.

The Russians, besides heavy guns, have constantly at work 100 light pieces of quick firers

To the Westward of Etseshan fort, which has been captured, a road leads to the parade ground, but the infantry are unable to advance on account of land mines.

Between Two Fires.

From the heights the Japanese are able to shell the eastward forts, which are thus caught between two fires.

Pigeon Bay fort has been taken, but Liaotishan fort is still in the hands of the Russians.

To the north the Japanese are at Palienchcng. Their infantry and advanced guards have pressed several times beyond the inner forts, but have been repulsed.

There are Japanese spies in Port Arthur engaged in cutting the electric circuits connecting the land mines. The besiegers cannot advance eastward until the forts are silenced.

The capture of Etseshan is regarded as opening a successful way to the westward.

The attack is being pressed on all sides simultaneously and the Russians are fighting inch by inch.

Some Chinamen, whose junks, left Port Arthur eighteen hours ago, confirm the capture of Etseshan. The whole of the west coast of the peninsula is now in the occupation of the Japanese, who examine all junks leaving the harbor.

Ships Under Fire.

They maintain a heavy shell fire, making the position of the ships in the harbor untenable.

Fighting is continuous, and the belligerents are unable to bury their dead. Hence the effluvia from the decompostion of the bodies is making life in the town unbearable.

The harbor is described as boiling with the splash of falling shells. It is estimated that three thousand projectiles have been received in three days. Never was such a line of intrenchments and wire entanglements as that constructed near the town.

Three Numbered Five.

A Russian, who has intimate knowledge of Port Arthur fortifications, explains that there are three forts known as No. 5. This accounts for the various and conflicting reports regarding fighting at No. 5.

The Fall Inevitable.

Boston, Aug. 27.—The fall of Port Arthur is inevitable, according to Baron Kentaro Kencko, the special envoy of the Mikado of Japan to the country. Baron Kentaro added in a statement to the press yesterday that the capture of the fort was certain to come, not only because Japan planned to spend, if necessary, from 40,000 to 50,000 men in its capture, but because also, the whole population of Japan regards it as a point of national honor that the port should be retaken from the Russians and returned to the nation into whose possession it rightfully came ten years ago.

Baltic Fleet on the Move.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—The Baltic fleet, which sailed from Cronstadt Thursday night on a ten days' trial cruise, consisted of twenty warships. The fleet consists of the battleships Souveroff (flagship), Borodine, Alexander III., Oslaabia and Orel, the cruisers Dmitri Donskoi, Aurora, Zemtchug, Izumrud and Almaz, and the transports Okean and Kamtchatka, with a number of torpedo boat destroyers.

While it is officially stated that the fleet is bound on a trial cruise, it is believed by many people that the warships will not return to Cronstadt unless in the case of a serious breakdown, but that they will put into Libau, where they will be joined by auxiliary cruisers, colliers and torpedo boat destroyers, built at Libau and Reval, and there await the ultimate start for the Far East.

CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH HAS UNDERGONE IMPROVEMENTS

Services Will be Held in the Church To-morrow.

After holding service for four Sundays in the lecture room of the church the Charlotte street congregation will worship in the church again to-morrow. The building has been undergoing repairs during the past few weeks and has as a result been vastly improved in its appearance. The outside has been painted while the interior has been thoroughly cleaned and renovated. The ceiling has been papered in a very, appropriate shade the walls have been calcimined, the seats varnished and fitted with new cushions. The pulpit dais and choir loft have been newly carpeted and a new pulpit and chairs have been supplied. Altogether the changes have greatly improved the building and the congregation will no doubt be glad to return to-morrow to the church in its much more attractive and pleasing state. A new row of pews has also been put in which will provide about twenty more sittings.

Rev. R. B. Beivis who has been conducting the services this month in the absence of the pastor will preach his last sermons to-morrow. In the evening he will give an address on six years with the Indians of British Columbia and Alaska. There will also be special singing on Sunday.

On Sunday, September 4th, special opening services will be held when it is expected that a large number of the congregation who have been away for the summer will have returned. Rev. Dr. Orothers of George Street Church will preach in the morning.

NORTH BAY TOWN AND ITS GROWTH AND PROGRESS

Rev. Father Scollard Brings Reports of its Prosperity.

Rev. Father Scollard, of North Bay, who has been in townt he past week at the Retreat at St. Peter's Cathedral gave the Examiner a friendly calit o-day. He will spend the coming week among home associations in Ennismore, and return on Saturday to North Bay. Rev. Father Scollard is having a successful pastorate. He is erecting a new church which, when completed and equipped, will have cost about $50,000. This illustrates the rapid growth of the north and the stimulating influence of railway construction in developing new regions. In a town where less than twenty years ago $50,000 now devoted to the erection of a single church, would have been more than enough to buy the whole place. The history of the town dates largely from the construction the Canadian Pacific Railway. Its growth, thanks to railway construction, has been rapid and it will continue, for the people of the town expect large results from the building of the Temiscamingue Railway which starts from North Bay. Building railways is more conducive to building up a country than building fortifications.

PORT ARTHUR REPORTED AS VIRTUALLY FALLEN

No Details Till Fighting Ended—General Kuroki and Oku Have Joined Forces in Liao Yang.

(Special G. N. W. Dispatch to the Examiner.)

London, Aug. 27.—The correspondent of the Evening Standard at Tien Tsin says: "I have good reason to believe from private information, which I have received, that the Japanese have effected an entrance to Port Arthur, and that the fall of the fortress, consequently is virtually accomplished." Despite the fact that an entrance has been effected at Port Arthur the correspondent says that the Japanese will not make any announcement until all the fighting is ended. The correspondent adds that the entrance was made by way of the Itzeshan fort. The Japanese occupied Pei Yushan and the parade grounds within the forts at dawn on Aug. 24th, from which they swept down an uncessing fire throughout the day. The losses were heavy. The correspondent adds that the courage of the Japanese troops was undaunted.

SATURDAY, AUG. 27, 1904.

"INDEPENDENT" JOURNALISM.

The Toronto News, an "Independent" journal, is pathetically solicitous for the good name of prominent Conservatives in respect of charges arising out of the bye-election petitions, while it is significantly indifferent to the good name of prominent Liberals in the same connection. It bewails the charges against prominent Conservative politicians, and demands that the reckless Liberals shall prove them or "quit." This demand, if it were fair and impartial—if it applied to the public men of both parties included in such charges—would be quite, and not partially, justifiable. The News asserts that, if the "Liberal managers" fail to put the men, incriminated by the charges in question, under examination, or "neglect to establish their charges by other satisfactory evidence, they will stand out before the country as malicious and reckless defamers." This is all very well as far as it goes, but what about the Conservative "managers" who have brought equally sweeping charges against leading members of the Liberal party? Herein is proclaimed the spurious independence of the journal in question. It poses as an "independent" and pretends to impartially condemn political corruption, but the moment any action is taken or movement made in the direction of bringing home corrupt acts to Conservatives, the "independent" News resents such action with the utmost heat and inferentially condemns the persons, who bring such charges, as "malicious and reckless defamers," and by inference pronounces such charges, even in their first sub-judice stage, as utterly unfounded and gratuitous inventions. The News has always been, is now and doubtless always will be, the most partizan political sheet published in Ontario—almost as rabid anti-Grit as the "independent" Montreal Star—carrying on its crusade in Conservative party interests, under the false flag of pretended independence. In the ordinary affairs of life such an attitude would be rightly called hypocritical; the Conservative organ and its admirers would doubtless call it fine diplomacy. The News has the right to espouse any political cause it sees fit to do, but it has no right, or rather honourable warrant, to swagger as an independent journal with a special mission to condemn political corruption in both parties, and then neutralize its condemnation of one party by subservient partisanship the moment any steps are taken to bring such corruption home to the perpetrators. The journal plays the role of independent malladroitly, and in a way to deceive only the most callow political innocent.

State ownership, says the Montreal Herald, would be a cause they are a monopoly. The Australians have perforce to use the state owned railways. In Canada, however, the experiment of state operation of a railway west of Montreal would have to be made in competition with well-managed private roads. The experience of Germany, Belgium, France and Italy has been that where there is competition between private managed and state operated railways, the latter come out at the small end of the horn. This would be the experience of Canada too if she were mad enough to sink two or three hundred million dollars in a transcontinental railway. If Canada ever decides to go into the operation of railways on a large scale it will be necessary to go to the extreme of nationalizing every mile of railway within its boundaries. A venture of these proportions Canada can well afford to leave to a later generation.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL COMMISSION.

Toronto Star.

The Opposition press is astonished and shocked over the fact that the Government Commission which is to build the railway from Winnipeg to Moncton is not composed of well-known and long-experienced railway men.

But where such men should be sought the Opposition press does not say. A well-known and long-experienced railway man must have been connected with some well-known and powerful railway. Of these we have practically only two in this country—the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific. Now, what would the opposition press have said if the Government had chosen its Commission from among the high officials of either of these systems?

Would anyone suggest, for instance, that men high in the confidence of the Canadian Pacific should be chosen to build a line of railway which is intended to form an important part of a new transcontinental line that is to be the great rival of the C.P.R.? The building of the Winnipeg-to-Moncton link will not take forever. These men would know that in the comparatively near future they would be out of a job; and all their past associations with the Canadian Pacific would lead them to anticipate re-employment by that company when their work for the Government was completed. Be they ever so honorable men, they would be human; and the public generally will feel that it would not be proper to entrust the construction of a great rival road to men whose sympathies and interests bind them to the service of the Canadian Pacific.

But if the Commissioners could not be selected from the offices of the C.P.R., will the Opposition maintain that they might have been chosen from among the servants of the Grand Trunk? Imagine the noise that would have been made by the entire Opposition chorus if the Government, which is now accused of having been too friendly to the Grand Trunk, had actually gone to Mr. Hays to suggest the men from his own staff who should represent the nation in the building of this part of the Grand Trunk Pacific, an operation in which the Grand Trunk itself has a right to take an interest! We should have heard the Ministers asked why they did not frankly abdicate in favour of Mr. Hays—why they made any pretence of having anything to say about the building of half of the road—why they did not put up the Grand Trunk sign at once over the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa.

But if the appointment of Canadian Pacific men was inadvisable, and of Grand Trunk men impossible, where was the Government to get its well-known and long-experienced railway men to serve on the Commission? If the Intercolonial has any such, it does not have them to spare. That line cannot at this particular time be weakened at any point without real treachery to the best interests of the nation. The only thing left for the Government to do, if it insisted upon experienced railway men, was to go abroad for them. It might have named a Commission of American railway men, for instance; but how long would it have taken the Opposition to raise a "native" cry and clamor for their deportation?

Nothing is more certain than that the country wanted this Canadian Commission, empowered to spend Canadian money on a Canadian railway to be composed of Canadians. Then, as there were no Canadian railway experts available, there was nothing to do but to select good business men from different parts of the country, who would bring business principles and experience to bear upon this purely business task. They will have expert advice of the best quality; but the responsibility and the power of decision will be in the hands of Canadians who are not connected with either of the two great railway companies in the Dominion. It is easy to flout at this course; but we have yet to hear a reasonable substitute for it proposed. When Sir John Macdonald formed his "Syndicate" to build the Canadian Pacific, he did not choose railway experts;

We conceived the Semi-ready idea in 1898.

We believed then that menfolk would appreciate buying their suits at the three-quarter finished stage.

With the inner parts basted only to the outside shell of the fabric—the seams left with outlets.

We believed that every wearer of good clothes would like to see his suit tried on before he bought—to forejudge the effect of style—fabric—color—fit and the thousand and one features that go to make up a perfect suit.

We recognized the prejudice that existed among these well-dressed men for the custom tailor—for we were custom tailors ourselves.

To overcome that prejudice—to make our idea a success—we recognized from the start that we had to tailor better suits than the best custom tailor.

That we are opening a sales branch in this city is one more indication that we hold sincerely to our original intention.

For we had but two selling branches in Canada in 1898—one in Toronto and one in Montreal.

To-day we have thirty!

And to-day competition is keener—there is hardly a ready made clothing concern which does not sew white basting stitches all over their suits in pretense that they are made to the basting stage of Semi-ready.

To-day the custom tailor will tell you his suits are "just as good" as Semi-ready.

We want you to see these Semi-ready suits, in which we take so much pride, for yourself—will you please accept our invitation to come in and look them over.

We will be pleased to consider you our visitor if you do not think of purchasing.

CAN'T SAY ENOUGH IN THEIR FAVOUR.

Why Miss Gusty V. Campbell Recommends Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to all Her Friends who Have Stomach Troubles.

"I cannot say enough in favour of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," so says Miss Gusty V. Campbell, Little Shippegan, Gloucester Co., N. B. Of course Miss Campbell has reasons for making a statement like this and here they are:—

"I suffered from Dyspepsia for two months and was always getting worse till advertisements led me to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box cured me and I can honestly recommend them to anyone suffering from Dyspepsia."

The moral of this is that if you take your stomach trouble before it gets too firm a grip it is easily cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box cured Miss Campbell.

But as in Miss Campbell's case, stomach trouble if neglected always grows worse. In its worst stages it takes time to cure it. But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

DOMINION GOV'T FRUIT BULLETIN.

The Condition of Fruit Crops for August Reported Upon.

Southern Ontario Fruit Crop Good—Elsewhere Only Only Fair Crop.

The Fruit Division, Ottawa, reports as follows regarding the prospects for the fruit crop:—

APPLES.

Prospects have not changed materially since the last report. In Southren Ontario the fruit will at least equal the crop of last year in quantity and surpass it in quality. In the Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario district everything points to a medium crop, cleaner than usual. Nova Scotia is developing considerable fungus. Prince Edward Island reports no appreciable change.

OTHER FRUIT.

Pears of all sorts are a light crop. Plums are a total failure in more than half the orchards and only a light crop anywhere. The prospects for peaches have not improved. Fifty per cent. of the correspondents report a total failure. Black rot has injured the grape crop materially, in the larger vineyards, but the crop will still be fair.

FOREIGN MARKETS AND CROPS.

The first American apples sold in Glasgow at 12 to 14 shillings. The British and continental crop fill the market at present, but the fruit crop is lighter than was anticipated, though still a good crop. American apples are 75 per cent. peaches 90 per cent. and grapes 50 per cent. of a full crop.

ARGUMENT OF THE LABOURERS.

Comparative Statement of Wages for Past Decade.

Bricklayers and Plasterers Gained Most—Labourers About Equal With Other Trades.

(Globe.)

The principal argument advanced by the builders' labourers in their efforts to justify the present strike for an increase of 3c an hour is that they have not shared equally in the rise of wages with the other building trades in Toronto during the past ten years.

The following tables show that the claim of the labourers is true in relation to the bricklayers and plasterers, but it is evident that they have fared about equally well with the carpenters and painters.

Standard Wages Per Hour.

	1895	1900	1904
Bricklayers	32	36	45
Plasterers	28	34	42
Carpenters	23 1-2	27 1-2	30
Painters	23 1-2	25	30
Lathers		27 1-2	32 1-2
Plasterers' labourers	23 1-2	25	30
Builders' labourers	21	22	25

The builders' labourers work with the bricklayers and stonemasons, and very naturally contrast the pay they receive with that of the skilled men they serve. In connection with the increase of 13c an hour in the pay of the bricklayers since 1895 it should be noted that prior to 1895, the bricklayers were paid 35c an hour for a nine-hour day, which for 54 hours would amount to $18.44 for a week's pay, or, docking four hours for Saturday afternoon, would still leave it at $18 a week. In 1895 the bricklayers were compelled to accept a reduction of 4 cents an hour and to make a five years' agreement on that basis. At the present time bricklayers work 44 hours a week, an eight hour day, and at 45c an hour receive for a week's pay $19.80, or only $1.80 more than in 1895. The labourers, on the other hand, made $10.50 in a week of 50 hours, and to-day in a week of 44 hours make $11. Another consideration is that in 1897 and 1898 the labourers worked for 18c an hour, or $9 a week during the dull years, while the bricklayers were receiving only 32c an hour.

Although the standard wages of carpenters is put at 30c an hour, Business Agent Tweed of the Amalgamated Society, states that about one-third of the carpenters receive 32 1-2 and 35c, some even as high as 40c an hour. The painters are not so fortunate. For five weeks of 1903 they received 35c an hour, but were compelled to accept 30c as the standard pay, with the understanding that only first-class men get that amount, the inferior men to be graded downward.

Plasterers, it would appear have always received less than bricklayers, while their labourers receive more than builders' labourers. This is explained by the statement that a plasterers' labourer is skilled to a higher point than the builders' labourers.

Comparing the wages of the labourers to-day with those paid in 1895, it is contended that the slight increase is not equal to the increased cost of living. The hours are shorter, and that is a distinct gain. A prominent union bricklayer states that more bricks are laid in a day by a man now than when they worked more hours a day. This he attributed in part to the fact that the walls being put up now are heavier than they were made some years ago.

The strike situation remains much as it was at the end of the week. The Builders' Exchange report no break in their number. The labourers say that 56 permits have been taken out by contractors, and that about 350 labourers are at work, getting 28c an hour. About 25 labourers are at the Gas Company's new building on Parliament street, and some 15 others on the street car barns on North Younge street. Work is at a standstill, however, on all the other big contracts.

CURE THE MOST EXTREME CASES.

Stone in the Kidneys Cannot Stand Before Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. S. A. Cassidy, of Ottawa, Permanently Cured After Years of Suffering, by the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 26, (Special.)—While all Canada knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the standard remedy for all kidney complaints it may surprise some people to know they cure such extreme cases as stone in the kidneys. Yet that is what they have done right here in Ottawa.

Mr. S. A. Cassidy, the man cured, is the well-known proprietor of the Bijou Hotel on Metcalf street, and in an interview he says:—

"My friends all know that I have been a martyr to stone in the kidneys for years. They know that besides consulting the best doctors in the city and trying every medicine I could think of I was unable to get better.

"Some time ago a friend told me Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure me. As a last resort I tried them and they have cured me.

"I could not imagine more severe suffering than one endures who has stone in the kidneys and I feel the greatest gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If the disease is of the kidneys or from the kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Canada and Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 24.—Bitter feeling has been aroused here over the action of Canada in deciding to establish a custom house in Hamilton Inlet, Labrador, which Newfoundland claims as her territory, by reason of her occupation of it for the past 100 years, though Canada, in recent years, has advanced a claim to the region. The Government is being urged to prevent the erection of the station, and it will protest strongly to the British Government against the alleged encroachment.

Woman Fell From Window.

OIL TANKS ABLAZE

Seven Workmen Perish in the Oil Fire in Belgium.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $2,400,000

26,500,000 Gallons of Petroleum Ablaze at Hoboken, Three Miles From Antwerp, Belgium—Belongs to the Standard Oil Company—Biggest Fire in History of Louisiana Oil Fields Raging.

London, Aug. 27.—A despatch to a news agency from Antwerp says that seven workmen perished in the oil fire at Hoboken, and that only two out of forty oil tanks were saved. The loss is estimated at $2,400,000.

26,000,000 Gallons Oil on Fire.

Antwerp, Belgium, Aug. 27.—The oil tanks at Hoboken, three miles from here, containing about 26,500,000 gallons of petroleum, are ablaze, together will all the sheds, wagons, and paraphernalia. The fire started at the Russian companies tanks, through the ignition of escaping gas, and the flames quickly spread to the Standard Oil Company's tanks. A high wind fanned the fire. Troops are assisting the firemen to localize the conflagration. Estimates of losses run into millions of francs.

C.P.R. Liner in Danger.

London, Aug. 27.—(C. A. P.)—The petroleum blaze at the South Docks, Antwerp, caused the C. P. R. Liner Lake Michigan at one time to be in great danger.

Oil Wells Blazing.

Crowley, La., Aug. 27.—The biggest fire in the history of the mammoth oil fields is raging. Thursday Morse Well No 8 came in a boiling gusher, pouring out a volume of oil at the rate of 10,000 barrels a day. The loss is placed at $100,000.

The fire caught from a spark emanating from friction and rapidly spread to other wells. Four oil tanks each of which had a capacity of 1,200 barrels, caught fire and burned. Two were full of oil and two were empty. Four standard rigs, the property of the Morse Company, also were destroyed. During the afternoon the fire was confined to the Morse Wells Nos. 7 and 8. Large lakes of oil which had formed when the Morse No. 8 came in, caught fire. Eight lines of steam pipes have been laid to the burning wells and more are being prepared.

Killed By Train.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Dominique Vanturo, a G.T.R. sectionman, while working at the foot of Brock avenue yesterday morning, was run down by the Stratford train and instantly killed. The train was running 20 miles an hour.

Crushed By Gangway.

Walkerville, Aug. 27.—Alexander A. Parrot, a laborer, was standing on the wharf Thursday, when a heavy gangway on the steamer United Empire was lowered without warning, which fell on him, crushing him to the ground, and rendering him unconscious. He was sent to Hotel Dieu, Windsor, where he died the same evening. Parrot was about 40 years of age, and is survived by a widow and several children.

INEXPERIENCED BOATMEN.

Further Particulars of the Sad Accident at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 27.—Further particulars of the double drowning here show that the accident occurred in St. Mary's River, near Topsail Island, at about 5 o'clock in the evening. Both the victims were inexperienced boatmen, and it is doubtful if they realized the danger incurred in going upon the river at the time. They had planned for a sailboat ride, and in spite of the fact that a gale of 60 miles an hour was coming off Lake Superior, and white caps were running at least six feet high, they were undaunted.

They went down the river a short distance below the liguthouse, had turned about and were heading up stream when the accident occurred. At this point, the current is very strong, and when the wind caught the sail with a jerk the boat was suddenly capsized, and both young men sank without making a cry that could be heard on shore, where they were being watched by several persons.

The boat used by Patterson and Hill was a light canoe, in which provision was made for hoisting a small sail.

Herbert Delamere Hill was born in Strathroy, and was in his 24th year. He was the only child of Venerable Archdeacon Hill of St. Thomas.

The other young man, James Colebrooke Patterson, was the son of Hon. J. C. Patterson, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and ex-Minister of Militia and Defence in the Cabinet of Sir John Thompson. He had been in Sault Ste. Marie for about four years and had many friends in the Soo.

New at Edmonton.

Edmonton, Aug. 27.—President Hays and party of G.T.R. directors arrived here Thursday from Calgary. They will make a thorough inspection of survey work done from here. Mr. Hays promised to take into consideration the views of the Board of Trade and the City Council as to terminals. It is understood that the party will remain here two or three days before returning to Calgary for the coast.

Assassin Sentenced to Die.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—It is reported that Samsonoff, the assassin of M. Von Plehve has been sentenced to death, and that the sentence is now before the Emperor. The reports which have been circulated about Samsonoff having escaped, and also that he was dead are declared to be false.

Stands No Chance.

Fond Mother—I am not surprised, Edith, that young Mr. Highmus prefers your society to that of Kate Garlinghorn. She may be more dashing and coquettish, but she is far from being your equal in the enduring qualities of intellect and culture. Miss Edith—Yes, that's where I've got the bulge on poor little Kit.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 3527 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Builds up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

Joseph Ridgeway.

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

The Late Harry Cavanagh.

The funeral of the late Mr. Harry Cavanagh took place this morning from the Cavanagh House, and was very largely attended. The floral tributes were very numerous and beautiful. The service at St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 o'clock was conducted by Rev. Father Galvin, and at the cemetery by Rev. Father McColl. The pall bearers were Messrs. G. White, H. Snowden, W. Robinson, D. Gleeson, W. Batten and H. Carney.

A Runaway Auto.

On Wednesday morning Messrs. Jas. Murphy and Steven Corkery started out on the long talked of automobile trip. Their intentions were to take in Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal, but were scarcely a mile away when word was received that Mr. Jas Grisdale had undertaken to manage one of the Stevens-Mase-Automobiles, and had lost control of it. The Mule-Auto. took such a start before Mr. Grisdale could get seated that it was over the embankment and almost out of sight in the drink in a very few seconds. The timely assistance of Messrs. Corkery and Murphy saved a disaster. The presence of mind of Mr. Corkery in the rescue is much appreciated by Messrs. Morphy and Grisdale.—Odm.

STREET RAILWAY WILL SOON BE IN OPERATION

Trial Spin May be Made at Any Time.

Considerable interest was centered in the report which was circulated about the streets that last evening an effort would be made to have a street car running on a trial spin. The expectations of those desiring to see the first car in motion, however, were not realised as it was not possible to take car out. The motor foreman was seen this morning and he stated that a car was ready for use as soon as the proper power connections were made. The four new closed cars from Ottawa are expected at any time and as soon as they arrive the tracks will be in condition to start a regular and effective service. The company is rushing the matter along as quickly as possible, and but for the delay in the construction of the new cars the line would have been in operation before this.

As far as could be learned this afternoon it is more than probable that cars will be running on the street railway by Monday of next week. The three open cars which were in use on the old line, will, it is understood be ready for use then and these will be run until the service is supplemented by the addition of the four new cars from Ottawa, which are expected here in the fore part of the week. The work on the tracks is nearing completion, having been rushed forward rapidly during the last few days. It's time to begin to save up for nickels for they'll be needed next week.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S ACTION COMMENDED

Offerings of Prizes for Best Results in Decoration of Grounds—A Splendid Idea.

The action of the Horticultural Society in offering prizes for the best results in decoration of grounds is in every way commendable. There was a time when every one in Peterborough had half an acre of ground but they also had large wood sheds, stables and piggeries, and the wood pile was very conspicuous. Now it is different, the cellar is found sufficient for [illegible] and the pig are gone, other changes have come and people are aiming to tidy up their little grounds. How great the improvement! There is no ground so small or so rough but skill and taste can beautify and adorn it, and the result is culture and refinement for the people and a fine result in beautifying of the homes and grounds of the people—not the rich—they can buy labour and taste Last year the society awarded their highest prize to a woman who out of a gravel bank and most unpropitious conditions turned her wee bed of ground into a thing of beauty. She gave herself refined and elevating employment. She pleased all passers by and her labours were a benediction. Small grounds, back yards, all can be cleaned up and with a few barrows of manure and a few seeds home could be made pleasant to the people and a gladsome thing for all.

The society representatives will go around in a few days to examine and report. All who desire their grounds inspected should send in a postcard notice to Mr. Beal, the secretary, Light & Power Company, Office, before September first.

SUMMER SERIES OF BAND CONCERTS.

The Concluding Concert in Victoria Park Last Night.

Brief Review of the Excellent and Highly Appreciated Season's Work of the 57th Band.

The crescendo movement in the popular Friday evening band concerts given by the splendid band of the Fifty-seventh, culminated last night in a grand finale. There was a bumper audience under le claire de la lune in Victoria Park last night to listen to the delightful programme, delightfully presented by the band of the Rangers, and the delight enjoyed by the thousands present was only broken by the thought that last night was the last of the delightful musical and social evenings.

During the summer season the band has given thirteen concerts, all well attended and the attendance constantly growing as the season progressed. During this period tens of thousands have been present to listen to the splendid programmes splendidly presented. In the thirteen nights of concert, ten entirely new programmes have been given and though there has been an overlapping of some popularly demanded selections, the programmes have been of a variety which speaks volumes for the extent of the repertoire of the band.

The quality of the music rendered is also a splendid tribute to the ability and versatility of the band to give the highest classical music as well as the lighest and airiest style of selections. During the season ten standard classical overtures have been well performed, including such first class numbers as the overtures to Zampa, William Tell, Poet and Peasant, Fra Diavolo, Pique Dame, Nabuchodnoser, etc., etc.

The Grand Opera selctions have included arrangements from Ernani, Atilla, Il Trovatore. There have also been performed many reminiscences of operatic writers and national airs, such as reminiscences of Bellini, reminiscences of A.I Nations, and of Scotland and Ireland.

Selections from lighter and more popular operas such as Ermine, Wang or the region of Siam, Florodora, etc., etc., have also been included in the several programmes, as well as descriptive pieces—Forge in the Forest, Hunting Scene, Voyage of a Troopship, etc., as well as a judicious sprinkling of popular melodies including light, popular music, valses, polkas, cakewalks and similar music.

The attendance at these concerts has not only been large but appreciative and there has been noted a growing recognition of the beauty and depth of classical music as evidenced from the repeated demands for the repetition of such numbers as the Tell overture and Bellini Reminiscences, while encores for hosts of brightly selections were the rule rather than the exception.

The Fifty-seventh has given a most successful out-door concert season, and their popularity has been sensibly increased as well as the popular pride in one of the foremost musical organizations of its kind in the Province.

WESTWOOD.

Real Estate Changes and Village Improvements the Order of the Day.

Mr. John Read of Keene, has sold his farm adjoining the village—one hundred acres—to Mr. Benjamin Cardwell, and the other two hundred to Mr. Thomas Cardwell and the wood lot of one hundred acres to Messrs. Sargeant & Son. Good prices were realized. Messrs. Sargent & Son have the foundations laid and the carpentery work going on for first class piggery building which will be finished with all modern improvements and will accommodate from 150 to 200 pigs. Mr. Edward Lynch is building an elegant new residence at the west end of the village.

Mr. Michael —— is one of our citizens who does not intend to grow old. Some ten years ago he laid a wager of a hat, with Mr. Wm. Breckenridge that he (——) could turn a handspring when he became fifty years of age. Last Thursday, Aug. 25th, fifty years came to Mr. —— and he was ready to fulfil the conditions laid down ten years previously. A large crowd assembled near the blacksmith shop and amid breathless silence Mr, —— did the trick like a boy of sixteen, turning several hand springs with neat facility. His opponent expected to lose the hat, and had it on the spot ready for presentation, which was done with all due formality to the hearty cheers of the crowd who concluded the athletic test by wishing Mr. —— many prosperous years of active life.

THE MARKET.

Prices About the Same as Usual at Market This Morning.

The market this morning was largely attended by both buyers and sellers. The prices showed no great change from those which have been prevailing during the past few weeks. Vegetables of every description were for sale in large quantities and apples were very conspicuous and sold readily at 50 cents per bag. Potatoes were worth 60 cents per bag. There were plenty of chickens old and young, tough and tender. The youngsters sold at 50 cents per pair and as they grew older the price advanced as high as $1 per pair. Eggs were worth 16 and 17 cents for twelve and butter brought 22 and 23 cents per pound.

SUMMER OUTINGS GREATLY ENJOYED

Parties are Returning from Vacation at Different Points of Interest.

The Freak Rose Hunting and Fishing Club of Pittsburg passed through town yesterday on their private car en route for home. The party which is composed of about thirty Germans, have been encamped for the past two weeks at Stony Lake, this being their second consecutive outing at that spot. The equipment of the party is most complete; they go in for comfort and pleasure and certainly get both. Among the party are some very fine singers, the quartette being especially good. The Germans appear delighted with the lakes and the trip and outing will likely be an annual event with them for some years to come.

Like Stony Lake, Chemong Park, is also being thinned of its summer population and every day sees some party leaving. Chemong has been more popular than ever this season and is likely to continue to grow in this respect. Many people are hoping that the Street Railway will have a branch to Chemong next year. It certainly would be well patronized during the hot summer months.

On Thursday the steam yacht "Myrtle" arrived at the C. P. R. wharf conveying a party of six young men who for the past two weeks have been enjoying a sail about the Kawartha Lakes. The party sailed as far as they could, to Kirkfield, where the canal ends at present. The boat left here a week ago Saturday morning and the trip was made without mishap and was a very pleasant one for all concerned. There were in the party Messrs. H. Milliard, A. Fuller, G. Morton, M. J. Breckenbridge, A. Gordon and A. Davidson.

WHEN BABY IS SICK.

Don't dose him with nauseous castor oil, or other harsh griping purgatives. Above all things, don't give him poisonous soothing stuff. These things only make him worse. Baby's Own Tablets are what your little one needs. They are a gentle laxative, and make baby sleep because they make him well. They cool his hot little mouth, ease his sour stomach and help his obstinate little teeth through painlessly. They are what every mother needs for her baby—and the older children too. Mrs. Routhier, Greenwood, B. C., says: "I consider Baby's Own Tablets worth their weight in gold in every home where there are children. My only regret is that I did not learn their great worth sooner." These tablets will help every child from the moment of birth onward, and are guaranteed to contain no harmful drug. Sold by al lmedicine dealers or sent by mail at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PIGSKIN IN MOTION WHO'LL CHASE THE BALL

Rugby Club's Executive to Meet Next Tuesday Evening.

And Start the Ball "A-rollin'"—Just a Few Ruminders About the Game and the Players.

The President of the Peterborough Rugby Club has called a meeting of the executive of the Club of 1903 for Thursday night of next week at the Oriental Hotel, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the prospects for the coming season and arranging the date of the annual meeting of the Club. It is pleasing to know that many of the old members of the club are taking a fresh interest in the game this season and have promised to lend their sympathetic support. It is anticipated that the annual meeting of the club will be largely attended.

Peterborough possesses a most enthusiastic admirer of the game of rugby in the person of Mr. K Eardly-Wilmot, manager of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Wilmot played the game for many years, having been a representative on the All-Canadian team in international matches. He is of course anxious to see Peterborough active in rugby circles this year.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Peterborough Rugby Club did not succeed in winning a championship year, which was usually the case [illegible] years, and the additional [illegible] that there were only two home [illegible] it is understood that the [illegible] er will show the finances of the club to be in a very healthy condition. The excursion which the team ran to Toronto on the occasion of the match with the Victorias, netted the club a handsome profit and placed them on "easy street."

Many people are anxious to know whether Peterborough will play junior, intermediate or senior rugby this year. At the present time it is absolutely impossible to state what series the locals will enter. This matter will be thoroughly gone into at Tuesday night's meeting of the old executive and a recommendation will be no doubt submitted at the annual meeting of the club.

It is the intention of the management of the club to get the team out to practice at once, as the advantages of afternoon practices are well known. The disregard of this was the trouble last year, the club organizing late in the season and there being very few afternoon practices.

The following players of last year's team are available: Crowley, Graham, Deannard, Hurtubise, Rickoy, Craig, Ford, Meagher, Morgan, Noble, Cameron. Besides these there are several other players who figured in the City League last year, and who should be about fast enough to take a step higher.

Of last year's team Burnham, who figured in the last two games and Gordon Lee, who did good work throughout the season, will be absentees. Both are fine players but there will be others to fill their shoes and keep up the game.

As suggested in a previous paragraph early practices will be very essential this year. Last year the back division was the weak spot on the team, for, as regards wing men, the local team can hardly be beaten. The backs were weak in punting last year and a team which could not punt would never win against one with a back division such as the Victorias had. The locals had too much indoor practice, where there could be no punting done, in comparison with the amount of outdoor work. It is hoped that as soon as the club organizes the boys will get right down to work.

A member of last year's team expressed the opinion last evening that it would be junior rugby for Peterborough this fall. The expenses would be too high and the trips too long to make senior rugby a paying proposition, he thought, and the present outlook in the intermediate series did not look any too promising. There is now no age limit in the junior series and a team could be entered in a district where there would be a number of home games, and from the players available there should be no trouble in landing the junior cup.

One thing that is wanted in rugby in Peterborough is more home games. For the last two years there has been only two home games a season, and two of these happened to be played on rainy days, the attendance consequently being slim. The public must have a chance to see rugby to become interested in it and they want to see championship matches.

NO GAME AT HAVELOCK THIS AFTERNOON.

Eastern Team Would not Play, Claiming Their Team was Weak.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team didn't win at Havelock this afternoon. The boys have won every game so far this season, but they failed to win this afternoon in the game scheduled for the championship of the Trent Valley League. How did it happen? This way. They didn't win because they weren't given a chance. This seems to be the only way to stop those youths in red and black from winning, and had Havelock played this afternoon as they should have done, there is no doubt but that the T.A.S. would have added another victory to their already long string.

The action of the Havelock team in refusing to play to-day was a keen disappointment to the T.A.S. A telephone message was received last night from Havelock to the effect that one player was sick and another was out of town, and asking that the game be postponed. The T.A.S. had no desire to go to Havelock and not have a game,—which pleasing experience the Y.M.C.A. football team had last year in Havelock—and so the game was called off at the eleventh hour. The local boys have every reason to claim the game by default should they so desire, but the boys are good sports and want to win the championship on the field and not in the committee room. They have played to win all season and were out to win again to-day. The matter will be left with the executive to decide.

The Total Abstiners have been in training since early in May and the boys have no desire to remain in training until next Christmas or even Thanksgiving Day. The last district game was played on July 30, nearly a month ago, and the team has had but one game since. The action of the Havelock team, even though a player may have been indisposed, was not sportsmanlike to say the least.

BASEBALL.

The standing of the teams in the Midland League so far this season not counting protested games is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Lindsay	6	1	3
Bowmanville	4	2	4
Cobourg	4	3	3
Oshawa	4	4	2
Peterborough	0	3	7
Port Hope	0	6	4

* * * *

Peterborough won two games which were ordered to be replayed and may also claim a game from Cobourg by default. Should the team win from Oshawa to-day the boys would still have a chance to win out.

* * * *

The local team played at Oshawa this afternoon is as follows:—Graham, c.; McCurry, p.; J. Pilling, 1 b.; Whitecroft, 2 b.; Sheridan, 3 b.; Lamonte, s.s.; Earls, l.f.; Pilling, c. f.; Long or E. Graham, r.f.

* * * *

Bowmanville plays the return game in Cobourg to-day. A win for the former will help their championship chances materially.

* * * *

Toronto lost its third straight game yesterday, losing to Baltimore by 8-5. Montreal also lost again.

LACROSSE.

Orillia and Chatham are left in the intermediate C.L.A. teams. Reports say that the latter's defence is up to senior standard and the Orillias will have to play fine lacrosse to retain their hold on the championship.

To-day's games in the senior C.L.A. will have a big bearing on the championship. The Chippewas play at St. Kitts and the Brantfords at Tecumseh. If the two visiting teams win they will be tied with the Tecumsehs for first place while if the latter team is victorious it will practically have the championship cinched.

Last evening A. J. Burns and W. Payne signed articles to run a five mile road race over the Lakefield road on Saturday afternoon, September 17th. The race is to take place rain or shine. Burns has already shown his speed in a race of this description and as Payne is said to be a top-notcher a good race is assured. The men will begin training at once and expect to be in the best of shape when the contest comes off.

CONCERT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Very Enjoyable Programme Presented at Juniper Island.

Last Evening's Concert Largely Attended—Those Taking Part.

The concert in the pavilion at Juniper Island last evening was in every way a pronounced success. It is two years since an event of this nature has been held at the lakes and the turnout of the summer visitors was a very large one, the pavilion being crowded to over-flowing. The talent secured for the event was excellent and the programme was one of much interest. The chairman was Mr. R. B. Rogers president of the Cottagers' Association.

The programme opened with a reading, Drummond's "The Habitant," by Mr. G. Gillet, which was given in a most comprehensive manner. Mr. Joe Legg scored a great success in his rendition of the solo "Tick-tack-too" and in response to an encore sang "Legitimate Doubts." The next number was a solo, "A Roving Swallow," by Miss Loomis, who possesses a very pleasing soprano voice and sang with much feeling. Mr. Coyne, of London, gave a reading, 'When Albani Sang," Mr. Coyne's interpretation of the humour of Drummond was very fine and he was forced to respond to a hearty encore. His encore number was "Wreck of the Julia Plante." A mandolin solo by Mr. Harold Koch of Pittsburg, entitled, "A Deed of the Pen" was splendidly played and for an encore "Navajo" was played in an equally excellent manner. Miss Julia Choate was heard with much pleasure in a violin solo "Hearts and Flowers," which was remarkably well executed for a girl of her age. For an encore, "A Gavotte" was played. The closing number a recitation, "The Bells," by Miss Clark, was very enjoyable and an encore "First Settlers Story," was given. The whole programme was a delightful one and was heartily appreciated by the large audience.

Mr. Rogers announced that for next year a committee had been appointed to prepare for regular concerts throughout the season.

A vote of thanks moved by Mr. T. W. Robinson was tendered those who had assisted in the programme.

The quartette of the Russ Fishing Club from Sandy Point was expected to take part but they were unavoidedly detained from being present.

Have you tried our Delicious Sundaes? The newest flavours are 'Creme de Menthe" and 'Maraschino Cherries" and they are fine—or try a "Navajo" or "Hiawatha." Only sold at HOOPER'S George street.

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit contains the fourteen elements found in the human body and in exactly the same proportions

Why not eat the food that Nature has produced to nourish these elements? You eat to live. You sit down to your meals to build up the elements in your body which mental and physical labor has worn out.

If you eat foods containing a greater proportion of phosphatic properties you are feeding the brain and neglecting your physical condition. Nitrogenous foods build muscle to the detriment of brain power, while foods of a carbonaceous character supply the body with heat and fat alone. But if you eat you feed every element in the body. You then get just the proper proportion of brain- bone- muscle- heat- and flesh-forming food the body requires.

Nature has placed every element found in the human body in a grain of wheat. We neither add to nor take away a single element from this perfect whole. Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit is Nature's true food served in the most easily digestible, most palatable form.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could about it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities leucorrhoea, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

ORANGE LILY is recommended and sold in Peterborough by Mr W. H. Warne, Druggist, 345 George Street.

HICKS' WEATHER FORECAST FOR MILD SEPTEMBER

Breezy Weather Predicted—The Equinoctial Gales Will be Much in Evidence.

A secondary storm period, beginning the last two days in August, will last into the 1st and 2nd days in September, storms having moved into central to eastern parts by the 1st and 2nd. Higher barometer, westerly gales and change to much cooler will follow behind these disturbances.

The storm period beginning on the 4th and extending to the 10th promises to bring many prolonged and severe perturbations. At least five astronomical causes will help to disturb Earth's meteorological elements at this time—the Moon in conjunction with Earth and in perigree, the Vulcan force, the Mercury equinox, the Venus disturbance and the greatly increased tension of Earth's autumnal equinox. The disturbances at this time will almost certainly be aggravated in character, and prolonged, with possibly very slight intermission, into and through the reactionary storm period central on the 11th and 12th. The Moon being at new and in perigree on the 9th, and on the celestial equator on the 10th, the chances for prolonged and violent disturbances into the 11th and 12th are usually great.

During the early stages of these general disturbances, an excessively high temperature, or heated term, is sure to make its appearance over most parts of the country, provided that West India storms, with wide and deep barometric depressions do not come promptly out of the south seas, touching our gulf and south Atlantic States.

We predict that Wednesday the 7th, to Saturday 10th, will bring a decided crisis showing that equinoctial hurricanes of great extent and violence are near, if not sweeping our southern coasts, or that phenomenal heat over the interior, covering the greater part of the country will be culminating in low barometer, thunder storms and possible tornadoes in many places. If hurricanes and marked barometric depressions reach our south coasts early in this period, very cool northerly winds will flow southward over all central and western states, followed by "backing winds"—that is, shifting from east to north, northwest and west—attended by several days of dogged, persistent cold rains. We believe that the equatorial cyclones and hurricanes will delay their approach to our southern coasts long enough to cause a severe heated term during the first half of the month, or until severe storms on and touching the 11th and 12th. Earthquake and volcanic phenomena will be reported from various parts of the globe on and about the 9th. If very low barometer and equinoctial hurricanes reach the southern coasts and states at this time, northerly currents will induce marked boreal conditions over western and central sections, bringing frosts to northwestern states not far from the 12th to 15th.

The next regular storm period extends from the 16th to the 21st. This period is covered, as was also the previous periods, by the Mercury equinox, and by the Earth's autumnal equinox, near its central date and influence. Those who have studied our forecasts during past years, comparing the phenomena of nature by persistent intelligent observations, will know that the chances for equinoctial hurricanes in the south will be increased at this time, if such have not made their appearance at previous periods. If such have already approached, reaching our part of the globe, they will be less probable at this and subsequent September periods. In the nature of things, we are now at the season when the vast electrical and magnetic forces are generated in abnormal intensities, out of which the great equatorial cyclones are developed. If these forces are delayed they increase in cumulative energy and show themselves at later periods. Hence all careful observing students of these forecasts may know what the real probabilities are for each September storm period, being well assured that at least one great equinoctial perturbation will rush up from the equator during this month and express itself in many storms and gales over land and sea.

One of those great West India cyclones has the lifetime of more than one ordinary storm period, so that they often approach the southern coasts of our continent in a wandering sort of way, occupying many days. But they take on renewed energy at the centre of the regular storm periods, working their greatest devastation on both land and sea, nine times in ten, during these regular periods. Whatever character of storms are in progress during the period, 16th to 21st, Sunday the 18th, to Wednesday the 21st, will bring the culminating crisis of the period.

If an equinoctial hurricane, or cyclone, is in progress in the gulf, or adjacent waters, and does not reach the southern coasts before, it is almost certain to be felt, in violent gales or high seas, within twenty-four hours of noon on the 24th. One of the September perturbations, whatever may occur at other periods, is almost certain to reach a decided, if not violent crisis at this time. This is also another time when seismic, volcanic and meteoric phenomena will be reported from many extremes of the globe. In every probability a rushing high barometer, violent northwesterly gales, and change to almost cold, will spread over the country from the north-west, as the storms of this period give place to the high barometric are rushing close behind them.

A regular Vulcan storm period is central on the 29th, extending from the 27th, two or three days into October. As we enter this period the barometer will fall, the temperature will again rise to quite warm, and scattering storms will be advancing eastward over the country about the 29th and 30th.

In all we have said about the probability of hurricanes and high equinoctial storms and gales in September, we must not be understood as forecasting things out of the ordinary. We mean no such things. We do say that storms of decided energy will be perfectly natural, but their is nothing in the astronomic outlook to excite fears of more than ordinary phenomena. As we see often say—an ordinary West India cyclone, or great, equinoctial hurricane—things always to be expected in greater or less intensity in September—are not to be regarded lightly at any time. To those who are exposed to their fury, especially where wind and water combined are to be encountered, no warning should seem untimely or sensational. No one should be alarmed at the probability of such disturbances, and if the proper precautions are taken, and the proper watchfulness exercised, the dreadful lists of casualties and loss of property, might be reduced to almost nothing. If there is a population living almost at sea level along our southern coasts, and if they do not understand that danger is possible and probable at such times, they ought to be informed and admonished. Not in a foolish, sensational way, but with a calm, instructive earnestness that, while it does not alarm them, will put them on their guard against the first appearance of approaching danger. Within our recollection—saying nothing of such disasters as the Galveston calamity—hundreds of people have perished along our coasts—labourers and other ill-informed people—all of whom might have escaped such doom by a timely word of instruction and warning.

It is entirely proper and pertinent for us to say, in closing these forecasts, that to-day, August the 16th, also on yesterday, Sunday the 14th, the central day of a special storm period, phenomenally vicious thunder storms have visited all the regions round about St. Louis. By one overwhelming thunderbolt at noon on Sunday, two of our neighbors' houses were struck and the lightning streaked in zig-zag at the View was burned out and scattered over the room. We may add, also, without a serious breach of amenities, that the United States weather bureau announced officially for both yesterday and to-day, fair weather, warmer and no rain in sight. To-day it is much cooler, with continuous rain and thunder storm.—Irl. R. Hicks.

A LUCKY WOMAN.

How Good Health Came to Mrs. Deschesne After Much Suffering.

Mrs. Abraham Deschesne, wife of a well known farmer at St. Leon le Grand, Que., considers herself a lucky woman. And she has good cause as the following interview will show:—"I was badly run down and very nervous. Each day brought its share of household duties, but I was too weak to perform them. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not sleep and the least sound would startle me. I tried several medicines and tonic wines, but none of them helped me. In fact I was continually growing worse and began to despair of ever being well again. One day a friend called to see me and strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I decided to do so, and it was not long before they began to help me. I gained in strength day to day; my nerves became strong and quiet, and after using about a half dozen boxes of the pills I was fully restored to my old time health and cheerfulness. I now think Dr. Williams Pink Pills an ideal medicine for weak women."

Dr. Williams Pink Pills feed the nerves with new, rich red blood, thus strengthening and soothing them, and curing such nerve troubles as neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. These pills cure also all troubles due to poor and watery blood, including the special ailments of women. Get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

UNPLEASANT CHARGES.

Gen. Hutton Accused of Insolence to His Superior—Sir Charles Tupper on the Dundonald Incident.

London, Aug. 27.—(C.A.P.)—Minister of Defence Dawson, in Premier Watson's Labor Cabinet, answering General Hutton, charges the general with gross insolence when interviewing the Minister on official questions. According to Dawson, Hutton refused to take his word concerning the authorship of official minutes, endeavored to spend three times the Parliamentary amount, and retained in barracks documents required in the Minister's office.

Sir Charles Tupper on Dundonald.

London, Aug. 27.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Charles Tupper sailed for Canada Thursday by the steamer Bavarian. He was interviewed at Liverpool and asked if the Dundonald incident had blown over. Sir Charles replied that it had not. Lord Dundonald considered that the militia should not in any way be mixed up with politics, so that all classes might join the citizen soldiery with the object, if necessity arose, of defending their country, which Sir Charles considered the weakest spot in the Empire. In propounding his policy in regard to the militia, Lord Dundonald knew he would be retired. He did not complain that he had been unjustly treated, but Lord Dundonald had had the courage of his convictions, and in expressing them publicly had magnanimously sacrificed himself in the interests of Canada and the Empire. Lord Dundonald had achieved his object, that of making and raising a strong militia, the crucial question in the Dominion. In the views expressed Lord Dundonald had carried with him the thinking people of Canada, the bone and sinew of the country, and the effect would be for the lasting good of Canada. Sir Charles entirely approved of the attitude of Lord Dundonald and was convinced that no man in anything like a similar position had done so much to advance the real, better and higher interests of Canada. Of all men who had occupied the position vacated by Lord Dundonald no one had given such patriotic and Imperialistic proof of his appreciation of the exigencies of the situation.

Beat Child Till Blood Came.

Whitby, Aug. 26.—George Johnson, of the Township of Reach, a widower and the father of six little children, received his trial here Wednesday at the County Judge's Criminal Court, on the charge of inflicting bodily harm on his little boy, aged 12. The boy, who is an under-sized, delicate looking little fellow, still bears the marks of the fearful beating given him over a week ago. The unnatural father gave as an excuse that he did not think he was hitting him so hard until he saw the blood come. He used a clothes-line to flog the little fellow with. Judge McCrimmon found Johnson guilty and remanded him for sentence until homes are found for the children. Feeling is very bitter towards the prisoner.

Mr. Gamey at Shelburne.

Shelburne, Aug. 26.—Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., Dr. Sproule, M. P., and Dr. Lewis, Conservative nominee for Dufferin, made speeches at the picnic here yesterday.

7 Sutherland Sisters Hair Grower

MISS NORA GASTAGER
2108 Centre Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a gummy substance, be it an evidence of scaly disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working manse of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 50 cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. NOW at all druggists, two sizes. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

Brought to a Conclusion For 1904—Tait-Brassey Match the Feature of the Day—Gzowski Match.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Under lowering skies and with a fair breeze blowing the annual O. R. A. matches were brought to a conclusion yesterday.

Tait-Brassey Match.

The great event of the day was the Tait-Brassey or militiaman's match. Keen interest centered therein, and in view of the number of crack shots grouped together in different teams of six and companies of four, the outcome was awaited with more eagerness than that displayed in any other contest. The highest quartette of individual scores were: O. R. Sergt. J. Phillips, R. G., 100, $20; O. R. Sergt. J. H. Simpson, R. G., 100, $15; Pte. W. T. Willoughby, Australia, 99, $12; Pte. D. C. Three-Cornered Tie Shot.

The Duke of Cornwall and York match, held on Wednesday afternoon, resulted in a three-cornered tie for first place, necessitating a shoot off yesterday. Capt. H. J. Deneen of the First Hussars, was the victor with a possible of 25; Lieut. J. H. Armstrong, 77th, landing second with 20, and Staff-Sergt. T. Mitchell, 13th, with 16.

The Semi-Annual Meeting.

The semi-annual association meeting was held after the mid-day luncheon. A committee was appointed to select the provincial eight for the London Merchants' Cup, and chose representatives at the D. R. A. council. All of last year's officers were re-elected, with the exception of Capt. Kirkpatrick, Q.O.R., who retired, Major Mercier of the same regiment taking his place.

The Gzowski Match.

Queen's Own Rifles (1st team), 516, $40 and Gzowski Challenge Cup; Governor-General's Foot Guards, 488, $27.50; 10th Royal Grenadiers (2nd team), 488, $27.50; 12th Regiment, 478, $20; 48th Highlanders, 474, $15.

Attempted Suicide.

Hamilton, Aug. 24.—Last evening an unfortunate young woman about 24 years of age was found just inside the gates of Dundurn Park. P. C. Reynolds stumbled across her about 10 o'clock. He tried to rouse her, but without success. When he tried to lift her up off the bench and stand her on her feet a bottle labeled "Opium" fell on the ground. No one appears to know her name. The only clue the police have is a handkerchief bearing the initials "H. I." At midnight the whole staff of doctors at the hospital were working over her, but did not succeed in bringing her around so that she could tell her name.

Registered Mail Vanished.

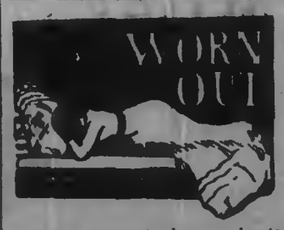
Fort Frances, Aug. 26.—Another loss is reported in the registered mail. This time it is between Fort Frances postoffice and Mine Centre. A few days ago two packages, one containing currency and the other a watch, were forwarded by registered mail to Mine Centre. The registered articles never reached Mine Centre. The matter is being investigated.

Bounty on Petroleum.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Regulations for the payment of the bounty of 1½ cents per gallon on crude petroleum produced in Canada have been approved in Council and are now being prepared for distribution.

Surveying For a Fort.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 26.—Superintendent Nash of the Royal Engineers, accompanied by L. J. Mathieu, superintendent of military works in this city, were at Beaumont yesterday surveying the ground for the proposed fort to be erected by the Militia Department.



A woman worn-out, who never has to lift a hand for herself, who does not know the meaning of the word "worry"! How can it be possible? That it is possible is proved by the experience of many a woman who, because of sleeplessness, nervousness, backache and other womanly ills, becomes an utter physical wreck.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for five years with inflammation which caused violent pain and often tortured so bad at times that I could not be about to attend to my daily duties," writes Mrs. Julius C. Bell, of Bathroad, Kingston, Ont. "Life was simply misery to me and I did not know which way to turn for relief. Had tried doctors but found they did not help me. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—eulogizing it in glowing terms. I decided to give it a trial and brought a bottle home. I am happy to say that after the use of the first bottle I felt so much improved I decided to take another and after that a third bottle. I have good reasons to be pleased, for I am to-day a well woman, work is easy and the world looks bright. I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" when a laxative is required.

HUNTING THE KANGAROO.

The Animal Is Difficult to Shoot on Account of His Speed.

Tiger skins, elephant tusks, antlers and a dozen other trophies decorated the smoking-room of the huntsman.

"You can't guess what this is," he said, and he took down from the wall a piece of curiously woven matting. It was about two feet square, green in color, and five inches thick. "This," he explained, "is the breastplate that is worn in kangaroo hunting. Without it the kangaroo, with a foreleg blow straight from the shoulder, could smash in your chest as though it were a pasteboard box. This breastplate is a souvenir of an exciting kangaroo hunt in Australia.

"All big game enthusiasts are familiar with tiger shooting, elephant shooting, the chase of the grizzly, of the boar and of the hippo, but I know few men who have ever hunted kangaroos.

"Yet this is an exciting and dangerous sport. The kangaroo, when he is brought to bay, will fight. He jumps straight at you, like a great cat, and with his small forelegs he aims at your chest two tremendous blows—first the right and then the left—and these blows, delivered with a speed and accuracy that no prize-fighter could equal, would kill you if they landed on an unprotected surface. So you wear, for a protection, this thick green guard, woven of native grasses by native women.

"You hunt the kangaroo in 'sets.' Eight huntsmen compose a set, and each set employs half a dozen native runners to stalk the kangaroo.

"The kangaroo, on being stalked, comes tearing over the plain straight at you. He travels with the speed of an express train, and he makes great bounding leaps. One minute he is crouched on the grass, the next he is ten feet up in the air, and all the while, remember, he is going forty miles an hour.

"Hence he is a mighty difficult object to shoot. If you fail to shoot him, and if there is no tree handy, then you must put your trust in your matting breastplate. This breastplate of mine, you notice, has a dent in it."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

People who are honest and industrious do not have to proclaim it.

When a child is not constantly overstepping the bounds of parental authority, consult a physician.

It is lucky for some people that they never have an idea, for they wouldn't know what to do with it.

A counterfeit dollar is apt to be affected with poor circulation.

The reason some children are so mean is because they have made an injudicious selection of relatives.

THE IMMORTAL TREES.

Monarchs of the Forest Which Have Lived Thousands of Years—Some Well-Authenticated Examples.

So far as science knows to the contrary, a tree, were there no supervening accident, might live forever. There are now living giants of the forest known to have been in existence over fifty centuries. Some are there even that date back the proverbial 6,000 years to the Biblical creation. There is a yew in England known to be 3,240 years old, the age being computed on the basis of its growth year by year. Some of the famous redwoods of California are more ancient yet.

In one chapter of his writings Humboldt refers to a gigantic baobab tree in central Africa as the oldest organic monument in the world. This tree has a trunk twenty-nine feet in diameter, and Adanson, by a series of careful measurements, demonstrated conclusively that it has lived for not less than 5,150 years.

Still it is not the oldest, as Humboldt declared, for now Mexican scientists have proved that a huge cypress tree standing in Chapultepec, with a trunk 118 feet and 10 inches in circumference, is older than it—older, too, by more than a thousand years—for it has been shown, as conclusively as these things can be shown, that its age is about 6,200 years. To become impressed with wonder over this, one has only to dwell on that duration for a little while in thought.

Yet it is not so remarkable when one stops for a moment to remember that, given favorable conditions for its growth and sustenance, the average tree will never die of old age. Its death is merely an accident. Other younger and more vigorous trees may spring up near it and perhaps rob its roots of their proper nourishment. Insects may kill it, floods or winds may sweep it away, or its roots may come in contact with rock and become so gnarled and twisted, because they have not room to expand in their growth, that they literally throttle the avenues of its sustenance. But these are accidents. If such things do not happen, a tree may live on for century after century.

Not only can we refer to the groves as "God's first temples," but the trees are veritable monuments of immortality. Men come and go, nations vanish, even races go the way of the earth. The monarchs of the forest outlive them all. Comrades of the wind and rain, with their hands lifted to the sun and the stars, they buffet the tempest and defy the ages. They are children of the earth and the air, for they draw their sustenance from both. They are as truly kings of the vegetable world as man is of the animal. They are a shelter and an inspiration. The land that knows them not is cursed. They are the oldest forms of life and the noblest. They are divine in their strength, their patience and their beauty.

Fact and Poetry.

An English fox hunter of celebrity had been asked by a publisher for a book of reminiscences. "But I've never written a word for publication," he said deprecatingly. "Of course, I've had adventures in the field in plenty, but"—

"Have you never had any connection with literature?" asked the publisher.

The master of the hunt shook his head.

"By Jove, yes, I have!" he exclaimed, his face lighting up. "Years ago Whyte-Melville came to me with a hunting poem he had written. For my criticism, he said. I read it through, and told him it was good, only there was one place where he was a little off. 'Hounds have broth, not soup,' said I."

"Well?" said the publisher hopefully.

The master of hounds looked grave again. "I don't think that counts," he said reluctantly. "The next line ended in 'whoop,' and Whyte-Melville rejected my suggestion."

A Drop In Values.

An odd story of Emerson was told the other day by a Cambridge man.

"A New York woman," he said, "called on Emerson one morning. The philosopher was reading in his study, and near him on a plate there lay a little heap of cherry stones. The visitor slipped one of the cherry stones into her glove. Some months later she met Emerson at a reception in Boston. She recalled her visit to him, and then she pointed to the brooch she wore—a brooch of gold and brilliants with the cherry stone set in the center.

"'I took this stone from the plate at your elbow on the morning of my call,' she said.

"'Ah!' said Emerson. 'I'll tell my amanuensis of that. He will be pleased. The young man loves cherries, but I never touch them myself.'"

Pandora Range

Strong Grates

"Pandora" grates are composed of three bars, with short bull-dog teeth, which grip, chop up and throw down the gritty clinkers, but squeeze the hard coal upwards.

The two outer bars work on the centre one, and all three are held together in one strong iron frame, which can be removed by merely unscrewing one bolt. This is a great point in a range. Most range grates require expensive experts to take out old ones and put in new grates. You can do the trick on a "Pandora" in ten minutes, with a ten cent piece for a screw driver. Isn't that simple, convenient, inexpensive?

The more you know about the "Pandora" the better you'll like it.

KING'S PRINTER AND UNION LABEL.

At Thursday night's meeting of the District Labour Council the attention of the delegates was drawn to an item in one of the Toronto Newspapers stating that the present King's printer at Ottawa had asked to be superannuated. The report was characterized as a canard circulated in the interests of a candidate for the position who is hostile to organized labour. It was held that the circulation of the report was the first step in an organized movement to make the Printing Bureau at Ottawa an open shop, and it was desirous to get Mr. S. E. Dawson out of the way because of his friendliness to organized labour. Recently the union label has been placed upon the Labour Gazette, and the King's printer has been held responsible for this by those opposed to the union label. The matter was referred to the executive committee with instructions to take action in opposing any movement to remove Mr. Dawson. The delegates from Typographical Union were also asked to bring the matter to the attention of their organization.

CARRY OUT UNION PRINCIPLES.

"Some union men make me tired," said a shoe clerk who is a member of the Retail Clerks' Protective Association. "I was in a cigar store last night and overheard a discussion between a union man and a non-union man as to the subject of hours. The union man was kicking because he had to work nine hours, and he thought eight enough for a day. The non-union man said that the mechanic or labouring man should not be compelled to go to work before 8 a. m. and should have the privilege of quitting at 5, with an hour at noon. A business man standing by said that he was at his desk every morning at 7.30 o'clock and that he worked every day until 6, and sometimes came to work in the evening in order that matters would be in shape for the employees to have work to do the next day.

"I got hot after I had listened a time, and I spoke my piece. I said that I came to work every morning at 7 o'clock in order to open the shoe store and be ready for the early customer. I told the union man that I worked every night until 6 o'clock, and oft-times came down in the evening to help trim the windows. "Now," said I, "We sell union-made shoes in our store, and I want to ask you why it is that, after working ten hours a day for five days in the week, and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 11 p.m., and sometimes later, that the very last customer whom we have at 10.45 on Saturday nights are union men—man who profess to believe in shorter hours of work? Why is it that you, earning union wages, whether or not you are as competent as the best man who earns the same money, have no more respect for your 'brethren', so-called, and so little consistency?"

"I tell you the fellow shut up like a clam. He was beaten to a standstill. But I don't suppose he'll ever come into our store to buy shoes. But it's a fact nevertheless, that nine out of ten of our late customers Saturday nights are members of trade unions."

OPPRESSION OF THE TOILER.

Recently Bishop Potter, of New York City, used the expression that "not a single article can be bought at the bargain counter without finding on it a stain of blood somewhere." We heartily agree with the good Bishop. We can not do otherwise when we take into consideration the conditions under which these goods are produced—the heartaches, the pains and the sacrifices endured by the men, women and children who labour long hours of toil at starvation wages that big departmental stores may be maintained and proprietors amass enormous profits. All through every line of businesss in the country to-day this same system prevails. No matter how much or how many objections may be raised against the expression, still the fact remains that it is true. Can anybody deny it? Look at the sweat shop goods, the garret-made goods and the prison-made goods. Are they produced or manufactured under pleasant, agreeable, healthy or wholesome conditions? You and I will say, no, a thousand times, no. This is what we trade unionists are fighting against from one end of the year to the other. Yet I find that some of the largest department stores in the country take exception to this expression of Bishop Potter, and even go so far as to say that he is wrong, that he doesn't know what he is talking about, and that if he had only taken the trouble to make enquiries from the managers or owners of any of the dry goods stores he would have been furnished with information that would have made it impossible for him to have given utterance to any such statement. If such is the case then the credit must be given to the trade unionists, their mothers, wives and daughters who refuse to buy such goods unless the imprint of organized labour in the form of the union label is attached thereto; a guarantee that at least they have been manufactured under fair conditions. No matter how much the employer may try to hoodwink or bulldoze the workers, the day is at hand when such methods will not be tolerated. Read, think and act in unision with your fellow-workers, and there is not a wrong on earth that can not be righted by you. The millionaire, the capitalist, companies or department stores will do nothing for you. Your salvation is in your own hands; use it to good advantage and wipe forever from this land of ours that stain of blood.—The Carpenter.

TO ORGANIZE ITALIANS.

The report of the Building Trades section dealing with the strike of the builders' labourers reviewed the situation up to date, and urged the building trades to help in every way possible the strikers in their fight for a living wage. It was stated that it was a fight against the building trades with the moral support of the Manufacturers' and Employers' Associations. In discussing the report the suggestion was offered that the Italians of the city be organized. At present the Labourers' Union do not admit them to their organization, asserting that they are not reliable. A member of the organization committee stated that an effort would be made on Monday night to organize all general labourers and the Italians would be admitted to the new organization.

UNTRUTHFUL WAR NEWS.

Statistics of News Sent by the Yellow Journals.

Lloyds' Figures Compiled From These Despatches—Terrible Losses of Russians and Japs.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Lloyd's Berlin issue for the current week publishes statistics of the news furnished by telegrams from the seat of war in the far east since the opening of hostilities, showing that if every telegram had told the truth Russia would have already lost 28 battleships like the Retvizan, 38 of the Petropavlovsk type, 146 cruisers, 411 torpedo boat destroyers, 1,487 torpedo boats, with 86,500 wounded soldiers, 186,000 prisoners of war and 83,000 thousand killed.

Japan, according to news received, would have lost 49 armoured cruisers, 84 other cruisers, 95 destroyers and 564 torpedo boats, while her losses in soldiers would have been 36,000 killed, 119,000 prisoners of war and 131,000 wounded.

The same statistics give Port Arthur as assaulted twelve times, in one instance being taken after a hard fight, and six more times surrendering.

MR. JUSTICE FINNEMORE

Judge of the Natal Supreme Court, Sends the Following Remarkable Testimonial

TO CUTICURA

The World Is Cuticura's Field, Used Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatments, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under their notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to."

ROBERT ISAAC FINNEMORE (Judge of the Natal Supreme Court). Pietermaritzburg, Natal, Oct. 29, 1901.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

August 27.—Liverpool cotton spot light demand middls 6.58 off 8 points. Liverpool close wheat 7-8 higher; corn 1-4 higher.

New York.—Banks are expected to provide funds for crop moving purposes. It would be a curse if we have no crops. The more money that is needed for this purpose the greater bull argument. Buy any of the standard stocks even on fractional declines, and stand pat. Don't sell steel short. Buy fog. Rdg is good and a further advance is scheduled. Buy the tractions trading there in for quick returns.—Joseph.

New York, August 26.—United States steel pfd was the leader in the early trading of the stock market to-day. During the first hour it met with an advance of 1 3-8 points over yesterday's close; later it sold off 3-4 on profit taking by some weak holders. The south western group continued their upward movement scoring advances from 1 to 2 points from yesterday's low toward noon, a selling movement set in and prices receded a point. On the decline the market became dull demonstrating plainly the fact that investment interests are coming into the market and are ready to lend their support against he raids of the professionals. A.C.P. was again strong after selling off fractionally in the early trading sold up to 57 1-2 the highest price of the year. On all recessions stocks appear to be a purchase and aside from complications in European circles should continue their upward march.

PRIMATE OF ENGLAND ARRIVED IN CANADA

The Archbishop of Canterbury Preached in Cathedral.

HIS FIRST SERMON IN CANADA

First Sermon Heard in Dominion from Lips of a Primate of All England—Referred to the History of the Church Here and Laid Stress Upon Sacrifices of Early Missionaries.

The visit of His Grace, the Archbishop of Cantebury, the Primate of all England is a notable event in ecclesiastical circles and is the subject of elaborate notices of his coming and doings in all the principal papers. His grace made his first public delivery in the Quebec Cathedral on Sunday, when he preached an eloquent sermon in which he demonstrated the breadth and liberality of his views by referring to the work of the Catholic missionaries, under the French regime, in the interests of Christianity and civilization.

Quebec, Aug. 29.—The Archbishop of Canterbury arrived here at six o'clock yesterday morning by special train from New York. His Grace was accompanied by his wife, Rev. Mr. Ellison, Vicar of Windsor; Rev. Mr. Holden, domestic chaplain, and J. Pierpont Morgan, the American millionaire.

His Grace attended service at the Anglican Cathedral, which was crowded to the doors. Before the service the Bishop of Quebec presented His Grace with an address of welcome, in which reference was made to the fact that on the 28th of August, one hundred years ago, the Quebec Cathedral was consecrated by Bishop Mountain, the first bishop. His Grace made a short reply to the address.

An Anglican Outpost.

When the morning service was concluded the Archbishop of Canterbury ascended the pulpit and preached a learned and deep sermon, taking for his text St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans, v., 6. He referred to the great progress made since the church was consecrated one hundred years ago. Then it was almost the only outpost of the Anglican community in Canada.

George III. displayed great foresight when at his own expense he erected the building to become the Cathedral Church of the Diocese of Quebec, which then covered nearly the whole country. Since then many dioceses have been created out of the territory in charge of the first Bishop of Quebec, and the Cathedral of Quebec, instead of being an outpost, was the rallying point for the church in this vast Dominion.

Missionary Sacrifices.

His Grace referred to the great sacrifices made by the early missionaries to the Indians in Canada in their efforts to bring the red men under the influence of Christianity, mentioning several of the French missionaries by name.

His Grace was listened to throughout his learned discourse with the most marked attention by the large congregation.

Before the collection was taken up the Dean of Quebec announced that it was his intention to start an endowment fund for the cathedral, which it has never had, and said that the collection at the present service would be devoted to that purpose. The collection amounted to $1,246.

Among those present at the service were Admiral Douglas, commander of the British North American squadron, and Lady Douglas, J. Pierpont Morgan and a large number of American visitors. Rev. J. S. Mountain of Cornwall, Ont., who is a grandnephew of the first Bishop of Quebec was also present and took part in the service.

The Archbishop of Canterbury and his party will leave here for Montreal on Wednesday next.

During his stay in Quebec he is the guest of the Bishop of Quebec.

Not only because he is the greatest church dignitary in Protestantism, but on account of his fine personality and brilliant career, will Archbishop Davidson be warmly welcomed to Canada. Dr. Davidson, who is the first Primate of All England to visit this country, comes with a serious purpose, and is not on a mere holiday jaunt. For this reason his stay will be longer than might be expected of one whose duties and responsibilities are so vast, and at the present time so delicate. After visiting Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, and other Eastern cities, he will be the guest of Bishop Doane, of Albany, and Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts. In October he will be the central figure of the great Episcopal conference in Boston, after which he will return to London. Dr. Davidson does not expect to be able to visit Chicago, St. Louis or any Western cities, urgently as he has been invited to do so. It is intimated, even at this early date, that his Grace contemplates a second visit in a year or two, should his present trip have the effect which is expected.

We cannot vouch for the accuracy of the statement, but it is said with every appearance of authority that the underlying reason for Dr. Davidson's visit to Canada and the United States is his great desire to take a step toward the union and consolidation of English-speaking Protestant denominations. Its realization will mean that Protestantism like Roman Catholicism, will become one organic whole, one vast corporate body. Dr. Davidson is keenly aware of the loss Christianity must bear while Protestants are so much divided among themselves. It is his ambition, we are told, that he shall play a prominent part in the consolidation of the churches, and it speaks much for his sanguine temperament that he looks for great and important events in his own lifetime.

CANADA-ALASKA BOUNDARY

Novel Celebration Was in Honor of Piping the Initial Monument of the Series to Mark the Boundary Between Canada and Alaska—Monuments Are Four-Sided Bronze Pyramids Six Feet High.

Tacoma, Aug. 29.—In connection with the placing of the initial monument of the series marking the boundary between Alaska and Canada, the steamer Danube carried commissioners representing the United States and Canada up the Portland Canal. They were Prof. King of Ottawa, head of the Dominion Astronomical Survey, and Superintendent Tittman of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. The former was accompanied by his daughter, the latter by his wife. The location of the initial monument was determined at Eagle Point, from which the boundary extends due north to a mountain a short distance above the 56th parallel. The mounment is a four-sided bronze pyramid, six feet high, bearing the words "Canada" and "United States" on opposite sides. In an old wooden building on the boundary line a banquet was spread, the table being set across the mark, that left half of it within America and half within Canada. The party included the Boundary Commissioners, the ladies of the party and the officers of the Danube. Toasts were drunk to the King, President and Governor-General.

SEVEN MILES OF FLAMES.

Loss Already Over Six and a Half Million Dollars.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 29.—Another forest fire, seven miles long, is burning at Point Grey, close to Vancouver. The fires are still raging all over the province, and the sun has been obscured by the smoke for two weeks. It is stated that the total loss to the provincial treasury on timber royalties will be over half a million dollars. The loss of timber will be over $6,000,000. The fires are the worst ever experienced here. There is still no sign of rain.

Strathcona's Purchase.

London, Aug. 29.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Strathcona has purchased the Solonsay and Oronsay Islands, part of the Inner Hebrides group belonging to the late General Sir John Carstairs McNeill, V.C., which have been in the possession of the McNeill family for 200 years. They are 12 miles long and contain about 12,000 acres. There are herds of the famous Highland cattle and many interesting ecclesiastical ruins on the islands. Tradition says that St. Columba resided in Oronsay before settling in Iona. In Oronsay are found some of the finest examples of early Christian sculpture in the West Highlands.

A TRIUMPH IN WESTERN JOURNALISM.

During the first week of the Dominion fair held in Winnipeg recently, The Tribune published in that city, rose to the occasion and printed a 52-page paper on Wednesday, July 27. It was the greatest effort put forth by any news-paper printed in the Canadian Northwest and reminded one of the mammoth Sunday publications of the daily press in some of the large metropolitan cities in the United States.

The letter press and cuts of the prominent new warehouses, business blocks and financial institutions in the Prairie Capital were excellent. The entire work was done in The Tribune Printing establishment, and printed on The Tribune's big Hoe press. Several pages were in colours. The number contained 287 columns of paid advertisements, which is the greatest amount of paid advertising printed in a single issue of any Canadian newspaper published west of Lake Superior.

The Tribune is considered an excellent advertising medium, and has been in existence for about a quarter of a century and is making gigantic strides in Canadian journalism.

THE GOVERNMENT JUSTIFIED.

In another column an article taken from the Toronto Globe deals with the resumption of the industrial operations at the Soo, the latest industry to resume operations being the big steel plant. Thus all the Clergue industries which ceased operations owing to financial manipulation of the money market are in full operation, giving thousands of hands profitable employment, and bringing life to the rising town of Sault Ste. Marie, which but for the action of the Government in coming to the aid of the collapsed industries, would have very seriously felt the blow and possibly have relapsed into the dormeant conditions of a few years ago. Its prosperity and growth depended upon the development of the great resources in its vicinity and on the employment of the tremendous water power at its doors and these conditions in turn depended upon the action of the Government in coming to the aid of the allied industry by guaranteeing the bonds of the Consolidated Companies to the extent of $2,000,000, upon ample security. With an enterprise characteristic of its spirit and in conformity with its development policy, the Ontario Government came to the rescue, guaranteed the bonds, and the work has been resumed to the great benefit of the place immediately concerned, and of the province at large. The action of the Government is thus justified and the faint-hearted and antagonistic attitude of the Conservative Opposition in the Legislature as fully discredited. The Conservative members solidly opposed the "Soo guarantee" proposal, denounced it as robbery of the country and the establishment of a dangerous precedent. They apparently could not see beyond their noses, nor rise to the spirit of enterprise which should characterize a young and robust country with a vast wealth of resources to develop. But the stern logic of facts have discredited all the gloomy croakings of the Opposition, the resumption of the industries at the Soo has been accomplished, and so far the assurance of the Government when it asked the House to agree to the guarantee of the bonds has been practically fulfilled.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mail and Empire speaks of Mr. Reid of London, a member of the Grand Trunk Commission as a "corset maker." If that is meant as saying that Mr. Reid's presence will make the Commission "straight-laced" and exact in its business methods it is not so far aside; if it is meant as a jeer, then if Mr. Reid is "corset maker," the editor of the Mail and Empire is something infinitely worse—a mischief maker—with his everlasting attempts to to stir up dissension amongst the people of Canada by slangwhanging the French-Canadians and imputuing disloyalty to them and the Liberals of the country.

The Halifax Chronicle reminds those who are mischievously exploiting the loyalty cry (or political purposes that "it was Conservatives who burnt Parliament houses in Canada. It was Liberals who gave the British preference. It was Conservatives who stoned a Governor-General and refused to send a soldier to the defence of the Empire, (at the time of the Egyptian trouble.) It was Liberals who fitted out and paid for the South African contingents and who supported a Canadian force at Halifax that regular troops might be set free to fight. Liberals have doubled the annual expenditure upon the militia and raised the force from admitted demoralization to comparative and constantly increasing efficiency." Yet the Mail and Empire would, with its imbecile insistency on the patriotic cry "Keep both hands on the Union Jack," like to make people who, unlike Canadians, don't know any better, that there is a political party in Canada yearning and eager to tear down the old flag and would do it but for the howls of mouth-fighting jingoes. The flag is in no danger—except of being soiled by being dragged through the mud and sewage of party politics.

THE SAULT REVIVAL.

(The Globe.)

The announcement that the manufacture of steel rails has been commenced at Sault Ste. Marie by the reorganized Lake Superior Power Company will be welcome news to the whole of Canada. The interest taken in the related projects for the development and application of waterpower and electric energy on both sides of the St. Mary's River has for years been widespread and profound. The financial collapse of the corporation which undertook this immense exploitation caused equally widespread and profound regret. For a time the calamity was productive of discouragement amounting to despondency as to the future of the twin-towns on opposite sides of the international boundary, and repeated disappointments had so disheartened both localities that it seemed impossible to restore in them any feeling of hope, not to say confidence, in their industrial future. Nothing but the reopening of the steel rail mill would convince them that there was still a chance of any important industrial development at the Sault.

It speaks volumes for the good sense and self-control of the present management that the manufacture of rails has been commenced without any flourish of trumpets. Several of the other industries have been resumed in an equally quiet way. Electric energy produced by the agency of the "power canal" on the American side has for some time been supplied to the manufacture of calcium carbide, the chemical compound necessary to the production of acetylene gas. On the Canadian side the mechanical pulp mill, the saw mill, the veneer mill, the waterworks, the street railway, and the Algoma Central Railway have all been operated for months past because they could be made to pay their expenses and something more. Pending the completion of the re-organization and the satisfaction of the creditors, this was all that could safely be done. Any industry that was not able to give a good account of itself was left alone, as under the circumstances it ought to be.

It may safely be assumed that the steel rail mill would not have been started if there had not been a certainty that it would be kept going for at least a considerable time, and that it would enable the management to start the blast furnaces. There has been a great deal of depressing talk about difficulty, if not the impossibility, of procuring iron ore suitable for the production of the right kind of steel for the manufacture of rails, but there has never been any reason to doubt that the present manager knows his business, and that he would not have undertaken the task of bringing order out of confusion and confidence out of despair if he had not seen his way clear to procuring the different kinds of iron ore necessary to produce the proper blend for steel rail production.

Time will make clear to all observers whether Mr. Shields is the right man for the formidable work assigned to him or not. It must be admitted, however, that public confidence in him at the Sault never wavered, and probably the same assertion might be made regarding his own confidence in the undertaking. The Ontario Government guarantee became the means of supplying a working capital, and Government contracts for steel rails, enough to keep the plant at work steadily for months, have done the rest. As time passes and the really up-to-date steel plant gets a chance to show what it can do the doubters will be less and less in evidence, and assurance regarding the future of both the industries and the Sault will develop, a matter of course. Mr. Shields has a large personal and professional interest in the enterprise, the failure of which would tend to discredit him. If any incentive, other than a steadfast determination to do his duty were needed it would be found, in the fact that success in this great undertaking is as necessary to his prestige as it is to the financial satisfaction of those who have invested their capital in the works.

THE NOXIOUS WEEDS OF OLDER CANADA.

How to Prevent Seed Distribution and to Extinguish Common Varieties.

Weeds not only cause a great deal of unnecessary work and annoyance during the harvesting, threshing and cleaning of grain, but they sap the very vitality from the plants or crops grown. Impure seed, particularly of grasses and clovers, is largely responsible for the alarming spread of noxious weeds consequently it is always advisable to sow the best seed available.

Early maturing crops, such as clover hay, can be cut before the weed seeds mature, thus preventing the distribution of weeds. Summer cultivation of the stubble land, followed next season by a hoed-crop properly cared for, will destroy all the weed seeds sufficiently near the surface to germinate.

To eradicate weeds it is important to know something of their nature and growth. Some excellent advice regarding the commoner varieties is given by Mr. Simpson Rennie, owner of the gold medal farm of Ontario.

THE CANADA THISTLE AND PERENNIAL SOW THISTLE.

These can be entirely killed in a single season by a properly worked corn or root crop. The main thing is to keep them from showing above ground. As soon as the thistle is allowed to grow up and develop leaves it commences to store away plant food in its underground stem and roots, so that by the time it is in full bloom it will have stored sufficient food to live through another season, no matter what cultivation is given the land. Where a summer fallow is resorted to there is no trouble in clearing the land of perennial thistles, either by shallow plowing or by using a cultivator with wide points on the teeth, going over the land at least every three weeks until August.

BIND WEED.

This is a perennial and one of the most difficult weeds to eradicate. On account of its twining nature and deep roots it can scarcely be killed in a single season, even where the land is in a hoed crop. The only way to kill it thoroughly is with a summer fallow, worked every eight or ten days with a broad-shared cultivator.

COUCH GRASS.

To eradicate this troublesome perennial it is advisable to plow immediately after harvest, but not more than four or five inches deep, as the rootlets are near the surface. When the weather is dry, the roots can be gathered into rows by means of the harrow and sulky horse-rake.

The spring-tooth cultivator is also very effective in drawing the roots to the surface where they are not so numerous as to block it up entirely. Roots collected should be allowed to dry and then burned. A well-worked corn or root crop the next year will help materially in subduing the weed.

OXE-EYE DAISY.

The daisy is not troublesome in pasture or sod land, but is not much seen in well cultivated fields. It may be got rid of by seeding only to clover, cutting this before the daisy seeds ripen, and plowing up the sod after the first crop.

FALSE FLAX, PIGEON WEED AND CHESS.

All these weeds start to grow in the fall and produce seed the next season. If fall wheat be left out of the rotation, they may be readily eradicated by regular summer cultivation after harvest, thus germinating and destroying the seed.

RAG WEED.

By growing early maturing crops and plowing up the land immediately after the crops are off, the seed of the Rag Weed will be destroyed.

WILD OATS.

This is an annual which is very troublesome in some sections. It is best to work the land as soon as the crop is taken off, thus encouraging the seeds to germinate. The next season a hoed crop should be put in. The second spring the land should be sown with some grass without plowing and seeded down to grass. If the land is left in sod for three years most of the seed will have lost its germinating power.

WILD MUSTARD.

Although only an annual one, this weed is a very troublesome one on account of the vitality of its seeds. They may lie in the ground for years and yet, when brought to the surface, will germinate. Through surface cultivation from harvest to time of freezing up, followed by a hoed crop the next spring will largely eradicate mustard. It may also be destroyed in grain crops by spraying with a two per cent. solution of copper sulphate at the rate of fifty gallons to the acre. If the mustard plants are in bloom a stronger solution will be necessary, say three to four per cent.

Although only a few of the noxious weeds are here mentioned, if the above methods are carried out they will destroy at the same time scores of others of less importance.

A LIVELY TIME WITH A TIGER.

British Officer Has a Hair-raising Adventure

Made Believe to be Dead, Animal Played With Him For a While and Then Left Him.

(Pall Mall Gazette.)

Major Bidan, of the Bengal Lancers, was hunting with a small party, in India, and one afternoon he wandered away from camp a short distance and stretched out under a tree for a nap. He had not slept over a quarter of an hour when he was aroused by what seemed to be the purring of a cat, only the sound was much louder. He had never heard the purr of a tiger or a panther, but realised in an instant that one or the other had come creeping upon him as he slept.

The tiger, as was afterward ascertained, had his lair within a few hundredfeet of where the soldier was lying. After a minute or two a paw was placed on the officer's shoulder, and he was turned over on the broad of his back.

Through his eyewinkers he caught sight of the paw and then realized that he was in the clutch of a full-grown tiger. For the moment he was rejoiced. A panther hasn't the good nature of a tiger, and is also more treacherous. A tiger will starve before he will feed on anything he has not killed with his own paws, while a panther will grab at anything that comes in his way.

When the man had been turned on his back, the tiger sat up like a dog, and purred like the great cat he was.

The beast was rolling and purring when one of the horses in camp uttered a neigh. The major was watching through half-closed lids, and the move the tiger made astonished him. He turned like a flash and bounded six feet into the air, to whirl again and stand head to camp.

As the neigh was not repeated, the tiger finally wheeled around and lay down with his head on his paws, and fastened his eyes on the soldier's face.

There was a long ten minutes, during which the major lived a month for every minute. Then the beast slowly rose up, and with a touch of his right paw, turned the man over on his face. After sniffing at his head, he ran his nose down the leg clear to the ankle.

One leg of the soldier's trousers had been pulled up, leaving his ankle bare, and the beast gave the flesh a couple of licks with his tongue, which felt like a file.

The taste didn't seem to tickle his palate for some reason, and he returned to his playful mood. Once, as he pawed at the jacket, a claw caught and ripped it down as a sharp knife would have done. Once, too, he stood with his paw on the man's hand, but as his claws were sheathed the paw felt like a ball of velvet.

The major was rolled over at least a dozen times by the tiger, and the beast leaped over him back and forth like a dog at play, and he seemed to get a good deal of amusement out of it and to preserve his good nature.

He finally fastened his teeth in the man's leather belt, and lifted him clear of the ground as easily as a man might lift a kitten. If the soldier had not been told over and over again that a tiger eats only what he kills, he would have made sure that he was to be carried off.

He had a revolver in his belt, and as his right hand fell down it encountered the butt of the weapon. He might have drawn it and killed the beast, or a shot might have frightened him away, but it was hardly a chance in a hundred.

It may be that the tiger was holding the man up to see if there was life in him and was hoping to feel him make a movement. If there had been a stir of a hand, death would have been swift and merciless.

After swinging the man pendulum fashion for a full minute, the beast laid him down as carefully as you please, gnawed the belt in two and pulled it off, and, carrying one end in his mouth, he frolicked away and was hidden by the jungle.

An hour later the major's party had formed a cordon around the tiger's lair and sent in the beaters. At the first uproar the beast charged out with a fierce growl and killed a native with one blow of the paw which had treated the soldier so gently.

Three minutes later he wheeled and charged in the other direction, and, though he received bullets from two different rifles, he sprang upon Capt. West, of the artillery, and carried him 500 feet before falling dead. The officer, who had been seized by the neck, was dead long before the tiger gave up the ghost.

THE BREEDING OF GRAIN.

Good work has been done along various lines by the Dominion Department of Agriculture and by some of the Provincial Departments of Agriculture in Canada with a view to encourage the use of high class seed of the best varieties, but there is yet room for a considerable increase in the average yield of common field crops by the use of better seed grain.

The object of forming associations of seed growers may not be perfectly clear to all. The idea may be new in Canada but there are associations of seed growers in other countries, such as the Illinois Seed Corn Growers' Association, that are doing good work. The benefits derived from associations of breeders of live stock are pretty well understood. The advantages to be derived from organized efforts on the part of seed growers are not dissimilar to those which breeders of pure bred live stock obtain through their associations, and the general operations of an organization of seed growers are similar to those of live stock associations.

Associations of breeders of pure bred stock fix a standard which must be attained before animals will be recognised as pure bred. In fixing standards of excellence for pedigreed animals the principles which underlie improvement are recognised. The same principles that are applied in the improvement of animals are also applied in the improvement of varieties of farm crops. Heredity is the lever by which improvements are made and on which breeders of either plants or animals depend to fix desirable characteristics; but the law that like begets like must be taken in its broad sense, because it would not be possible to make improvement if it were not for the tendency toward variation. Heredity and the tendency toward variation can be turned to account in the improvement of plants equally as well as in the improvement of animals, but unfortunately few farmers make any attempt to systematically apply these principles to the improvement of plants. Through heredity and variation improved varieties of field crops tend to revert to the wild types from which they evolved; but when these improved sorts are provided with the environment best suited to their growth, and a continued selection of the most desired specimens practised, this natural tendency toward reversion is overcome.

Though it is highly important that the variety of grain be well suited to the locality where it is to be grown, too much faith has been pinned to the names of varieties without due attention to the quality of the seed itself. It is not always recognised that there may be as much difference between two strains of seed of the same variety of grain as there is between two distinct varieties, so far as the capacity of seed to give a large yield of grain of good quality is concerned. It is therefore important to use seed of the best variety that has kindly treatment and continued selection for several years. In the production of good paying crops the cost of the seed is small, but the influence of the seed is great. Plumpness and freedom from impurities is not sufficient proof that the seed grain is capable of giving a good crop. Breeders of poultry do not pay much attention to the size of eggs for 'incubations'; they want, first of all, to know something about the good qualities that the germ in the egg has inherited from the parents, and not only from the parents but from the majority of the ancestors. It is equally important that seed be taken from a crop in which the individual plant have had an opportunity to attain a maximum vigour and yield per plant, and it is just as important to have definite information about the crops and how the work of selection was carried on for several preceeding years as it is to have a knowledge of the ancestors of breeding animals. In consideration of these principles which underlie improvement in common grain crops, and in view of the limited supply and growing demand for high class seed grain, an effort is being made by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa to form an association that will operate for the mutual benefit of seed producers and seed consumers.

According to the provisional rules of the association, seed grain that is pure, true to variety, and that had the benefit of a system of careful growing and continued selection for three consecutive years, is recognised as improved seed. The operations of members are closely inspected and records are kept of the amount and pedigree of the seed they produce. It is supposed to issue a catalogue for general distribution each year in which names and addresses of members will be given, together with the kinds and varieties of seed produced by them, the pedigree of the seed, the amount of seed for sale, and the price per bushel. It is also proposed to supply members with certificate forms, having printed thereon the rules with which members are required to comply in the production of seed. Purchasers of pedigreed seed may obtain one of these certificates with seed bought from a member; the signature of the member would be a guarantee that the seed supplied had been produced in accordance with the rules. The purchaser would then have an opportunity to verify the pedigree of the seed by having it registered.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Arrival of the Black Watch.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Yesterday the band of the Fighting Forty-Two, the Black Watch, arrived here shortly after 5 o'clock. The crowd was enormous, and sent up a yell such as only an enthused Toronto reception crowd can give. President McNaught and Dr. Orr received them on behalf of the Exhibition, and massed military bands of the city regiments gave a musical welcome. The streets were crowded the whole way to the Armories, where the civic welcome was given.

PORT ARTHUR'S FALL

Virtually Accomplished by Japs Effecting an Entrance.

GUNS DOMINATE ENTIRE TOWN

Fighting Has Not Been Altogether Suspended and Some Desperate Russian Sorties Are Yet Looked For—Japanese Will Not Say Anything Officially Until Enemy Surrenders or Is Annihilated.

London, Aug. 29.—A Central News despatch from Rome says that it is stated on good authority that Port Arthur has fallen. There is no official confirmation.

After Two Days Fighting.

London, Aug. 29.—The correspondent of The Evening Standard cables from Tientsin that the Japanese have captured Port Arthur after days of fighting, and although the battle is still raging inside the city and the garrison under Gen. Stoessel is stubbornly contesting every inch of the way, the invasion has actually taken place, and it is surrender or extermination for the brave defenders.

News Generally Believed.

This is the news that has reached this city and, while it lacks official confirmation from Japanese sources, it is generally believed, and The Evening Standard openly announces the fall of the fortress on the authority of its Tientsin correspondent. Under date of yesterday this correspondent, of whose reliability there can be no doubt, writes:

"Have good reason to believe from private information that the Japanese have effected an entrance to Port Arthur, and that the fall of the fortress is consequently virtually accomplished. The Japanese, however, are reluctant to say anything officially until the fighting is altogether suspended. The entrance was effected at the Etseshan forts. The Japanese occupied the Peiyushan parade grounds within the forts at dawn of the 24th, from which point they swept down with an unceasing fire throughout the day. The Japanese casualties were very heavy, but their courage remained undaunted to the end."

Losses Enormous on Both Sides.

London, Aug. 29.—A despatch from Fusan to Lloyd's Weekly says: "After a desperate day and night of fighting the Japanese penetrated the principal defence of Port Arthur. Their guns dominate the entire town. They hold every position they won despite the desperate and furious counter attacks of the Russians. The losses on both sides were enormous."

A despatch from Kobe to The Weekly Despatch dated Sunday says news from a reliable source states that the Japanese have captured the outlying fortifications of Port Arthur. The Russians still hold the citadel on Antseshan, northwest of the town, the Golden Hill forts and the forts on Tiger's Tail Promontory. The Japanese hold the parade ground. The fall of the fortress is believed to be imminent. The Russians are likely as a last extremity to make a desperate sortie, for which it is believed they are in readiness.

Fall Imminent Saturday.

London, Aug. 29.—The Daily Mail's Kobe correspondent, in a despatch dated Saturday, says: Following is the position of Port Arthur. The Japanese have captured all the outlying fortifications, but the Russians still hold the citadel on Antseshan, Golden Hill Fort and the forts on Tiger's Tail and Liaoti Mountain. The Japanese are in possession of the parade ground and barracks under the Antseshan Fort on the outskirts. The fall of Port Artuur is believed to be imminent. It is believed that the garrison will make a desperate sortie before the end comes.

More Jap Troops.

Che Foo, Aug. 29.—Seven Chinese who went to Port Dalny in the hope of sharing with the Japanese in the business boom there, returned to Che Foo yesterday, and reported that the Japanese are monopolizing all opportunities at the port. These Chinese say that twenty transports, bearing 20,000 troops to reinforce the besiegers at Port Arthur, have arrived at Port Dalny during the past fortnight.

New Japs Lost 800.

Che Foo, Aug. 29.—Information which, to a very great extent, confirms previous reports of the conditions at Port Arthur was received here by junks which left there on Aug. 24 and 26.

The most important statement confirms the reports that the Russians have been driven from the fort immediately east of the railroad.

During the night of Aug. 22 an heroic band of 500 Japanese attempted to capture Fort No. 5 in the midst of a storm. Almost the entire detachment was killed.

Fired on By Torpedo Boats.

On Aug. 27 the fort on Liaoti Mountain was fired on from six Japanese torpedo boats, but the result of this action has not been made known. The Russian marines are working at the land batteries. Shells from the Japanese fire continue to fall in Port Arthur and the dockyards, and the warships have been scattered about the harbor in attempts to protect themselves from the enemy's projectiles.

Russian Battleships Damaged.

A Chinese who was employed at the docks at Port Arthur says that the battleships Retvizan, Poltava and Sevastopol are badly damaged. The battleship Pobieda is in fighting condition. There are also four gunboats and several torpedo boat destroyers in the harbor. The recent report that eight destroyers escaped from Port Arthur cannot be confirmed. The Japanese are constructing forts at Louisa Bay, northwest of Port Arthur.

Japs Move on Lacmpine.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The general staff has received the following telegram from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, dated Aug. 27: "Our advance guard on the southern front yesterday retired slowly towards the fortified position at Anshanshan. The Japanese artillery cannonaded our position at different points. Our heavy fire eventually compelled the enemy to move their vast camp from Faimalna to Baissiana. At 6 o'clock in the evening there was a lull in the firing. The hottest fighting occurred on the left flank on the south front, where our losses amounted to 200. During the night our advance guards retired to the principal position.

Lost at Least 400.

"Five divisions of the enemy took the offensive against our south front. Our troops repelled towards the southeast all attacks, while our troops on the right, towards evening, drove the Japanese back on Lounsinpu. Our losses on the southeast front were about 400.

Six Guns Abandoned.

"A turning movement by the enemy against the left flank of the Tsegow position and the enfilading fire of their batteries on Khaoulo Heights forced the Tamboff Regiment to retire and the retreat was effected in good order. Six guns were abandoned, but they were rendered useless. The Japanese attacked like fanatics, and their losses must have been great.

"A wounded Japanese officer, who was taken prisoner, escaped observation after his wound was dressed and killed himself by dashing his head against the stones. Our troops captured many rifles, and articles of equipment. Our losses on this front have not been definitely ascertained, but they exceed 1,500 killed or wounded.

"On Aug. 27 the enemy had not assumed any defensive movement at any point along the whole front, and our troops retired gradually to new positions. At about 2 o'clock in the afternoon it was discovered that the Japanese were moving on Lasmpine."

Out Array in Force.

Tokio, Aug. 29.—The general staff maintained silence throughout yesterday concerning the fighting in the vicinity of Liaoyang. It is reported that Gen. Kuroki has seized and cut the railroad south of Mukden, thus separating the Russian forces and cutting Liaoyang from a direct line of retreat, but confirmation of this report cannot be obtained. The fighting reported east and southeast of Liaoyang is regarded here as preliminary to a larger contest in the immediate vicinity of Liaoyang. It is expected that Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu will press forward speedily.

Japan Shows Her Mettle.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Japan has addressed a note to the powers informing them that unless Russia forthwith disarms her warships in Shanghai Japan will be forced to take whatever steps she deems necessary to protect her interests. Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister, called at the State Department Saturday and left with Mr. Adee, the acting Secretary of State, the communication of the Tokio Government.

The Minister spent some time with Acting Secretary Adee, but further than to receive the communication, Mr. Adee was careful not to disclose the attitude of this Government, although the Minister was assured that the continuation of Chinese neutrality was earnestly hoped for by the United States.

It is understood that a similar note also was delivered at the various Foreign Offices by Japan's diplomatic representatives.

Commission on Contraband.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—A joint commission representing the Foreign and Marine Ministers, to be presided over by Prof. Demartens, professor of international law at the University of St. Petersburg, will sit forthwith to consider the distinction between conditional and absolute contraband of war. It is expected that the result will be communicated to the American and British Ambassadors and that it will tend to the removal of existing causes of friction.

EXCUSE FOR A WAR.

Argentina and Uruguay Have Now a Sufficient Cause.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 29.—A great sensation has been created here, owing to the surprising by Government troops of Uruguay of a Uruguayan insurrectionary force numbering 180 men, fully armed and equipped under Col. Parapillon, on a steamer on the Uruguayan coast, but in Argentine territory.

President Ordonex of Uruguay, had been warned that preparations were being made for an insurrectionary expedition, and despatched two forces with armed vessels to watch for the expedition. At sight the Government troops attacked the insurrectionists with a continuous and merciless fire. Many of the latter swam ashore, but eight, badly wounded, were captured. The fate of the others is not known.

The insurrectionary vessels was also captured, and with it a considerable quantity of telegraph apparatus.

Diplomatic relations between Argentina and Uruguay have become strained owing to this incident.

Welcomed at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Aug. 29.—The Viceregal party arrived at 5.45 Saturday evening, the private cars Canada and Victoria being attached to the steamboat express. Hundreds of people crowded the depot, but did not cheer as they did not know whether it would be good form. Later, however, they made up for it when the National Anthem was played. An address was presented to His Excellency. Lord Minto was received with enthusiasm. He thanked the citizens of Owen Sound for their cordial reception as the representative of His Majesty King Edward. He spoke of Canada's advancement during the years he had resided here, and said that on his return to the old country he would seize every opportunity to do what he could for Canada.

Peru Grows Calm.

Lima, Aug. 29.—Jose Pardow, who was elected president of Peru January last, will be inaugurated Sept. 21. Excitement over the political situation in Peru is becoming more calm. It is known that former President Pierok, Dr. Durand and the people are opposed to a revolution.

TRIAL SPIN SUCCESSFUL ON STREET RAILWAY.

One of the Old Cars in Operation This Morning.

After six years of "underground railway" the citizens of Peterborough again had the pleasure of seeing an electric car bussing about the streets this morning and incidentally give our town more of the appearance of a city. The first trial spin was made this morning and the result was most satisfactory. One of the old cars was out after having been painted and fitted up in a most creditable manner. The car ran up Charlotte street as far as the G.T.R. station and along George street as far as the C.P.R. station on the south, to the northern terminus of the road. The tracks were of course somewhat rough at the start, but it will not be long before they are in a condition to admit of a speedy trial. It was a great time for the small boys who were literally packed into the car as it moved up George street and the kids thought it was fine fun to have a ride without having to hand over the five coppers.

The new cars expected at any time from Ottawa and the line will likely be in full operation this week.

The horses were of course a little troubled in spirit at the sight of the car approaching, but some of them evidently recognized an old friend and after a look and a slight slakening of speed went on their way without further trouble.

LEFT FOR OTTAWA.

Nine of the 57th Regiment will Complete in D. R. A. Matches.

On Saturday evening the crack shots of the 57th Regiment left for Ottawa to take part in the annual Dominion Rifle Association matches which open there to-day. The local shots have always done well at these contests and they are sure to come home with their share of the prises. Those in the party were, G. Fitzgerald, J. Pentland, C. Curtis, D. Cameron, W. H. Moore, R. Wilson, E. H. Mowry, T. Ritchie, F. Bartlett.

THE BAND EXCURSION.

Very Enjoyable Trip Down the River on Saturday Afternoon.

The 57th Band and their friends went down the river on Saturday afternoon on the Steamer City of Peterborough, and the occasion was a most pleasant one. The weather was ideal and the large number on board thoroughly enjoyed the outing. The boat went as far as Jubilee Point where the wants of the inner man were supplied about the time that the sun went down. The band played several selections in their usual very enjoyable manner.

OBJECTION MADE TO CURVES ON SIDEWALKS.

Citizen Thinks Walks Should be Straight—The Curve on Aylmer Street.

A prominent citizen said to the Examiner this morning:—

"The recent efforts of the town employees in building sidewalks has set the people thinking. The town was laid out by the government as a town plot, the lots were all rectangular and the streets, like those of Damascus were called straight. But our aesthetic councillors have evidently concluded that straight lines were odious and that the line of beauty is a curve and the particular line adopted is evidently that which is known as cabracteristic of a dog's hind leg. So the sidewalks recently built suggest this peculiar line of beauty. If anyone should stand at Sanderson's Grocery store on Aylmer street and look west they would see one of these peculiar leg curves. People returning to the town it is only a mild exhibition of the new ideal and that many other places are much worse.

We are generally proud of our local works, but when we see strangers from away back stand on the curves and looking on a straight line of sidewalk and ask the reason for the curves, we are a little at a loss as to how to frame an answer. As to the particular case at Sanderson's, it can be suggested that the lilac suckers at the Wrightons property caused the diversion.

We would ask the council to consider carefully before they adopt further of these peculiar Grecian bends as we think they are not creditable to the council or town engineer."

TOLD OF HIS WORK AMONG THE INDIANS.

Rev. R. B. Beavis' Interesting Address at Charlotte St. Church.

Spent Six Years in Missionary Work in British Columbia—Last Evenings Service.

Services were held in the Charlotte Street Church yesterday which has been undergoing repairs for the past five weeks. Large congregations were present at both services, and the discourses of Rev. R. B. Beavis, who has been preaching in the absence of the pastor, were very enjoyable. In the evening he gave an address on his six years with the Indians in British Columbia and Alaska, which proved one of much interest. Mr. Beavis is a very interesting speaker and his sermons during the month have been very helpful and appropriate.

The only good Indian, said the speaker last evening, was the converted Indian and this statement might also be applied to humanity at large. The speaker had had six years experience among them, his labours being under the auspices of the Methodist Church. For three years his sister was with him and for the last three years his wife was with him both assisting materially in the work. He left Vancouver, where he was living, in the fall of 1888 for Port Simpson, where he began his work in teaching the Indian children in a day school. A few of his pupils could speak a little English while the majority knew nothing about it which was his situation regarding the Indian tongue. But by means of an interpreter he was able to make himself understood; the experience was a somewhat trying and often discouraging one, but nevertheless was not without hope and many phases were decidedly humorous.

In his work among the Indians, he had observed that there was one thing which the English and Canadians had recognized more quickly than the Americans and that was in understanding the mysteries of the Indian nature. The Indians had to be understood if one was to succeed in any work among them and if our forefathers had started out to study their nature and deal intelligently, wisely, justly, and humanly with the red men there would not have been cause for nearly all the wars on this continent in bygone days.

Referring to his school teaching, Mr. Beavis said that after ringing the school bell he sometimes had to go around the town to collect his pupils and even to awaken some of them from their slumbers. It was a great insult to any Indian to lay a hand on them even though this be done in a friendly matter; it is strongly against their nature and they resent it at once.

Port Simpson was the great metropolis of the northwest of British Columbia. It has one of the finest hebours in the world. The town is surrounded by a tribe of Indians, recognized as the most artistic Indians on the continent. There are many worthy men among them,—worthy to be citizens of earth and heaven.

After spending a considerable time at Port Simpson, Mr. Beavis went about two hundred miles southward to Bella Bella, where he carried on missionary work. This place was far different from Port Simpson, there being no railways, cattle, horses or many other things which a civilized place has. He learn- that to successfully deal with the Indian; it was necessary to commend and not to order them. The Indian will respect a man every time if he knows more than himself, but if the reverse is the case, the white man should strive at once to acquire the knowledge which he lacks.

On the first morning which the speaker spent at Bella Bella he was awakened at 4 o'clock by the sound of church bells and was informed that the natives were holding a service of praise. He arose and found about 30 men and women holding a song service in the church. It was an inspiring sight, especially when he thought that 10 years ago, all the people in that vicinity were struggling in darkness and knew nothing of the power of the Gospel. The Indians were very earnest in their worship and to this day keep up the early Sunday morning service.

The Indians, like the boy, must be taught his place and kept there and if he is to become a man among men, he must be thrust out on his own resources and taught to take care of himself.

There was still a great deal of superstition among the Indians as to religious affairs. At Port Simpson the heathen customs had largely been given up but at Bella Bella there were many things to sadden the heart of the missionary who was always glad when the festive Christmas season was over for at this time the Indians were very easily led to cross the narrow line between right and wrong. One of the practices was to give food to the spirits of the dead. We are taught to believe that this earth is not the end of man who is immortal and this lesson is most firmly taught among the Indians. One could never go to a graveside but there could be seen some superstitious rites, the most common form being to burn food over the graves of the deceased, it being believed that the spirits still lived. The Indians had practiced this custom for many years; they had no Bibles to teach them that this was not the end of man but the great God had told them.

Mr. Beavis had greatly enjoyed his six years' work among the Indians and stated that good progress was being made in bringing them to a knowledge of Christ.

At the evening service the male quartette sang two numbers, "Nighe o Rest" and "The Wayside Cross," with solo by Mr. F. Breminger.

MACHINE TELEPHONE CO'S ACTIVE OPERATIONS.

Street Poles Being Erect To-day—New Offices Being Built on Charlotte Street.

Active operations are now in progress in connection with the Machine Telephone Company. This morning a gang of twenty-five men commenced the work of erecting telegraph poles on George street north of Dublin. The underground wires go as far as this point. For the past two months steady work has been in progress in the pole yard where the poles have been cleaned and made ready for street purposes. They are all sightly and have been especially selected for the company.

Last week operations were begun in connection with the new central office, which is being erected on Charlotte street adjoining Landrums photograph gallery. The excavations are now being made and the office is to be completed by the middle of October. The office will be constructed on plans suitable for central office purposes and will include the business office for the local exchange together with a store and repair room. It will be up to date in every respect.

Mr. W. H. Lytle construction superintendent returned on Saturday after ten days trip during which he visited New York and other points getting the very latest ideas regarding underground construction. He did this this previous to commencing active work on the construction this morning. The company is using fibre conduit in the underground work and the construction will be thoroughly up-to-date in every respect.

The fact that the Central Office is being constructed on a plan so as to allow for 1,500 telephones goes to show that the company has faith in the future of the town and of the exchange.

A HINT TO FARMERS ON WAYSIDE WEEDS.

The Tough-lived and Wide Spread Canadian Thistle.

A drive through the country will reveal upon the highway alongside farm fields, plentiful plantations of Canada thistles, one of our most annoying noxious weeds, and if one were to see the adjoining fields before the crop was removed, similar thistles would be found in the fields themselves. Many farmers fight the thistles in their fields and neglect those in the highway, which are allowed to mature and the thistle down bearing seeds are carried into adjoining and even far distant fields. Farmers should remember that weeds like the Canada thistle along the wayside and in fields is held by passers by to be a reproach upon their farming. Weeds can be subdued if properly fought and in this issue is presented an excellent article dealing with means for destroying noxious weeds.

THE GREAT NORTHERN DIVER OTHERWISE OUR LAKE LOON.

A "Nature Study" by Mr. Sam Wood in the Toronto Globe.

The weird, long call or the shrill, demoniacal laugh coming out of the night tells of the sleepless activity of the loon. The whip-poor-will in the adjacent shrubbery seems companionable, and there is a friendly spirit in the short, shrill tremolo of the night-hawk from the invisible sky. Even the plaint of the screech-owl has a tone of human sympathy; but the dreary cadence of the loon is the voice of the inhospitable night, repelling every thought of human association. It does not entreat, it does not warn; yet there is a fascination in its expressionless strength. Over the black water, under the lowering sky, or through the bright, still moonlight the same feeling tone fills the ear of night; and sometimes, when the lingering moon sheds a broad trail of light along the still waters of the lake, the graceful swimmer will glide across and disappear in the darkness, breaking the bright reflection into a multitude of chasing, quivering, trailing threads of silver. Throughout the day, where the cedars come down to meet their shadows in the dark water, he swims ceaselessly about, sitting low, with black, glossy neck gracefully curved and displaying its delicate white markings. Sometimes he stretches himself wearily, flapping his wings and displaying his white breast and the handsome, showy markings of his sides. Though wary and aloof, and without a trace of animation in his loud, penetrating cries, he shows his kinship by the scrupulous care with which he preens his handsome feathers—even lying on his back in the water to comb out and smooth his glossy white breast.

A hurried cry from overhead may unexpectedly reveal the presence of a pair of loons in another element, and it is always fascinating to watch their steady, strained, energetic flight above the tops of the pines, generally to curve down to some more attractive expanse in the cedar-girt lake. For the water is the loon's natural element. There is an amusing deliberateness in his graceful, silent dive. He does not make the hurried dip of his smaller cousin, the grebe, but more calmly both neck and body, disappearing under the surface in a graceful arch. Settling down and swimming with only head and neck exposed in an evidence of suspicion, and is generally followed by a long dive, with a belated reappearance in some remote part of the lake.

When the mother loon takes her two offsprings out for a swim it is a big event in the domestic circle. The outing is announced by prolonged and unusual repetitions of the laughing call. For half an hour the echoes of the lake are kept alive with sounds portentous of a big event in the loon world. Then a peculiar object is seen to emerge from the [illegible] bay, and cross under the shadowy cedars toward the open. A field-glass shows it to be the mother loon and her two offsprings, the three huddled so closely together that they are almost indistinguishable. The mother is unceasing in her care and attention. She strokes the backs of the young birds with her bill, playing and fussing around and close to them, as if they could not exist without her constant attention. Now and then she leans over and lifts a broad, black, webbed foot out of the water, holding it up distended, as if to endorse the modern theory that the parent loon teaches her young to swim. They cling to each other and cling to her, as if afraid of being lost in the great expanse of water, to which they have been so recently introduced.

A short distance away the father swims about in lordly indifference, diving occasionally and regaling himself on the unsuspecting fish. A boat comes out from the shore, rowed by an industrious guide, with an angler, picturesquely protected with a mosquito net, sitting in the stern. The mother loon pushes and urges her idolent pair in the direction of safety. How slow they must seem as she hurries and encourages them! The trio move at a snail's pace compared with her ordinary speed, and they show no inclination to dive out of harm's way. Their clinging, crowding tendency serves but to incommode and obstruct her. And where is the male protector? Alas for the romance of chivalry! When the boat comes near he deliberately dives, and, after the usual protracted wait, reappears in another part of the lake, away from the danger that alarms and threatens the defenceless trio. But the mother remains and urges the encumbering young things to speed. They do make some headway, though slowly, toward the marshy bay from which they recently emerged with so much loud, wild laughter. The indifference of the fishermen and the guide do not reassure them, and they never cease their entangled struggle till lost to sight in the winding lagoon. The loons are the largest of the summer visitors that remain in our adjacent lakes, and they do not desert us till the frost threatens to rob them of a local habitation.

FORESTERS' VISIT TO FORESTERS ISLAND.

A Splendidly Enjoyable Visit to a Romantic Spot.

ADDRESSES BY PUBLIC MEN.

The Corner Stone of the New Orphanage at Deseronto Well and Truly Laid.

The greater portion of those who went with the Independent Order of Foresters to Belleville, Foresters' Island, Deseronto and Lake of the Mountain, returned home again on Saturday night about 11 p.m., and report that they had a most enjoyable trip and a pleasant time at the various places visited.

The train left here about 7.30 a. m, and reached Belleville about 10 a. m. with some 200 excursionists on board, who shortly after embarked on the Steamer Aletha en route for Forester Island, which was reached about 11.30, when those desiring to stay on the Island disembarked but the majority stayed on board and the steamer then proceeded on its way to Glenora and Lake of the Mountain, stopping en route at Deseronto wharf. The terminus of the trip was reached when the steamer anchored at Glenora wharf about 1.30 p.m. and the excursionists were soon climbing up the famous mountain by means of several long flights of stairs and winding roadways and finally the broad clear lake on top of the mountain. The lake is said to have no inlet or outlet, but the water is as clear as spring water and is supposed to be in some way connected with the distant Lake Erie, as it rises and falls in sympathy with its tides. The excursionists are loud in their praise of the sail across the Bay of Quinte and of the beautiful island and scenery along the route. Dr. Shaw, of Keene, High Physician for East Ont., I. O. F. obtained several snapshot pictures with his camera of several groups of visitors along the shady lanes and bowers of the mountain. Bro. J. W. Green, photographer, of town, also obtained some fine pictures of the Foresters' Orphans' Home, and the crowds of visitors from Toronto, Kingston and Picton. The captain of the Aletha showed great kindness to the passengers and kindly acted as guide in showing the places of interest at the mountain and the Turbine Wheel Foundry, at Glenora, the ponderous machinery of which is driven by water-power, the water descending down through a pipe with great force from the lake at the top. The G.T.R. conductor's kindness will also not be forgotten when he brought his train under the street car system in Belleville by stopping at various points in the town to pick up the excursionists who scattered over the town spending an hour or so.

On the return journey the steamer left Glenora about 3.30 p. m. and reached Deseronto and Foresters' Island about 5.45, just in time to see the other steamers land. The Toronto excursionists who were accompanied by the I. O. F. Engampment Band and the Citizens' Band, which both furnished music during the afternoon, and a pianoist furnished music in the pavilion to those engaged at the dancing. The laying of the corner stone of the I. O. F. Orphans' Home was then proceeded with the Supreme Chief Ranger, the Hon. Dr. Oronhyatekha, being surrounded by prominent Foresters from all parts of Canada and the United States among them being Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

The committee in charge of this excellently managed excursion was Bros. Dr. Greer, Allison, Miles, Cowling, Wallace, Buyars, Koster, Gray and Francis.

I. O. F. ORPHANAGE.

At Deseronto the ceremonies in connection with the opening of the first orphanage of the Independent Order of Foresters took place. A great crowd of people witnessed the ceremonies brought by large excursions from Toronto, Rochester, Waterton, Cleveland, Peterborough and many other points. The corner stone was laid by the Supreme Chief Ranger Dr. Oronhyatekha. The ceremony was carried out under the rites of Forestry, prayer being offered by the Supreme Orator, Rev. Alex. and McGillivray. An address was presented to the Supreme Chief, who made a fitting reply. The Supreme Secretary, Lieut.-Colonel John McGillivry, also spoke.

REV. PROF. CLARKE.

Rev. Prof. Clark, who was received with applause, said that latterly he had been an unworthy member, but some one had been good enough to say that he had come to that time of life when he might be tolerated. (Applause.) He congratulated the order, however, upon the possession of a head, a leader, whose powers and qualities were altogether unique. He did not know any man in the Dominion who could be described as the right man in the right place in the same way as Dr. Oronhyatekha. He was sure no one would think he was uttering words of flattery. If Dr. Oronhyatekha thought so, those around him would not. (Applause.) There was no human heart that would not be touched by a feeling of sympathy at the thought that such splendid provision had been made for orphaned children. Nothing could be more heavenly, divine and Christlike than the work of caring for bereaved children. He congratulated the Supreme Chief and the order on the prospect of the successful completion of the work.

Hon. John Haggart, who followed, also eulogised the proposed charity and its authors.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S TRIBUTE.

Hon. J. M. Gibson described his early meeting with Dr. Oronhyatekha, who was then one of the first riflemen to go from the Dominion to wimbledon. The Supreme Chief was then a famous shoulder shot, and he had been shooting straight ever since. There were probably few men better known in Canada than Dr. Oronhyatekha. Few men were known so widely all over the world as he. To achieve his tremendous success he must be a man of remarkable powers of organisation. He must be able to take broad views of policy and at the same time to be capable of mastering details and these two qualities combined few men indeed possessed. There was no work in which a man could engage no matter whether his station in life be high or low, that was more thrilling or interesting than that of child-saving. No man was too busy to give some attention to such a work. Preaching was of no use unless it was followed up with practical work like this. After all the religion that was not practical was not worth very much. In closing he expressed the hope that the Supreme Chief Ranger would be spared to continue his work for many years to come.

THE PROVINCIAL SECRETARY.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, who followed, said that apart from the charitable side of the enterprise the authorities of the Independent Order of Foresters deserved the greatest credit for the good taste and wisdom shown in the selection of a site for the beautiful institution for the care of the orphans of deceased members of the order. A home for oephans such as this set up in almost any place, would be an inestimable boon to the special beneficiaries it is intended for, but when placed in surroundings such as these — surroundings which wealth cannot buy in other less favoured sections of the Province—the value of the boon was incalculably enhanced, and the inmates, in the matter of scenery and surroundings, will be objects of envy to many more fortunately situated in regard to worldly means, human relationships and parental care.

"I have the warmest sympathy," said the Provincial Secretary, "with the objects of Forestry, and admiration for the energetic and enterprising way in which effect is given to these objects. It is indeed a noble aim to place within reach of people of moderate possessions the means of providing for those naturally dependent upon them, without a burdensome outlay, by means of an outlay within the means of almost any industrious and steady citizen of Ontario.

"The man or Order which simply does his or its duty deserves no special credit. That is what Canada expects every good citizen to do. But when an Order does more than its duty, and becomes a pioneer in its line in carrying out a noble work of charity, it takes rank among philanthropists and deserves special credit and commendation, such as I desire to express as emphatically as words will permit. As official custodian of the charitable institutions of the Province, and as head of a department of the Government having charge of other institutions founded, maintained and managed on charitable principles, I welcome the co-operation of the Independent Order of Foresters in the great work of improving the condition and ministering to the necessities and promoting the benefit and happiness of those who have no other earthly source of help to look to. If my sympathy with and hearty endorsation of your work as represented by what this orphanage is intended to do for the otherwise friendless orphans of the deceased members of our Order will afford any encouragement, I can assure you that both are heartily extended. The work undertaken is a noble one and I wish it the greatest measure of success, and if it is within my power to promote the attainment of that success, I shall be glad. And I hope and trust that the management of the institution will have a corresponding success to that which has attended the management of the Independent Order of Foresters in this Province and elsewhere.

"While I beg to congratulate the Order upon the success of its general operations and upon its general satisfactory condition, I beg to congratulate the Order especially upon the splendid addition to its equipment for doing good represented by the splendid institution—splendid both in moral object and material construction—whose opening we are celebrating to-day."

Other congratulatory addresses were also delivered.

BOARDS WITH NOBILITY

AN AMERICAN VISITOR'S EXPERIENCE IN ENGLAND.

Advertised For and Obtained Entertainment by Titled Ladies at Ten Guineas a Week—This Included the Goodwood and Cowes Season—Some of the Other Offers—A Letter Writer's Pleasant Experience.

The London Daily Mail, in publishing the letter below, said the writer of the letter had submitted documentary evidence establishing the genuineness of the communications mentioned:

An American Letter.

Off Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 1.—I am in a chair under an awning on the deck of a noble yacht that today makes a unit in the great floating forest off Cowes, having dined well at a board graced by the presence of probably more real aristocrats than all my confreres in Wall street have ever seen. I am a mere moneyed American, of confessedly snobbish tendencies, and I do not feel pleased with myself; nor is my contempt for my fellow-Americans diminished by the reflection that indirectly I shall pay for that dinner. On the contrary; the fact that I have entertained, unknown to themselves, some of the proudest and bluest-blooded owners of pedigrees in Burke's is a tit-bit lending a pleasant flavor to my cigar. The latter, which I suspect will cost me a dollar in my board bill, I extracted from a box bearing a coronet inscribed with a motto that since Bolingbroke's days has been the watchword of generations of fighters for the King.

I am the first paying guest to be received into the bosom of the distinguished but impoverished family bearing this crest. For something approaching my chief clerk's salary, $5,000, the Dowager Countess, my present landlady, undertook to receive me for Goodwood and Cowes, introducing me to a certain number of her titled friends.

Through an Advertisement.

I made the Dowager Countess' acquaintance through an advertisement in the "board and apartments wanted" column of The Morning Post, announcing my ambition to mix in good English society, approximate terms to be stated. The Dowager's was one of 38 replies received, half of them bearing coronets and the name of people making a splash in society, as we "vulgar Americans" term it. One application bore an impressive daub of purple wax with a coronet and strawberry leaves. A great Duchess was ambitious to be my landlady.

"Try to come and see me in time for Cowes," the Duchess wrote. "There I shall be able to give you valuable introductions. My terms are ten guineas a week."

A second application, signed by a great lady without whose name no issue of the Court Circular would be complete, read:

"I can introduce you, if you are not too American, to the Prince of Monaco. I will telephone you tomorrow when we can arrange an interview at my house."

This lady declined to mention terms, leaving that delicate matter to be settled by myself. For the ridiculously modest recompense of four guineas a week I was offered a house and the assistance of its titled owner, who undertook to introduce me the first week to one Peer of the realm, to another Peer's nephew, to her sister-in-law, Lady ——, and her niece, Countess ——.

"Thus," she wrote, "you see, I can offer you the best society."

Other Applications.

Of the many applications received my secretary decided on the Dowager Countess, as she seemed to offer the best opportunities, so that I found that for six shillings and nine pence, the cost of my advertisement, the doors of the highest English society were flung wide open to welcome me. Next day the successful applicant, the Dowager Countess herself, telephoned me.

Americans visiting England criticise your non-hustling and unbusiness-like ways, but they ought to have dealings with some bill-burdened, entail-ridden aristocrats looking for paying guests, and they would shed that idea. No Wall street hustler could have handled the telephone better than the Dowager, and the way she stuck through subsequent negotiations made me thank my stars and stripes that I had no need to talk dollars to her every day. The Dowager made me put away all my American clothes before she would consent to temporarily adopt me, and she expressed the wish that I do the same with my American accent. I find the latter feat difficult, but during the week at Goodwood and by hard practice I have rubbed off the sharper corners of my objectionable twang, and the Dowager gives me daily lessons after lunch on the yacht.

A Pleasant Experience.

So behold me this evening sitting on one of the smartest yachts in the Cowes roads, satisfied with everybody and everything, for I am certainly getting my money's worth. Gracefully reclining in a chair near by is one of the most beautiful debutantes of the season. She is the Dowager's youngest daughter, and, being an impressionable bachelor, with enough money to build up the shattered fortunes of this good old family—it is curious, but my cigar smoke makes a succession of rings.

Nearby sits the Dowager Countess. In the glow of the setting sun she looks almost pretty again, and I can believe the story that in the mid-Victorian days she was an autocratic Queen of Beauty at whose frown men went tiger-hunting in India and did other desperate things. The stories must be true, for the Dowager herself told me.

Leaning over the Dowager's chair stands her eldest son, the present Earl. Her sweet old face is upturned to him, and I note that her hair is almost white. I know that the Earl is indignant that his mother has taken a paying guest, and she is defending her action on the ground that everybody does it. The Earl snubs me subtly at every opportunity, but His Lordship must be careful, or I shall tell him that I could obtain as good accommodation elsewhere at cheaper rates. Besides, I'll no longer allow him to teach me bridge at sixpenny points.

SOAP ARTISTS.

Street Decorators Take to Windows in the Winter.

During the winter months many of the street artists, or "scrivemers," as they are generally called, get a good living by going round to the small publicans and tradesmen in the poorer districts of London, and, by means of sticks of yellow soap, drawing fanciful, drawing, accompanied by lettering, on the mirrors and on the shop windows.

One street artist, who has a "pitch" during the summer months in the West End, decorates all the mirrors in a seaport town up north from September to January. He admits making so much as £3 a week, and getting his meals and drinks free in addition.

Bacchus, surrounded by a number of pretty women drinking from cups, is a drawing in soap to be seen at a small inn at Liverpool. It was drawn by a well known exhibitor in his young and impecunious days. The artist received five shillings for it at the time, and recently he offered the owner £5 for it. The offer was refused, however.

Some public-house artists prefer whiting to soap for drawing on glass, and some beautiful designs can be drawn with this material if one is gifted with any amount of artistic ability.

A young artist named Gibbens recently set forth from Birmingham to London without a penny in his pocket, but with a supply of whiting. He stopped at wayside inns and offered to draw designs on glass for a meal and a few pence. Out of seventy houses he called at he was given work at fifty. When he reached London he had a sum of £10 8s. 2d. in his possession.

Some Stories of Disraeli.

Lord Esher, says The London Chronicle, is 52, and a Londoner by birth and by choice. Though he has not yet bowed beneath the weight of age, he has felt "The Yoke of Empire" press heavily on his spirit, though lightly on his pen. That was the name of one of his books; and what he writes is always sure to be read, even when his theme is less attractive than his reminiscences of Lord Beaconsfield. Lord Esher was Mr. Reginald Baliol Brett when Disraeli said to him: "I never trouble to be avenged; when a man injures me I put his name on a slip of paper and lock it up in a drawer. It is marvellous how the men I have thus labelled have the knack of disappearing." Lord Esher is not of the number of the vanishing—a great number among the friends as well as among the foes of all Prime Ministers. He at least has fulfilled the hopes that his youth promised; and he is found at 52 the most trusted unofficial adviser of the King about the King's army as well as the official Deputy Governor of Windsor Castle. Disraeli, even if he jested about his foes, had a seriously good memory for his friends. Whether or not they, too, had their names written down and put in a drawer, they had a wonderful faculty for public reappearing. A score of well-known cases could be quoted; but one that is less conspicuous and less familiar will be new to many readers. As a boy, Sir John Pope Hennessy conceived a romantic admiration for Disraeli, and wrote to tell him so in a letter which ended, "I love you." No answer was vouchsafed; Disraeli had an almost inflexible rule of no reply to unknown correspondence. Years passed. Then Pope Hennessy won an Irish seat. The first congratulations he got in London were Disraeli's, who, without further ado, invited him to dinner to meet other and more famous members of Parliament, and who, later, gave him a colonial Governorship. The blind affection of the boy undoubtedly influenced the career of the man.

East Indian Athletes.

As is only to be expected, considering their national diet—curri-bhat—the physique of the natives of India will not compare with an Englishman's, though they possess a lithe-ness of form and quickness of eye that we lack and that make them among the finest gymnasts and jugglers in the world. Such perfect balancing powers have they that, even supposing them bereft of the tenacious grasp of foot possessed by all barefooted races, there would be still left much to admire in their skill. No contortion seems too difficult for them, no bar too slight or smooth to be negotiated; no height can try their nerves, and no standing ground appears too small. Even a slip is of little consequence to such clever tumblers. They seem to have all the climbing powers of a cat. As runners their staying power is most remarkable. A dak-wallah deems the task of running twenty miles a mere trifle.—Fry's Magasine.

A Puzzled Archbishop.

The London Chronicle says: The Archbishop of Canterbury has finally decided to pay a visit to the United States. There is no precedent, we believe, at Lambeth Palace for this adventure; but even Archbishops grow weary of precedents. This will be a novelty with a purpose. For beyond the interest taken by every intelligent man in a first visit to the States, His Grace goes with an open mind to inquire into a question that causes him some perplexity. "He wants to find out how it happens that Americans grow up God-fearing, though their education is what people in this country call Godless." That is the explanation of his visit given by one of his friends.

Well Known In Peterboro'

Is Mr. W. E. Talbot Who Was Cured of Piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros. tobacco merchants, 362 George street, Peterborough, states: —"It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for Itching Piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease and though I tried very many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured and knowing the misery that the ailment produces, I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

THE AUSTRALIAN CABINET.

Most Remarkable Known in Australian History—A Most Curiously Expressed Independent Opinion.

The Melbourne Life, a non-partisan publication, in a recent sketch of the Australian Cabinet and the political situation in that country, said in part:

Judged by its antecedents, the Cabinet, it may be added, is the most remarkable known to Australian history. With, perhaps, a single exception, all have risen from the ranks and worked for their bread with their hands. The Prime Minister, Mr. Watson, is a compositor—little more than ten years ago an unknown employe on an evening paper in Sydney. His trade did not always give him occupation; he had to turn to other vocations, and for a time he was employed as a groom in Lord Carrington's stables. Mr. Fisher was a miner; Mr. Hughes an umbrella-maker; Mr. McGregor an agricultural laborer; Mr. Batchelor an engine-fitter, and Mr. Mahon a reporter. It is infinitely to their honor that these men have risen from the engineer's bench, and the compositor's case, and the tail of the plough, from carrying the hod, and driving in the mine, to the floor of Parliament. They can hold their own with their fellows in debate; they can step without any distressing sense of incongruity into the highest offices of the Commonwealth. Such a history is honorable to the men themselves, and it is honorable too, to the social system which makes such careers possible. Where else among civilized men can a social order be found which opens so frankly the highest offices of the State to the humblest members in the State? The paradox of the situation is that the very men who thus, in their own persons, illustrate the equity of the existing social order are most bitterly in quarrel with it.

The mere appearance of the House shows how impossible is the present situation. On the Ministerial side were twenty-six members, on the Opposition and cross-benches sat forty-three! Mr. Deakin and Mr. Reid, who had not yet settled the question of which of them led the Opposition, sat at opposite ends of the table where the leader of the Opposition usually sits. The Watson Cabinet, in a word, represents one of the three minorities of the House. The Labor party all over Australia welcomed the advent of the new Ministry as a tremendous party triumph. At last a cluster of Labor members held in their hands the political fortunes of the continent. But is the accession of Mr. Watson and his colleagues to office an ascent or a descent? Does it represent a party triumph or a political suicide?

It seems clear that if Mr. Watson and his colleagues have gained office, they have lost power. Hitherto they have held the balance between the two other parties in the House. They gave their votes to either of the two parties willing to pay for them, not, of course, in money, but in legislation. But now they have not to sell votes, but to buy them; and they must pay for them in legislation! The Labor Cabinet may carry on the work of administration according to labor ideals; but it must legislate in order to exist; and for this purpose must drop everything most characteristic of its own platform. The Cabinet will, of course, re-introduce the Arbitration Bill, with the clause which brings the State servants under the act. It can not escape doing this, as it constitutes its title to office. But it will attempt nothing else of an heroic character. Office, in brief, reduces it to legislative harmlessness. Mr. Watson has achieved one end he neither contemplated nor desired. He has called constitutional Government into life again. For, in one form or another, the three minorities in the House will re-arrange themselves, and so the true Parliamentary system—the rule of the majority—will at last emerge in the Federal Government.

DEALT IN REAL ESTATE.

Boys' Deaf and Dumb Institution at Outremont Tied Up.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—The religious and business community here has been greatly shocked by revelations in connection with the Boys' Deaf and Dumb Institution at Outremont, directed by Brother Charest of the St. Viator community. Besides running the school, Brother Charest has been a very heavy dealer in real estate, and it now transpires that many of the transactions turned out most disastrously.

In order to tide over the straightened conditions of the community, Brother Charest accepted large sums of money in deposit from citizens, giving his notes and paying an abnormal rate of interest. The crash of course had to come, and as the superior is not in the city there is a great deal of feeling over the matter.

The amount involved reaches up into the hundreds of thousands, and in spite of the fact that the community holds a great deal of land, it is believed that the deficit will be very considerable.

A committee, composed of Hon. L. Beaubien, Charles Chaput, Rev. Father Adam and others, have been requested to investigate the matter.

Black Watch in Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Major Ross, Bandmaster Murray and 57 members of the 42nd Black Watch Band reached here last evening from Quebec. As they were nearing the wharf the band of the 5th Royal Scots played the "Campbell's Are Coming" and the visitors responded with "The Maple Leaf Forever," in immitable style. They will be entertained here to-day and will leave for Toronto at 9.30 Sunday morning.

TO ASK AUTHORITY

From Government and C. P. R. Holders to Issue New Stock.

AMOUNT IS TO BE $25,500,000

Shareholders to Vote on Proposed New Issue on October 5—Company Confines About Making Statement of Its Purpose, But the Extra Capital Is Required For Making Extensions to Line.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—It can now be definitely announced that the directors of the C.P.R. have decided to ask the Government and the shareholders of the company to authorize an issue of new common stock to the amount of $25,500,000. Notices to that effect were sent out yesterday, and October 5th at noon was set as the time for the shareholders to meet here at the head offices of the company and record their votes. It is expected that the annual meeting will be held on the same date.

Even though the ratification by the shareholders is looked upon as a formality, the officials of the company are cautious about making any statement on this matter, in view of what action the Government may take. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the company, when asked last night to say what the Executive purposed to do with the extra capital, replied that it was too soon to speak. Mr. C. Drinkwater, the Secretary, was equally reticent.

It can, however, be readily appreciated that it would be an embarrassing thing for an official of the company to forecast proposed improvements if the authorization should be refused. But there can be little doubt that the money is required largely in view of extensions in the West. The capital stock of the C.P.R., at the present time is $84,000,000.

BULLING THE MARKET.

Another of the Chicago Bull Influences Put to Route.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Reports of frost in Manitoba, which proved such a powerful bull influence in the Chicago grain market yesterday, are entirely without foundation. The lowest point Thursday night in Manitoba was 40, at Cartwright. The lowest temperature were recorded in the Territories, Red Deer 32, and Regina 34, being the lowest figures; but even one degree of frost is not sufficient to damage wheat at all. Like the exaggerated stories of rust damage to Canadian Northwest wheat, the reports are circulated for the sole purpose of bulling the market. Unfortunately these reports receive credence in England.

Monster Turbine Vessel.

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 26.—The Allan Line steamer Victorian, the largest turbine vessel yet built, was launched here yesterday morning. It is expected that she will be ready for service before the end of the year. She is 540 feet long, has 60 feet beam and her depth is 40 feet 6 inches. The Victorian is to be fitted in a most luxurious manner, and is to carry 1,500 passengers. Her tonnage is about 12,000 and she is expected to develop about 10,000 horse-power.

A Pioneer Patentee.

It is rather remarkable that the first patent taken out in America should have been secured by an Englishman. It was in the middle of the seventeenth century that an Englishman named Jenk secured a monopoly in America for the sale of a hand machine for extinguishing fires which he had invented in England some years previously, but did not test its practical working until he migrated to America. The monopoly only lasted for fourteen years, but Jenk made a very ample fortune out of his sales of the apparatus.

Cooling Off.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person heated by exercise to stand in a cool draught, just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cough which ultimately involves the bronchial tract and the lungs.

For coughs in any stage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated, obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved.

"That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE PET MOUSE.

It Is Made of Cork, but Really Acts as Though It Were Alive.

You can have a pet mouse if you want to, and even though he is only made of cork with the proper manipulation he will act as though he were really alive.

First carve a cork into the form of a mouse as well as you can. Then cut away the under part of the body so it will lie perfectly flat. Two ears are now added by means of cardboard and a little glue, and the tail is formed by attaching a piece of cord in the place where it should be.

Blacken Mr. Mouse in the flame of a candle and then insert a tiny hook in the front part of his body, concealing it from view underneath his neck.

Next tie a piece of black thread about ten inches long to a convenient buttonhole. The end of the thread terminates in a loop.

Fix the loop in the hook, tightening the thread and put the mouse upon the back of your left hand.

If you move the hand back from the body the mouse, which does not move at all, seems to glide across the back of the hand, and at the moment it is about to fall, when it reaches the thumb, the right hand passed below arrives to catch it near the little finger, and from there by the same previous movement it appears to travel to the thumb.

Liverpool's New Cathedral.

The new cathedral at Liverpool, the foundation stone of which was recently laid by the King, will be built on St. James' Mount, 155 feet above the river, and will be visible from every vessel approaching the Mersey. Its two great towers, by far the highest objects in the city, will rear their heads 415 feet above the level of the sea. The ground occupied by the cathedral, with chapter house and morning chapel, will be about 90,000 square feet, which exceeds the area of any other English cathedral. Including the northern entrance and morning chapel, the cathedral will be 584 feet long. The nave up to the "crossing" of the transepts, measured internally, will be 192 feet long, or up to the entrance of the choir 240 feet. The width of the nave between the centres of the piers will be 53 feet 6 inches.

The towers will be each about as large in area as the great central tower of York Minster, 65 feet square, and until now the largest in England, and will surpass it in height by sixty-two feet, rising to 360 feet above floor level.

One of the most remarkable and striking features of the cathedral will be the height of the vaulting of the nave and choir—measured to the barrel vaulting 116 feet and into the high transepts 140 feet. No cathedral in the country approaches this height. The nearest is Westminster, the nave of which has a height of 102 feet.

WASTE AND LIGHTED CANDLE.

Total Destruction of Waterloo's Largest Industry.

Waterloo, Aug. 27.—The large four-storey brick furniture factory, the largest factory in Waterloo, controlled by the Canada Furniture Syndicate, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire originated through the factory foreman, Fred Buchholtz, while oiling the elevator machinery with the aid of a lighted candle, which in some manner ignited some waste, and the draft carried the flames up the elevator shaft. In a very short space of time the whole interior of the immense factory was in flames. The Berlin brigade was telephoned for to assist the local brigade, and arrived in time to prevent the fire spreading south to Bauer's Shoddy Mill and Warehouse.

The roods of residences and buildings for two blocks on the south side were repeatedly ignited from sparks carried that way by a high wind, but bucket brigades prevented any property loss. Luckily the wind blew from the north and west, thus greatly aiding the fire-fighters.

Eighty-five employes are thrown out of employment, of whom fifty-five worked at the manufacture of frames, which supplied the upholstering factory. The loss on building, machinery and stock will probably reach $125,000. The insurance on factories and contents was covered by a blanket insurance policy in about twenty American and Canadian companies. Local insurance men place the amount of insurance on the two factories at $88,000.

Jeffries Won in Second Round.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Like the veriest amateur in the prize ring, Jack Munroe of Butte, Mont., went down and out before Champion James Jeffries last night in the second round. The man from the mining district made such an extremely sorry showing that the great throng in Mechanics' Pavilion roundly hooted as he protested to Referee Graney against the decision that had been given in favor of Jeffries. The two giants had not been in the ring two minutes when it was seen that the aspirations of Munroe would be quickly disposed of. The miner was scared and awkward and Jeffries in the first round had him twice on the canvas taking the count.

Tin Found in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—D. H. Urquhart and A. McCall of Rat Portage, who came to Winnipeg to register claims at the Dominion Land Office, report the discovery of large deposits of tin-bearing ore in Eastern Manitoba, twelve miles from the Ontario boundary line, and south of Cross Lake. If subsequent tests bear out their statements, the discovery will make an epoch in Canadian mining. There is no known body of tin ore in Canada and practically none in the States. The discovery of tin in Canada would be an event the importance of which it is impossible to overestimate.

Saw Baby Cast Into Lake.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—At the coroner's inquest last night into the murder of the infant found dead in Coatsworth's Cut Richard Taylor, fisherman, testified to seeing the baby cast into the lake, Aug. 2. He was three-quarters of a mile away and could not tell just what the man threw from his boat. The wind died out and he did not investigate.

W. J. Paul Selected.

Tamworth, Aug. 27.—At the Addington Conservative Convention held here, W. J. Paul of Tamworth, was chosen to contest the county at the next Provincial election. He received 58 votes to 31 cast for James Reid, the present member.

Truth Will Out.

THE QUIET CAMPAIGN.

What ho!
No two rings'd show
This year?
Dear, dear.
The times are out of joint
If we can't point
With pride
To our all wool and a yard wide
Campaign
And explain
To foreigners that it is the way
That we govern ourselves. Pray,
What is the reason
We can't whoop 'er up this season?
What insane
Willie boy started the notion of a quiet campaign?
Why, from time immemorial or Before
That
Every man with a hat
Was privileged to throw it on high
And to tear holes in the sky
With his voice.
In fact, there was no choice
Was him but to yell
And with bell
And horn
From early morn
Until far in the night
Raise a din to keep things running right.
But a quiet campaign!
Shades of George Francis Train
And some more
War
Horses, what are we coming to? Or, to come out flat,
Where are we at?
No cheers
Of course means no beers;
No jokes,
That stands for no smokes
Oh, tackaday!
The thing will never do. Take it away!

He Followed Her.

"How entrancing is nature when dressed in the gorgeous robes of summer?" said the romantic young girl as they drove along the country road behind a team of sober sorrels. "Intermingled in the roadside tangle are the rich tints of yellow and red and green as no artist, however inspired, could imprint them on canvas. In the composite whole of nature's rugged panorama there is no jangling note. Though here and there may be a dash of color in profusion that the bothouse landscape gardener might not approve of, yet taken in its entirety there is a harmony that could not be brought about by a studied design. Don't you think so, John?"

"It is all of that," replied John, groping about, somewhat dazed, but determined not to show it. "I said this morning that Bascom would get himself talked about for not mowing down the weeds along his hedgerow, and he deserves every word of it."

Misnomer.

It's called the dollar of our dads,
But still the name is hardly fit,
Because the coin is only his
Till mother gets her hands on it.

Their Salaries Show It.

"This practical commercial age has produced no great poets."

"Evidently you do not read the street car advertising signs."

An Improvement.

The modern lover does not please
By getting down upon his knees
And calling on the starry skies
To witness to his perk of ties.
Now, when he wants to shoot hot air,
He plumps him down upon a chair
And sits the girl down on his knees
So they can frame it up with ease.

More Blissful Ignorance.

"Is a man ever too old to fall in love?"

"If he is, he never finds it out."

He Is Both.

Though he is called the iceman
Because he handles it,
He should be called the price man
Because the name would fit.

T.A.S. ADD ANOTHER BASEBALL VICTORY.

Defeated the Auburns on Saturday by 11--2.

City Championship Game at Murray St. Grounds, Quinlan and Belleghem Both Pitched Well.

For the third time this season the T.A.S. baseball team, champions of Kawartha League won from the Auburns at the Murray street grounds on Saturday afternoon. The score was 11—2 and the result was never in doubt. About two hundred spectators witnessed the contest which at times exhibited some good ball. The winners played well in the field and batted better than the losers who could do very little with Quinlan who was very effective with men on bases. Belleghem took a turn on the slab for the Auburns and deserved better support than he received. He pitched good ball, striking out twelve men out of the 21 retired, and was not batted hard, but a little wildness and costly errors were disastrous. The game was called in the 8th innings.

The Auburns went out in one, two, three order for four innings. In the first Belleghem fouled to catcher, Miller grounded to Quinlan and Weatherston hit a blow one in front of the plate and was thrown out. For the T.A.S. Callaghan reached first on an error, stole second and third, while Fitzpatrick was fanning, and came home on Trainor's sacrifice. Grady hit to Wareham, who fumbled, but was caught stealing second and Derocher fanned.

In the second Ollie flew to Fitzpatrick, Rutherford hit to first and Wareham fanned. In the second half, A. Latremouille and Cahill fanned, H. Latremouille got a charity and stole second and third, scoring on Quinlan's single to right. Callaghan followed with a safe one to left and both scored on Fitz's two-bagger to left which should have been caught. Ollie made a pretty catch of Trainor's fly.

In the next Gillespie flew to Grady, and Parnell and Clegg struck out. For the T.A.S. Grady flew to Belleghem, Derocher and A. Latremouille fanned.

In the fourth Belleghem hit to Callaghan, Miller got to first on Cahill's error, stole second, but was doubled up on Weatherston's fly to Derocher. For the T.A.S. Cahill fouled out to first, H. Latremouille hit a fly to left, which Wareham booted, but the runner was caught going to second. Quinlan got four balls Callaghan singled and on Weatherston's wide throw to third both scored. Fitz. got to first on Weatherston's error, but Trainor fouled to Gillespie.

In the fifth Ollie singled to right, and stole second, scoring on Rutherford's out on a grounder to third. Wareham got a pass, stole second and third and scored on a passed ball. Parnell missed three and Clegg hit to first. For the T.A.S. Grady and Derocher fanned and A. Latremouille hit in front of the plate and was thrown out.

In the sixth, Belleghem got a life on Cahill's low throw to first, stole second but was nipped at third. Miller grounded to first and Weatherston fanned. For the T.A.S. Cahill, H. Latremouille and Quinlan fanned in a row.

In the next, Ollie missed three, but Gillespie missed the ball. Rutherford got a poke in the ribs and it looked like something doing, but Wareham fouled to Callaghan, Gillespie flew to centre and Parnell hit to first. For the winners, Callaghan got a pass, stole second and third and came home on Fitz's sacrifice. Trainor hit one through Belleghem and Ollie. Grady grounded to pitcher and Derocher got a pass. A. Latremouille's single to left scored both runners. Weatherston fumbled Cahill's grounder and Latremouille scored. H. Latremouille got a scratch hit scoring Cahill and Quinlan fanned.

In the eighth, Clegg slugged at three benders, Belleghem got to first on Quinlan's fumble, Miller fanned and Weatherston grounded to Grady.

The teams were:—

T. A. S.—Callaghan, 3b; Fitzpatrick, of; Trainor, 1b; Grady, 2b; Derocher, rf; A. Latremouille, lf; Cahill, ss; H. Latremouille, c; Quinlan, p.

Auburns. — Belleghem, p; Miller, 1b; Weatherston, 1b; Ollie, 2b; Rutherford, 2b; Wareham, ss, and lf; Gillespie, c; Parnell, cf, and ss; Clegg, lf, and cf.

Score by innings:—

BASEBALL.

The Peterboroughs went to Oshawa on Saturday and lost by a score of 11-3. The game was an interesting exhibition and was marked by good batting on the part of the winners. The locals' fielding was not up to their usual standard, the errors being very costly. On two occasions the Oshawas had the bases full and a bad error cleared the bases. McCorry did good work and with proper support the score would have been much closer. Parker did fine work for Oshawa. The Peterboroughs team was—McCorry, p.; Graham, s.; Pilling, 1 b.; Whitcroft, 2 b.; Lamonte, s. s.; Sheridan, 3 b.; Long, c. f.; Earle, r. f.; H. Graham, l. f. Umpire, McKeown.

LACROSSE.

It now looks very much like Brantford for the senior C. L. A. Championship. Their defeat of the Tecumsehs at the Island by 5-2 on Saturday tied the two teams and the Telephone City's chances now look much better. They have two tie games to play off, one at St. Kitts and one at home with the Tecumsehs, both of which will be hard games, but the champions have now apparently struck their gait and they will be very dangerous from now on.

The Chippewas lost at St. Catharines by 3-1 on Saturday and are now practically out of the running.

FOOTBALL.

Mr. J. Paterson, secretary of the Executive Committee of the K.O.T.M. has received a letter from the secretary of the Bridgenorth Football Club extending the thanks of the club for the splendid outing given them on the occasion of the Macbeans excursion to Midland on August 18.

RUGBY.

About 15 of the junior rugby players were out for a practice of Saturday afternoon when some light work was indulged in. The boys showed up well for the first rehearsal and there should be plenty of good material for a City League again this year.

HOCKEY.

Calumet, Mich., August 22.—An international hockey league to include the professional clubs of Calumet, Houghton, Duluth, Sault Ste. Marie, Pittsburg, Brooklyn, Ottawa, and Montreal, is advocated by President James R. Dee of the Amphidrome Company, of Houghton, and Johnson Vivian, jun., head of the organization which will erect a $25,000 rink here this winter. Manager McSwigan, of the Pittsburg Duquesne Garden is heartily in favour of the plan, and a meeting of the managers of the above clubs will probably be held in Detroit and Chicago next month.

There seems to be little doubt but what a hockey association will be formed, much along the lines of the big baseball leagues, but it is still a matter of doubt just what teams will be members. Pittsburg, Calumet, Houghton, and Sault Ste. Marie will certainly be represented by clubs in the new organization, and if the Canadian teams are willing to break away from the amateur restrictions they will be given berths in the league.

Already the Michigan clubs are signing men. Portage Lake, which won the championship of America last season, has the nucleus of a strong team, with Dr. J. L. Gibson, Bert Morrison, Ernie Westcott and Cooney Shields, all members of last year's champions, on the ground. Sault Ste. Marie will be in the field again the coming winter with a strong team. Ed. Howell, cover-point for the Portage Lakes during the season of 1901-2, has signed with the "Soo" club. Calumet will be a new club in hockey circles this season. Hod Stewart, considered the greatest cover-point in this country, has decided to captain the team in Pittsburg, which this season will have only one club, made up to the very best material in the half dozen or so teams there.

YESTERDAY'S MUSIC IN THE CHURCHES.

Solos Were Sung at Several Churches Yesterday.

The holiday season in connection with the various church choirs came to an end on Sunday and the choristers will now begin to return after the vacation and the regular rehearsals will be renewed. The average attendance during the summer has been low and very little attempt at chorus work has been made.

At George Street Methodist Church yesterday morning, the music was supplied by the Misses Chasty who sang a duet in a pleasing manner, and Mr. G. W. Mulligan who sang a hymn in an effective manner. At the evening service, Miss Martha Parnell took the solo in the anthem, "While the Days are Going by," and during the offertory, Miss Parnell and Mr. Thornton sang a duet. Miss Winnifred Dobbin presided at the organ in her usual very acceptable manner.

At St. Paul's yesterday morning Mrs. Waddell sang very effectively the solo "Rock of Ages." At the evening service Mr. Ira Snelgrove sang in good voice "I Come to Thee My Saviour.

At St. Andrew's in the morning Miss Florence Miller sang with much expression the solo, "My Mother's Bible." In the evening the choir sang, "Seek Ye The Lord." Mr. Herbert King of Chicago, taking the tenor solo and obligato with splendid effect.

REGARDING THE C. M. B. A. CONVENTION

Mr. Geo. Ball, Grand District Deputy, has Returned From Toronto.

Mr. Geo. Ball, Grand District Deputy of the C. M. B. A. has returned from the convention which was held last week in Toronto. When seen this morning Mr. Ball pointed out that misunderstanding was possible with reference to the rates. These he said had not been raised, but a change had been made in the system. Instead of a basis of 19 assessments a year as formerly, the assessments would be monthly. This was considered a more satisfactory plan though not absolutely necessary. It is also proposed to form an auxiliary fund—which will be separate from the reserve fund.

A proof of the confidence that existed in the Grand Officers was their election without opposition. Even the delegates who came to the convention in a mood somewhat antagonistic to the officers apologized for the feelings which they had entertained, when things were threshed out.

The C.M.B.A. will take up sick benefits—though these will be optional and not compulsory. It was also shown that the principle of the Provincial Conventions, from the point of economy did not compare with the present system, which costs about 65 cents a member, while under the old plan it was never less than a dollar.

The next Convention will be held in the City of Montreal.

Comfort for Old People.

Much of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements rheumatism, lumbago, and bodily pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., ind'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

New York, August 29.—Developments over Sunday point to strength in the stock market this morning. The superficial showing show a bank statement better than expected and a fairly strong close on Saturday. It seems to be the policy to provide specific instead of general reactions and we are inclined to think a general decline will be postponed until a volume day appears. The individual reactions in each for the stocks involved are affected by special reasons are not even allowed to be natural witness reading which judging from our information and the close Saturday, will be a bull feature again to-day. We would not ignore fair returns in St. Paul. Bull tips are out on R.I. ACP seems to be a stock which refused to take a natural rest or reaction.

Buy Mop on any little recessions. Same may be said of Pa. We are still bullish on USQ and the short interest may be badly punished at any time. We would watch carefully around noon for signs of a Monday afternoon decline in the market.—Town Topics.

Liverpool opening, wheat, quiet, 3-8 lower; corn quiet 3-8 lower. Chicago hogs, 23,000, market strong.

London firm, cons 33 1-4. The bullish interests are confident and now that the steel situation is better understood an aggressive campaign on the long side of all the steel stocks is likely to be inaugurated take hold of them.

New York, August 29. — Activity will shift at times into different groups. Those that were active yesterday lying dormant to-day, but all will have their turn. Pa is going very much higher and we strongly advise its purchase near 124. Stay long of it by all means. N. & W. Bo continues to improve and are going higher.

Ill C As a splendid purchase around 127 1-2 and it will sell above 140. SP is a safe purchase around 96 1-2. It will sell above 80. We also advise purchase of GE, Mop, RI, UP, USQ, CFI, Tex, Wab, old So Ry, TCI, Nickle Plate, Erie, etc. Remember that reactions are the bulls' opportunities to pick up cheap stocks. Use these opportunities whenever they present themselves. We look for but trifling set backs, not to exceed 1 or at most 1 1-2 points until a much higher level has been reached. Sell Oct. cotton around 10.35. Leave wheat alone for the present.—Wall St. Information Bureau.

The Pacifics have been simply resting preparatory to breaking into new ground. Mop will go over 100. Better buy on reservatively. Crops are doing famously a fact that Atch will presently demonstrate; the pool in N & W predict 7. Hold ACP.—Joseph.

New York.—Liverpool cotton spot easy and 6 up.

DECISIVE BATTLE NOW IN PROGRESS.

Japanese and Russian Armies are now in Close Touch.

4,000 MORE RUSSIANS FALL.

Casualties in Recent Fighting Were Very Heavy—They Also Lost Ten Guns—Gen. Routkovsky Killed by a Shell—Depressing News re Port Arthur to the Czar From Lt.-Gen. Stoessel.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—Even late last night the greatest uncertainty prevailed regarding the actual situation at Liaoyang. There is intense anxiety for definite news from the front, but even the authorities are frankly ignorant as to whether the long-expected decisive action will be fought at Liaoyang or further north. It is impossible that a great battle is even now proceeding, and there are many indications that such is the case. If this is so the fate of this year's campaign may be settled within 48 hours. At the same time opinion is almost equally divided, many believing that Gen. Kuropatkin will not make a determined stand, and that the Japanese will crack the shell only to find that the bird has flown.

It is certain that the armies are now in the closest touch.

Lost Another 1,000 Men.

Owing to the delay in the concentration of Gen. Kuropatkin's army, due to the terrible condition of the roads, the Japanese attacked the slow-moving corps and severe fighting occurred Aug. 27-28, in which the Russians lost another thousand men, and will probably now have to accept a general engagement.

Gen. Kuropatkin himself says in a despatch to the Emperor: The Japanese began at dawn Aug. 27 two movements designed to cut off the first and fourth corps, while Gen. Kuroki drove a wedge between the second and fourth corps, which were stationed west of Liandiansian. The Russians fought a series of rear-guard actions in order to cover the retreat of their impediments to Liaoyang, in which they were successful. The first corps again sustained the brunt of the fighting, losing Gen. Routkovsky and Col. Von Raahen. The first, second and fourth corps succeeded in effecting a concentration at Liaoyang without further loss. The whole six corps, of which two are European troops, have now formed a semi-circle within a radius of six or eight miles of Liaoyang.

Gen. Kuropatkin has not far short of 170,000 men.

RUSSIAN CASUALTIES.

Many Officers, 1,500 to 2,000 Men and 10 Guns.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—General Kuropatkin since Sunday morning has been drawing in all his forces from his eastern and southern fronts toward Liaoyang. Anping, Tsegow, Liandiansian and Anshanhsian, constituting the main positions of the outer defence line of Liaoyang, have been abandoned. The heaviest fighting occurred on the extreme left, where the Japanese advanced to the assault again and again with bayonets. The positions at Tsegow and Anping were held by the 10th European corps. The attacks were delivered with fanatical bravery.

Lost Many Officers and Ten Guns.

The Russians lost a large proportion of officers, ten guns and from 1,500 to 2,000 men, but the Russians had been generally successful in beating off the assaults all along the long line, and the Russians declare that the order to retire came as a surprise just when they were expecting orders for a general advance. This is considered to be proof that Gen. Kuropatkin, finding his main positions menaced on the flank and anticipating difficulties in withdrawing owing to the condition of the roads, which have suddenly been transformed into mud bogs by the rain, considered that a retreat was imperative. The retirement from the east front was greatly impeded by the conversion of the Lan River into a mountain torrent, and this probably also accounts for the failure of the Japanese to follow up the retiring Russians.

Japs Moving Toward Mukden.

The Japanese column, moving up the Liao River and threatening Gen. Kuropatkin from the west, is regarded as being extremely dangerous, and Gen. Kuroki's extreme right seems also to be wending around Gen. Horschelmann's position at Anping and to be moving toward Mukden. The strength of the enveloping Japanese armies may be judged from the fact that Gen. Oku alone, who is coming up from the south, is officially reported to have 75,000 men.

Liaoyang Probably Untenable.

Whether Gen. Kuropatkin intends to accept battle at Liaoyang may not be known positively for several days, but the belief several times indicated in these despatches prevails here that he will withdraw northward, having found that he is not strong enough to cope with the Japanese and realizing that Liaoyang is no longer tenable on account of the Japanese threats at his west rear. His retirement undoubtedly will cause keen public disappointment, as it was generally believed that he at last had sufficient reinforcements to accept a decisive engagement, and by the military critics his retreat is interpreted to mean a great prolongation of the war.

The Railroad Not Cut.

The Tokio report that Gen. Kuroki had succeeded in cutting the railroad south of Mukden is not confirmed by the telegraph department, where it is said that no reports have been received of an interruption of communications. Of course, it is realized here that if the railroad north of Liaoyang is cut the position of the Russian army would be rendered serious, if not desperate, as it would probably compel Gen. Kuropatkin to accept an engagement against his will.

Russian Losses Rapidly Growing.

Harbin, Manchuria, Aug. 30.—The Russian losses in the fighting of August 25 and August 26, east and south of Liaoyang were 3,000 killed or wounded. The great majority of the casualties were sustained at Anping. The withdrawals of the Russians from their front at Anshanshan and from their east position were made simultaneously for strategic reasons.

WILLING TO DIE, BUT—

Port Arthur Commandant Telegraphs Czar the Situation.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—It is reported from a reliable source that Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel has telegraphed to the Emperor saying that the defenders of the fortress are ready and willing to lay down their lives, but adding that the garrison has already suffered severely and intimating that it is hardly possible to hold out for more than a month or six weeks.

Fighting at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Aug. 30.—The steamer Chinhua, which has arrived here from Newchwang, reports that there was heavy firing at Port Arthur from 9 o'clock Sunday night until 2 a.m.

Severe fighting was resumed at Port Arthur on Aug. 27. Between Aug. 27 and 29 there was some fighting, but it was less severe than on the 27th. A Chinese refugee compelled to carry the dead from the battlefield of Pailchuang, which the Japanese attempted to capture on Aug. 26, says thirty carts were used to carry the dead, numbering 400.

Cruisers to Disarm.

Shanghai, Aug. 30.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi has been disarmed and the cruiser Askold will disarm to-day.

Dundonald Invention Used.

London, Aug. 30.—A Moscow correspondent of The News-World says: "A letter dated Harbin, from a Russian officer, says that a battery of a new type of machine gun has arrived here with carriage. It was invented by Lord Dundonald for use in South Africa. We expect great things from it. Certainly for handiness it is hard to beat."

Japs Overtake Russians.

Liaoyang, Aug. 30.—The Russians lost 800 in killed or wounded during the retreat from Anshanshan, the Japanese making a forced march by night and overtaking the Russians at daylight. Gen Routkovsky was killed by a shell.

Accused of Embezzlement.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of James Melvin Bartlett, clerk of vital statistics in the Provincial Department of Agriculture, charged with embezzlement. It is now alleged that for eight or ten years he has been embezzling money received from the sale of marriage licenses, and during all that time has been falsifying entries. A careful examination of the books is now being made. It is not yet complete, but it is already known that the total amount will be at least several thousand dollars. He formerly lived in Ontario.

Editor Stands Whipping.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 30.—J. M. Weeks, editor Dartmouth N.S.) Patriot, was horsewhipped at Dartmouth yesterday by George McKenzie, son of the chief of police. For some years past Weeks has been publishing articles holding the chief up to ridicule. This annoyed the chief's son exceedingly, and yesterday afternoon he asked Weeks to apologize, but the editor refused, and McKenzie snatched a whip from a nearby team and trounced the editor severely.

Shot His Brother.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—Edmest Behm, East Hannah street, is in the cells at No. 3 police station, charged with shooting his half-brother, Frederick, in the shoulder. The shooting took place at 92 Tisdale street, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The police have not been able to find out the reason.

Harvesting Stands.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 30.—The clear moonlight and the extreme coolness Sunday night caused great apprehension of frost. Meteorological reports yesterday showed no trace of frost in Manitoba or the Territories. The weather yesterday was cool and wet rendering harvest operations impossible.

Accident to the Britannic.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 30.—Lord Minto and party did not arrive yesterday as expected owing to a slight accident to the steamer Britannic upon which they are passengers en route from Owen Sound.

The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing-down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recommended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is responsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

A HANDY UMBRELLA.

One That Will Fold up and go in an Inside Pocket has Been Invented.

A twenty-six-inch umbrella that will fold up and go in an inside pocket without crowding, has been invented and constructed by a Minneapolis man, we are told in the American Inventor. Says this paper: "This seems almost incredible until the secret is told. The handle and all the ribs consist of fine and very strong steel tubes, in sections, which telescope one inside the other. The covering is of very fine silk, which takes up but little room. The wooden handle of the umbrella is hollow and receives all the rest of the telescoping umbrella rod when shut up. A small and light case is provided to contain the whole, which, as stated, goes easily into the pocket. If such a device can be made and sold for a reasonable price, there is little to prevent the owner from making a fortune; there are few men who would not welcome an umbrella which could be always carried without inconvenience, and which could be put out of the way of the borrower (who never returns when entering a public place such as a restaurant."

Mr. Steve O'Hara spent Sunday in Norwood.

Mrs. O. Lancaster and daughter, Eva, left last Tuesday for an extended visit to friends in Otonabee.

Mr. Percy and Earl Lancaster left on their holidays for a visit to Toronto and points west.

Miss Linah Butters, of Toronto has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robt. Jack, for the past few days.

Miss Helen McWilliams, of Marmora, spent Monday in town on her way to Toronto.

Mr. R. E. White of town, spent Monday in Peterborough.

Miss Maud McKenna, of Campbellford, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. McGuire, of town.

Mr. Fred Barlow spent Saturday in Tweed.

Owing to the sickness of one of the lacrosse players the game with the T.A.S. of Peterborough, which was to have been played here on Saturday, was postponed. We are very sorry that this had to be done as the people were looking for a good fast game. But we expect that when the game does come off it will be the biggest surprise the T.A.S. have run against this year, and although the boys do not expect to come up to the score made in Peterborough, they are confident of giving the people the worth of their money and in showing the T.A.S. that the proposition is not going to be as easy a one as they expect, for the local bunch are going to win if such a thing can be done in a clean, swift game.

Now that we are getting some swell new buildings in town the people should put (which we think they are going to do) a petition in to the Government for the purpose of getting a new post office as the one we have here is certainly not large enough for the size of a town like this. As a stranger coming into the town might very well pass it a dozen times before he would think to look into the little hole in the wall now called a post office for his mail. After the baseball match last Friday with Campbellford a number of the young men of the town went down to a ball given at the residence of Mr. Dan McQuade's about nine miles east of here. By the way they showed up next morning it is plain to be seen that they had a good time.

Mr. Albert Connors returned home after an extended visit to Toronto where he attended the wedding of his brother Charlie.

The C.P.R. are putting a new coat of paint on all their buildings at this point which is making a decided improvement in the appearance of the same.

Mr. William Henshall left to-day for a short visit to Peterborough.

A very pleasant time was experienced by the pupils of the Presbyterian Sunday School at Trent Bridge last Friday where they held their annual picnic. Boating and all kinds of games were provided for the children by the management and everybody expressed themselves well pleased with the day's outing.

The Rev. J. E. Grant of Toronto, gave morning and evening services in the Presbyterian Church here last Sunday in the absence of the Rev. A. E. Camp. Mr. Allie Rose left on Saturday afternoon for an extended visit to friends in Toronto and Buffalo.

The Campbellford baseball team came over to town last Friday afternoon to play the tenth game in the series of the T.V.B.B.L. Owing to the local pitcher being laid up with a game arm it looked very poor for Havelock's show of winning. The game started with the visitors scoring two runs which until the fifth could not be reached by the locals. In the sixth the batting became furious and the home bunch run up a score of fourteen.

In the seventh innings the visitors began to get in some of the same kind of work and run up a score of seventeen the local bunch seemed to go to pieces in this innings and up to the eighth could do no better than run up a score of eighteen while the visitors managed to do the same making in the ninth innings eighteen all, but the locals managed to score two more in this innings winning the game. Although the score was large the fun was great as it was kept so near a tie all the time it kept everybody guessing as to who would win. The batteries for the visitors was Wood, catcher; Cassell, pitcher; Locals, Thompson, pitcher; Rose, catcher; Umpire, J. Christie of Toronto; who gave good satisfaction to both sides.

Mr. Frank McMaster has purchased a new seal oil engine for his yacht at Trent Bridge to replace the old steam engine which he had in.

Mr. Howard Peters has been confined to his home for the past few days on account of being indisposed and not able to walk down town.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 30.—Yesterday morning the Archbishop of Canterbury inspected the silver communion plate presented by George II. to the Anglican Cathedral. Subsequently he visited H.M.S. Ariadne in company with Mrs. Davidson, His Lordship Bishop Dunn, Miss Dunn, Rev. E. A. Dunn, Miss Coulcher, Rev. Mr. Powell of Baltimore, J. Pierpont Morgan and one of the chaplains. The party were received by Admiral Douglas and shown over the splendid and powerful warship. Luncheon, for which a large number of invitations were issued, was partaken of at Bishopsthrope at 1 o'clock.

In the afternoon the party visited the famous Shrine of Ste. Anne De Beaupre. The church and the different relics were inspected by the party, all of whom seemed to take considerable interest in what they saw. After a short stay the party returned to Montmorency Falls, where the natural steps, the Kent House (the residence of the Duke of Kent when stationed at Quebec), and the Holt-Renfrew collection of animals were visited.

On returning to town the party dined at Bishopsthrope. There were a large number of leading citizens who had been specially invited to meet His Grace present. With the exception of a luncheon at Bishopsthrope, for which several invitations have been issued, no program has been prepared for to-day.

In Montreal Wednesday.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury will arrive in Montreal on Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday morning, as originally planned. His Grace will travel from Quebec to Montreal on a special Canadian Pacific train, arriving at the Place Viger Station about seven o'clock in the evening. Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

EVENING'S SAD END

Mrs. Funnell Badly Burned—Her Youngest Daughter Dead.

PULLED OVER PIANO LAMP

Children Playing Piano in Parlor Caused Accident and Little Mildred Funnell Was in a Blaze—Mother Attempted to Quench Flames and Was Badly Burned Herself.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—While her mother sat at the front door last night Baby Mildred Funnell knocked a lamp from the piano and started a fire that cost her life and endangers that of her mother. She was the youngest daughter of Robert Funnell of 22 Mansfield avenue.

Mrs. Funnell was sitting on the front steps with her brother-in-law, John Elliott, and the little one was playing in the parlor with some of the neighbor's children. Katie McFoo, a fourteen year old girl, living nearby, had come in and was about to play the piano. Suddenly deciding to go home for music she left the house, taking Emily Funnell, a girl of 11 years with her. Three little ones were left alone in the room and they climbed to the stool and commenced drumming on the piano. In some way the piano drape was pulled down and with it the lamp.

At the sound of the crash Mrs. Funnell rose hastily and was confronted with her baby running to the door, her little muslin pinafore all ablaze. The mother turned to extinguish the flames and in an instant her own clothes were on fire. Then some of the men nearby came to the rescue.

In the meantime the other children had escaped from the house, which was burning fiercely and an alarm was turned in. The child was taken to a nearby drug store and the mother to a neighbor's house. As soon as an ambulance could be summoned they were taken to the Sick Children's and the Western Hospitals respectively. Shortly after midnight it was reported that little Mildred had died from her injuries. At a late hour the mother was doing well, although she had been severely burned.

Extinguishing the fire was only the work of a few minutes for the firemen, but the front part of the house was completely gutted, and most of the furniture destroyed. The damage is $400, insured.

Head Caught Between Cars.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—On his way with horses to the Exhibition, James Wilkin of Beaverton, foreman of the Tisdale stud, was killed at the Don yesterday evening. Wilkin was standing in one of the horse cars, near the open doors, chatting with his employer. Their section of the train had just been detached from the Midland mixed. By an error of the trainmen, the two cars first dropped off had not been taken sufficiently far on their siding, and the corner of the first one almost brushed the train as it passed on the other siding. A double jolt threw Wilkin forward, and the head of the unfortunate man was crushed between the corner of the car and the door jamb. He was extricated, but he died to death in 15 minutes. Wilkin was a Scotchman, 35 years of age, and leaves a widow and two children living on the Tisdale farm. He had been in the employ of Mr. Tisdale for over 12 years. His parents are living in Aberdeenshire, Scotland.

Drowned at Morrisburg.

Morrisburg, Aug. 30.—Clyde Cole, who was employed by James Corrigan, the Cleveland millionaire, at his island opposite this place, was drowned yesterday morning about 7 o'clock. He was carrying water from the wharf to the island, and fell into the river, which is about 14 feet deep at that point, with a considerable current. The body was found near the place where the accident occurred.

LONG BROS., TWO STORES

THE GRAND TRUNK RY

Varied Views of the London Financial Papers.

ITS DECREASE IS MITIGATED

Times Believes a Good Harvest Will Greatly Improve the Grand Trunk Situation—French Fishermen Are Petitioning Against the Treaty Regarding Newfoundland—Institute of Journalists.

London, Aug. 30.—(C.A.P.)—The Financial News says it must be admitted that the Grand Trunk has made a very auspicious beginning in the new half year. It had been anticipated by the market that the revenue statement for July would show a net increase of something between £4,000 and £10,000 instead of a net decrease over the whole system of £8,100.

The Financial Times says there is yet reason for crediting the Grand Trunk authorities with endeavoring not altogether unsuccessfully to reduce the ratio of expenditure. That the market will not take the disappointment very seriously is shown pretty well by the fact that quotations only declined from ¼ to ½ on balance. It should not be forgotten that the rather serious falling off in receipts has been considerably mitigated by the fact that the period of comparison has recorded a total gross advance of £124,000 for 26 working days at this time against 27 days last year.

The Times believes a good harvest trade in the Dominion will yet greatly improve the Grand Trunk situation.

Seek Further Concessions.

London, Aug. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Paris correspondent of The Times wires that, judging from the resolution passed by the departmental councils of the Seine, Inferioure, Ille et Vilaine, et Loire Inferioure, the local fishery interests of France have not yet abandoned the hope of bringing effective pressure upon the Government to secure further concessions for French fishermen before the Newfoundland convention is ratified by these departmental councils. The opponents demand the repeal of the Newfoundland Bait Act, and authorization for French fishermen to purchase bait along the whole coast and the right to erect establishments for the curing of fish and lobsters on the French shore.

Institute of Journalists.

London, Aug. 30.—(C. A. P.)—At a conference of the Institute of Journalists at Glasgow, Solicitor-General Dobbie of Tasmania spoke of the enormous influence the press exercised over the destinies of the British Empire. He hoped nothing would be done to endanger Imperial interests and the enormous advantages the Empire now possessed by altering her hold on historical free trade traditions.

To Send Children Here.

London, Aug. 30.—(C. A. P.)—Dr. Barnardo is appealing for 500 gifts each of £10, to send as many children to Canada.

Lord Dundonald For Ceylon.

London, Aug. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The London correspondent of The Bristol Mercury says Lord Dundonald sailed Saturday to take up the command of the troops in Ceylon for about a year. A rumor is current in official military circles that Lord Dundonald has been selected for the Governorship and Commander-in-Chief of Ceylon. Nothing is known at the various offices of the steamship companies running steamers to Ceylon re Lord Dundonald having sailed or booked passage.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

Will Summon the Diet.

Helsingfors, Finland, Aug. 30.—The definite announcement of the convening of the Diet on Dec. 6 has created an excellent impression in Finland, where it had been feared for months that it was the intention of the Russian authorities to refuse to summon it.

Antwerp Fire Subdued.

Antwerp, Aug. 30.—The fire in the oil tank near here continued Monday, but it is now practically ended. Nine bodies have been recovered, and several are still mising. The loss is estimated at 10,000,000 gallons, and the damage at nearly $2,500,000.

BOER TREASURE DISCOVERED.

Cousin of General Kemp Finds It Worth $1,250,000.

Johannesburg, Aug. 30.—Mr. Kemp, a cousin of Gen. Kemp, the Boer commander, has discovered beyond Spelonken, in the Northern Transvaal, the treasure removed from Pretoria before the entry of Field Marshal Lord Roberts. The value of the treasure is estimated at $1,250,000, of which the Government will receive half.

Enquiries at the street railway barns this morning elicited the information that two of the four new cars ordered for the street railway would be here next week, probably Tuesday.

DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY —SMALL BOY MAKES A HAUL

Walked into a House at Noon To-day and Stole $27.00 in Bills.

A daring little thief is confined in the police cells this afternoon as a result of his misdoings about noon. He is a boy of about 12 years of age and his name is Jos. Shera, Carlisle avenue. He entered the house of Mr. Albert Whitred, who lives on Carlisle avenue, at noon to-day and quietly walked off with the sum of $27.00 in bills. It seems that the boy was in the house last evening and apparently saw Mr. Whitred put some money in a satchel. This morning just before noon his wife went over to a neighbours for a short period and when she returned the money was missing. The boy at once began to spend part of his pile and one of the storekeepers who had heard that the money was missing suspected the boy and his arrest was eventually made. He had $24.00 with him, having purchased a gun, a sweater and other things.

He will be brought up for trial this afternoon before Magistrate Dumble.

Mr. Franks, Aged Eighty-five Years, Receives Severe Shaking Up.

On Monday evening about 7 o'clock Mr. Franks, an old gentleman who resides with his daughter Mrs. Nelson, on Smith street, had the misfortune to fall into a cellar, the door of which had only been raised a few minutes before. The unfortunate man, who is eighty-five years of age, sustained a severe bruising of the body, and was unconscious for some minutes. The accident told severely on his nervour system, and he suffered considerably from the injuries received. Dr. Morgan was hastily summoned and attended Mr. Franks injuries, which apart from the severe shock, are not, it is thought, of a serious nature, although it will be some time before the injured man recovers from his accident.

GOOD WORK OF THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Peterborough Institute Passes as Many Candidates as Two Toronto Institutions Combined.

It is a favourite saying of the principal of our Collegiate Institute that when there exists no particular subject of discussion in connection with the work of the school, it is getting on satisfactorily. Thus of late it must have been going on quietly, doing good work. An examination and comparison of the published report of the Department of Examinations reveals the creditable fact that the Peterborough Collegiate Institute succeeded in passing in the Leaving Examinations as many candidates as two of the Toronto Collegiate Institutes. Comment is unnecessary, though congratulations are in order.

TWO MEN KILLED IN RAILWAY SMASH.

Freight Train Crashed Into C. P. R. Work Train.

Accident Happened Between Locust Hill and Agincourt—The Bodies Brought to Town.

Two Italian labourers were killed and one seriously injured in a wreck on the C.P.R. between Locust Hill and Agincourt Monday morning. The Italians were working on a construction car a short distance from Locust Hill. The car was standing on the main track, when a fast freight from the east crashed into it. The two men killed were hurled over a fence, and Florindo Dicarlo, who was seriously injured, fell underneath the end of the car, which toppled over on him.

The bodies of the dead labourers were taken to Agincourt to await identification. They had been working for the company only a short time. They came from Peterborough, where they had lived for some time. Dicarlo was placed in a car and taken to Toronto. He was met by Dr. Beatty, the C.P.R. physician, at the head of Bathurst street, and after his injuries had been attended to he was removed in the police ambulance to the Western Hospital. Dicarlo also hails from Peterborough. Early this morning his condition was reported unchanged.

The two unfortunate Italians referred to above, were brought to Peterborough on the midnight Monday and conveyed to the undertaking establishments of Messrs. McFadden and Lane & Eano. Domenico Berone, whose remains were taken in charge of by Mr. McFadden, is only seventeen years of age, and made Peterborough his headquarters. His body is terribly bruised and mangled, his right leg being severed as well as half of his left foot. He lingered about six hours after the accident. His mother lives in Italy, his father being with him on the gravel train when the accident occurred.

At Lane & Eano's, the body of the other victim, Donato Scacci, could be seen. The unfortunate man was aged 27 years and leaves a wife and two sons living in Italy. His body was frightfully mangled, the train having passed over his body and his limbs bruised and broken.

The funeral of the two men took place this afternoon at 3.30 to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

In conversation with the foreman of the gravel train it was ascertained that when the collision occurred the two unfortunate men were in the act of jumping from the train, the rest of the gang laying flat on the cars. In their efforts to locate a safe place to jump, the crash came, and both men were hurled under the cars to their death.

The accident has cast a gloom over the Italian colony in Peterborough, where both men were well known and respected.

Mitchell, his cousin, after the ceremony at the parsonage. The bridal party drove to the home of the groom's brother, Mr. J. E. Fitch, 455 Selkirk avenue, where a sumptuous wedding supper awaited their coming.

BOARD OF HEALTH MET THIS AFTERNOON.

A Short Session After a Quiet Season—Adjourned Till Thursday.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held this afternoon. There were present Messrs. R. Neill, Chairman; G. Schneider, W. Eyres and Mr. McNulty.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mrs. M. Gauthrie complained of water lying in front of her residence on Aylmer street. The matter was referred to the Medical Health Officer.

A complaint was made by Mrs. Birdsall that the Board had compelled her to close her well while other wells ordered to be closed were still open.

A letter was received from Hon. J. R. Stratton, stating that complaints had been made to the Health Department regarding a nuisance existing on the grounds of the Barnardo Home "Hazelbrae" in Peterborough. The latter stated that Dr. Hodgetts, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health had been sent to make a personal examination and a copy of his report was enclosed. The report was read to the Board and a committee, Messrs. Eyres, Schneider, with the Medical Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector were appointed to enquire into the report.

The Board adjourned to meet again on Thursday morning.

IN MEMORIAM.

Written by J. C. Leary, King
in memory of Mary Donough, of Ennismore.

God hath given and God hath taken
The dearest flower of our love;
The angels bore her gentle spirit
To join the choir that sings above.

She for earth was not intended
Her house is with the Heavenly band
Her bright being is extended
In a sweet, happier land.

No more her mellow voice will cheer us
No more her cheerful laugh we'll hear
No more will her companions greet her
All seems gloom and sadness here.

No more the church bells peal will hail her
Her to join with them in prayer
But where all is pure devotion
The Saviour's praise she'll offer there.

No Substitute Offered.

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when the best remedy for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know it is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. Sold by all druggists.

ANOTHER DROWNING IN SCUGOG RIVER.

Miss Josephine Forbert of Lindsay Found Yesterday After Being Missing Since Friday.

Another sad drowning fatality, under most distressing circumstances, has occurred in our midst, whereby Josephine, daughter of Mr. Frank Forbert, lost her life and her family is plunged in most profound grief. It appears that deceased, with other members of the family, went up town on Friday night to enjoy the band concert. Quite a large crowd being on the street the family naturally became separated and on coming home and finding she had not returned, they made enquiries from friends and others, and as nothing could be learned of her whereabouts, a search was immediately instituted and kept up until this morning, when her body was found a little to the west of the swing bridge in about four feet of water. Coroner Burrows was notified and drove out to the scene of the drowning and after viewing the remains decided on holding an inquest, which will take place this evening. The funeral will likely take place tonight, sometime between six and seven o'clock. Sympathy is felt for the family of deceased in view of the distressing surroundings of the case. A full investigation will be made at the inquest this evening. —Lindsay Post.

FIFTY YEARS SERVICE IN THE PRIESTHOOD.

Address and Presentation to Rev. Father Lynch.

At the Retreat Last Week—Years of Faithful and Devoted Labour.

Fifty years of faithful service in the priesthood is the proud record of Rev. Father Lynch, of Port Hope, and in recognition of this fact, he was made a presentation and address at the Retreat held here last week. It was Father Lynch's golden Jubilee, he having been ordained as a priest fifty years ago, and since then his labours have been constant and ardent and he has shown great devotion to the cause of the church.

On Friday evening at the close of the Retreat, he was presented with a set of vestments and cloak of gold cloth valued at $200. The presentation was made by Rev. Father Whibbs, of Campbellford, and Rev. Father Casey gave a short address in which he spoke in appreciative terms of the services of Father Lynch to the church. The present from the priests was given in a spirit of appreciation of this long and faithful work and it was the hope of all those present that he would long be spared to continue to be of value as a priest in promoting the interests of the church.

His Worship Bishop O'Connor also gave a personal present and spoke in feeling terms of the fidelity and devotion of Father Lynch during the past fifty years. He congratulated him upon his record and referred to his work in the many parishes in which he had laboured so efficiently and so effectively.

Rev. Father Lynch replied in suitable terms, thanking those present for their kind gifts and words. The occasion was one long to be remembered by him.

There were present five priests who were baptised by Rev. Father Lynch, they were, Rev. Father Whibbs, Rev. Father Phalen, Rev. Father John O'Brien, Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Rev. Father Crowley.

Rev. Father Lynch was born in the County of Cavan, Ireland, in the year 1827. He received his early education in St. Maurice College and completed his studies in the Ottawa University. He was ordained in Ottawa by the late Bishop Guigues and was afterwards an assistant of the late of Alhumette, whence he went as Pastor to Kitley in the County of Leeds. Here he remained in active work for five years, after which time he went to Douro where he laboured for several years. From Douro he went to Cornwall where he was in charge of the parish for five years. From Cornwall became to Peterborough for a few years, going to Lindsay from here. After being connected with the work in Lindsay for, about a year he retired, but his active mind and willing spirit would not remain out of the work and after a short retirement he again went into active work at Port Hope where he has been stationed for the past fourteen years. Though he is now 77 years of age, he is still ardent in his work and it is to be hoped that he will be spared for many years to come to remain in the work.

London, Aug. 29.—The Very Rev. S. Reynolds Hole, Dean of Rochester, since 1887, died of heart disease Saturday morning at Rochester. He had been ill some time and passed away while asleep. The Doan was born in December, 1819.

Sketch of His Career.

The Very Rev. S. Reynolds Hole, who visited Canada and lectured in Toronto some five or six years ago, was a noted wit and lover and cultivator of roses. He was educated at Newark and Brasenose College, Oxford, was ordained curate as far back as 1844, and became vicar in 1850. In 1874 he was nominated Rural Dean of Southwell, in 1875 Canon of Lincoln and in 1887 was appointed to the Deanery of Rochester, which he held until his death. He was for some time chaplain to the late Archbishop of Canterbury. The Dean was a most popular platform speaker, bubbling over with good humor, yet strong in opinion and forcible in address. He was a constant contributor to Punch, and was an intimate friend of John Leech, Mark Lemon, Sir John Tenniel, Charles Dickens and others of the famous brilliant artists and writers who flourished in the early days of that publication. He was the highest authority on the cultivation of roses, his "Book About Roses" running through many editions and being translated into several languages. His "Memories" were published in November, 1892, and later he wrote a book on humor.

Fire Steamer Did Good Work.

Merrickville, Aug. 29.—A fire was discovered early yesterday morning in the stone building on St. Lawrence street, owned by R. Harrison, and occupied by J. H. Prosser as a grocery and provision store. The building is a total wreck internally, and the stock not consumed is ruined by water and smoke. The new fire steamer did good work.

To Visit Son's Grave.

London, Aug. 29.—Field Marshal Earl Roberts, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, sailed Saturday for South Africa to visit the grave of his son, Lieut. Roberts, who was killed in the battle of Colenso, in December, 1899.

Too much effort to increase our happiness transforms it into misery. —Rousseau.

DUTY ON STEEL RAILS

Order in Council Giving Effect to the Act Passed.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Experts appointed by the Government having reported that steel rails in every way up to specification are being manufactured at Sault Ste. Marie, an Order-in-Council was passed Saturday morning bringing into force a duty of $7 a ton on steel rails and bars for use in Canadian railways.

Dime Novel Robbery.

Hamilton, Aug 29.—There was a bold highway robbery on the dime novel plan two miles over the James street Mountain on Sunday night about 11 o'clock. The victim was D. T. Hess, Ryckman's Corner, a butcher. He was driving home alone and at a lonely spot on the road noticed a man lying in the ditch. The man said he was a farmer and that his horses had run away and thrown him out of the wagon, hurting him so badly that he was not able to get up. He begged Hess to help him. As Hess bent over to do as requested some one dealt him a terrible blow across the back of the neck. He did not know anything after that until he woke up and found that he had been robbed of $168, the proceeds of the load of meat he had sold on the market.

Comfort for Old People.

Much of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements rheumatism, lumbago, and bodily pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

$30,000,000 to Charity.

New York, Aug. 29.—Eighty million dollars were donated to philanthropic and charitable work in the United States last year. Of this sum $40,000,000 came from New York. Vast as the amount is the reports indicate it will be still greater this year.

Newfoundland Cargoes.

London, Aug. 29.—(C.A.P.)—Cargoes from Newfoundland are quite common now in Glasgow harbor, and the rows of barrels on the wharf make a goodly show.

Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

Pathetic Suicide in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The body of Walter McAllen was found about one o'clock on Sunday morning by Night Watchman Mott, on one of the benches at Hanlan's Point. One of the doctors of the Sick Children's Hospital was brought and, life being extinct, the body was removed to the morgue, where Coroner Elliott will hold an inquest at three o'clock to-day. McAllen had spent nearly eighteen years in the army as a dispenser, and in other positions in the Army Medical Service Corps, and had seen service in South Africa, the rigors of the campaign there breaking down his health. While suffering from melancholia, he appears to have taken an overdose of chloral hydrate.

Old Age.

Prof. Jowett, the great master of Balliol College, had wise words to speak on the crucial topic of growing old. He wrote to a friend:

"The later years of life appear to me, from a certain point of view, to be the best. They are less disturbed by care and the world; we begin to understand that things really never did matter so much as we supposed, and we are able to see them more in their true proportion, instead of being overwhelmed by them. We are more resigned to the will of God, neither afraid to depart nor overanxious to stay. We cannot see into another life, but we believe, with an inextinguishable hope, that there is something still more reserved for us."

It is worth while to remember his hints for old age, full as they are of a practical wisdom:

Beware of the coming on of age, for it will not be defied.

A man cannot become young by over-exerting himself.

A man of sixty should lead a quiet, open-air life.

He should collect the young about him.

He should set other men to work.

He ought, at sixty, to have acquired authority, reticence and freedom from personality.

He may truly think of the last years of life as being the best, and every year as better than the last, if he knows how to use it.

Palm Trees.

The various kinds of palm trees on the Island of Ceylon are in themselves of great interest, and when their different uses are explained a person can well appreciate how essential they are to the natives in low country Cingalese districts. From the sap of the cocoanut palm the spirit he drinks is distilled; the kernel of the nut is a necessary element in his daily curry; the milk is the beverage offered to every visitor to his domain; his only lamp is fed from the oil; his nets for fishing are manufactured from its fibre, as is also the rope which keeps his goat or cow from going astray, while the rafters of his house, the thatch of the roof and the window blinds are made from its leaf and wood. There is perhaps no product in the world that is put to so many and such profitable uses as the cocoanut palm, for even before it is grown its leaf ribs are tied together to make brooms for sweeping and cages for birds.

Indigestion

It isn't always the stomach's fault that food is not digested. Torpid liver brings Constipation, Bile gets in the stomach. The kidneys become affected. The whole process of digestion is weakened. No wonder you feel so uncomfortable after eating.

Fruit-a-tives
or Fruit Liver Tablets

make digestion complete by making the liver strong and active. They cause more bile to be excreted, thus effectively curing Constipation. They tone up the stomach, regulate the kidneys, build up the whole system. Made from pure fruit juices, their medicinal action is intensified by a secret process of combining them.

WILD MAN OF VANCOUVER.

Strange Being Lately Seen by a British Columbian Lumberman.

The Indians tell of a wild man on Vancouver Island, and now a Caucasian, Michael King, relates that he has seen what looked like half-man, half-ape.

King told his story at a camp fire to the accompaniments of a chattering mountain brook and the whispering pines towering to a starlight sky. He was on one of his solitary cruises for timber on the island, and had not seen a human face for days. A strange cry of mingled surprise and fear, very human in its quality, brought him to a sudden halt, rifle in hand, and eyes straining everywhere for an explanation.

This was quickly forthcoming in a manner to try even the nerve of so superb a woodsman as this veteran of the forests. Within 100 yards appeared a thing, large, completely covered with hair, with long arms hanging below the knee, penetrating eyes under a mass of unkempt hair—certainly a man, said Mr. King, but yet such a human as no nation, tribe, or country knows.

As he saw this striking object in his path Mr. King's memory went back to the stories told by Indians who had refused to enter that part of the island with him. They had said that a fearsome thing lorded it over the country, and, in their superstitious terror, they had said it was a god of the Spaniards, the descendant of a great chief who had left his ship at Nootka and mated, by force, with a princess of the tribe.

But while he thought these things, King's hand was on the trigger of his rifle. He was prepared for the wild man, or the ape, or whatever it might be. But the wild man was in no mood to meet the man with the stick that talked in thunder. After a moment's scrutiny of the pathfinder it decided on flight, and plunged into the forest wilderness, where it was quickly lost to sight. No further meeting with the wild man fell to King's lot.

His story, of course, has been received with sarcastic comment on the coast, but it is curious to note that Otto Scheen has just come in from the northern end of Vancouver Island bringing a tale of having seen footprints such as are made by no wild animal that ranges the forests of this continent. While apparently made by a human being they are those of neither Siwash nor white man.

Perhaps the hairy monster seen by King has retreated further north with the object of flying from contact with real humanity.

Most stomach troubles arise from a torpid, sluggish action, and kidneys, liver and bowels are thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

ORIGIN OF "FOOLSCAP" PAPER.

Watermark the Cause and Away Back in the Fourteenth Century.

The word "Foolscap," as applied to paper, is a well known term says an English contemporary). It is interesting, however, to search for the origin of such a singular epithet. A careful study of some rare old collection of papers would, no doubt, reveal this origin and bring to light, as well, many other curious facts about paper. The oldest known paper in which water-mark appears is that of an old account book in Holland, bearing date 1301; it has a water-mark of a globe surmounted by a cross. Other paper, of a trifle later date, bears a rude representation of a pot or jug. These two marks are, therefore, the most ancient yet discovered.

Paper of the fourteenth century shows a great variety of symbols in water-marks. Conspicuous among these are The "Ram's Face," the "Half Lily," the "Bull's Head," the "Collared Dog's Head," the "Human Head," the "Two Cans" and the "Post Horn." Of these the "Bull's Head" was for a long time the most famous. In the main, however, these designs were but rudely executed. The "Anchor," the "Star" and "Crescents," the "Crown" and the simple "Spring with Leaves and a Fruit or Flower" are but a few of the many other suggestive marks belonging to the paper of this period. Probably one of the most unique designs is that of a fool's cap and bells; and this curious water-mark is undoubtedly responsible for the words "Foolscap," by which name one of our standard sizes of paper is designated. Likewise our "Post paper" received its name from the water-mark of the "Post Horn." The "Open Hand" is said to be the water-mark in the paper on which the "Golden Legende" was printed.

An early Strassburg Bible, although it adopts the common "Bull's Head" on most of its pages, yet distinguishes the two Bonifaz VI Kings by the more appropriate mark—a "Regal Crown." This leads to the conclusion that in some instances the water-marks have reference to the subject matter of the book, rather than the mere quality or grade of the paper. The frequently found marks "P" and "Y" represent the initials of Philip of Burgundy and Isabella, his wife, the latter name at the time being usually spelled with a Y. After the "Bull's Head," probably the most famous mark was that of the "Dolphin and Anchor." This has perpetuated the ancient symbol of the City of Venice.

Water-marks are made by a comparatively simple contrivance, consisting merely of ornamental figures, in wire or thin brass, which are sewn upon the wires of the mould. Where these wires lie, the paper is rendered thinner and more translucent, thus leaving the desired impression. The originators of this ingenious invention are unknown, though the Spaniards were the first to introduce it into Europe. The right and wrong side of paper can be easily told by holding the sheet up to the light and reading the water-mark; the correct side is the one which reads the right way. Every manufacturer of to-day has his own special device, and the water-marks produced are often delicately shaded, and of the most artistic forms.

The London Daily Graphic of July 27 had the following: "At the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Mr. Balfour presented to Mr. Spencer Charrington, the member for Mile End, a silver cup subscribed for by 178 Unionist members in recognition of his loyalty to the party in taking part in the all-night sitting last week. The cup bears the following inscription: "Presented to Spencer Charrington, member of Parliament for the Mile End Division of the Tower Hamlets, to commemorate the twenty-five and a half hours' sitting of the House of Commons, July 19th and 20th, 1904, when he, at the age of eighty-six, voted in nineteen divisions and remained in attendance until the rising of the House. The gift of 178 colleagues who shared his exertions and admired his example."

For the Minister.

Some time ago a worthy farmer had a visit from the minister, who was asked to stop for tea. Their servant, who is a Highland lass, had newly come from the land of heather, and her mistress put her in charge of getting the bread and butter ready for the occasion. Mary, thinking the minister's visit was of unusual importance, as it would be considered in her native land, came and whispered in the good wife's ear: "Will I butter the bread on baith sides?"

THE CLEARER VISION.

O weary ones, ye may not see
Your helpers in their downward flight,
Nor hear the sound of silver wings
Blow beating through the hush of night.

But not the less grey Dothan shone
With sunbright watchers bending low,
That fear's dim eye beheld alone
The spear-heads of the Syrian foe.

There are who, like the seer of old,
Can see the helpers God hath sent,
And how life's rugged mountain side
Is white with many an angel tent!

They hear the heralds who our Lord
Sends down His pathway to prepare,
And light from other hidden shrines
On their high place of faith and prayer.

Cameo Cutting.

Before the discovery of onyx as the material specially adapted for cameo cutting the ancients cut them on soft stones, eggshells and other materials. The Greco-Roman, and especially the Augustan, period was rich in cameos, and almost every great Roman wished to have his portrait cut in onyx. One of these, an exquisite portrait of Emperor Augustus Caesar himself, is perhaps the finest existing cameo. Such portrait cameos were practically indestructible, except by accident. Some large cameos—the "Triumph of Bacchus" at the Vatican, the "Agate de Tibere" at Paris and the "Gemma Augesten" at Vienna—are splendid works of art.

There was a change from the classical and mythological designs of Greco-Roman times to Christian themes in the fourth century, when Constantine the Great became a Christian.

At the renaissance classical art recovered its lost position. Renaissance cameo cutters were very skilled workmen, but in spite of their general high level they did not succeed in making any very important cameo, although the "Hymeneal Procession of Eros and Psyche" realised a high price.

Memory of Sleepwalkers.

The memory of sleepwalkers is extraordinary, not to say phenomenal, especially when under the peculiar impulses of the disease which prompts their movements. Morits gives an instance of a poor basket maker who was unable to either read or write, yet, strange as it may appear, when in one of his somnambulistic vigils he would preach fluent sermons, some of which were recognized as having formed parts of discourses which he was accustomed to hear when he was a child attending his parish church forty years before.

Coffee a Disinfectant.

"Drink plenty of coffee if there is sickness around you," said a physician. "Coffee is a good preventive of typhoid fever and cholera. This has been proven. Cholera germs and typhoid germs have been thrown into coffee and the aromatic drink has not once failed to kill the germs within an hour. Hence, amid contagious conditions do not neglect, among your other precautions, to drink three cups of strong coffee at each meal."

A CHANGE OF MINDS.

Why the Charms of Clifford Is the Eyes of Three Girls Vanished.

Though Clifford has been several years a benedict he still has the red cheeks, round face and downy upper lip which mark the period of adolescence.

The other evening as he was going home there were three handsome young women in the car, each full of animal life and sustained in her spirit of fun by the presence of the other two. One of them scrutinized Clifford from the corners of her mischievous eyes and whispered to the others what a handsome youth he was. This remark concentrated the attention of the trio upon him, and it was not long till he was conscious of their inspection.

"He has actually discovered us," said the one in the center under her breath as she nudged her companions.

"Doesn't seem to be confused, either," tittered the smallest as she pretended to fasten the clasp of her purse.

"Probably spoiled," said the eldest. "Looks like it."

Then the one who had least to say made eyes at Clifford, and breathless protests ended in a merry laugh ostensibly provoked by something which they did not see through the window. Another risked a smile on the handsome young man, who smiled back without changing color.

"Cool head," giggled the eldest. "He's evidently used to admiring glances. I'd like to steal his complexion." There was another look out of the window and more suppressed laughter.

At this point Clifford opened a hand bag, and, producing a new baby cap and a rattle, he explained to a friend that they were for Willie and Maudie. Three noses went into the air. Three faces looked very dignified. Three girls agreed that Clifford was very ordinary looking after all.—New York Press.

Why Not Return Him?

One of the foreign diplomats in our Washington society had been greatly troubled with his eyes, finding it necessary for a time to wear some very large smoked glasses, which occasioned great distress and fright in the mind of his four-year-old son, who manifested it in a most discreet way by avoiding his father whenever he wore the glasses.

One morning this benign dignitary overheard as he was passing the nursery door:

"Mother, if father is blind, must we keep him?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Why She Couldn't.

The wife of an uptown doctor recently had as a visitor a child of five, a quaint, old fashioned youngster. The child's sash became untied, and she asked her host to tie it.

"Why can't you tie it yourself?" she was asked.

"No, ma'am," answered the child.

"And why not?"

"Because I'm in front of it."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Why She Hates Him.

Bessie—There goes that Mr. Primple. How I do hate the man!

Kitty—The idea! Not a single word has ever passed between you and him.

Bessie—But you should have seen the way that he and Bertha Twittle went on at the reception last night. I never did like Bertha.—Boston Transcript.

The Summer Girl's Drawback.

Myrtilla—You seem so timid. Why is it?

Marmaduke—Oh, I can't propose to any girl who goes around with her sleeves rolled up; it makes a man feel as if she were all ready to strike out from the shoulder.—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Heroic Remedy For Rattler's Bite.

The ten-year-old son of B. F. Keeling, a farmer residing near here, was bitten on the foot by a rattler while hoeing cotton. His father immediately opened the wound with his pocket knife and sucked the poison out. But for the wound made with the knife, the boy has suffered no ill results from the incident. This is the second instance to occur in the county when such a heroic remedy has been resorted to to cure snake bite, and in both instances it was successful.—Beeville (Tex.) Cor. Houston Post.

THE DISUNITED STATES.

A Guessing Contest That Brings About Queer Blunders.

A guessing contest which seems easy to most girls and boys when they hear of it, but proves more difficult than they supposed, is the Disunited States.

Make an outline, nothing more, of each state in the Union. These must be drawn on separate cards or pieces of paper and be exactly like the outlines on the map. Have each card numbered and its number placed opposite the name of the state on a separate piece of paper, which is not shown until the contest is over.

You will be surprised at the mistakes made, for even those who have studied geography for years find it difficult to decide which state the outline stands for when it is all alone.

Each player writes his name on a slip of paper bearing the number he ventures to guess. The one who has the most correct answers should receive a prize. This is a simple game, but it affords amusement to schoolboys and girls and to older people who, having left school before many of the newer states were added to the Union, find it no easy task to guess the state by a mere outline.

Sometimes a river or a mountain sketched through the state in its proper place will give the guessers a better chance, but even then many funny blunders are sure to be made.

Conundrums.

What kind of a face does an auctioneer like best? One that is for-bidding.

Can you tell of what nationality Napoleon was? Of course I can (Corsican).

When is a nose not a nose? When it is a little reddish (radish) or a turn up (turnip).

What sweetmeat is like a person proposed for some office? The candy-date (candidate).

Why is it almost impossible to kill a soldier? Because he can live in quarters very comfortably.

Why is a room full of married ladies like an empty one? Because there isn't a single one in it.

How to Make a Flute.

Wrap a piece of paper around a pencil. Paste the edge down, making a tube. To one end fasten a triangular piece of paper somewhat larger than the opening. To play draw in your breath through the open end of the tube.

A Watery Wish.

I wish that all the water on the rolly poly earth
Would run away from houses and get drownded in the sea!
I wish there was of sponges and of soap an awful dearth;
I wish I'd never had a bath these nine years since my birth!
Oh, my, but what a happy boy "yours truly" would be!

It wouldn't take a fifty then to sling on all my clothes
And to hurry down to breakfast when the bell begins to ring.
I wouldn't have to go to bed when sister Polly goes
(She likes to wash—she really does—but then she likes to pose
As a model little girl, is "as sweet as anything").

There's only just one little thing that I would like to say
Before you write it down on paper black and white—
I guess I'd rather have a bath most fourteen times a day
Than have my dearie mother, in her sweet and gentle way,
Refuse to give a dirty boy a loving kiss good night.

RUGBY.

The first gun in rugby circles will be fired to-night, when the Executive of the club of 1903 will meet in the Oriental Hotel at 8 o'clock. It is hoped that all members of this committee in town will be in attendance as the prospects for the season will be thoroughly discussed and a recommendation will be made at the annual meeting of the club as to what series the executive deem it advisable for the club to enter. A large turnout of the executive is requested for this evening.

• • • •

In Saturday's issue the name of Ed. Dillon was inadvertently omitted in the list of last year's players available for this year. "King" has for many years been a most valuable wing player and the team would be weakened greatly by his absence. He will be seen in the game again this fall as ardent as ever.

• • • •

Among those who will be available for the Rugby team this fall is "Reddy" Lamonte, of the baseball team. "Reddy" is an old rugby player, having figured on the half-back line of the Wellesleys for several seasons where his work was always first-class. He has applied for a permit to play again this season and he should greatly strengthen the local team as it is on the back division that men are needed. Peterborough has plenty of wing players but need half backs.

THE TRIGGER.

The Dominion Rifle Association matches opened at Ottawa yesterday. There was a high wind blowing which bothered the marksmen somewhat and the scores were not as high as would otherwise have been the case. The Peterborough shots did fairly well. Sergt. E. Mowry scored 28 for a prize of $3 in the Tyro match. In the bankers' match Col. Sergt. W. H. Moore scored 38 for a prize of $11.00. In the Walker match Sergt. F. Bartlett scored 61 for a $5 prize; Pte. G. Fitzgerald scored 340; Lieut. J. A. Wilson, 60; Pte. C. Curtis, 58; each getting $4. The shooting will be continued for several days.

SPRINTING

On a rough course in Fort William on Friday last, Alfred Cooper defeated Harry Mitchell, of Moose Jaw, in a 100 yards dash. The distance was done in the phenomenal time of 10 seconds. The Fort William man won by the small margin of one foot. The contest undoubtedly settled the Canadian amateur championship.

FOOTBALL.

An effort will be made this fall to revive the Association Football City League. If four clubs could be induced to enter, a snug schedule could be drawn up and some good sport provided. Very few of the Association Football men play rugby so that an Association League in the fall would not interfere with the rugby team.

LACROSSE.

So far no arrangements have been made regarding the postponed game between Havelock and the T. A. S. A dispatch from Havelock is to the effect that the team there is very confident of their ability to win from the Total Abstainers and that they are anxious to have the game played off on Saturday. It is understood that Saturday would not be a convenient date for the T. A. S. and consequently nothing definite is known as yet concerning any arrangement.

• • • •

The disgraceful attack on Referee Chitty by Querrie and Lambe, of the Tecumsehs has done a great deal to hurt lacrosse in Toronto, besides practically throwing away the chances of the team to win the C.L.A. championship. These are two of the best players in the C.L.A., Lambe being recognized as a peer of defence men and the certificates of both were cancelled after the game. It was one of the most disgraceful scenes which ever took place on a Toronto lacrosse field.

• • • •

There are no new developments in the T.A.S.-Havelock game although the Examiner correspondent from the railroad burg states that when the game does come off, a surprise will be sprung on the despites of Sherbald Matthews.

BASEBALL.

Port Hope beat Cobourg at the former place last week by 4-3.

• • • •

The locals go to Port Hope to-morrow to play a league game. The return game comes off here on Saturday afternoon.

• • • •

Bowmanville has protested the game played at Cobourg on Saturday. It is said that the evidence against one of the Cobourg players is very strong.

• • • •

Lindsay has now practically won the championship of the Midland League. League. The Scugog town team has won six games and lost one and has still three to play,—one at Bowmanville, one at Peterborough and one with Port Hope in Lindsay. They should win the last game but will have to go some to win the other two. Bowmanville and Cobourg each have fighting chances,—each having lost three games, but it is hardly likely that they can finish without any further reverses. So it looks like Cinnamon's team for the flag.

• • • •

The game with Port Hope here on Saturday should draw a good crowd. The lake boys are evidently playing good ball as was shown by their win from Oshawa last week. Manager Whitcroft's team will make a great effort to shake off the hoodoo which seems to be following the boys and gain a victory.

• • • •

A fast team from Toronto will be here on Labour Day to play the locals.

• • • •

The T.A.S. are now the undisputed champions of the Kawartha League.

• • • •

The T.A.S. baseball team journeys to Bobcaygeon on Labour Day to play a Kawartha League game. Messrs. Ab. Quinlan and Fred. Craig, pitcher and short stop respectively of the T.A.S. baseball team, have been successful in obtaining first-class certificates in the recent examinations.

• • • •

Port Hope plays a Midland League game in Lindsay to-day.

• • • •

A despatch from Oshawa says:—"Oshawa wound up its league season here to-day by a victory over Peterborough in the best game of the season by the score of 10 to 5. The home team won because Peterborough could not hit Parker when hits meant runs. The home team had the luck if there was any going. The features of the game were Parker's pitching and the brilliant work of Manager Whitcroft of the Peterborough team, accepting twelve chances without an error. Peterborough had one bad innings, and Oshawa scored six runs on three hits."

• • • •

Toronto with Bruce on the slab defeated Rochester yesterday by 8-4. The Bronchos had 10 errors.

• • • •

Buffalo and Baltimore are having a great struggle for first place in the Eastern League and but a few points separate the teams. The race for third place between Jersey City and Newark is also interesting, while Toronto and Montreal are fighting side by side for fifth race. This is the best race for many years in the Eastern.

• • • •

Flaherty won another game for Galt on Saturday.

THE RING.

Jeffries secured as his share $7,845 of Friday night's receipts, while Munroe's pay for the beating he got was $5,232. The fight promoters took $8,720 as their share. Expert Naughton weighed both Champion Jeffries and Challenger Munroe on Thursday. He found their respective weights to be:—Jeffries, 234 pounds; Munroe, 203 pounds. Jeffries, when he started his training, tipped the scales at 269 pounds. Munroe worked off 16 pounds during his siege in camp.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Local athletes are wondering if the C. G. E. employees intend holding a field day of sports this fall. Last year's event was a credit to the management having the affairs in charge, and the programme of events protested was an excellent one. Get together, boys, and give the people another field day.

This is Awful.

"Queer thing, isn't it?" queried the old circus clown as he tumbled into the ring.

"What's queer?" asked the ringmaster.

"The weather," explained the clown. "It is cool outside, but here the heat is in tents."

Whereupon the ringmaster cracked his whip and the trouble began.

THE BEST WAY TO SEE THE WORLDS FAIR.

Some Valuable Suggestions for Those Intending to Visit St. Louis.

The following suggestions in reference to the best way to see the "World's Fair" have been supplied the Examiner by Mr. Edward M. Taylor and will be of value to those intending to visit the fair:—

If you want to stay at a hotel, I recommend the "Washington." Take Olive street car from city, direct to Lindell Boulevard entrance, otherwise take rooms at private houses, they can be had for about $1.00 a day and eat where you please.

Before entering grounds look at Wabash railroad depot—cost $150,000.

Immediately after entering take an auto. (fare 25c) for a delightful trip all around the big buildings; at conclusion of this go to station No. 1 of Intramural R. R. and go all the way around the entire grounds to station No. 17, (about 11 miles.)

Then walk from station No. 17 along by the manufacturers' building and the palace of education up to Festival Hall. The views obtained from the hill on which this is erected will alone amply repay you for all the expense and time of going from Peterborough to St. Louis and back, (and these views ought to be taken at night also).

See and hear the largest organ in the world in this festival hall building. The dome of this building is larger than St. Peter's at Rome.

Best view of the cascades is from a launch in the Grand Basin when seeing the wonderful illumination.

Mr. Hutchison, World's Fair Commissioner for Canada, will give you a cordial welcome at the Canada pavilion just north of the agricultural palace.

See the Boer War—realistic exhibition, intensely interesting.

See the interior of the German building (near cascades).

See the battleship in the transportation building, exhibited by the B. & O. S. Western R. R.

What is well worth seeing on the "Pike":—

The naval exhibit—cost $350,000.
The Tyrolean Alps,—cost $700,000.
Fair Japan.
Hagenbecks.
Baby Incubators.
Creation.

There are 44 "Shows" in all on the "Pike". Take an electric launch at 4 p.m. for a trip all through the lagoons to properly see the magnificent illuminations.

ST. LOUIS PLACES OF INTEREST.

The following places of interest should be visited at St. Louis:—

The big Eads Bridge—walk out to the middle of it for view of Mississippi and city, etc.

Shaw's Botanical Gardens and Tower Grove Park.

Anheuser-Buschs Brewery—largest in the world. Beer free to visitors (don't drink too much of it.)

Merchants' exchange (Board of Trade) The bulls and bears are perfectly harmless, but "Lambs" in active demand.

Govt. Standard will introduce you on 'Change."

The water works, the city hall, the Union station—largest in the world.

Westmoreland Place.
Wedstmoreland Place.
Portland Place.
C. H. Spencer's residence.
John W. Kauffman's residence.
etc, etc., etc.
Old R. C. Cathedral, Walnut street, near the river.
Episcopal Cathedral, 18th and Locust street, etc., etc.

P. S.—"Memo"—Don't pronounce it "Saint Louey"—always "St. Louis".

Always carry a diagram of the grounds in your pocket and cut out the special and regular programme for each day from the morning papers.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Ind'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents:—

We are told to buy Erie for a few points. The stock has been a laggard and should get some advance in this market.

New York, August 30.—Rdg may go to 62 on this bulge. St. P. should be bought sound 158. We predicted 37 on Tor. 7 it was 34, and it sold at 37 yesterday. In short all our bull favourites are doing fine, they should do even better to-day. If the market is strong all day and prices just before the close are the highest of the day. A New Dressmaking Department

During the past month we have secured the first floor over Mr. Shortly's Store, which has been the scene of much activity in the way of Carpenters, Plasterers, Paper-hangers and Painters, tearing down walls and partitions, papering, painting and remodelling the premises generally.

Now we are prepared for business.

The entrance to this Department will be from our Millinery Parlours where it will be entirely separated from other departments, and comprises Two Large Fitting Rooms, a Cosy Reception Room and a Large Bright Workroom.

This New Department will be under the able management of Miss Hazzard, who comes to us highly recommended, having been in charge of some of the best Dressmaking Establishments in Ontario, where her work has been of the very best. She is thoroughly competent in every detail and the Ladies of Peterborough can rely on having their garments well made and finished on the date appointed.

Special attention will be given to Shirt Waist Suits and Tailored Costumes.

JAPS AND RUSSIANS IN DEADLY COMBAT

Former Have Commenced General Attack at Liaoyang.

200,000 MEN ON EACH SIDE.

Russian Official Despatches Admit Heavy Loss From Japanese Shrapnel Fire—Fighting on Western Side Appears to Have Reached Within Three Miles of Liaoyang Battle Lasted All Day.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—(3.55 a.m.)—The great battle of Liaoyang, which began early Tuesday morning continued throughout the day with increasing intensity, but up to this hour no further official details beyond the brief telegrams given out in the afternoon have been received by the War Office. Every confidence is expressed in Gen. Kuropatkin's ability to meet the Japanese assault on ground of his own chosing, but the city is hungrily awaiting further news of the progress of the fight.

The Japanese forces engaged in the battle can only be estimated here, but they are believed to number about 200,000 men. Gen. Kuropatkin is known to have six army corps and 147 squadrons of cavalry, in which great confidence is reposed, bringing up the Russian total to about the same number that the Japanese have. How the armies compare with regard to artillery is not definitely known, though throughout the war, the Japanese have shown great preference for this arm and great skill in its use.

Reports from the front credit the Japanese with having about 200 guns and many mountain battery, and it is known that they recently shipped 24 heavy guns to Yinkow. Four of these guns already have been mentioned in these despatches as being in action.

Liaoyang Fortified.

Gen. Kuropatkin, in addition to his field batteries, has a number of very heavy guns placed at important positions at Liaoyang, where the Russians have been strongly fortifying for some time.

The Japanese claim to have captured two field batteries during the past two days. Russian official accounts admit the loss of only six guns.

It is stated that a Japanese battery was captured south of Anshanshan during the preliminary fighting, and that several Japanese guns have been destroyed since then.

Little of the strategic situation has developed so far. Official news from the front says that there was desperate fighting on the southern centre, while that from there it appears that the Japanese are endeavoring to reach the Russian right from the neighborhood of the junction of the Taitze and Sakhe Rivers. The fighting on the western flank appears to have approached within three miles of Liaoyang.

Battle Began Monday.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—In a brief telegram received yesterday morning, Kuropatkin says the general advance of the Japanese began yesterday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the main lines. The heaviest fighting was taking place when his despatch was sent from a point ten miles southeast of Liaoyang, where the Japanese seem to be concentrating for their main blow. The Russians suffered principally from the shrapnel fire of the Japanese artillery. The Japanese selected the Mikado's birthday for the decisive battle, and it will not be surprising if to-day is also signalized by a grand assault on Port Arthur.

Sakharoff Reports.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—A despatch from Gen. Sakharoff, dated from Liaoyang at 10 a.m. yesterday, says:

"The main Japanese attack is being directed against the Russian centre and right, where the Russian losses have been the heaviest. The Japanese posted numerous artillery within range of all the Russian positions during the night. A hot fire was opened at 5 a.m., and by nine o'clock the Japanese were close to the Russian positions.

"The Japanese shrapnel fire inflicted considerable losses on our troops at several points. Lieut.-Col. Pokatieloff, commanding a battery of the Sixth East Siberian brigade, was killed. The Japanese are delivering an obstinate attack on our centre, and at nine o'clock this morning they were in close proximity to our advance guard."

General Sakharoff also reports that a large Japanese force is advancing northward along the Taitze River Valley, west of the railroad.

The Russian cavalry which prevented the turning of the Russian right flank Sunday, had to operate amongst the fields of Chinese corn, which was above the heads of the riders.

The latest telegrams from the front state that the Japanese have 1,200 guns near Liaoyang.

Japs Lose 10 Guns.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—A despatch from Mukden says that in the stubbornly fought battle which has been in progress near Liaoyang since yesterday morning, all attempts of the Japanese to turn the Russian flank have been repulsed. It is said at Mukden that the Japanese lost over ten guns.

Historical Hour.

Liaoyang, Aug. 31.—The Russian correspondent of the Associated Press supplied the following yesterday: "The historical moment has arrived and the battle of Liaoyang is in progress.

"It was not till 6 o'clock yesterday morning that the first gun was fired, but soon afterwards hundreds of cannon were thundering along our southern and eastern fronts.

"The centre of our position is located near the famous tower of Liaoyang, about seven miles to the southeast. The fighting there was of the most desperate character, but is now going much nearer at the flanks.

"The hissing of the shells is distinctly audible, and from the city it is easy to see the shells bursting.

"Heavy guns were brought into action by both sides yesterday, and their dull roar was discernible above the sharper detonation of field and mountain guns.

"The Russians are using big ordnance, which is in position in the inner ring of the Liaoyang forts."

Lasted All Day.

London, Aug. 31.—A despatch from Liaoyang to a news agency, dated Aug. 30, says: "The Japanese artillery fire only ceased at 8 o'clock this evening. The casualties have not yet been ascertained.

"The third Russian corps repulsed a hot Japanese assault, the Japanese being hurled back by bayonet charges, firstly by the 23rd and then by the 24th Regiments, which received and repulsed the enemy no less than six times.

"Two Japanese companies which succeeded in occupying a Russian position were mistaken for Russians and annihilated by Japanese artillery fire.

"At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Japanese concentrated their fire on a Russian southern detachment, and also tried to flank the detachment from the right under the protection of the batteries.

Japs Retreat in Disorder.

"One company after another was noticed running swiftly to the westward in an attempt to outflank the positions, but a Russian regiment and a battery were ordered to advance and succeeded in forcing the enemy to retreat in disorder, evacuating positions they had previously gained.

"There has been an immense expenditure of ammunition throughout the day, especially on the southern front against the Russian third corps.

"It is believed that the Russian losses so far have not been very heavy, except to the regiments which sustained bayonet charges. All the men serving one Russian gun except one were killed by shrapnel. The survivor, who was badly wounded, heroically brought his gun to headquarters, and even then refused to quit his place until the general peremptorily ordered him into the hospital.

"A more energetic attack is expected to-morrow.

"It seems that Gen. Kuroki's force did not participate in to-day's engagement.

"The morale of the Russian troops is excellent."

News of Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—The news from Port Arthur up to the 26th was reassuring. The account of the battleship Sevastopol having gone out on Aug. 23 to bombard the Japanese in Tade Bay does not mention that that vessel struck a mine.

A despatch from Vladivostock mentions the presence there of Gen. Rennenkampff, who recently left the hospital at Liaoyang on sick leave.

ONTARIO'S HEALTH.

Marked Decrease Shown in Infectious Disease Cases and Deaths.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—The returns from 726 division registrars throughout Ontario are most gratifying as indicating the health of the Province compared with the same period last year. As will be seen a decided drop has taken place, both in cases and deaths of infectious disease with the exception of tuberculosis, which caused 40 more deaths, but this may be accounted for through the returns of some division registrars being more accurate than in previous months.

The total deaths from all causes as reported are 1,861, from a reporting population of 1,960,250, or 90 per cent, of the Province, the death rate being 11.4 per 1,000 as against 1,873 deaths for the same month a year ago from a population of 1,915,220, the rate being 11.5.

The returns show:

AT SAULT STE. MARIE.

Vice-Regal Party Warmly Welcomed and Entertained By the Enthusiastic Citizens—Inspect Soo Industries.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 31.—The people of the Soo yesterday tendered a reception to Lord and Lady Minto who, with their daughter, Lady Eileen Elliott, arrived Monday night from Owen Sound on the steamer Britannic.

Their Excellencies spent the night on board the Britannic and in the morning the steamer took them through the ship canal, giving them an opportunity to see one of the world's greatest locks in working order. From the canal they went to the steel dock, where the vice-regal party was informally welcomed by Mayor Plummer, the town councillors and a delegation from the Board of Trade.

The party was escorted through the steel plant by Manager Shields, Superintendent Lewis and F. H. Clergue, who showed and explained to Their Excellencies all the processes.

Lord and Lady Minto were warmly received when they came down town in an open carriage escorted by a procession headed by a band. A platform was erected at the court house grounds and an immense crowd gathered to greet the representatives of royalty, who, as they took their place on the platform, were received with cheers. Mayor Plummer read and presented to Lord and Lady Minto an address of welcome from the citizens.

Lord Minto in reply thanked the people for the reception and said that ever would he remember Canada and rejoice in her progress. After addresses from a number of towns people were received by His Excellency the party were later again escorted through the streets to the C. P. R. depot, whence they took their departure shortly after to continue their westward journey.

Viking Goes Ashore.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 31.—The Canadian cable repair steamer Tyrian, which has arrived here from Belle Isle Strait, reports that the steamer Viking, from Halifax for Hamilton Inlet, Labrador, went ashore Friday last near Belle Isle during a fog, and is likely to prove a total loss.

HOSPITAL SECRETS.

A Nurse Says: "Pe-ru-na is a Tonic of Efficiency."

MRS. KATE TAYLOR.

Mrs. Kate Taylor, a graduated nurse of prominence, gives her experience with Peruna in an open letter. Her position in society and professional standing combine to give special prominence to her utterances.

CHICAGO, ILL., 427 Monroe St.—"As far as I have observed Peruna is the finest tonic any man or woman can use who is weak from the after effects of any serious illness.

"I have seen it used in a number of convalescent cases, and have seen several other tonics used, but I found that those who used Peruna had the quickest relief.

WHY NOT BE CANDID?

(Hamilton Times)

Some time ago Hon. James Young, of Galt, in a published article took strong ground against Mr. Chamberlain's imperial federation scheme, and presented some very cogent arguments to justify his course. He took both parties to task for lack of frankness in not speaking out plainly and telling him that our people were agreed that our tariff would not be lowered to a point that would ruin our established industries or retard their growth. He expressed surprise that Canadian Boards of Trade should have, off-hand, approved the the scheme. He said:—

The Manufacturers' Association rather capped the climax by passing resolutions for the preference and Imperial unity on the one hand and for protective duties against British goods on the other! All of these bodies are, at heart, utterly hostile to Mr. Chamberlain's quid pro quo. 'Free Trade Within the Empire,' but by their published declarations they have enabled that gentleman to declare, and a large part of the British people have been led to believe, that Canadians are eager to give them free admission for their manufacturers into the Dominion, if they will only grant us a small preference for our agricultural products in return. Every intelligent person in Canada knows this is not correct, but it is, nevertheless, the chief argument — the principal ground—on which the Chamberlain agitation is being conducted in Britain.

The Times has more than once called attention to that phase of the question, and has been — most unjustly — charged with inconsistency in speaking for the safety of our industries, which Liberals are as much concerned in preserving and encouraging as Conservatives. They are pledged to take into account conditions as they exist, and they are proving true to their promises.

But what of the Protectionist supporters of Chamberlain's scheme? What do they say in defence of the proposition to lay our industries open to keener British competition? How do they explain their inconsistency? Very simply. They deny that the Chamberlain propaganda includes any proposal of the kind!

But Hon. Mr. Young's statement does not stand alone. The British manufacturers under Chamberlain's tutilage entertain the idea that his scheme is to open to them the Canadian market. Here are some extracts from the official report of the evidence of Mr. Chamberlain's Tariff Commission:—

"We are of opinion that under a system of mutual preference we may anticipate a rapid and substantial increase of the exports of British manufacturers to the colonies."—Mr. Chamberlain's Tariff Committee's report.

"They (the colonists) will take more of our manufactures."—Mr. Chamberlain, August 4th.

"Some witnesses add that, supposing a preferential system were established, which stimulated the export of British manufactures to the colonies, it would be possible to cheapen and develop the supply of colonial (iron) ore."—Committee's report on the iron trade.

"A preferential tariff for those of our colonies which give adequate preference to British manufactures, and framed with a view to securing freer trade with in the British Empire."—Committee's recommendation.

"We cannot fail to see that these large establishments must be kept running and that England and the colonies must be their market."—Witness No. 7.

"Anything that would develop trade within the Empire—trade with the colonies, that is—would increase the home orders and would be a distinct advantage to our works."—Witness No. 10.

"Such conditions (a continually expanding market as in the States) are not obtainable if the British Isles are taken alone, but if the British Empire be taken as a whole very similar conditions and advantages would result."—Witness, No. 13.

Mr. Chamberlain expects a quid pro quo; he doesn't expect us to bunco him by arranging a tariff under which Britain will have a preference, but with duties still so high as to exclude her goods. He looks to selling us more manufactures; and while Mr. Drummond and the gentlemen of the manufacturers' association clamour for higher duties against Great Britain, it is the veriest sham for them to pretend to favor Chamberlain's imperial federation scheme and to pass resolutions intended to lead him to believe that they are willing to agree to any further degree of real preference to the Canadian tariff.

Let us at least be honest in dealing with Chamberlain and his scheme. Let us not pretend to favor it, while we are practically intensely opposed to it.

DOES THE SPIDER REASON?

If you anchor a pole in a body of water, leaving the pole above the surface, and put a spider upon it, he will exhibit a marvellous intelligence by his plans to escape. At first he will spin a web several inches long and hang to one end, while he allows the other to float off in the wind, in the hope that it will strike some object. Of course this plan proves a failure. He waits until the wind shifts, perhaps, and then sends another silken bridge floating off in another direction. Another failure is followed by several other similar attempts, until all the points of the compass have been tried.

But neither the resources nor the reasoning powers of the spider are exhausted. He climbs to the top of the pole and energetically goes to work to construct a silken balloon. He has no hot air with which to inflate it, but he has the power of making it buoyant. When he gets his balloon finished he does not go off upon the mere supposition that it will carry him, as men often do, but he fastens it to a guy-rope, the other end of which he attaches to the island pole upon which he is a prisoner.

He then gets into his aerial vehicle while it is made fast, and tests it to see whether its dimensions are capable of bearing him away. He sometimes finds that he has made it too small, in which case he hauls all down, takes it all apart and constructs it on a larger and better plan. A spider has been seen to make three different balloons before he became satisfied with his experiment. Then he will get in, cast his guy rope and sail away to land as gracefully and as supremely independent of his surroundings as could be imagined.—Lippincott's.

HOW FRUIT GROWERS LOSE THEIR MONEY.

And Incidently Injure Their Reputation of Their Products.

A strongly worded warning to fruit growers and farmers will appear in the September issue of The Canadian Horticulturalist, which is the official organ of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, against selling their fruit crops to irresponsible buyers. These buyers are those who do not live or own any property in sections where they buy their crops. The Horticulturalist claimms that tens of thousands of dollars are lost annually throughout Canada through the fraudulent methods practised by these buyers.

The first year they buy a few thousand barrels in one section and pay easy for them, thereby establishing their reputation with many buyers as responsible buyers. The following year they take advantage of this reputation to contract for large quantities of fruit, but do not pay for it, putting the growers off with one excuse or another. Where some growers are suspicious and demand payment, they pay immediately, but in the majority of cases they may go to ship the fruit out of the section without paying for it. Later they tell growers tales of losses and say they are unable to pay the full value of their fruit and offer to settle at 20 to 30 cents on the dollar.

Growers are advised by The Horticulturalist when dealing with buyers, they are not thoroughly acquainted with, to demand security for their fruit, or only deal with local buyers who have property or state in the community. One of the best methods of avoiding danger of this kind has been for growers to co-operate and deal directly with large wholesale buyers. The case of the Ontario buyer who two years ago defrauded the growers of the Annapolis Valley in N. S. out of $30,00 to $40,000 worth of fruit is mentioned.

EARLY VEGETABLE INDUSTRY.

The fruit growers in Essex County who have this year forced vegetables for the early summer markets have had a very prosperous season as will be announced in the September issue of the Canadian Horticulturalists. The shipments this year have been the largest on record, and have not been equal to the demand. These vegetables are started under glass in the late winter, and later transplanted under cotton frames, and finally grown in the open. This method enables the growers to place their products on the market much earlier than the regular crop. These vegetables are superior to the imported ones from the United States, which have in the past practically supplied all the demand. Owing to the satisfactory prices realized this year, it is probable there will be a market increase in this line of work next season, and that ultimately Canadian vegetables may largely displace the United States importations.

PETERBOROUGH IN THE LABOUR GAZETTE.

The Official Correspondent, Mr. W. J. Johnston, Reports.

The following is taken from the August issue of the Labour Gazette:

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE LABOUR MARKET.

Labour in all branches was well employed, the demand in some cases exceeding the supply.

The Canadian General Electric Company has secured a $2,000,000 contract from the Ontario Power Company at Niagara Falls, Ont. This is the largest contract ever entered into by a local firm and will mean exceptional activity in the Company's shops here for a considerable length of time.

Among the trades exceptional activity prevails in the building branches.

Wholesale and retail trade was active, and the transportation branches exceptionally so. The Matthews Company has made heavy shipments of live hogs and of manufactured produce to Great Britain. Lumber shipments also were heavy.

There were no changes in wages and no strikes or lockouts during the month.

The opening of the Government loft lock during July was an event of much importance industrially. The lock has been under construction for three years past, and the number of dams that have had to be constructed has given opportunity to the development of water power on a large scale. The following is a list of the different corporations and localities that have developed power, with the amount of horse power developed in each case:—

Name of Firm.	Am't of Horse Power.
American Cereal Co... ...	5,000
Auburn Woollen Co	2,500
Peterborough Town	1,000
Can. Gen. Electric Co ...	2,500

No. 3 " "	1,000
No. 2 " "	750
Lock Bridge	500
Burleigh Falls	3,500
Total	20,250

The surplus power of these waterways may be indicated as follows:—

Name of Firm.	Am't of Horse Power.
American Cereal Co... ...	2,000
Auburn Co.....	1,000
Peterborough Town	500
Otonabee Power Co... ...	1,000

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

Agriculture.—Farmers were very busy with the hay crop, which is heavy. Fall wheat also will be a good crop in this district. The cheese factories are all very busy and report an abundant supply of milk.

Lumbering.—New logs are coming down from the camps and the mills are running to their full capacity.

Manufacturing.—All factories are busy; some which were reported a little slack in June have been in full operation during July. Messrs. Hicks & Co., have added a new wood-sawing and splitting machine to their woodyard, and will employ additional men to operate it.

Railway Construction. — Construction on the new street railway is being pushed forward at a good rate of speed, and the company expects to have it in running order by the middle of August. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is building a small branch line from Pontypool to Bobcaygeon, which has given employment to an abundant supply of labourers. The line will be a great convenience to the northern portion of this district.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES

Building Trades.—Bricklayers and masons, painters, and paperhangers are very busy. Carpenters and joiners are also very busy, and more good men are wanted. Lathers and plasters are behind with their work, owing to a scarcity of men. Plumbers gas and steamfitters and builders' labourers are all well employed. With stonecutters there is only one large job under way.

Metal, engineering, and shipbuilding trades.—Iron moulders report a better month than June, with orders increasing. Iron workers, machinists, blacksmiths and boiler-makers, were well employed. Steam engineers, electrical workers, and linemen were very busy, as well as tool sharpeners in the larger establishments. Horseshoers were fairly busy, but bicycle workers were slack.

Woodworking and furnishing trades.—Woodworkers, upholsterers, polishers and carriage and wagon workers were exceptionally busy. Pattern-makers and coopers were fairly well employed.

Printing and allied trades.—Employment was somewhat slack from seasonal causes.

Clothing trades.—Tailors and garment workers reported conditions dull. Boot and shoe workers were well employed.

Food and tobacco preparation.—Bakers and confectioners were very busy. Cigar makers, butchers and meat cutters were fairly busy.

Transport.—All branches were very busy.

Unskilled labour.—A scarcity of men was reported.

DISTRICT NOTES.

Business was reported active in most of the villages throughout the district. Grist mills and saw-mills were running to their full capacity. Some of the prices of products current were as follows:—

A 1 STEEL RAILS MADE AT THE "SOO"

500 Tons a Day Meeting Required Government Test.

Seven Dollars a Ton Duty Against Foreign Rails.

In the session of 1903 legislation was adopted by the Dominion Parliament, authorizing the Governor in Council to impose an import duty on steel rails whenever satisfactory evidence is furnished that rails "of the best quality" were being made in Canada "in sufficient quantity to supply the ordinary demand." The obvious motive of this enactment was to encourage the managements of large steel works like those at Sydney and Sault Ste Marie to perfect their plants and put them into practical operation as speedily as possible. At each place delay has been caused by financial difficulties; the works at Sydney are not yet in a position to comply with the conditions specified in the statute, nor has any time been set for making a bona fide beginning of steel rail production.

It is quite otherwise at the Sault. On the eve of the recent collapse of the associated industries a contract was entered into with the Dominion Government for a large supply of rails for the Intercolonial, and work on this order had already begun when the Clergue failure took place. Slowly but steadily the work of reorganizing the group of defunct industries has been going on ever since the Ontario Legislature authorized the guarantee of a two million loan to aid in reviving them, and now a long step forward has been taken by the passage of the requisite order in Council imposing the seven dollar duty. Needless to say, the management of the Sault corporation was required to exhibit its rail mill actually at work to the satisfaction of Government inspectors. The test was carried on for three days, and it has proved that the mill is capable of producing 500 tons a day of thoroughly tested rails.

The Sault Company has secured a considerable contract from the Temiskaming Railway Commission, and will no doubt obtain others from time to time. It should secure similar contracts from the Dominion Government for rails to be used in the Maritime Province railways. It ought to be able to compete with the railmakers of the United States for the contracts which will soon be let by the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, to say nothing of the extensions of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern lines. This is a case which should test the efficacy of the anti-dumping provisions enacted last session, and no doubt the importation of rails from any foreign country will be closely watched by the customs department to prevent unfair competition. Fortunately the Sault Company has been able to obtain an ample supply of the kind of ore necessary to make the right sort of steel, so that its smelting furnaces, which were completed just before the collapse, will no doubt be very soon put into action.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ELECTION CHARGES

Particulars in North Grey and Soo Cases Filed.

MR. MISCAMPBELL CHARGED

Seventy-Eight Charges in the Cross-Petition, One of Which Is That $1,100 Was Sent From the Central Party Fund in Toronto to Corrupt Voters—North Grey Charges.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Particulars in the election petitions against the return of C. N. Smith, M.P.P., Sault Ste. Marie, and A. G. MacKay, M. P.P., of North Grey, were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. A cross-petition against Andrew Miscampbell, the defeated candidate at Sault Ste. Marie, has also been entered. It is charged that $1,100 was sent from the central party fund in Toronto to corrupt voters. There are seventy-eight charges in the cross-petition.

The Soo Charges.

In the Soo matter, the principal allegation against Mr. Smith is that the Government vote of $250,000 to the Lake Superior Consolidated Company was really to influence the electorate in his behalf. Thomas Johnston, Thomas Hunt and John Mullin make the protest.

It is alleged that boats of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company and trains of the Algoma Central Railway conveyed voters with the object of influencing votes; that officers of the former company conspired to intimidate the auditor, J. C. Ramsey; that respondent offered the position of jail surgeon to four doctors; that Messrs. Conmee and Bowman deposited with James Reilly, William O'Brien, George Sutherland and others about $2,000 for placing in bets; that the respondent, as a printer, is disqualified because he held Government printing contracts; that men brought into the riding by the Ontario Liberal Association were given control of the local organization; that the said association provided funds for corrupt expenditure; that a long list of votes, names given, were personated; that Washington Walker was promised land for his vote.

North Grey Particulars.

In the North Grey petition it is also charged that the Toronto Reform Association advanced money to be expended for bribery, Messrs. Joseph Cooper, Albert Dyce, Victor Carson and Bert Wilson of Toronto, Donald Currie, John McMillan and William McMillan of St. Catharines, were in the riding and had their expenses paid. The names of 80 persons who are alleged to have received money for illegal purposes in connection with the election are given.

A portion of the petition reads as follows: The respondent by himself or through agents was guilty of committing illegal practices by paying or permitting advances or loans to be made on his behalf otherwise than through W. J., now Judge Hatton, his regularly appointed financial agent.

These are the particulars of such payments:

To Geo. Ferguson of Owen Sound, $10 and upwards per week.

The same to J. W. Frost of Owen Sound.

Payments of money to John Sullivan of St. Catharines, Jas. Nelson of Buffalo, Frank Schley of Buffalo, and these of Owen Sound: C. C. Pearce, Albert Muir and Richard Brandon, $1.75 a day; the same to John Lindsay and Joseph Guttin; John McChestney, $1.50 per day; also payments to Chas. Lethbridge, John Feathers, A. J. McConnell and Samuel Pearce; also John Reid of the village of Lion's Head.

Also payments for hotel and traveling expenses and revising voters' lists.

Also payment of the expenses of persons to come into the electoral district for the purpose of speaking at meetings where the respondent did not speak, and payment of the traveling expenses of speakers who accompanied the respondent.

Charges of Treating.

Eighty-seven charges differ only in the name of the person to whom money is said to have been advanced for illegal purposes, either through the Ontario Reform Association, the North Grey Reform Association, the Reform Central Committee or by Hon. E. J. Davis, James Conmee, M.P.P., C. M. Bowman, M.P.P., J. W. Frost of Owen Sound, or W. J. Hatton. It is also charged that valuable considerations or places of employment were offered or given to various voters, and there are fifty charges that the respondent or his agents treated voters.

This is one of the treating charges: "Several times before polling day, Jan. 7th, 1903, at Hatton's Hotel, Sydenham Township, and at Queen's Hotel, Seldon House, Comely House, Ross House, Grand Central and other hotels in Owen Sound, also at Paul House, Meaford; Spencer's Hotel, Hepworth; Mrs. Ryan's House in Derby Township, the respondent personally or through Edward Sharp and a dozen men of Owen Sound, who are named, and another dozen of the county also named, did corruptly and extensively or generally or in a miscellaneous manner give or provide and did take part in and did pay wholly, or in part, expenses incurred for meat, drink, refreshments or provisions to or for electors to corruptly influence the vote of each or all."

The Cross-Petition.

In the cross-petition filed by Mr. R. A. Grant on behalf of Mr. C. N. Smith, Mr. Miscampbell is personally charged with corruptly paying money to voters, and Dr. J. O. Reaume, M.P.P. for Essex, is accused of illegally inducing French-Canadian electors to vote for Miscampbell. Mr Miscampbell, it is claimed, paid $10 to Pierre Bouillamne, in addition to $2 per day from October 7 to 27; $45 to Xavier Nadon for illegally procuring votes, $10 to Wilfrid Seguin, $50 to W. C. Allison for his time and traveling expenses from Allandale, $40 to A. E. Avery to be illegally spent, $20 to Wm. Harbottle for his vote, and $200 to W.H. C. Phillips to use corruptly. Mr. Miscampbell is also charged with illegally hiring livery rig.

Dr. Reaume is charged with bribing several electors. E. B. Ryckman of Toronto, as the representative of a Central Conservative Committee, is charged with sending $1,100 to W. J. Thompson of Sault Ste. Marie, which money was distributed corruptly among a number of electors, some of whose names are given.

There are several charges of vote-buying against alleged agents of Mr. Miscampbell.

EXHIBITION OPENED.

Black Watch Band Star Attraction on Opening Day—Lieutenant-Governor Gives An Electrical Start.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—It was all the Black Watch Band at the Exhibition yesterday. The first concert by this famous organization was the star attraction which drew more people to the grounds than ever visited them before at the official opening. No better conditions for an Exhibition could be imagined than were furnished by the cool, clear air, bright sunshine and perfect greensward. The exhibits are nearly all completely arranged, and the management is pleased with the consciousness of a happy state of affairs in Exhibition Park.

The Directors' Luncheon.

At 1 o'clock the Directors entertained a large number of prominent visitors at luncheon. The guests included the following: Lieut.-Gov. Clark, Mayor Urquhart and the members of the City Council, Sir William Mulock, Hon. John Dryden, E. F. Clarke, M.P., E. E. Kemp, M.P., E. B. Osler, M.P., Senator Melvin Jones, Senator J. K. Kerr, J. F. Ellis, President of the Board of Trade; H. H. Fudger, Major Rose and Conductor Murray of the Black Watch Band, Hon. Jas. Young, Galt; Capt. William McMaster, Noel Marshall, W. E. Wellington, R. F. Gagen, Stewart Houston, ex-Controller Oliver, Dr. Andrew Smith, Rev. Prof. Clark, Rev. W. F. Wilson, D. M. Stewart.

The Official Opening.

The formal opening proceedings took place in the Dairy Building at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. President McNaught read an address to the Lieutenant-Governor.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Clark replied in a brief speech, congratulating the Exhibition Association on its splendid record and achievements, and concluded by pressing the button which caused the Machinery Hall to rend the air, and the great Exhibition of 1904 was officially opened.

The various attractions scheduled were run off successfully, and the International Cat Show judging was completed.

Of Use Every Day.

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

A Canadian Jesuit's Work.

Rev. Jules Jette, a Canadian Jesuit, will leave soon for his mission on the Upper Yukon, on the Alaskan side of the boundary, after a year's stay in Winnipeg, where he was teacher of mathematics at St. Boniface College, says The Catholic Record. His objective point in Alaska is the farthest north mission of the Church on this continent. Father Jette is a son of Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. During his stay in Winnipeg he looked after the publication of a prayer book, catechism and hymn book in the Indian dialect of that portion of the country. This is the first complete translation into the language of the Indians of his wide parish. Translations have already been made into a dialect somewhat akin to this one by Archdeacon Macdonald, of the Church of England. The excellence of these books encouraged Father Jette in attempting translations into the more difficult language of his Indians. Father Jette's missionary district is four hundred miles in length and two hundred miles wide. Over his immense parish he is traveling almost continuously, in summer by canoe, in winter by dog train. The mission headquarters are at Nalato, on the Yukon River, and of this place the missionary is postmaster.

Kid Skin Evening Waistcoat.

Pacemakers in the fashion world may cease cudgeling their dome of thought now that the kidskin waistcoat has appeared for evening dress. Exclusive haberdashers in Manhattan whose trade includes leaders of style among the younger society coterie have been engaged recently in concrete thinking in order to evolve something brand new in the waistcoat line for midsummer wear. White suede kidskin has finally been adopted to fill this aching void.

Of course this novelty is fresh from "dear old Lunnon." The price, $25, is expected to keep it out of the reach of the common herd. Instead of conventional fastenings this luxurious production sports white china buttons, with elaborate designs in gold burned into the delf.—New York Press.

The Match Box Label Hobby.

Is any one in search of a new hobby? Let him collect match box labels. This is a mania which, in our eastern dependencies, has claimed many a victim, nor is it so inexcusable as, looking at our English match boxes, stay at home people may consider it.

The Japanese, for instance, expend much artistic ingenuity in the adornment of this homely article, and in collectors' albums may be seen many a pleasing specimen, to which, it may be predicted, the war will add. There is a charming French story by Anatole France in which a prince and princess, sated with life's pleasures, turned to this hobby to rid them of their ennui, and any one who has glanced through an album of match box labels can understand the fascination of the thing.—London Chronicle.

Prisons In Japan.

Prisons in Japan resemble large country houses with many outbuildings and do not, either in the solidity or details of their construction, wear a penitentiary aspect. The prisoners get food in proportion to their conduct and industry. Those who do not behave will get a cake of rice, which must last them seven days. For the deserving it is the ration for but four days, and they get with it also a little horse meat and potato or pea sauce. The labor is compulsory, but not severe, and the prisoner gets part of his earnings, though it amounts to little. The discipline is military, and serving a term in prison does not impose an indelible stigma. Systematic efforts are made to improve the prisoners. All the youths under nineteen years pass two hours each day in school. Even when their term of sentence is over they cannot be released till a surety is found for their subsequent good behavior. Till this is provided they must remain in prison and may do so for indefinite periods.

Stubborn Skin Diseases.

Nothing is more discouraging than a case of eczema or salt rheum which refuses to heal. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment, however, you will soon see that new skin is forming and the sore part is becoming smaller and smaller. The itching is entirely overcome after a few applications and you are given satisfactory evidence that a continuation of the treatment will bring a thorough cure.

Cobourg Battery in Town.

The Cobourg Battery which is to compete in the Field Battery competition at Montreal this week, was in town for a few hours yesterday. The men arrived in town on the 5.45 G.T.R. and took the midnight C.P.R. for Montreal. This battery has always done well in the artillery shooting and stands very high among the batteries which compete.

At The Toronto Industrial.

The process building of Toronto Exhibition, August 29th to September 10th, promises to be of exceptional interest this year. Some thirty processes of manufacture will be seen in full operation, such as carpet-weaving, silk spinning, cheese cloth making, nail making, boot and shoe making, from the raw material to the finished article in fifteen minutes; spinning wire mattresses, diamond cutting, lithographing and printing in colours, etc. All the tickets used at the Exhibition, over a million in number and of 36 different sorts, will be printed and cut in full view of the visitors.

FOOT BADLY CRUSHED BY A CAR WHEEL.

Richard Henderson Painfully Injured Yesterday Afternoon.

Richard Henderson, a young man living on Brock street, was the victim of a very painful accident yesterday afternoon. He is employed at Mann's planing factory and while returning from work about 5 o'clock yesterday, he attempted to board the Lakefield train at the crossing on Dublin street. He missed his footing and his right foot came in contact with one of the car wheels with very painful results. The foot was badly crushed, several bones being broken. The wheel did not pass over the foot fortunately. The Dun Spence Ambulance was summoned and the injured man was conveyed to the Nicholls Hospital, where Dr. Eastwood attended his injury, which was exceedingly painful.

By enquiry to-day it was learned that there is hope of saving the foot, though it will be a long time before it is well.

REGULAR STREET CAR SERVICE TO-MORROW.

A Car Will Run Regularly on George Street for the First Time

The trials which have been made for the past three days by the street railway company have proved to be most satisfactory and to-morrow morning starting at six o'clock a regular service will be begun on a moderate scale. One car will run on George street from Auburn to the G.T.R. crossing at Lock street. Just as soon as it is possible, additional cars will be put on and the line will be extended up Charlotte street and to the C.G.E. Works. There are two of the old cars which will be ready in a few days, just as soon as the motors are completed and it is expected that one week from to-day two of the new cars will be in operation, so by that time there will be a first class service in town.

THE TWO ITALIANS WERE BURIED TUESDAY.

Victims of the Railroad Accident Interred in Town.

The funeral of Dominico Borone and Donato Sarsi, the two Italians who met death at Locust Hill on Monday in the railway collision, took place Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Messrs. M. McFadden and Lane & Enno.

The remains of the two men were taken to St. Peter's Cathedral, where a short funeral service was held by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Rev. Father Galvin, after which the cortege proceeded to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by Rev. Father Galvin. The funeral was attended by the Italian colony of Peterborough, and all seemed to feel very deeply grieved over the sad fate of their countrymen.

SMALL BOY BANDIT SENT TO THE SHELTER.

Juvenile Burglar Before the Magistrate Tuesday.

Little Joe Shearer, the youthful burglar, who depradations were recorded in yesterday's issue, came up for trial Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock before Magistrate Dumble. The youngster could scarcely be seen as he stood in the box, and seems to have started out early in his thieving propensities.

He had spent about $3.00 of the $27.00 stolen, and had purchased among other things, a brace of toy pistols, an air gun and a bag of ammunition.

The Magistrate decided to place the boy in the Shelter for one week in order to ascertain what effect it would have on his future actions.

A WARNING.

Danger of Accident in Getting on and off the Street Cars.

The public is warned about the danger in getting on and off street cars. The safe plan is to wait until the car is perfectly still, especially in reference to the ladies. Only yesterday a lady got off the car while it was in motion, and instead of facing the front of the car as should be done when getting off, she did otherwise and was thrown on her back. Serious accidents may be averted by a little forethought and the public should bear in mind the fact that care should always be exercised both in getting on and off the cars.

Trouble About a Horse.

Before County Police Magistrate Edmison yesterday a case in which several Chemong Indians were concerned was settled. A horse belonging to one of the Indians broke into a field of oats doing considerable damage. The animal was impounded by the owner of the field of oats and the poundkeeper, Mr. Dan Wheeting, refused to release him until he had paid the customary fees and expenses. This the animal's owner refused to do, and the horse was sold to another Indian for about $57. Then the owner secured legal advice, and yesterday morning several of the band called on the magistrate to have the matter straightened out. The owner of the oats secured damages, and the pound-keeper got his fees, the Indian was restored to the possession of his horse, after paying five dollars to the Indian who had purchased it, and who, of course, was not out on the transaction.

PROUD ACHIEVEMENT OF PETERBOROUGH BOY.

Albert Nelson's Record at the Collegiate Has Probably Never Been Equalled Anywhere.

The results of the mid-summer High School examinations, conducted by the Ontario Education Department, have been received by the Principals of the various schools and published in local newspapers. Peterborough is to be congratulated on the relatively very high percentage of successful candidates writing here. In this, our Institute is only sustaining the reputation it has enjoyed for years for effective and substantial work. But this year it boast of the distinction of preparing a candidate whose record has probably never been equalled in the province. Albert Nelson, son of Wm. Nelson, 3rd concession Otonabee, came to the Institute in January of the present year. He had already obtained elsewhere a Junior Leaving certificate and had taught a short time in a rural school. He desired a Senior Leaving certificate. The Senior Leaving examination consists of two parts and is regularly taken in two successive years subsequent to the obtaining of a Junior Leaving certificate. Both parts may, however, be taken the same year. But a student is to be congratulated who succeeds in passing both parts in two years after getting a Junior certificate. He must be a student fully up to the average in ability and application to accomplish it. Albert Nelson asked permission to take up the work of both parts together. This meant catching hold of studies already four months advanced, for the Christmas term had run its course. It further meant taking up new subjects of which he had little or no knowledge. But he had come to school to work and he had full confidence in himself. Principal Fessenden, with considerable misgiving, consented to his undertaking to do in six months what his long experience had taught him could be done only by good students in two years. Nelson attended every school day, gave closest attention to his class-work, applied himself diligently to preparatory study, took judicious exercise and succeeded in gradually raising in the minds of his teachers th hope of his being able to accomplish his purpose. This hope has been abundantly realized, and Nelson has earned the proud distinction of performing two year's scholastic work in six months. He purposes attending Trinity University this fall, and no doubt he will there win the honours his exceptional ability and steady application entitle him to. His teachers and fellow-students will follow his University career with keen interest and will hope that his health will permit him to finish what he has so brilliantly begun.

EXPRESS CHANGE.

We beg to advise our customers that we have received instructions from our Head Offices, that starting September 1st, it will be absolutely imperative for us to collect the charges on all parcels when delivered, otherwise the parcels will have to be returned by the drivers.

TO COLLECT CHARGES ON PARCELS DELIVERED.

Important Instructions Received by Local Express Offices.

After the first of September an important change will take place regarding the delivery of parcels from the local express offices, as after that date it becomes absolutely imperative for the local agents to collect the charges on all parcels when delivered, otherwise the parcels will have to be returned by the drivers.

These important instructions have been received from the head offices of both the Canadian and Dominion Express Companies and have been issued because of the fact that the books of the local agencies show unpaid express charges amounting to a considerable sum. This state of affairs is not allowed to exist in other centres and Peterborough is the only place where the express companies have allowed this custom to prevail, and they are bringing about the important change referred to in order that all parcels will be settled for our delivery.

A BULL ENCOUNTERS A C. P. R. LOCOMOTIVE.

Two Cars Wrecked and Bovine Ground Into Mince Meat.

The Lindsay and Pontypool Railway in securing their right of way have had considerable opposition in some quarters. The neighbourhood of Dunsford, however, has put up possibly the greatest opposition. Early last week a gang of section men were approaching the disputed territory, when they were attacked by the occupant and to save their lives were compelled to abandon a handcar and take to the woods.

Perhaps it might be well here to state that the party to the dispute in this case was a fine big black bull, which had broken from its owners fields and was ready to tackle anything in sight. On Friday of last week, a freight train was making its way towards Bobcaygeon and when near Dunsford, was met by the bull, who with more than his usual vehemance disputed the train's right of way. When the engine gave forth a succession of short, sharp whistles, his bullship accepted it as a challenge and with his tail erect and a roar that almost outrivaled that of the engine, he made for it but his surprise on running up against the real thing will never be known, as when the two monsters met there was a crash, and when the dust became sufficiently settled it was found that two cars had been derailed and badly wrecked, and the bull was entirely put out of business insomuch that there was not left sufficient of his former noble self to make a decent burial. He certainly demonstrated to all bulldom that there is no falacy in the real thing. The most remarkable incident about the whole affair is that there cannot be found anyone to claim the remains of the once noble animal.

After making a quick lockage, the boat sailed up the canal as far as the golf links, where they turned, and came back to the Wolfe street wharf. About two hours were spent in town, when the return trip was made, the boat reaching home about eight o'clock.

HORSE KILLED— YOUNG MAN INJURED.

Accident Near Norwood on the C. P. R. on Monday Last.

On account of the Local being late on Monday an accident occurred at the Belmont Road crossing at Norwood. It seems a freight came into the yards and was to have crossed the local due at 8.04, but it being one hour late the freight was despatched to cross at Indian River. The train was shunting backward out of the yard when it collided with a horse and buggy driven by two young men of Havelock, killing the horse instantly and demolishing the buggy and bruising Mr. Taylor on the shoulder, while Mr. Johnson, the other occupant, escaped without injury.

The accident was caused through careless driving. The horse was the property of Mr. Richards, liveryman, Havelock, and was valued at $150.

352 YOUNG JOHN BULLS

HOMELESS LADS WHO ARE FINDING HOMES IN CANADA.

When a Shipload of the Youngsters Arrives the Barnardo Institution on Farley Avenue, Toronto, Is a Busy Place—How the Boys Are Sent Out to Their Farm Homes—A Typical Scene.

Three hundred and fifty-three Tom Browns, from 6 up to 16 years of age, landed in Toronto on the 2nd August at the Barnardo Boys' Home on Farley avenue. Forty-eight of these were shipped straight out to Russell, Man. One hundred and fourteen started the next morning at 6 o'clock for Ontario farms. By the third day not a boy was left. The office on the morning after the arrival of the party was besieged with applicants. Over fifty applications were received in one day before the superintendent, Mr. Owen, went to England for the party.

Ready to Go.

That morning the rear precinct of the Home was all a-jostle with the little Johnny Bulls waiting their turn to pull out for "home." Those seen by an interested visitor were the "little 'uns" of about ten years—perhaps 150 in all. On the sides of the courtyard were piles of "boxes" each ticketed with a boy's name. Every youngster wore a pair of navy blue "knickerbockers," a guernsey of the same hue, and a pair of thick-soled English boots. Some played "horse" in the usual way. These boys will learn more about horses in the unusual way in a few weeks. A dozen hung round the porch holding their "brices"; each with a handful of buttons which the Home seamstress was busy sewing on with No. 36 thread double.

"How many buttons have you busted?" was asked of one brown-eyed Johnnie, with the tan of the sea breezes on his ruddy face.

"Six suh," was the reply.

Probably 2,000 buttons were sewed on by the time the contingent was all under way to the farmhouses of Ontario. Ten boys were busy blackening their boots. The English lad is a firm believer in shoe polish. He has to be. Five were tying knots in laces. Some were rigging up laces out of strings. A few were taking a bath. Some read books. All were waiting more or less, anxiously for their names to be called.

Box and Cobb.

"Box!" shouted Mr. Owen at the door. "Where's Box?"

A tow-headed urchin wriggled his way through the crowd.

"Here, suh!" he said, touching his forehead.

"Where's your box, Box?"

Box began to look for his "box" in the pile. In two minutes he was into his blue coat and blue cap, and shaking hands with the superintendent.

"Cobb!" was the next call. He was hustled off in like manner, having got his sixth button firmly anchored. He had no time to shake hands with his chums. All those little ceremonies are forgotten in this country. Just about apple-picking time Cobb will be wondering what post-office Box belongs to.

"Don't Know, Suh."

"Where were you born?" was asked of a dark-eyed "little 'un," waiting his turn for buttons.

"Don't know, suh," was the reply.

"Ever see your father?"

"No sah."

"Your mother?"

"Yes sah."

"Did you ever see a plow?"

"Yes sah."

"Anything like this?" asked the questioner drawing a rought picture of a harrow. But the boy said not. For in the "Ome" they are taught these things from books. Also they get an occasionally country outing, and some of the young ones have already been "boarded out" at English country villages.

How They Do Eat.

The dining hall in the basement was just set out for dinner. Each boy had a huge tin platter with a slice of corned beef and an inch-thick hunk of bread the full width of a loaf; also a tin mug of water.

"Is this counted a square meal?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, my, no!" laughed Mr. Owen. "Half of these youngsters eat three slices each like that. They are not delicate. The sea voyage sharpens an already vigorous appetite."

"Much illness among them?"

"Very little. Our boys have surprisingly good health."

"Most of them will be farmers of course?"

"Nearly all. We get hundreds of applications from factories but we prefer to send the boys to the farm. All these little ones will be boarded out and schooled at our expense until old enough to earn their keep. We bind them over for a term of years, first having satisfied ourselves that the employer is a fit person. We are legally responsible for them until they are 18. Sometimes we direct and advise them till past twenty.

"Most of these boys are English, 'Yes, from every shire in England. We have also Irish and Scotch."

"What percentage are from London?"

"About 40 per cent."

"No foreigners, then?"

"Very few. We have one negro. Darky? No! Where's the darky?"

And the darky came, a husky, good-looking lad wreathed in smiles.

"An Imperial Asset.

"How many of these children have you placed in this country all told?"

"About 15,000. And there is less drunkenness and crime among that 15,000 than among almost any other equal number of Canadians."

"But how about the slum element?"

"The Home comes between them and the slum. We get them from a week old upwards."

"What proportion of these are real orphans?"

"About 50 per cent. Forty-five per cent. have mothers, but no fathers. Five per cent. have fathers, but no mothers. It is generally the case of a laboring man cut off leaving a widow with a family. We take care of the indigent family."

Mr. Owen claims that the Home boys are quick to learn, are economical and industrious, and an Imperial asset. He changed $22 sterling of savings into Canadian money for the entire party of 486 at Montreal. This represents about 25c. capital each. Each boy has besides an endowment of two suits of clothes, two of underwear, three shirts, four pairs of socks, two pairs of boots, and an overcoat.

"And they learn the Canadian currency in almost no time," added Mr. Owen.

A QUICK-WITTED INDIAN.

One of the Late Clement Scott's Stories of Western Indians.

The late Clement Scott, the English dramatic critic, took a profound interest in the Canadian Indian. He had at his tongue's tip a hundred incidents wherewith to illustrate odd phases of the Indian's character.

"As a rule," he once said, "we regard the Indian as a straightforward, frank, blunt fellow. We don't associate with him any idea of wiles, or craft, or subtle humor. As a matter of fact, though, the Indian is very often full of mean tricks and jokes.

"There was a farmer in the West, one summer, who was hard put to it for help upon his farm. Indians were plentiful in the neighborhood, but they were poor workmen. Always tired, they would put down the hoe or the rake as soon as the master's back was turned, and, selecting a cool spot, they would lie down on the grass and sleep the day away.

"But one morning a very tall, robust Indian asked the farmer to give him work.

"'No,' said the white man, 'You will get tired. You Indians are always getting tired.'

"'Oh, no,' said the other. 'This Injun never get tired. This Injun not like the rest.'

"'Well, I'll try you,' said the farmer, and he enaged the man. He put him to work in a wheat field; then he went away for an hour or two. When he returned he found the Indian asleep under a tree.

"'Here, wake up here!' he cried. 'You told me you never got tired.'

"'Ugh!' said the other, yawning, 'this Injun don't. But, if he not lie down often, he would get tired, just the same as the rest!'"

Mr. Stirton's Good Service.

By the retirement of Mr. Stirton one of the oldest and most popular civil servants in Guelph, and perhaps in all the Province, passes out of the people's service. For several years past Mr. Stirton has been in life's descant, and for some time he has practically been an invalid. The waning of his hours of usefulness and activity has been a cause of much regret to the citizens of Guelph, in whose interests almost his entire life has been spent.

Mr. Stirton is the son of the late James and Janet Stirton, and was born in Forfarshire, Scotland, June 13, 1816, consequently is in his eighty-ninth year. His parents were both natives of that country, and in 1827 emigrated to Upper Canada, and settled on a bush farm five miles from where the city of Guelph now stands. At that time there was not an acre of the present site of Guelph cleared, nor a finished house nor a road formed. It was simply a dense forest of hardwood timber.

Mr. Stirton took up one hundred acres of land in the Township of Guelph, opened a farm, and there lived for some time. When he settled there were no Public Schools established, and, in fact, no schools of any kind. He had gained some knowledge of the elementary branches before leaving the Old Country, and here finished by educating himself, acquiring a good knowledge of the several English branches most useful to a business man. He farmed in Guelph and Puslinch for forty-five years, including his boyhood labors, in chopping, logging, and preparing the soil for the reception of seed.

Mr. Stirton was connected officially with educational and municipal institutions as soon as they were organized in his township. He was reeve of Puslinch for a long period, a magistrate for about thirty years, and represented South Wellington for nineteen consecutive years, under the old union of Upper and Lower Canada, from 1857 to 1867, and under the union of all the Provinces from 1867 to 1876. In May of 1876 he was appointed postmaster, to the duties of which office he addressed himself with all the industry of his early years. Ten years ago, owing to failing health, the duties largely fell to his deputy and successor, Mr. Archibald Little.

Mr. Stirton saw Guelph start in the dense woods over fifty years ago, and has lived to aid in adjusting its city robes. He was always active in the city's welfare, and in his retirement from public life through increasing infirmity he leaves a record that will ever reflect high credit upon him.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

Canadian on the King.

Sir Gilbert Parker asks what are the qualities which make King Edward successful as a diplomatist. He asks this in the July number of the Smart Set—an "Imperial number," by the way—and there also he answers it, as follows:

He has been called shrewed, but I prefer to think of him as a man of temperament and imagination, with an instinct as keen as that of a dramatist, or painter, and with the impulses of the instinct rationalized by wide and high experience, and by the best of knowledge—that directly gained soto voce from the ablest men of the world.

The King's faculty for saying and doing the right thing—that, adds Sir Gilbert, is the equipment of the man of temperament.

The Story of the Garter.

Considerate brides of to-day who wear as many pairs of garters as they have bridesmaids, in order to bring luck to the young women, are unconsciously doing homage to the beautiful Joan, Countess of Salisbury, who while dancing with His Majesty King Edward III. of England, in the thirteen hundreds, was overwhelmed with confusion as her garter slipped from its position and fell to the floor. Instantly the gracious monarch stooped and with a deep obeisance handed the circlet to its blushing owner, to the immense amusement of surrounding courtiers. The King, distressed at the embarrassment of the fair lady, turned to the smiling nobles with the rebuke: "Honi soit qui mal y pense," "evil to him who evil thinks," and then and there declared that he would make the garter the symbol of high honor and good fortune. To carry out this promise he instituted the Order of the Garter, an order of such high merit that it has been the dream of noble knights down the ages to wear a little below the knee of the left leg its insignia; a narrow band of blue velvet edged with gold. The motto is inscribed on the velvet in letters of gold, of which metal are also the buckle and pendant of exquisite workmanship. The awarding of this garter is the most coveted honor that the Kings of England have the power to bestow.

Ex-Premier in the Guard's Van.

The train was going to Leatherhead. Workmen and workwomen had filled up every compartment, so he jumped into the guard's van among the bicycles and boxes, and stood with an excellent cigar watching the guard and was interested. At Wimbledon he very accommodatingly got out while the luggage was put on to the platform, and then got in again. He looked very much like most men on a Saturday afternoon, with his straw hat and serge suit. Only a massive watch-guard in gold showed he had some of this world's goods somewhere. And the train steamed on to Epsom with—the Earl of Rosebery in the guard's van.

How the Water Sprinkler.

Paris seems to have got ahead of us in the matter of motor watering carts. This municipal automobile carries 1,100 gallons. The maximum speed is nine and a half miles an hour. The sprinkler can be filled in six minutes and covers a space twenty-five feet wide with its spray. The motor is worked by steam at thirty-five horsepower, and a connection between the wheels and the water jets regulates automatically the output of the latter, according to the pace of the cart, and closes them altogether at a stoppage of the vehicle. Obviously the motor watering cart is the coming street sprinkler.—Boston Herald.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Even when a man is looking for trouble he finds it in most unexpected places.

It is really scandalous the way some women allow their children to talk back to the women's husbands.

Many a lad who thinks he is the whole cheese is simply a chip off the old block.

A woman never boasts that her husband fell in love with her at first sight until she has him thoroughly trained.

When the heirs of a miser go in mourning it is usually a matter of form.

As a general thing free advice is worth all that you pay for it.

The difference between a boy baby and a girl baby is about a ton of pure deviltry.

It is a mighty obstinate man who will refuse to go in the direction a cyclone is going when he gets caught in one.

A girl who can't cook is about as useful as a clock that won't run.

Bruises cover a multitude of shins along about cherry picking time.

Naturally the political party that promises a man a postoffice is the one that is going to do the best by the country.

Living on Easy street is not so easy as it looks to one who has never tried.

When a woman gets a new phonograph there is no danger that the neighbors will not find it out.

Enough.

Bedella, I'd like to squelch you;
Bedella, you're quite insane.
To hear you night and morning
Would give a man a pain.
Oh, say goodby, Bedella;
We've had enough of you.
Oh, Bedella, Delia, Della,
Won't you please let some one steal you,
Steal you, steal you, Bedella, do.

Her Business Head.

"My precious bunch of sugar stock," said P. Jeerpont Sorbum, the hustling young broker, bending over the fair face of Margaretta Muldoon, a beautiful young lady of twenty-one summers, not counting Indian summers nor open winters, "we should capitalize our wealth of affection. It is the age of the trust, and I trust you in everything. Do you consent to the merger?"

Margaretta's eyes grew large. "It looks like 100 cents on the dollar on the face of it," she said, "but I would only consent on one condition."

"What is it, my own honey trust?" he inquired eagerly. "I know I shall be delighted to comply with the condition, but name it."

"It is," she said gravely, "that you do not try to water any of the stock with beer," for she knew his one weakness.

ECZEMA ON LEG FOR TEN YEARS.

Would Scratch Till the Blood Flowed—Entirely Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states:—"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

My little girl two years old, has also been cured of Eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to be."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

CHASED THE LIONS.

An Experience of Alex. MacWillie in Africa —Canadians and the Trade With South Africa.

Mr. Alexander MacWillis has returned to Toronto after a business trip around the world, which occupied two years and a half, and included Hawaii, the Philippines, Samoa, Japan, China, Siberia, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa. Mr. MacWillis had some extremely interesting experiences, for he covered territory not often visited by tourists. He penetrated so far into the interior of China that, for safety's sake, it became necessary to wear the native costume, including a pigtail.

In Africa Mr. MacWillis visited the famous Victoria Falls, traveling 90 miles through the forest in an ox cart. On the return trip he had an experience with a lion. A kraal was reached about 1 o'clock in the morning, but the Cape boys refused to come out until threatened with the sjambok. It was learned that two nights before lions had taken cows from the kraal and the boys were afraid to venture out in consequence. The party lit a circle of fires and prepared to keep watch in turns. "I had the first watch," says Mr. MacWillis, "and was feeling drowsy when I heard the fierce growl of a lion within twenty yards of me. I freely confess I was so terrified that I could not call out. When I recovered myself I threw a stick at a missionary in the party who was sleeping close by me, and, together, we watched and listened. Again we heard the growls, and, picking up burning brands, we threw them in the direction from which the sounds proceeded and we were not bothered further. Later, while traveling down the Wankie, the superintendent of the Cape Government railway stopped the train in the middle of a forest at midnight in order to show me the place where a boy had the previous night been killed by a lion. The trail of the beast was plainly marked by the blood of the victim."

Mr. MacWillis says that Canadian business men do not half appreciate the great possibilities for trade that exist in South Africa, which is especially to be regretted in view of the fact that since the war Canadians have an extraordinarily good reputation at the Cape.

Mr. MacWillis spent some time at Port Arthur and saw a good deal of the great fortifications, but owing to his business relations with the Russian Government he did not care to say anything about them. He soon starts out again for South Africa and will cover very much the same ground as in his former tour, except that, in addition, he will visit India and Egypt.

Sketch of Sir William MacGregor.

Sir William MacGregor, whose appointment to succeed Sir Cavendish Boyle as Governor of Newfoundland has just been approved by the King, was born in Scotland in 1847, and graduated M.D. at Aberdeen. After serving as medical officer at Leychelles, Mauritius and Fiji, he was acting High Commissioner for the Western Pacific; Administrator of British New Guinea, 1888; Lieutenant-Governor, 1895; Governor of Lagos since 1899. He has the Albert medal, second-class, and the Clarke gold medal for saving life at sea. In this connection The London Chronicle says: Dr. MacGregor—as he was then—played a great part in the rescue of a shipful of Indian coolies in the Syria, which struck on a rock about twelve hours steaming from Suva, the capital of Fiji. Dr. MacGregor, then Acting Colonial Secretary, organized the relief expedition, clambered over a broken mast that was the only path to the emigrants, who had been more than two days on the split steamer, and again and again returned with a man or a woman on his back, and sometimes a child, held by its clothes between his teeth. A man of vast physical strength, MacGregor wanted it all for his final feat. Down below on the reef was a woman who had fallen overboard, had got at the spirits, and was mad with drink. The captain of the ship and a police officer who had gone after her were being swept out to sea. MacGregor slid down a rope, caught the knot of the woman's hair in his teeth, and with his hands seized the two men and dragged them both into safety. He went back to Suva in a borrowed suit of pyjamas, having left all his clothes and a good deal of his skin on the coral reef. Then he wrote his report of the disaster and the rescue. Several of his assistants gained Royal Humane Society medals and deserved them. But there was no hint in the report that MacGregor himself had been on the scene at all. It was not until the Governor disclosed the real state of the case that Queen Victoria bestowed upon him the Albert medal, and the Clarke gold medal was presented by Australia. Some time afterwards, speaking of that last exploit, MacGregor said simply that "he never till that moment, understood the value of his great strength."

Where Cherries Thrive.

In selecting a site for planting cherries the first consideration is that it must be well drained. Cherries will thrive on almost any well drained soil, but they show a preference for a rather light gravelly or sandy loam.

Rail Road Men

In all departments of active service stand in need of the readiness of mind and promptness of action which depend on a healthy nervous system. Let a railroad man be "rattled," and every life depending on him is in danger. A great many railroad men have found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a valuable tonic for the overstrained nervous system. It builds up the body, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and induces a healthy appetite and refreshing sleep.

"I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case," writes Mr. O. Popplewell, of Burch's Springs, Carroll Co., Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me; could not retain food on my stomach; had vertigo and would fall helpless to the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Little 'Pellets,' and improved from the start. After taking twelve bottles of the 'Discovery' I was able to do light work, and have been improving ever since."

VEGETARIANS IN THE SWIM.

How They Came Out Ahead in the Recent Toronto Matches.

In a long distance swimming race the other day across Toronto bay from the Yonge street wharf to the swimming club, on the Island lagoon, there was fought a battle between vegetarians and meat eaters. The course was about two miles in length, and Mr. H. F. Strickland, of Toronto, a vegutarian, made the journey in the record time of fifty minutes. Mr. George H. Corson, another vegetarian, made the course in fifty-two minutes. Two Englishmen had come over to swim in the race—sturdy beef-eaters from the land of roast beef—but they found the pace too fast and dropped out midway on the course. It was a handicap contest, but in actual time vegetarianism scored a decisive victory.

The race was not announced as a contest between vegetarians and meat-eaters, but Messrs. Strickland and Corson resolved to give it that turn. They entered. Like others they trained. On the day of the race their sole diet was pea butter. All last week they reduced their ordinary vegetarian diet to simples, such as pea butter, peanuts, and raw fruit. Before setting out in the race they informed the astonished Englishmen, who were supposed to be the best men in the contest, that they were vegetarians, had eaten no meat for years, and intended to prove the superiority of their diet.

They did it. As they glided through the waves they were borne up by the consciousness that they were vindicating vegetarianism. To others it was a race for glory; to Messrs. Strickland and Corson it was an opportunity of showing a meat-fed world the error of its ways. They were men with a mission. A great cause relied on them, and inspired, fired by the knowledge, they slipped through the water with ease and made their meat-laden competitors look like stationary objects. A long swim is one of the severest physical tests to which a man can be put, and in order to settle conclusively the respective merits of pea butter and beef steak another race, specially arranged for the purpose, should be brought about, two men a side, over a two-mile course. It would draw a large crowd of butchers and market-gardeners to cheer their respective champions, says The Star.

The Farmer As He Really Is.

To a class of dwellers in the city the word farmer suggests a rather unkempt looking man dressed in ill-fitting clothes, rather the worse for wear, and staring about open-mouthed, in a very comical fashion. This is the idea we see represented on the comic stage, and in the clown at the circus, and at which we are accustomed to laugh with a very self-satisfied idea of our own superiority. The idea is a very exaggerated one, as any can see by a visit to the market on a day when a fair representation of farmers is present.

As an instance take a farmer seen driving up one of the principal business streets of the city the other evening. He had apparently just disposed of a load of hay, as he was driving an empty hay rick. He was a man about thirty, well dressed in a blue serge suit, had on clean linen, wore a stiff felt hat, and in fact, had the appearance of a fairly prosperous city merchant, and would not have been taken for a man from rural parts had he not been riding in a hay wagon. To complete the picture of prosperity he wore a very fine pair of gold-rimmed eye-glasses, and was smoking what we have every reason to believe was a good cigar. This is a picture of the farmer as he really is.—Toronto Star.

Lady Minto's View.

A New York paper has the following: The Countess of Minto arrived on the steamer Lucania from Liverpool recently. Another passenger was the Right Rev. Cyprian Pinkham. During the voyage the Rev. Pinkham had been induced to relieve the monotony with an address. He spoke of the ultimate success which awaited the man who kept his eye on the future, the victory of the man or woman who did not revel in things done or regret pleasures left behind. In support of his statement he held up Lot's wife as an example of the futility and dire disaster which follow a desire to return to a wicked past.

Later in the day the Countess came to the rescue of Lot's unfortunate wife, and asked the reverend if Lot himself ought not to have been punished also, "for of necessity he, too, must have turned around, or how could he have learned the awful fate of his wife?"

"The man in this case was justified in turning around," said the clergyman, to the astonished Countess; "for is not a man compelled by law to look after his wife?"

Capercailzie Are Acclimatized.

The Crown Lands Department has been informed by the rangers in Algonquin Park that the capercailzie from Norway, which were placed in the reserve last year, have weathered the severe winter and are becoming acclimatized. One nest containing seven young birds was found by the rangers. The capercailzie is a game bird about the size of a wild turkey. It is found in large numbers in Norway and Sweden, and also in parts of Scotland, where it is regarded as a table delicacy.

The Gallery Gods' Applause.

Lawrence Barrett once told of a conversation he had with Edwin Booth. The latter had been congratulated upon an ovation given him by a crowded house on the opening night of an engagement. "The sweetest music to my ears," said the great tragedian, "is the shouting of the boys in the gallery. I know they are not applauding because I have a reputation or because they wish to make a display. They simply give vent to their natural enthusiasm. When they shout I know that I am giving a good performance. As for the parquet, it may clap its hands out of politeness. A dramatic critic who had certain notions as to how a line should be read will applaud if I read it his way; otherwise he will remain quiet. I can never analyze the applause of the front rows, but the gallery is sincere in its likes or dislikes."

Horseflesh and Beef.

"Here are some means of distinguishing between horseflesh and beef," said a meat inspector.

"Raw horseflesh is a brownish red in color, whereas in raw beef there is no brown. Raw horseflesh is soft and tenacious. Touch it, and the finger sinks in, while as you withdraw the finger the tissues rise with it and cling to it, as though intermixed with glue. But raw beef is not soft nor tenacious in this way. Raw horseflesh, furthermore, has an odd, metallic smell.

"Cooked horseflesh is denser than beef. It is as dense as a lump of cheese. In taste it is sweet—a sweetness sickening, to my mind.

"The best test for horseflesh is to take a piece of the fat and melt it. Horse fat will melt to a clear oil at so low a temperature as 70 degrees F., but beef fat won't melt to a clear oil under a temperature of 112 degrees."

RUGBY CLUB EXECUTIVE MET LAST EVENING.

Discussed Seasons Prospects—Plenty of Available Material.

A meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Football Club was held in the Oriental Hotel last night. There were present, Mr. E. S. Clarry, president; Mr. C. S. Graham, secretary-treasurer and Messrs. E. Dilion, A. Noble and W. Crowley, and R. A. Morrow, honourary president. An informal discussion took place as to the prospects for the coming season. It was learned that a number of new players have located in town during the past twelve months, and that many of the players who are identified with the City Association Football League are desirous of trying their luck on the rugby field this fall. It was reported also that there appeared to be in all parts of the town and amongst the old players, younger players and the public generally, a revival of interest in the game.

In view of the fact that the street cars are again in operation, it had previously been hinted that there was a probability that the games might be played on the Driving Park this year. The presidents announced that he had communicated with the secretary of the Turf Club, which controlled the grounds and received satisfactory assurances regarding the use of the property. It is proposed to have electric lights placed on the field and nightly practices.

The question of what series to enter a team in was freely discussed, but it was decided to wait until the annual meeting of the club before taking decided action on this point, as by that time a better idea will be had as to the make-up o' the team as well as a knowledge of the teams that will be entered in the various series of the O. R. F. U.

It was decided to call the annual meeting of the club for Wednesday evening, September 7th. The meeting will be held at the Oriental Hotel and all rugbyites and rugby enthusiasts are invited to attend.

It is the intention of the management to get the team in condition at once and altogether indications point to one of the most successful of the many successful seasons in the history of the Peterborough Club.

• • •

If general interest and early enthusiasm counts for anything, rugby in Peterborough is going to boom more than ever before this season. Already some of the players have been practising while others are anxious to jump into the game and are talking of the prospects. There is a strong feeling amongst the younger element to enter a team in the junior series. There is no age limit and it is thought that a sufficiently strong team could be picked from last year's City League to make a good showing, independent of the older players. Then there are those who think the boys should try their hand at senior rugby and it certainly looks that if two or three good defence men can be dug up, that a team could be put on the gridiron which would hustle any senior aggregation. Others are of the opinion that the intermediate series is good enough and that the boys should remain in this series and win back the championship, which was lost last year. Ten of the twelve of last year's team are still in town and these, with a score of young players and many new men, among whom are said to be some stars, should constitute a pretty likely looking bunch for any team to tackle.

RUGBY.

The Argonauts have decided to rejoin the Ontario Rugby Union and enter teams in the senior, intermediate and junior series.

• • • •

The Hamilton Tigers have organized and will enter teams in the senior and junior O. R. F. U. series.

• • • •

Toronto will have four senior rugby teams this season,—Argonauts, Torontos and Victorias in the O. R. F. U. and Varsity in the Intercollegiate Union.

• • • •

Sarnia was the first club in the O. R. F. U. to register its colours.

SPRINTING

A. J. Burns, who runs against Payne here on Sept. 17, left to-day for Rochester. He will take part in a five mile race there next week and will be back in a couple of weeks. He will undergo training there and should be in good shape for the matched race with Payne when he returns.

LACROSSE.

It looks as though the Brantford team should have waited a couple of months before going to Montreal after the Mon's Cup. Last year's C. L. A. champions did not strike their gait until a couple of weeks ago and the team would give the Shamrocks a much harder run at present than they did early in July.

• • • •

The two Tecumsehs players who assaulted Referee Chitty came in for a great roasting at the hands of the Toronto press and in fact by the press generally throughout the province. A little exhibition of bad temper is often very disastrous.

THE TRIGGER.

The second day's shooting on the D. R. A. matches at Ottawa brought some good scores. Early in the day the weather was perfect, but in the afternoon a tricky wind was blowing affecting the scores considerable. The local shots showed up fairly well. In the McDougal Match, Moore scored 60 for a $4 prize and Bartlett did likewise. In the Dominion match, Moore scored 45 points for $10 prize. Bartlett scored 43 for $6; Fitzgerald scored 42 for $5 and Curtis 41 for $5.

BASEBALL.

Saturday's game with Port Hope promises to provide one of the most interesting contests of the season. It is two years since a baseball team from Port Hope visited Peterborough and a great deal of interest is being taken in the match. The teams appear to be pretty evenly matched, but the locals are confident of reversing their form of late and landing a victory. Be sure to see Saturday's game.

The baseball team have lost a good man in Clarke Earl, who has gone to Ottawa. Earls has played with the locals for years, being used often in the box, while he has figured in different positions on the field. He was always a popular player with the fans.

TURF.

The card of races announced for the Central Canada Fair at Ottawa, Sept. 16th to 24th is a good one and doubtless will attract a large number of horses from this section of the country. There will be a trotting and a running event every day, commencing Sept. 23rd, and the purses are most liberal. The events are—

Monday—2.25 pace and 2.23 trot, purse $600. Running one mile dash, purse $175.

Tuesday—2.18 pace and 2.16 trot, purse $600. Running half mile heats, purse $15.

Wednesday—2.30 pace and 2.26 trot purse $600. Running dash 1 1-8 mile, purse $200.

Thursday — Free-for-all trot and pace, purse $400. Carleton hurdle race, 1 1-4 miles, purse $200.

Friday — 2.24 pace and 2.22 trot, purse $500. Running 5-8 mile heats, purse $175.

The management of the fair races will be in the hands of the Central Canada Racing Association, which has made a great name for itself by its successful meets on the ice at Ottawa. Every horseman can feel assured of receiving fair play and generous treatment.

The entries for the races close on Sept. 6th. Horsemen entering to participate should send in their entries at once and endeavour to make the racing portions of the fair the most successful ever held. Certainly the encouragement given horsemen by the fair directorate merits hearty appreciation on the part of the owners of flyers.

GRANDFATHER AT 31 GRANDMOTHER AT 24.

Notable Achievement of an Englishman and an Englishwoman.

Married at fifteen, a father at sixteen, and a grandfather at thirty-one years three hundred and fifty-six days—that is the proud record of William Higgins, proprietor of the White Swan Hotel, Stepney, England.

"It happened this way," he said in telling the story. "I fell in love with a girl of nineteen when I was fifteen. Of course, our parents would would not let us marry, so I ran away with her.

"Well, when I was sixteen our first little one arrived—a bonny girl, just the picture of her mother.

When she was fifteen a fine young fellow came into my public house, and said :—

"Good morning, Mr. Higgins, I want to marry your eldest daughter."

"Do you!" was the reply. "Just get out of my house as quickly as you can. She is much too young even to think of courting, let alone of getting married."

"He went out with a smile, and I thought nothing more about the incident until next day, when one of the neighbours came in and said casually :—

"Have you heard the news?"

"No, said I, What is it?"

"Why your big lass was married this morning."

"I need hardly say my language was more expressive than polite, but on reflection I came to the conclusion the youngsters had only done what I did.

"I am glad to say that the marriage turned out successfully, and the oldest child is now twelve, I suppose in a year or two she will be thinking of marriage. Fifteen seems to run in our family as a suitable age for matrimony.

"My mother married when she was very young, and was the mother of twenty-two children, twenty-one of whom she reared. All my other children are married, and I have no doubt that I shall be a great grandfather before I am fifty."

In addition to holding the record as the youngest grandfather, Mr. Higgins has been a famous athlete, and has won more than 200 prizes for running, boxing, walking, rowing and other athletic sports.

The London, Eng., Express says: The wife of a Brooklyn alderman has just had the rare experience of becoming a grandmother at 36.

The above paragraph, which appeared in the Express a day or two ago, has provoked an instant challenge from a lady who lives near Brighton.

"Is this unusual?" she asks in a letter to the Express. "I was married at 15; I had a daughter at 16. She married at 17, and she had a child nearly a year afterwards.

"Therefore I was a grandmother at 34. I had four children before I was 21, and have had none since. Now I am 42. My girls are all grown up, so we are like five sisters, and as happy as queens.

"Three of my daughters are married, and I have two grandsons.

"I could not resist the challenge implied in your paragraph, seeing that I could so distinctly go one better than the American grandmother."

Our correspondent's achievement is heroic. But she will probably not be astonished to find, in spite of the obvious surprise of her question, that she has very few competitors in England.

The lady was married at 15. Now in all England, at the time of the the last census, there were only 30 wives of that age. This is not conclusive of course. If the census were taken annually, it might show 30 wives at the age of 15 every year.

Against that, however, is to be set the extreme probability of juvenile marriage extending to the second generation. It no more follows that the daughter of a girl of 17 will herself be a mother at 17 than it follows that the first-born of a woman of 49 will not be a mother until she is 40 herself.

Such records as that of the lady in the vicinity of Brighton are more common in countries like Australia where young girls mature into women while still very young. In India a woman who who was not a grandmother until she was 36 would be regarded as an eccentricity. Two in every five of the female population of India are married before they are 15.

TO-DAY'S NEWS ON STOCK MARKET

Features of Market as Told by Special Wires.

By private wire from Richmond & Co., Ind'd., Pittsburg and Buffalo to W. F. Nelson & Co., correspondents :—

New York, Tuesday evening, August 31st.—We said in last night's letter that if the market was strong and boiling all day, it would mark the approach of the end of the present upward movement, but that no profits should be taken. If stocks were weak, well the market was not strong and boiling all day, but rather a good reaction took place which carried the general list from 1 to 2 points below top figures. This shows that the market is going higher and that the present bull movement will not culminate this week. New prices were made by our bull favourites, Rdg and Pa as well as USQ, and they are all going considerably higher. M.R. is a splendid purchase around to-day's bottom price. Be sure and buy some of it.. St. Paul is a purchase near 178; Rdg near 66; Ill C. below 138; Mop below 47; ACP around 57; SP below 87; U P around 100; RBC pfd around 42; Erie around 27; Sug around 131; US Rub. around 19 and will sell above 20. Both reading and SP are going above 90 ultimately. UP ought to go to about 103, or 109 and RI to 31, the pfd to 75. On any weakness to-morrow the general list is a purchase at the below to-day's low figures, especially if Met should go near 113. Would leave wheat and cotton alone for the present.—Wall Street Information Bureau.

All long Sept.. options must be closed to-day.—R. & Co.

New York, August 31.—London 1-3 to 1-2 up; Cons. 83 5-8.

Bullish interests have the market well in hand. Each day of good corn growing weather means millions of additional wealth. The crop situation dominates. UP will sell ex div at opening. If this and other stocks yield moderately under professional pressure, buy, since a further appreciable rise is certain to take place. Hold some Pa and take on Ill C. The short interest on USQ is larger than in many months. Rdg will work higher. Buy D.R.T. on every decline.—Joseph.

New York.—Irregularity seems probable to-day owing to the test it yesterday by realizing sales and the attack on MR, which stock we think should be sold short, but only on rallies. USQ on the other hand is a good purchase in our judgement and should be taken whenever soft Rdg is destined for higher prices. Chances will be taken if it is bought except on reactions. We believe Pa ought to be bought on a scale down. The general market's tone is good and the absorbative powers continue excellent. Special improvement is the order of the day and as they are taken up these independent issues ought to be bought for a turn. ACF, looks to us to be in a strong position.

New York, August 30th.—Stock market ruled strong this morning under the lead of D.R.T. USQ and Rdg, despite bearish newspaper articles and the much reduced demand for stocks in loan crowd. There was renewed evidence that the banking interests are lending their support to the market, this being generally accepted explanation for the continued strength and breadth of the market. The accumulation of high priced securities by insurance cos is having an effect upon speculative situation and the easy way with which prices advance indicate that the movement will progress further. London was a good buyer of USQ and this stock easily crossed 61 on heavy transactions. News from the iron and steel trade is still mixed but a steady improvement is reported by authorities. DRT was marked up nearly 1 1-2 points during the first hour and the absorption of the stock was considered good. Heavy earnings have been creating considerable bull sentiment on the stock and higher prices are predicted. The railroad stocks were less active but the consensus of opinion favoured a higher level of values, though moderate reactions may occurr occasionally.—R. & Co.
